Why do we breed Aberdeen-Angus cattle? A firm of Delaware breeders have explained their reasons for so doing as follows in Rural New Yorker: We first began cattle breeding with registered Holsteins, but at the same time we put in the pasture one Angus bull and heifer and through the grass season gave no grain or food of any kind. When we took them in for winter our Holsteins were thin and poor, while the two Angus were fat and in fine shape for beef. We did not desire to go in the dairy business, as the extra work would interfere with our other work, but we did desire to keep cattle, for we must have manure to improve the soil. We found we could keep about two Angus to one Holstein on the same acreage and have them in good beef shape almost any time in the year. We decided this was the breed we needed, disposed of our Holsteins and settled down on the Aberdeen-Angus, the best breed of baby beef cattle in the world, we believe. We are breeding them for stock to sell for breeding purposes to be used chiefly in pure bred herds or for grading up to a high standard the common cattle. We also find many dairymen who sell their calves for veal consider it profitable to use an Angus bull, as it will add about $5 profit on every veal calf at eight weeks old, no matter how small or common the cow. The smallest Jersey cow will bring a calf worth $5 more if sired by an Angus bull.

A Live Stock Center.

It is rumored that an attempt will be made to make Worcester, Mass., a center for the sale of New England cattle. According to New England Homestead, C. W. Wood, a large cattle breeder, says there are today within a radius of fifty miles of Worcester fully 1,500 head of Holstein cattle, and he would favor Worcester as a central dealing point for breeders. J. R. Marcon, an extensive breeder, is quoted to the effect that Worcester is the best place to hold five stock sales in New England, where something of this character is sadly needed as an impetus in improving live stock. Many of the farmers are too poor to buy the best in competition with the wealthy farmers of central New York and the middle west.

Curing the Tongue Twister.

When a young horse persists in getting his tongue over the bit take a piece of sole leather seven inches long, cut it diamond shape so the center will be two and a half inches wide, have the saddler stitch it tight around a common bar bit, with points of leather extending up over the tongue, and you will not be troubled long about the horse getting his tongue over the bit. It is impossible to buckle a bit high enough in a horse's mouth to prevent this habit when once formed, for I think that is all it is.—M. D. Bundson in Breeder's Gazette, Chicago.

Too Risky

Ask your doctor if he does not think it would be wise for you to keep a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the house.

"A hard chill, pain through the chest, difficult breathing." If this should be your experience, send for your doctor. It may be pneumonia! To doctor yourself would be too risky. If your doctor cannot come at once, give Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. When he comes, tell him exactly what you have done.

DID NOT FIRE A SHOT

A STORY OF PIONEER DAYS.

Captain McCabe Knew the Sioux Better Than They Knew Themselves, and the Indians Knew the Captain's Men Were Dead Shots and Scalp Takers.

In the pioneer days to reach Montana from Cheyenne, in Wyoming, required a considerable journey that involved a double crossing of the Rocky mountains, with a change of base at Salt Lake City. The United States government brought about a better condition of travel by constructing a trail through the Gallatin valley along the course of the Gunpowder river, reaching around the base of the mountains in a curvilinear form, which avoided the heights of the Rockies. To protect this route from marauding Indians three forts were built—Reno, Phil Kearny and C. F. Smith.

In 1866 the murderous Sioux from the Yellowstone valley pursued a sanguinary cross-up through the Gallatin valley and into Montana. It was marked by rapine and plunder. They besieged Fort Reno and killed many of its garrison. They environed Fort Phil Kearny and wiped from the face of the earth every human being whose scalp it failed to protect. Then they surrounded Fort C. F. Smith, where 220 soldiers found themselves surrounded by more than a thousand death seeking Indians. Escape seemed impossible. A courier got word of this condition of affairs to General Hancock, who was then stationed at St. Paul, and he sent a messenger to the governor of Montana at Bozeman.

The chief executive of the territory of Montana at that time was Green Clay Smith. He had been a member of congress from Kentucky, but President Lincoln made him territorial governor of Montana. He was seated on the porch of his residence in Bozeman when Hancock's message was handed to him. To a visitor he said:

"What in the name of heaven can I do? Fort C. F. Smith is 250 miles away. The country between here and there is filled with Sioux Indians. Our militia force consists of exactly 427 men. But a man of them could reach Fort C. F. Smith alive. I am absolutely powerless. However, I will send for Colonel Howie."

It was to this man that Governor Smith addressed himself, handing him General Hancock's dispatch and saying: "Colonel, we can't do anything for those poor devils in Fort C. F. Smith. Am I not right?"

"Yes," said Colonel Howie quietly, and with the gentle voice of a woman. "There is no trouble about that, governor. We can arrange that matter and still have the Montana frontier protected. I will need some picked men and a good leader for them. I think Captain McCabe is best fitted for this undertaking. I will find him."

McCabe was another gentle voiced man, with blue eyes. He didn't make much noise. He acted. He said to the governor: "Oh, yes; it is easy enough. But I'll need forty of the best men I can select. You can keep the rest of your volunteer force here."

Governor Smith looked at him in amazement. So did the visitor from the fort. They both thought he was either insane or a braggart. Governor Smith said to him, "How in the name of heaven do you expect to raise the siege of Fort C. F. Smith with forty men when you know that it is surrounded by more than 1,000 bloodthirsty Indians and that the country between here and there is covered with thousands more of murderous Sioux?"

Said McCabe quietly: "Why, governor, it is easy enough. The Indians know us and know that we know them better than they know themselves. You folks from the east have an idea that what you call Indian atrocities are simply unmeaning exhibitions of brutality; that scalping, for instance, is simply a form of torture. In that you are mistaken. The Indian believes that no man can go to the happy hunting ground—heaven we call it—who has been deprived of his hair. Their motive in scalping a victim is to carry out Sandish hatred to its utmost by preventing him from having a happy hereafter. Therefore to deprive an Indian of his scalp is to rob him of his hope of a happy hereafter. My men never kill an Indian without scalping him, and the Indians know that. The forty men I will select for this expedition are unerring in their aim with the rifle. They can shoot sixteen shots in sixteen seconds, and every ball means a dead Indian, and every dead Indian means a scalp, and every scalp means a warrior deprived eternally of a chance of ever reaching the happy hunting ground. My forty men will walk from here to Fort C. F. Smith without firing a shot."

"Incredible," said Governor Smith.

"True," said Captain McCabe.

What was the result?

Forty men walked the 250 miles from Bozeman to Fort C. F. Smith. Indians watched them on every side. By days their progress was signaled by circling columns of smoke and by night by fire from mountain tops. But not a shot was fired. When they got within sight of Fort C. F. Smith the thousand whooping Sioux who held the garrison in siege fled, and the forty frontiersmen from Bozeman marched in and escorted the 220 soldiers back to the territorial capital without the loss of a life. Not a shot had been fired. Not a single hair had been lifted.

Something New in Copper

PITTSBURG - IDAHO

Mining and Milling Company

The mine is located 58 miles above Lewiston, Idaho, on the Clearwater river, and consists of 19 full claims, or 380 acres. It is developed by tunnels, shafts and open cuts for more than 2400 feet, disclosing thousands of tons of copper, gold and silver ores of both high grade and low grade. There are between 1000 and 2000 tons of ore ready for shipment. The entrance to the working tunnel is only 2000 feet from the track of the Northern Pacific railroad, to be reached by gravity tramway. There are seven parallel veins running lengthwise of the claims, one cropping out on the surface for 2500 feet and another for 3000 feet; while two veins cross these running into the mountain. These veins are from 30 to 200 feet wide. One ore chute has been crosscut 60 feet and is solid ore from wall to wall.

We are not asking you to buy in a prospect. That risk was taken by the promoters. We are asking you to buy in a developed, proven mine. Seven years of continuous work and the expenditure of thousands of dollars has proven up one of the greatest mines in Idaho. That mine is now ready to pour out its red and yellow wealth to the world with the installing of an up to date production plant. It is for that purpose that a block of its treasury stock, full paid and non-assessable, is offered for sale. We believe that within six months from the completion of a 100 ton plant the mine can be put on a dividend paying basis, and that those dividends will be substantial and permanent. There is no better investment proposition before the people at this time.

CAPITALIZATION $1,000,000. - PAR VALUE $1.

AIKENSIDE

BY MARY J. HOLMES

Author of "Dora Deane," "The English Orphans," "Lena Rivers," "The Rector of St. Mark's," "Tempest and Sunshine," Etc.

"It was Jessie, I guess, who sent them," Maddy suggested, but the doctor persisted that it was Guy.

"He wished me to present them with his compliments. He thought they might please you."

"Oh! they do, they do!" Maddy replied. "They almost make me well. Tell him how much I thank him, and like him, too, though I never saw him."

The doctor opened his lips to tell her she had seen him, but changed his mind ere the words were utterd. She might not think as well of Guy, he thought, and there was no harm in keeping it back.

So Maddy had no suspicion that the face she thought of so much belonged to Guy Remington. She had never seen him, of course; but she hoped she would some time, so as to thank him for his generosity to her grandfather and his kindness to herself. Then, as she remembered the message she had sent him, she began to think that it sounded too familiar, and said to the doctor:

"If you please, don't tell Mr. Remington that I said I liked him—only that I thank him. He would think it queer for a poor girl like me to send such word to him. He is very rich, and handsome, and splendid, isn't he?"

"Yes, Guy's rich and handsome, and everybody likes him. We were in college together."

"You were?" Maddy exclaimed. "Then you know him well, and Jessie, and you've been to Aikenside often? There's nothing in the world I want so much as to go to Aikenside. They say it is so beautiful."

"Maybe I'll carry you up there some day when you are strong enough to ride," the doctor answered, thinking of his light buggy at home, and wondering he had not used it more, instead of always riding on horseback.

Dr. Holbrook looked much older than he was, and to Maddy he seemed quite fatherly, so that the idea of riding with him, aside from the honor it might be to her, struck her much as riding with Farmer Green would have done. The doctor, too, imagined that his proposition was prompted solely from disinterested motives, but he found himself wondering how long it would be before Maddy would be able to ride a little distance, just over the hill and back. He was tiring her all out talking to her; but somehow it was very delightful there in that sick room, with the summer sunshine stealing through the window and falling upon the soft reddish-brown head resting on the pillows. Once he fixed those pillows, arranging them so nicely that grandma, who had come in from her hens and yeast cakes, declared "he was as handy as a woman," and after receiving a few general directions with regard to the future, "guessed, if he wasn't in a hurry, she'd leave him with Maddy a spell, as there were a few chores she must do."

The doctor knew that at least a dozen individuals were waiting for him that moment; but still he was in no hurry, he said, and so for half an hour longer he sat there talking of Guy, and Jessie, and Aikenside, and wondering he had never before observed how very becoming a white wrapper was to sick girls like Maddy Clyde. Had he been asked the question, he could not have told whether his other patients were habited in buff, or brown, or tan color; but he knew all about Maddy's garb, and thought the dainty frill around her slender throat the prettiest "pocketed piece" that he had ever seen. Now, then, was Dr. Holbrook losing his heart to that little girl of fourteen and a half? He did not think so. Indeed, he did not think anything about his heart, though thoughts of Maddy Clyde were pretty constantly with him, as after leaving her he paid his round of visits.

The Aikenside carriage was standing at Mrs. Conner's gate when he returned, and Jessie came running out to meet him, followed by Guy, while Agnes, in the most becoming riding habit, sat by the window, looking as unconcerned at his arrival as if it were not the very event for which she had been impatiently waiting. Jessie was a great pet with the doctor, and, lifting her lightly in his arms, he kissed her forehead where the golden curls were clustering and said to her:

"I have seen Maddy Clyde. She asked for you, and why you do not come to see her, as you promised."

"Mother won't let me," Jessie answered. "She says they are not fit associates for a Remington."

There was a sudden flash of contempt on the doctor's face, and a gleam of wrath in Agnes' eyes as she motioned Jessie to be silent, and then gracefully received the doctor, who by this time was in the room. As if determined to monopolize the conversation, and keep it from turning on the Markhams, Agnes rattle on for nearly fifteen minutes, scarcely allowing Guy a chance for uttering a word. But Guy bided his time, and seized the first favorable opportunity to inquire after Madeline.

She was improving rapidly, the doctor said, adding: "You ought to have seen her delight when I gave her your bouquet."

"Indeed," and Agnes bridled haughtily, "I did not know that Guy was in the habit of sending bouquets to such as this Clyde girl. I really must report him to Miss Atherstone."

Guy's seat was very near to Agnes, and while a cloud overspread his fine features, he said to her in an aside:

"Please say in your report that the worst thing about this Clyde girl is that she aspires to be a teacher, and possibly a governess."

There was an emphasis on the last word which silenced Agnes and set her to beating her French gaiter on the carpet; while Guy, turning back to the doctor, replied to his remark:

"She was pleased, then?"

"Yes; she must be vastly fond of flowers, though I sometimes fancied that the fact of being noticed by you afforded almost as much satisfaction as the bouquet itself. She evidently regards you as a superior being, and Aikenside as a second Paradise, and asking innumerable questions about you and Jessie too."

"Did she honor me with an inquiry?" Agnes asked, sarcastically though she was greatly interested as well as relieved by the reply:

"Yes; she said she heard Jessie's mother was a beautiful woman, and asked if you were not born in England."

"She's mixed me up with Lucy Guy, you must go down and enlighten her," Agnes said, laughing merrily and appearing more at ease that she had since Maddy Clyde had been the subject of conversation.

Guy did not go down to Honedale but fruit and flowers, and once a bottle of rare old wine, found their way to the old red cottage, always brought by Guy's man, Duncan, and always accompanied with Mr. Remington's compliments. Once, hidden among the rosebuds, was a childish note from Jessie, some of it printed and some of it in the uneven hand of a child just commencing to write.

It was as follows:

"Dear Maddy: I think that is such a pretty name, and so does Guy, and so does the doctor, too. I want to come see you, but mamma won't let me. I think of you ever so much, and so does Guy, I guess, for he sends you lots of things. Guy is a nice brother, and is most as old as mamma. Ain't that funny? You know my first ma is dead. The doctor tells us about you when he comes to Aikenside. I wish he'd come oftener, for I love him a bushel—don't you? Yours respectfully,

"Jessie Agnes Remington.

"P.S.—I am going to tuck this in just for fun, right among the buds, where you must look for it."

RELICS OF THE DEAD.

Horrible Custom of a South American Indian Tribe.

The Ucayali Indians, a numerous south American tribe, with decided cannibalistic tastes, who inhabit both banks of one of the uppermost and longest of the affluents of the Amazon, have a system by which they preserve the features of their dead, so that friends can always identify those that have gone to the "happy hunting ground" as surely as if gazing at a photograph.

To accomplish this they cut the head from the body, but retain the long hair. The ghastly, bleeding trophies of a day's battle or a night's massacre of their enemies are suspended by the long, straight black hair to the limb of a tree. Directly under this they dig a hole, which they fill with water. In their primitive way causing it to boil by placing hot stones in it, or, if near a camp or village, an earthen pot of boiling water is used.

The ascending hot vapor and steam which envelop the suspended head outlined by the fire and shadows, like ghosts in the darkness of a tropical night, in the deep solitude and under the black shadows of the palm forests, accompanied by the weird antics of the ugly human brutes and the shriek of wild birds of the night or the howl of tigers, make a scene that cannot be fully described to the imagination.

This steaming process has the effect of loosening the scalp from the skull or in some way of softening it that all the bones are removed. With the vacant sack of skin drawn from the head intact, they next fill it with hot pebbles and sand. These are replaced by others when they are cool. The process they use has the effect of drying and shrinking the skin, but in some way, not clearly known, it preserves the original features of the victim. They are thus distorted and ghastly looking reminders of the departed. London Spare Moments.

BOTH WERE TRICKY.

There used to be an old retired merchant in Detroit who delighted in recalling his experiences when an active man running a general store in one of the northern cities of the lower peninsula.

"I used to reap a harvest when the men were coming out of the woods," he relates. "They were not up in styles, and about any old thing would suit them provided the color was right and the fit even passable. But there were tricksters among them, and I had to have my wits about me in order to keep even with them.

"'How much is that hat?' asked a strapping six footer who arrived from camp one day with a pocketful of money.

"'Two fifty,' I replied.

"Then he informed me that he always had the crowns of his hats punched full of holes in order to keep his head cool and his hair from coming out. I soon had this attended to, and then he asked what the hat was worth. 'Two fifty,' I responded in surprise, but he laughed at me for asking such a price for damaged goods. He had me and got his hat for $1, while the jolly crowd with him had a laugh at my expense. He wanted to look at some 'fiddles,' and after pricing one at $10 concluded to take it.

"'Where's the bow?' he asked as I was doing up the package.

"'You only bought the fiddle,' I laughed. The others saw the point and laughed too. The giant tried to bluff me, but I kept good humored and got even on the hat by charging him $1.50 for the bow. I not only got even, but the others were so pleased with my 'Yankee trick' that they spent plenty of money with me."

Constipation

Baked sweet apples, with some people, bring prompt relief for Constipation. With others, coarse Graham bread will have the same effect. Nature undoubtedly has a vegetable remedy to relieve every ailment known to man, if physicians can but find Nature's way to health. And what strikingly true with regard to Constipation.

The bark of a certain tree in California Cascara Sagrada—offers a most excellent aid to mild. But, combined with Egyptian Senna, as in Dr. Shoop's Family Elm Bark, Solid Extract of Prune, the same Cascara bark is given its greatest power to correct constipation. A 25c Cascara Candy Tablet, called Lax-ets is now made by Dr. Shoop Laboratories, from this ingenious and effective prescription. Its effect on constipation, Biliousness, Sour Stomach, Bad Breath, Sallow Complexion, etc., is indeed prompt and satisfying.

No griping, no unpleasant after effects are experienced, and Lax-ets are put up in beautiful lithographed metal boxes at 5 cents and 25 cents per box.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at any Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

The homesteader is required to perform the homestead duties under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of a homesteader has permanent residence on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of a homestead, or upon a homestead entered for by him in the vicinity, such homesteader may perform his own residence duties by living with the father (or mother).

(4) The term "vicinity" in the two preceding paragraphs is defined as meaning not more than nine miles in a direct line exclusive of the width of road allowances crossed in the measurement.

(5) A homesteader intending to perform his residence duties in accordance with the above while living with parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

Six months' notice in writing must be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of intention to apply for patent.

Wisdom Beyond His Years.

His mother found him in the jam and reprimanded him. A little later she caught him teasing his baby sister and reprimanded him again.

"I don't see what's got into you, Willie," she said. "You're usually the good little boy, but today you're up to all kinds of mischief."

"I'm tired of being good," he returned, with juvenile frankness.

"Tired of being good!" she exclaimed. "What do you mean by that?"

"Well Brother Bob is naughty most of the time, and you're always giving him things to get him to be good, and I guess I'll be naughty for awhile and see if I don't get something too."

Queen Wilhelmina.

No gentlewoman in Europe who has wealth to indulge her every wish lives more simply than does Queen Wilhelmina. She rises every morning at 7 o'clock, and at 9 o'clock the members of her household, led by her chambermaid, assemble before her. the queen reads a passage from the Bible to them, and they pray together. Following this she begins the work of the day.

Officers and Directors

President ..... EDWARD T. PATRICK
Mine Owner and President of the Goldfield Stock and Exchange Board.

Vice-President ..... JUDGE CHAS. L. HAYES,
Mine Owner and Leading Attorney of Goldfield, Nevada.

Secretary and Treasurer ..... ADAMS F. BROWN.
Corporation and Mining Lawyer and Member of Leading Committee Goldfield Stock and Exchange Board.

Depository ..... JOHN S. COOK & CO
Bank of Goldfield, Nevada.

This company owns a group of 160 acres of some of the best proved mining land in the Goldfield district, consisting of the Accident and Accident No. 2 lode claims, situated two and one-half miles southwest of the great Goldfield Consolidated Mines, joining the Mohawk, Goldfield Combination, Red Top, Jumbo and Lone Star properties on the west, and the Broadway and Beauty lode claims situated three and one-half miles north of the Consolidated and about one and one-half miles northwest of the Great Bend and Daisy Mines near the Zeon group in the Diamondfield section, and only an hour's ride to the great Mohawk portion of the camp. Phenomenally rich strikes have recently been made on the Consolidated, the Great Bend and the Daisy Mines.

The company has also succeeded in securing the Sure Thing lode claim (20 acres) in the Copper district, which is an immense gold bearing ledge, running the entire length of the claim 1,500 feet, outcropping in places over 50 feet wide, and met by several cross cuts all carrying fine values in gold, and is without doubt rightly named "Sure Thing."

All of these claims are located in the same mineral belt as the other rich mines of Goldfield that have astonished the world by their production of millions in high grade ore, and will with the same development give equally profitable returns.

The money derived from the sale of this stock will be used at once for the active development of the property and the fact that all the directors are residents of Goldfield, with years of successful mining experience who will give their personal attention at all times to the progress of the work, goes to show that the first issue of 100,000 shares will meet with quick and ready sale at the initial price of 10 cents per share.

We advise immediate action if you wish to participate in the vast profits of this promising Mine.

Stock will be listed on the Goldfield and San Francisco Stock and Exchange Boards. Would therefore advise purchasers to buy in board lots of 1,000 shares when convenient to do so.

Indigestion Ruins Complexion

The Sallow Pale, Tired Woman Usually Has Stomach Trouble.

The good looks of every woman depends largely upon the proper working of her stomach and other internal organs.

If your stomach is strong and digestion is good, the cheeks blush with color, eyes dance and sparkle, breath will be pure and your hair smooth and glossy.

Get the stomach toned up with Dr. Hamilton's Pills—they increase the secretion of the gastric juices, promote vigorous digestion, increase the supply of blood and thereby invigorate the entire system.

The system is quickly won back to a normal healthy condition by Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and every girl or woman who uses this remedy will show it in a clear, wholesome complexion, and a sound healthy body. Sold in 25 cent boxes by all dealers.

"There's a Reason"

War Alarms Manila

(Manila, Oct. 11.—The Hong Kong News agency telegraphs that agreat sensation has been created in the United States by the New York Sun's declaration that the real object of the projected visit of American battleships and cruisers to the Pacific is war with Japan and that Secretary Taft's mission is designed to conceal naval preparations. Cable despatches from Shanghai quote Secretary Taft, speaking at a banquet in Tokio, as ridiculing the possibility of a war between the United States and Japan. These statements are profoundly agitating the people of Manila.

The New York Sun in its issue of September 30, contained an editorial on what it considers the folly of sending the American fleet to the Pacific ocean. It ridicules the idea that it is a political move and says that President Roosevelt does not need a fleet in the Pacific for its weight with a republican national convention. The editorial continues:

"He (President Roosevelt) needs it because he means that this country shall go to war. Well, go to war we doubtless shall, and as cheerfully and as enthusiastically as heart of man could wish; but the people want to know first what the casus belli is which lies between this country and Japan. They want to know whether, if any exist, it is not appropriately referable to The Hague conference, if indeed it is not such as may be dealt with adequately by the simple exercise of common sense.

Resignation Accepted By Commissioners

The resignation of P. C. McDonald was accepted by the police commissioners at their meeting yesterday. A new man will likely be engaged to take his place. There were present Judge Weller, Mayor McWilliams, and Police Magistrate Dumble.

The following letter was read from P. C. McDonald.

To the Police Commissioners of the City of Peterborough:

Gentlemen:

I beg to tender my resignation as a member of the police force of the City of Peterborough. I find that I am not being treated by the chief of police with the consideration to which I am entitled, and I feel it, therefore, impossible to hold the position longer. I will be very glad if the commissioners would allow me to retire on the fifteenth of this month.

Yours truly,
J. B. McDONALD.

Chief Ruzzel was present and denied that he had shown an favoritism or discrimination in dealing with the members of the force.

After discussing the matter for some time, the following resolution was passed;

"That in view of the fact that no charges are made, and no investigation asked for, and the chief constable has denied any unfair treatment, no action be taken in regard to the allegation of want of consideration on the part of the chief constable made by Constable McDonald, and that Constable McDonald's resignation be accepted."

Several other matters in connection with the force were discussed. No action was taken in regard to securing a successor to P. C. McDonald.

Stock Going Up

The directors of the Helion Electric Company, Limited, held their first regular meeting at the office of the company, 200 Sinclair Building, Toronto, on Thursday last, when satisfaction at the progress being made was expressed on every side.

A very enticing offer to buy out the present shareholders and their rights, made through a representative of prominent Hamilton and Toronto financial men, was laid before the board, but was laid over for further consideration, and it was decidedly the general feeling that the prospects of the present company were far too good to be sold out, except at a very fancy figure.

During the meeting, at which a very sanguine spirit was manifested throughout, one of the directors with the utmost enthusiasm exclaimed, "Hell soon stock is going up."

News Briefs

Edmonton, Oct. 11.—Rev. L. J. Marsh, a sporke Anglican missionary, who has spent the past fifteen years among the Indians, has arrived here. Rev. Mr. Marsh interviewed, said: The life of the far north is a lonely one. We only receive three mails a year, and are shut off from the outer world except by a dog train in winter and a trip by that method for a thousand miles is not to be envied.

"The country around the Slave Lake is rich in minerals, and when they are opened up the population will rapidly increase, but until then, there is not much inducement for the emigrant.

Halifax, Oct. 11.—Within a few days Mr. Marconi will be prepared to flash messages across the Atlantic at one-half of the present cable rates, and then the inventor of wireless telegraphy will turn his attention to transmitting aerial messages from Cape Breton to the station he proposes erecting in Vancouver, from which the next step will be sending messages direct from Ireland to the Pacific slope. That this is possible Mr. Marconi is confident and he is just as confident that eventually he will be able to encircle the globe. However, this is something he has not arrived at yet, and when your correspondent asked if the story that he had communicated with the Philippine Islands from Cape Breton was correct the inventor laughed. "It is absolutely incorrect," said he.

"The rapid growth of vegetation in summer months is one of the wonders of the country. Potatoes grow visably in a day, and other crops come up with marvellous rapidity. The reason is the almost perpetual summer sunshine which in June and July continues for twenty out of the twenty-four hours.

Do You Open Your Mouth

Like a young bird and gulp down whatever food or medicine may be offered you? Or, do you want to know something of the composition and character of that which you take into your stomach whether as food or medicine?

Most intelligent and sensible people now-a-days insist on knowing what they employ whether as food or as medicine. Dr. Pierce believes they have a perfect right to insist upon such knowledge. So he publishes, broadcast and on each bottle-wrapper, what his medicines are made of and vouches it under oath. This he feels he can well afford to do because the more the ingredients of which his medicines are made are studied and understood the more will their superior curative virtues be appreciated.

For the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses, irregularities and derangements, giving rise to frequent headaches, backache, dragging-down pain or distress in lower abdominal or pelvic region, accompanied, oftimes, with a debilitating, pelvic, catarrhal drain and kindred symptoms of weakness, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a most efficient remedy. It is equally effective in curing painful periods, in giving strength to nursing mothers and in preparing the system of the expectant mother for baby's coming, thus rendering childbirth safe and comparatively painless. The "Favorite Prescription" is a most potent, strengthening tonic to the general system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. It is also a soothing and invigorating nervine and cures nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, chorea or St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing nervous symptoms attendant upon functional and organic diseases of the distinctly feminine organs.

A host of medical authorities of all the several schools of practice, recommend each of the several ingredients of which "Favorite Prescription" is made for the cure of the diseases for which it is claimed to be a cure. You may read what they say for yourself by sending a postal card request for a free booklet of extracts from the leading authorities, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., and it will come to you by return post.

Easy Food

Ready For Instant Use Without Cooking

Almost everyone likes a cereal food of some kind at breakfast and supper, but the ordinary way of cooking cereals results in a pasty mass that is hard to digest, and if not properly digested, the raw mass goes down into the intestinal tract where gas is generated and trouble follows.

Everyone knows that good food properly digested keeps the body well, while poor food, or even food of good quality that is poorly prepared and not digested is sure to bring on some kind of disease.

The easiest food to digest in this line is Grape-Nuts, made from wheat and barley, and cooked thoroughly at the factory, some 12 to 16 hours being consumed in the different processes of preparation. The food, therefore, is ready for instant service and the starch has been changed to a form of sugar, so that it is pre-digested and ready for almost immediate absorption.

A Chicago young lady writes that she suffered for years from indigestion and dyspepsia from the use of food that was not suitable to her powers of digestion. She says;

"I began using Grape-Nuts, and I confess to having had a prejudice at first, and was repeatedly urged before I finally decided to try the food, but I have not known what indigestion is since using it, and have in the even stronger or better in health. I have increased in weight from 1[illegible] to 124 pounds.

People can be well, practically without cost, if they will adopt scientific food, and leave off the indigestible sort. "There's a Reason."

Grape-Nuts Food is crisp and delicate to the taste. It should be served exactly as it comes from the package, without cooking, except in cases where it is made into puddings and other deserts. —Book of delicious recipes, and "The Road to Wellville."

Insurance on New Line In the City of Montreal

Montreal, Oct. 12.—With babies firmly established on a business basis the parent of the future need not fear the sordid details of expenditure incidental to extending a welcome to each little stranger in his home, and can afford to smile the smile of infinite superiority each time the cry of race suicide is refuted in his own household.

Canada is now in possession of a branch of the North American Parents Benevolent Association, a mutual society for the protection of parents, that has an existance of about eight years to its credit in the United States and should find something to do in a business way in Montreal, which has the highest birthrate of any city on the continent, and is among the leaders in that particular line throughout the world. In future it will be the fault of its parents if each little Canadian doesn't have five hundred dollars to its credit on the day of its birth. This proposed rivalry to the "gold in spoon" which each lucky youngster is supposed to have in its mouth on its natal day, has several things to commend it and the prosperous of the Association isn't backward in setting them forth.

Each child born to members in good standing will be worth five hundred dollars to its proud parents, a fact that will somewhat enhance the value of the red-faced morsels of humanity, who at the time of their entry into this mundane sphere, show such decided inclination to make their voices heard to the exclusion of every other consideration. Even a man whose nocturnal perambulations lead across a tack strewn carpet can afford to philosophize if the squalling bundle he carries forth is worth five hundred good dollars in addition to the sentimental value attached to it.

The Association which has its Canadian office on St. Catherines street west primarily aims at endowing each child born to its members with the sum of five hundred dollars, which may be expended during its infancy, saved for its education, or put out at interest at so much per cent to help establish it later in life. To profit by the benefits of the Association which are all payable in gold, young married people, or in fact any sort of married people, will only find it necessary to pay a membership fee of five dollars and at the end of six months annual dues of $2.40 which go to defray the expenses of keeping up the organization. Assessments are made from time to time upon members to pay the benefits accruing to sister members as trustee for the child an for this purpose only. The assessment for the coming nine months is fixed at $1.00 monthly and it is estimated for the second year will be about $1.50 per month, for the third year from $2.00 to $2.50 will probably cover the total expense. After the third year the rate should not rise. As a member drops out or becomes a beneficiary a new member is added, so that the ratio of new members to the benefits paid will keep the assessments down to a low figure.

Naturally the society paints itself in glowing colors and one of the points advanced in its behalf is that it will enable young people to marry on smaller incomes than in the past as they will through its agency be enabled to insure against those contingencies which when realized add materially to life's expenses as well as to its joys. The society practically sets a premium on large families and unlike the stand once taken by the Provincial Government, a family does not need to number a round dozen before rewards begin to accrue.

Of course there are a certain number of strings attached to this capital—or should it be per capita—prize of five hundred dollars, as the company is not in business for purely philanthropic reasons, but the main fact remains that every baby may be worth five hundred dollars to its doting parents—an increasement for the average person to hopefully live up to Colonel Roosevelt's recently expressed opinion that every family should number from eighteen to twenty-four.

C. P. R. Operators Get Big Increase Other Men Gain

Toronto, Oct. 11.—An increase of fourteen per cent. in the wage schedule, dating from October 1st, is the chief feature of an agreement reached between railway telegraph operators on the C.P.R. and the company. The danger of a strike is now past. A settlement satisfactory to both sides was effected yesterday afternoon through the services of the Board of Arbitration, and there is general relief that the stress is over.

The change will cost the company an extra $175,000 or $200,000 a year.

ASKED FOR TWENTY PER CENT.

The men had asked for an increase of 20 per cent., and at first the company were not willing to grant any increase. After the beginning of the investigation, however, the company offered an increase of 10 per cent. Later they offered 12 per cent., but the men still refused to accept this settlement. Then the men came down to 14 per cent., and the company offered 12 1-2 per cent., less the vacation allowance. A vote was taken on this proposal all over the country, and it was almost unanimously declined. Yesterday morning another offer of 14 per cent., together with vacation allowance as before, to those who have served four years, was made by the company, and this was accepted by the committee on behalf of the men.

The agreement was signed by General Manager MacNichol, for the C.P.R. Company, and by Messrs. D. Campbell, Canadian representative on the International Executive of the Order of Railway Telegraphers, and Chairman Gaulet, of the General Committee, on behalf of the men.

OTHER EMPLOYES GAIN.

The despatchers, agents and linemen receive the 14 per cent. increase as well as the operators.

"The agreement is signed and the men are well satisfied," was the remark of one of the committee as they left the room at the Union Station yesterday afternoon, in company with Mr. J. G. O'Donoghue, their representative on the Board of Arbitration, and all were in very good spirits.

The change in wages means that a man previously getting $70 per month will now get $80, and others on the same proportion.

Mr. J. W. Leonard, the assistant general manager, would say nothing regarding the settlement, but he appeared to be quite satisfied with the agreement that had been reached.

Lusitania's Without a Rival as Queen of the Sea--German Ships Left Behind

New York, Oct. 11.—Four days, 19 hours and 52 minutes out from Queenstown with every trans-Atlantic speed record in her possession, the majestic Cunard liner Lusitania swept by Sandy Hook lightship at 1.17 today, and after a pause off the bar to await daylight, slowly steamed up the harbor to receive the recognition of her right to the title of queen of the sea.

Three records were written down in her log book, two of them wrested from the great German rivals of the Cunard and one of them from the swift Lucania of her own line. They were records of the shortest time from any European port to New York; the fastest average speed for trans-Atlantic voyage — 23.99 nautical miles per hour, and the longest daily run, 617 nautical miles. Translated into land miles, her speed average for the run was 27.60 miles an hour.

Her achievement is a triumph for British shipbuilders and sailors, and may mark the passing of the old-fashioned reciprocating engine and the beginning of the universal installation of the turbines which made it possible for this fleet of ships to carry all records by the board.

The records which she has broken were: That held by Kaiser Wilhelm II. of the North German Lloyd liner which crossed the ocean from New York to Plymouth at an average speed of 23.58 knots as compared with the Lusitania's 23.99. That held by the Hamburg-American liner Deutschland, of 5 days, 11 hours, and 54 minutes from Cherbourg to New York. That held by the Cunard liner Lucania, which crossed from Queenstown to New York in 5 days, 7 hours, and 23 minutes.

The Lusitania's superb performance, taken from the German ships their successes which they have held for several years—and which was only shared by the swift Lucania. Besides the Lusitania has broken her own record of 5 days, 54 minutes made on her maiden trip from Queenstown.

Not the least notable of the Lusitania's records are those for her daily runs which exceeded on two days the record of 601 knots previously held by the Deutschland. The Lusitania's runs counting the days from noon to noon, were as follows; Sunday, 41, Monday, 590; Tuesday, 608; Wednesday, 617; Thursday, 600. And from noon Thursday to 1.17 a.m. Friday, 323 miles.

As she moved slowly and majestically up the harbor to her dock the Lusitania, this morning, was greeted with the salutes of many steam craft to which she responded with the hoarse roar of her own siren as became a stately ship bedecked with the blue ribbon of the sea.

Toronto, Oct. 11.—Another class of York Loan Company shareholders — those of class "J"—are now claiming precedence over ordinary shareholders, and say that they are entitled to be classed as creditors and receive first call on the distribution of the assets, thus making the prospects of the "ordinary" shareholder all the more cloudy.

The sponsor for Class "J" in the person of Mr McBayne, of Biggar & McBayne, Hamilton, appeared before Official Referee Kappele this morning to urge the claims of his clients. Class "J," he explained was composed of those shareholders who were in the act of turning over their withdrawable shares for pianos, life insurance, or permanent stock when the crash came.

ARE THEY CREDITORS?

"Now I contend," said Mr. McBayne, "that in cases where the transfer of withdrawable stock was made for pianos or life insurance, the shareholder is entitled to classification as creditor. Where the transfer was made for permanent stock, he is just an ordinary shareholder."

Mr. Stewart Lyon, who was an employe of the York County Loan for a good many years, was called as a witness to try to let some light in on the subject. He described the claims of the Class "J" shareholders as incomplete turnovers. He read a receipt sent by a shareholder in response to an application for a turnover. It read; "Received from the York Loan and Savings Company, the sum of $63 to be applied on piano."

This, explained Mr. Lyon, was the general form for use in these cases. The company had to get the money to pay over to the piano people.

"You practically got an order from the shareholder to take the money off their book, and re-invest it in something else?" asked Mr. McBayne.

"Yes," assented the witness.

He further explained that when the shareholder wanted his money used for that purpose, the agent brought his book to the office, where it was made up, and the money diverted to the piano company, or the piano account.

Big Crowd at Roller Rink Last Night

The roller skating rink was the centre of amusement last night when a large gathering was present, not only to indulge in the popular pastime of roller skating but also to witness the marvellous exhibitions of fancy and trick skating given by Prof. Genno and his clever assistant, Miss Maple Leaf. This young lady's skill acquired in three months' training with Prof. Genno is quite phenomenal and she makes a splendid partner for the professor, who is equally as much at home on the rollers as he is on the ice.

It is hard to conceive of the fascinating, graceful, and artistic evolutions capable of being performed with the aid of roller skates unless one sees the fairy like waltzing of Prof. Genno and his clever little partner. And then fancy, acrobatic and trick skating, is of a marvellous nature that the audience is held spellbound during the rendering of these numbers. The slide for life from the galleries to the slippery hardwood floor below, stands in the front rank of daring performances, and their gyrations on skates is exceptionally skillful.

Prof. Genno and Miss Maple Leaf are a whole exhibition in themselves, and the pleasure seeking public will regret that this afternoon and tonight are their last appearance on engagement. They leave for St. Catharines on Monday.

Is very careful about her churn. She scalds it thoroughly after using, and gives it a sun bath to sweeten it. She knows that if her churn is sour it will taint the butter that is made in it. The stomach is a churn. In the stomach and digestive and nutritive tracts are performed processes which are almost exactly like the churning of butter. Is it not apparent then that if this stomach-churn is foul it makes foul all which is put into it?

The evil of a foul stomach is not alone the bad taste in the mouth and the foul breath caused by it, but the corruption of the pure current of blood and the dissemination of disease throughout the body. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes the sour and foul stomach sweet. It does for the stomach what the washing and sun bath do for the churn—absolutely removes every tainting or corrupting element. In this way it cures blotches, pimples, eruptions, scrofulous swellings, sores, or open eating from bad blood, humors or diseases arising from bad blood.

If you have bitter, nasty, foul taste in your mouth, coated tongue, foul breath, are weak and easily tired, feel depressed and despondent, have frequent headaches, dizzy attacks, gnawing or distress in stomach, constipated or irregular bowels, sour or bitter risings after eating and poor appetite, these symptoms, or any considerable number of them, indicate that you are suffering from biliousness, torpid or lazy liver with the usual accompanying indigestion, or dyspepsia and their attendant derangements.

The best agents known to medical science for the cure of the above symptoms and conditions, as attested by the writings of leading teachers and practitioners of all the several schools of medical practice, have been skillfully and harmoniously combined in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. That this is absolutely true will be readily proven to your satisfaction if you will but mail a postal card request to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for a free copy of his booklet of extracts from the standard medical authorities, giving the names of all the ingredients entering into his world-famed medicines and showing what the most eminent medical men of the age say of them.

New York, Oct. 10.—An aged watchman's faithful performance of his duty, even when death was threatened, prevented a robbery early today which, if it had been successful, those familiar with the case say, would have caused a sensation almost as great as that which followed the looting of the Manhattan Bank many years ago. Rich. F. Grey, watchman in the lofty Century Building in Broadway, was the hero. He is now in the Hudson street hospital suffering from wounds which he received in a desperate, single-handed fight against two robbers, who attacked him while he was making his rounds on the 19th floor of the Century Building at midnight. Although 60 years old, Grey made a determined fight, and it was not until he was rendered almost unconscious that he was overcome. Even then he refused to reveal the hiding place of the keys to the hundreds of offices in the great building. In their desperation the robbers chloroformed the old man as he lay bleeding on the floor, and began a systematic search of the lower portion of the building for the missing keys. Apparently they were unsuccessful in their search, for when Grey revived and staggered down the nineteen flights of stairs to the basement the men had disappeared.

As a result of the attempted robbery scores of extra detectives and police were on guard in the financial district today. A cordon of men was thrown around the district bounded by Wall and Cedar, and Nassau and Greenwich streets, and a search was made in all buildings in that territory into which the police could force their way, but no trace of the desperadoes could be found.

Strict Enquiry as to Weight of Local Cheese

Yesterday morning there was a busy scene in the weigh scales was a busy scene, many wagon loads of cheese being weighed. Mr. J. S. Cook the well known cheese buyer of Belleville, was personally present, insisting on a close and accurate weighing of the cheese of a large number of this county's factories. It seems from what Mr. Cook told a Times representative that he has had numerous complaints, of late, from the English consignees to whom he ships cheese of shortage between the weight of cheese shipped by him and the weights marked on the individual boxes when received there. President Radlie of the Peterborough Cheese Board was present at the weighing and was frequently consulted as to ways and means of weighing and "beam" weights, etc.

It might be noted that when cheese is weighed here that an allowance of, say, half a pound per box is allowed by the individual factory to the buyer from the factory for shrinkage in weight by the time it reaches the English buyer. The cheeses weighed up to about noon yesterday were almost universally light weight. The Beaufort, Donaldee, Union, Trewern, Cavanville factories' cheeses alone went over weight. Mr. Cook explained that he did not look for, or ask for over weight, but nothing in the way of [illegible] or other buyers' pockets, but is simply so much to the benefit of the English consignee, whilst the same consignee kicks vigorously should the weights be short on arrival in England.

This is the first time Mr. Cook has made a systematic weighing of cheese here but he intends, hereafter, to see that he gets correct weights from the various factories or dairy dealers he buys from.

It might be added that after the cheeses from many factories had been weighed, Mr. Cook asked that the scale be tested. This was done and it was found that the scale did not balance. Mr. Cook remarked, "——— it! If I had had that scale tested two hours ago I would have saved to-day's $20 and $30. It is however only fair to say that the scale had been tested and adjusted earlier in the morning twice, but the constant use had all red its efficiency.

Mr. Cook who is one of the most popular and highly respected cheese buyers in this county is a keen business man who asks favors from none and simply demands that he factories from whom he orders his buy, mark their boxes correctly. Mr. Cook's reputation is too well established to think for a moment but what he wants simple justice. The result of yesterday's strict weighing will have a tendency, not only to make the factories of this county be accurate in the weights they mark on their individual boxes, but will result in giving the cheese of Peterborough a good name among the English buyers that cannot but result in placing the cheese of this county on a standard that cannot and will not be questioned by the European consignees. In effecting this result Mr. Cook has done more for the Peterborough Cheese Board than that body can understand or assimilate in a short time.

WEALTHY MAN'S DAUGHTER WEDS --ALREADY A WIFE

Philadelphia Millionaire Has Daughter who Eloped

New York, Oct. 11.—The mystery surrounding the disappearance more than a week ago of Helen Maloney, daughter of Martin Maloney, the Philadelphia millionaire, was given a highly sensational turn today.

At the time of Miss Maloney's disappearance Sam. Clarkson, a young Englishman, who had paid her marked attention also dropped out of sight, and it was reported and generally believed that the couple had eloped and been married. Last night came the news from Montreal that the missing pair had been married by a Catholic priest in that city, and then had returned to New York and sailed for Europe.

SAYS THIS IS HIS WIFE

Following directly upon the heels of the Montreal announcement was the publication here today of an unqualified statement from Arthur Herbert Osborne, a young broker of this city, that Miss Maloney is his wife. According to Osborne's statement he and Miss Maloney were married on December 28, 1905, and the marriage never has been annulled. Osborne declares that records in the notary's office at Mamaroneck which show that Herbert Osborn had married Helen Egenie on that date will prove his statement. It said that assumed names were used because at the time both he and Miss Maloney desired to keep the marriage a secret.

CLARKSON KNEW OF IT.

The fact that the marriage had taken place did become known, however, according to Osborn, and he declares that among those who learned of it was young Clarkson. He says that not only did Clarkson know of the marriage, but that only a short time ago he sought to have annulled, having gone so far as to consult New York lawyers on the subject.

First Rugby Game of the Season

The first rugby game of the season will be played this afternoon at Riverside Park, at 2.45, when the Victorias of Toronto and Peterborough will meet in a senior O.R.F.U. championship match. The home team are ready for all comers, and as the Vics are looked upon as having a good chance for the championship, the contest will be worth any man's seeing. For the past month or so, the local pig-skin artists have been practicing hard, and as a result the team will be the best conditioned one that has ever represented Peterborough in an opening game.

Lieut.-Col. Stevenson Gets His Command

It will be a matter of universal congratulation that that popular officer of the 57th Regiment, and equally popular as private citizen and government official, Mr. Arthur Stevenson, has been gazetted lieut.-colonel and commander of the 57th Regiment, Peterborough Rangers, vice Col. J. W. Miller, who on completion of his period of tenure of command is transferred to the reserve list of officers.

The new colonel's many friends will congratulate him on his promotion. He will assuredly make an excellent commanding officer.

Two Changes In C.P.R. Time-Table

The C.P.R. has mad a couple of slight changes in their time table, which deserve the attention of the travelling public. The new schedule will come into effect on October 13th.

From that date train No. 6, according to the new schedule, will leave Peterborough at 12.31 a.m. instead of 12.28 a.m. and train No. 5, will leave Peterborough at 5.26 a.m. instead of at 5.16 a.m.

New Methodist Church for the South End?

As before noted in these columns, it has been decided to erect a new Methodist church in the south end of the city, in fact a committee has been nominated to look into the matter. A meeting held of representatives of each Methodist church in the city, in the Charlotte street church with Rev. H. M. Manning in the chair, it was practically unanimously resolved that a place of worship be provided in the south end.

It seems that the rapid growth in membership in the Methodist church here has obliged it to extend further accommodation for the worshippers than at present available.

A committee composed of representatives of the three Methodist churches of the city, was appointed to go into the matter further. The committee has power to add to its number. The chairman of the committee is Mr. D. W. Dumble.

The committee will pay particular attention to the financial aspect of the question, and will ascertain exactly what can be done in this direction. An estimate will also be made as to the cost of a church suitable to meet the requirements, and also of a site.

No date was fixed for the committee to meet, this being left in the hands of the chairman.

At yesterday's police court John J. King pleaded guilty to having been drunk and disorderly in a public place. The evidence was that King and a companion had gone up the street after 11 o'clock at night, creating a disturbance by the latter's conduct. He was fined $2 and costs, and report, and they will be operated to their full extent throughout the winter.

New Treaty Between Britain and Japan

London, Oct. 12.—Japanese newspapers received by the steamer Tosa Maru credit Admiral Baron Yamamoto, who recently returned from England and the United States, having sailed on the steamer Tanzo Maru from Victoria on July 23, with the backing of a secret Anglo-Japanese military compact.

The Nichi Shimbun says the military compact makes the Anglo-Japanese alliance complete, in fact. The Kokumin, a semi-official organ, says that undoubtedly Admiral Yamamoto has arranged a military agreement with Great Britain.

The Nichi Shimbun says that as the result of the Anglo-Japanese alliance was initiated by England the military compact Japan has wise proposed from the British side.

"Hence Beijing," says the Nichi Shimbun, "is to be determined to face far enemy with the assistance of Japanese military forces in case of emergency in the near future."

Millions Lent by the Standard Oil

New York, October 12—The report by which the trustees of the Standard Oil Company [illegible] the company to comply with the order of the Ohio courts was further discussed yesterday, when Wesley H. Tilford, treasurer of the Standard Oil Company, of New Jersey, was recalled to the stand in the contempt case against the so-called trust. Mr. Kellogg was able to demonstrate that the liquidating trustees and their associates could not only expect to give over a majority of the stocks of the twenty subsidiary companies, and that they sold these stocks to individuals and maintained a control of the interests of the companies.

Mr. Kellogg again tried to get the dissolution of the Standard Oil Company into several millions, given to President Tracey by the Southern Pipe Line Company over a period of several years. Efforts to find out the nature of these loans by the federal counsel on previous trials developed nothing more than a statement that the Standard Oil Company had never been opened.

That the Standard Oil of New York was a trade of millions of dollars was plainly shown by Mr. Tilford. From a statement of the company, it was proved that over $100,000,000 was loaned last year to affiliated companies than the Standard. What these interests were and the nature of the loans Mr. Tilford was unable to say. Mr. Kellogg said he would call William G. Rockefeller, the treasurer of the company, to throw light on the matter.

Mr. Tilford said in part that the Standard loaned on its own funds on call and short time.

Mr. Arthur Graham Home

Mr. Arthur Graham, son of Mr. George Graham, has returned home from Cobalt, Ont., after a stay of nearly a year and has much interesting information about conditions at Cobalt and the country thereabout.

WHY STAY RHEUMATIC?

Nothing Short of Folly When Cure is Guaranteed with Ferrozone.

Rheumatism can't be cured so long as your system is weak and run down. You must first build up and get strength to fight off the disease.

Ferrozone cures because it builds up, because it renews the blood and dissolves the uric acid and the poisons that cause rheumatism.

It is proved right here that Ferrozone does cure.

Col. H. M. Russ, of Edwards, St. Lawrence Co., one of the fine old heroes of the Civil War, was completely restored by Ferrozone. Read his statement:

"I couldn't get around without a cane, and then only with difficulty.

"Rheumatism took complete control of my limbs.

"The suffering was more intense than hardships on the battle field.

"When my doctor had done his best I got Ferrozone.

"Then came a quick change.

"Ferrozone gave me comfort at once, eased the pain and took the stiffness out of my muscles.

"I am well today. Ferrozone cured me completely. I can jump and run like I did forty years ago."

Be sensible about your case. Ferrozone is known on all sides to be a cure that does cure. Why not get a supply today. The sooner you begin Ferrozone the quicker you'll get well. Price 50c per box or 6 for $2.50, at all dealers.

COTTON GROWING ON BRITISH SOIL

That the British Government is hopeful of seeing a large portion of the cotton used by the mills of England grown under the British flag, says the London Advertiser is shown by a clause of the public works loan bill, passed at the last session of parliament, pledging the Government credit to the extent of £2,000,000 for the speedy development of the cotton growing industry of West Africa by means of a railway running along the Niger into Northern Algeria.

British skill and enterprize have enabled England to hold a proud position as the world's greatest cotton-manufacturing country, and it is realized that if British soil can be made produce the raw material required by the cotton mills of Lancashire and other sections of the United Kingdom, the great industry will be given a wonderful impetus.

Investigation and test have demonstrated that, leaving out Egypt, there is no part of the British Empire so well suited for the cultivation of cotton as Northern Nigeria. It is a well recognized fact that so far as soil and climate are concerned the region is as well adapted as are the American Southern States to the growth of cotton of good quality, while colored labor is to be obtained at least equally as cheap. But unfortunately, Northern Nigeria suffers from lack of transportation facilities, caravans being the only means of carrying the products of the soil, which makes impracticable the export of a commodity of such large bulk as cotton. It is to overcome this serious drawback that the imperial government is now directing its attention, and it is felt that that end can be most speedily accomplished by the construction of a railway such as described.

In Southern Nigeria cotton growing is only in its infancy, British experiments dating only five years back. Thus far the annual output has been insignificant, amounting in Lagos to but 500 bales in 1906. The past year, however, quantity grown increased twenty-fourfold, to 12,000 bales, and if the crop should increase at the same rate during the next five years, in 1912 it would amount to 288,000 bales. By 1917 if it should continue, the output would be close on 7,000,000 bales. The significance of this will be seen when it is stated that the world's total actual supply in 1905-6 was 14,072,000 bales, nearly 12,000,000 of which United States cotton fields furnished.

The total length of the projected railway will be about 500 miles. It will begin at Bara, 60 miles from the mouth of the river. By means of lighters, similar to those at the mouth of the Mississippi, it is intended to give the lower reaches of the Niger a minimum depth which will make the river navigable all the year round. From Bara the railway will run to Kano, the Hausaland capital, there to connect with other lines now in course of construction or projected. The idea is to have the first section of the road completed in two years, and the last in four years.

Now that the British Government is showing an earnest desire to develop the cotton industry in this outlying portion of the Empire, it would seem that the time is not far distant when the United States will cease to enjoy practically a monopoly of raw cotton.

Victims of Consumption Die on Same Day

Toronto, Oct 10.—The ravages of the dread "white plague" have been responsible for much of the sorrow that has woven itself into the warp and woof of human existence, but it is difficult to imagine a story more sad than that relating to a family which came to Toronto from England eighteen months ago.

The only survivor today of the family of four is the former wife and mother, Mrs. Walter Lee, 28 Foxley street. Her husband died six weeks ago in Weston Sanitarium, and this afternoon two little bodies were borne away to St. James' cemetery. One was that of Walter Lee, aged two years and seven months, and the other was that of Joseph Lee, who had he lived, would have been eleven months old next Saturday.

Walter died at half-past eleven on Tuesday evening, while his infant brother passed away at half-past two this morning. Tuberculosis was the cause of their deaths.

The illness which culminated in little Walter's death developed from an attack of whooping cough about three months ago.

"He was a very healthy child," said the grief-stricken mother today, "and I had begun to think that he had completely escaped the disease which took away his father. He was very playful, and, when I went out working, I used to leave him in the creche until I could take care of him again. Then the whooping cough came, and the poor little fellow seemed to sink from that day. We had him placed in the Sick Children's Hospital, but they told us finally that they could do nothing for him there. When he came home again Dr. Webster attended him constantly, and everything possible was done.

"Though he was very weak, he liked to be up and about, and on the morning of the day he died he stood and watched by the bed of his brother."

Out of the Channel.

By LYLE WARD SANDERSON.

Copyrighted, 1907, by C. H. Sutcliffe.

Merton Kester came slowly down the lighthouse stairs. He liked the wind and twist of them. A hazy wish floated through his mind that they might never end. He would like to go on forever, hearing the tap of her little feet on the iron behind him, feeling her hand touch his shoulder every now and then when she grew a bit dizzy with the curve.

The fact was Mr. Kesler's sense of proportion had been rather unsettled since the night before. Then Marion, in that strange, illogical way girls have and in spite of her aunt's skilful, contrary manœuvers, had made the obtuse Mr. Harvey understand that she was not overwhelmed with delight at his invitation to try his new electric launch and within the same five minutes had promised Kesler to visit the light with him, "even if we have to go in a dory."

It had been somewhat hard for Mr. Kesler when he came down to the cape on his short vacation to find his old playmate absorbed by the wealthy Mr. Harvey. It was true that Marion did not appear very happy, but her aunt certainly seemed at peace with all the world and made an extremely willing chaperon on the many trips which that gentleman was constantly planning. This had been Kesler's first chance.

After thanks and farewells to the old captain, Kesler guided his companion down the steep path to the little, pebbly beach, where their boat awaited them. It was not a dory, but a gay little pleasure craft, bright with many cushions. Kesler helped Marion in, feeling a keen regret that he could not put her into the handsomest launch roughs the whole bay. Great day for sailing. Wish we had a yacht, Marion."

"Oh, I like this little boat fully as well," declared the girl contendedly, then suddenly cried, "It's growing shallow, sailor boy; look out!"

Kesler's oars stopped in the air. That was the name she had called him when, as children, they had built many dream ships together.

The oars made a savage swoop into the water, the boat shot half its length ahead, then stopped with a jerk, its nose buried in the sand.

"Great Scott, we've struck on the flats! Jerk up the rudder, Marion, while I push her off. Then, after an unavailing effort: "It's a mercy this oar is stout. No, don't push, child; sit still."

"But the tide is just racing out," objected Marion, while all of the man's efforts simply caused the obstinate little craft to grind deeper into the sand.

Wrath and mortification struggled on Kesler's face. "It's bad enough to have to take the princess out in a mean little rowboat," he broke out, "but to shore her on a sand bank and not be able to pull her off is absolute disgrace."

From far up the bay came the sound of distant puffing, and Kesler, glancing up, had the pleasure of seeing a new, shining launch coming rapidly down the channel toward the stranded boat. Still tugging and pulling ineffectually, he turned angrily to the astonished girl.

"Your aunt will be pleased to find you here, Marion. Good heavens, why did you ever come off with me? You ought to be in that launch this minute. You don't belong here"—his wrath poured out on her—"you love luxury; you know you love it like a cat. Harvey's not good enough for you; nobody is. I'm not. He wants you. Of course I want you many times more, but you're crazy to come off with me. He'll be angry and 'twill serve you right. I'm going to signal when he gets nearer and get you over to the channel if I have to carry you. I hope this will teach you a lesson!"

Back of the anger in the man's face the girl read something else and sprang to her feet, crying, "Wait, Merton; don't signal!" With a swirl and a splash she landed knee deep in the water, one hand gathering up her skirts, the other grasping the boat line, while the boat, lightened of her weight, floated a bit. "I don't belong in the launch. I'd rather be here with you," she said defiantly.

"Marion, what do you mean, dear?" asked Kesler, staring at the little figure by his side as if he was just waking out of a sleep.

The girl suddenly began to cry. "I thought I'd better be helping you—helping you pull this boat," she sobbed, "than riding round in an old launch with a man—I don't like. But if you don't want me—I can take him, I suppose." Her voice died away as she struggled vainly to keep her wind blown hair out of her face, her skirts from the water and the tears from blinding her eyes.

"He shall never have you," declared Kesler fiercely, dropping the rope and catching the girl in his arms. "Little comrade, do you mean it? I do want your help, little girl, and I will make you happy. Oh, don't hide your face, dear! Your hair is so lovely—but it's dreadfully in the way!"

The ubiquitous Mr. Harvey, as his launch came swiftly down the channel, noted with astonishment two persons over toward the lighthouse wading slowly through the shallow water. He thought at first that he recognized the girl's white sweater and her green skirt, which she held gathered about her knees. The gulls circled over their heads and the sea wind blew the girl's bright hair all about her face. The man sailed very close to her side. The pair seemed in no particular hurry. Behind them bobbed a little white boat.

The King of Annam Forced to Abdicate

Paris, October 11.—The news recently received that Than-That, the King of Annam, had been forced to abdicate in favor of his eight year old son caused not the slightest surprise here.

Than-That was placed on the throne by the French in 1899, in succession to Kin Dong-Khan. He was seventeen years old. From the first he exhibited a character of fiendish nature.

How many of the stories of the atrocities perpetrated by Than-That are true nobody knows, but enough is known to make it evident that even the terrible records of Asiatic royal barbarities can show few human monsters equal to him. It is said that he found his favorite pastime in torturing his subjects with the most extraordinary refinement of cruelty and that on many occasions the victims were his own wives. Recently, it is stated, he had even of his wives executed at once, and the body of one of these women, who had captured his imperial fancy, was cooked and served at dinner to his household. Others of his wives were boiled in oil, and various members of the royal household were thrown into the cages of wild beasts, the king looking on with delight.

It is said that in the King's seraglio were 6,000 wives and other women and their servants. Once they entered the royal household they were never permitted to leave it. Many of the wives were recruited from the ranks of the actresses of the royal theatre.

Something New in Copper

PITTSBURG - IDAHO
Mining and Milling Company

The mine is located 58 miles above Lewiston, Idaho, on the Clearwater river, and consists of 19 full claims, or 380 acres. It is developed by tunnels, shafts and open cuts for more than 2100 feet, disclosing thousands of tons of copper, gold and silver ores of both high grade and low grade. There are between 1000 and 2000 tons of ore ready for shipment. The entrance to the working tunnel is only 2000 feet from the track of the Northern Pacific railroad, to be reached by gravity tramway. There are seven parallel veins running lengthwise of the claims, one cropping out on the surface for 2,000 feet and another for 3000 feet; while two veins cross these running into the mountain. These veins are from 30 to 200 feet wide. One ore chute has been crosscut 70 feet and is solid ore from wall to wall.

We are not asking you to buy in a prospect. That risk was taken by the promoters. We are asking you to buy in a developed, proven mine. Seven years of continuous work and the expenditure of thousands of dollars has proven up one of the greatest mines in Idaho. That mine is now ready to pour out its red and yellow wealth to the world with the installing of an up to date production plant. It is for that purpose that a block of its treasury stock, full paid and non-assessable, is offered for sale. We believe that within six months from the completion of a 100 ton plant the mine can be put on a dividend paying basis, and that those dividends will be substantial and permanent. There is no better investment proposition before the people at this time.

AIKENSIDE

BY MARY J. HOLMES

Author of "Dora Deane," "The English Orphans," "Lena Rivers," "The Rector of St. Mark's," "Tempest and Sunshine," Etc.

This note Maddy read and reread until she knew it by heart, particularly the part relating to Guy. Hitherto she had not particularly liked her name, greatly preferring that it should have been Eliza Ann, or Sarah Jane; but the knowing that Guy Remington fancied it made a vast difference and did much toward reconciling her. She did not even notice the clause, "and the doctor, too." His attentions and likings she took as a matter of course, so quietly and so constantly had they been given. The day was very long now which did not bring him to the cottage; but she missed him much as she would have missed her brother, if she had one, though her pulse always quickened and her cheeks glowed when she heard him at the gate. The motive power did not lie deeper than a great friendliness for one who had been instrumental in saving her life. They had talked over the matter of her examination, the doctor blaming himself more than was necessary for his ignorance as to what was required of a teacher; but when she asked who was his proxy, he had again answered, evasively:

"A friend from Boston."

And this he did to shield Guy, who he knew was enshrined in the little maiden's heart as a paragon of all excellence.

CHAPTER VII.

Latterly the doctor had taken to driving in his buggy, and when Maddy was strong enough he took her with him one day, himself adjusting the shawl which grandma wrapped around her, and pulling a little farther on the white sunbonnet which shaded the sweet, pale face, where the roses were just beginning to bloom again. The doctor was very happy that morning, and so, too, was Maddy, talking to him upon the theme of which she never tired, Guy Remington, Jessie, and Aikenside. Was it as beautiful a place as she had heard it was, and didn't he think it would be delightful to live there?

"I suppose Mr. Guy will be bringing a wife there some day when he finds one," and leaning back in the buggy Maddy heaved a little sigh, not at thoughts of Guy Remington's wife, but because she began to feel tired, and thus gave vent to her weariness.

The doctor, however, did not so construe it. He heard the sigh, and for the first time when listening to her as she talked of Guy, a keen throb of pain shot through his heart, a something as near akin to jealousy as it was possible for him to feel. But all unused as he was to the workings of love, he did not at that moment dream of such an emotion in connection with Madeline Clyde. He only knew that something affected him unpleasantly, prompting him, for some reason, to tell Maddy Clyde about Lucy Atherstone, who, in all probability, would one day come to Aikenside as its mistress.

"Yes, Guy will undoubtedly marry," he began, just as over the top of the easy hill they were ascending horses' heads were visible, and the Aikenside carriage appeared in view. "There he is now," he exclaimed, adding quickly: "No; there's only a lady inside. It must be Agnes."

It was Agnes driving out alone, for the sole purpose of passing a place which had a singular attraction for her, the old red cottage in Honedale. She recognized the doctor, and guessed whom he had with him. Putting up her glass, for which she had no more need than Jessie, she scrutinized the little figure bundled up in shawls, while she smiled her sweetest smile upon the doctor, showing to advantage her white teeth, and shaking back her wealth of curls with the air and manner of a young coquettish girl.

"Oh, what a handsome lady! Who is she?" Maddy asked, turning to look after the carriage now swiftly descending the hill.

"That was Jessie's mother, Mrs. Agnes Remington," the doctor replied. "She'll feel flattered with your compliment."

"I did not mean to flatter. I said what I thought. She is handsome, beautiful, and so young, too. Was that a gold bracelet that flashed so on her arm?"

The doctor presumed it was, though he had not noticed. Gold bracelets were not new to him as they were to Maddy, who continued:

"I wonder if I'll wear a bracelet like that?"

"Would you like to?" the doctor asked, glancing at the small white wrist, around which the dark calico sleeve was closely buttoned, and thinking how much prettier and modest-looking it was than Agnes' half-bare arms, where the ornaments were flashing.

"Y-e-s," came hesitatingly from Maddy, who had a strong passion for jewelry. "I guess I would, though grandpa classes all such things with the pomps and vanities which I must renounce when I get to be good."

"And when will that be?" the doctor asked.

Again Maddy sighed, as she replied: "I cannot tell. I thought so much about it while I was sick, that is, when I could think; but now I'm better, it goes from me some. I know it is wrong, but I cannot help it. I've seen only a bit of pomp and vanity, but I must say that I like what I have seen, and wish to see more. It's very wicked, I know," she kept on, as she met the queer expression of the doctor's face; "and I know you think me so bad. You are a Christian, I suppose?"

There was a strange light in the doctor's eye as he answered, half sadly: "No, Maddy, I am not what you call a Christian. I have not renounced the pomps and vanities yet."

"Oh, I'm so sorry," and Maddy's eyes expressed all the sorrow she professed to feel. "You ought to be, now you've got so old."

The doctor colored crimson, and stopping his horse under the dim shadow of a maple in a little hollow, he said:

I'm not so very old, Maddy; only twenty-five — only ten years older than yourself; and Agnes' husband was more than twenty years her senior."

The doctor did not know why he dragged that last in, when it had nothing whatever to do with their conversation; but as the most trivial thing often leads to great results—so from the pang caused by Maddy's thinking him so old, was born the first real consciousness he had ever had that the little girl beside him was very dear, and that the ten years' difference between them might prove a most impassable gulf. With this feeling, it was exceedingly painful for him to hear Maddy's sudden exclamation:

"Oh, oh! over twenty years—that's dreadful. She must be 'most glad he's dead. I would not marry a man more than five years older than I."

"Not if you loved him, and he loved you very, very dearly?" the doctor asked, his voice low and tender in its tone.

Wholly unsuspicious of the wild storm beating in his heart, Maddy untied her white sunbonnet, and, taking it in her lap, smoothed back her soft hair, saying, with a long breath: "Oh, I'm so hot," and then, as just thinking of his question, replied: "I shouldn't love him—I couldn't. Grandma is five years younger than grandpa, mother was five years younger than father, Mrs. Green is five years younger than Mr. Green and, oh! ever so many. You are warm, too; ain't you?" and she turned her innocent eyes full upon the doctor, who was wiping from his lips the great drops of water, induced not so much by the heat as by the apparent hopelessness of the love he now knew was growing in his heart for Maddy Clyde. Recurring again to Agnes, Maddy said: "I wonder why she married that old man? It is worse than if you were to marry Jessie."

"Money and position were the attractions, I imagine," the doctor said. "Agnes was poor, and esteemed it a great honor to be made Mrs. Remington."

"Poor, was she?" Maddy rejoined. "Then maybe Mr. Guy will some day marry a poor girl. Do you think he will?"

Again Lucy Atherstone trembled on the doctor's lips, but he did not speak of her—it was preposterous that Maddy should have any thoughts of Guy Remington, who was quite as old as himself, besides being engaged, and with this comforting assurance, the doctor turned his horse in the direction of the cottage, for Maddy was growing tired and needed to be at home.

"Perhaps you'll some time change your mind about people so much older, and if you do you'll remember our talk this morning," he said, as he drove up at last before the gate.

Who that has fished has escaped getting a fishhook caught in a thumb or finger? There is nothing more painful and more difficult to relieve than this simple little incident. The first impulse of the fisher man or woman is to try to remove the hook the way it got caught in the fish, and the more it is pushed back to release the tip the more it cuts and hurts the flesh. On account of the peculiar shape of a fishhook it is necessary to push it all the way through, if the hook is one of those without the loop or eye at the upper end, or else it must be pushed through until the tip of the hook is cleared, and then a pair of tweezers will serve to snap the metal and let the hook be taken out of the flesh. Sometimes a good sized knife will do the hook cutting if tweezers are not handy. The wound made by the hook should be thoroughly cleansed with hot water and perhaps some disinfectant, after which it should be covered with a soothing ointment and then carefully bound with lint or a bandage.—New York Herald.

The "Woman From England."

One of the most [illegible] of the middle ages [illegible] that it [illegible] attached [illegible] Pope Jo[illegible] woman pope who was supposed to have sat in St. Peter's chair about midway of the ninth century. For 200 years in the great cathedral at Siena, Italy, along with the busts of all the other popes, there stood a bust of this mythical female bearing upon it the inscription, "John VIII., a Woman From England." This bust was put in its place by ecclesiastical authorities in the year 1400, without protest from any source, and in pursuance of the universal popular belief that the eighth John had indeed been a woman, and this in spite of the fact that the personal history of the real John VIII., who was a man and a Roman and the defier of the Emperor Charles the Bald, was open to the scholars of the world. It was only at the beginning of the seventeenth century that the bust of the "woman from England" was taken down.—Argonaut.

Heart Strength

Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. Positively, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is all at fault. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve—simply needs, and must have, more power, more stability, more controlling, more governing strength. Without that the Heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have these same controlling nerves.

This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has in the past done so much for weak and ailing Hearts. Dr. Shoop first sought the cause of all this painful, palpitating, suffocating heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this popular prescription—is alone directed to these weak and wasting nerve centers. It builds; it strengthens; it offers real, genuine heart help.

If you would have strong Hearts, strong digestion, strengthen these Nerves—re-establish them as needed, with

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even-numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at an Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

The homesteader is required to perform the homestead duties under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of a homesteader lives permanently with the father (or mother).

(4) The term "vicinity" in the two preceding paragraphs is defined as meaning not more than nine miles in a direct line exclusive of the width of road allowances crossed in the measurement.

(5) A homesteader intending to perform his residence duties in accordance with the above while living with parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

Six months' notice in writing must be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of intention to apply for patent.

This company owns [illegible] claim (80 acres) of some of the best proved mineral land in the Goldfield district, consisting of the Accidental and Accidental No. 2 lode claims, situated two and one-half miles south of the great Goldfield Consolidated Mines (comprising the Mohawk, Goldfield, Combination, Red Top, Jumbo and Laguna) the richest in the world; and the Broadway and Beauty lode claims situated three and one-half miles north-east of the Consolidated and about one and one-half miles northwest of the Great Bond and Daisy Mines near the Zion group in the Diamondfield section, to and only in richness to the great Mohawk portion of the camp. The enormously rich strikes have recently been made on the Consolidated, the Great Bend and the Daisy Mines.

The company has also succeeded in securing the Sure Thing lode claim (20 acres) in the Cuprate district, which runs an immense gold bearing ledge, running the entire length of the claim 1,500 feet, outcropping in places over 50 feet wide, and met by several cross cykes all carrying fine values in gold, and is without doubt rightly named "Sure Thing."

All of these claims are located in the same mineral belt as the other noted mines of Goldfield that have astonished the world by their production of millions in high grade ore, and will with the same development give equally profitable returns.

The money derived from the sale of this stock will be used at once for the active development of the property and the fact that all the directors are residents of Goldfield with years of successful mining experience who will give their personal attention at all times to the progress of this work goes to show that the first issue of 100,000 shares will meet with a quick and ready sale at the initial price of 10 cents per share.

We advise immediate action if you wish to participate in the vast profits of this growing Mine.

Stock will be listed as soon as possible on the Goldfield and San Francisco Stock and Exchange Boards. We therefore advise purchasers to buy in board lots of 1,000 shares when convenient to do so.

Mrs. Arthur Haverstock Makes Public Statement

Tells of Her Belief in the Undying Merit of Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Halifax, N.S., Sept. 19.—When interviewed at her home at 194 Argyle street, Mrs. Haverstock was quite willing to talk of her peculiarly unfortunate case. "I was always blue and depressed, felt weak, languid and utterly unfit for any work. My stomach was so disordered that I had no appetite. What I did eat disagreed. I suffered greatly from dizziness and sick headache and feared a nervous breakdown. Upon my druggist's recommendation I used Dr Hamilton's Pills.

"I felt better at once. Every day I improved. In six days I was a well woman, cured completely after different physicians had failed to help me. It is for this reason that I strongly urge sufferers with stomach or digestive troubles to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Dr Hamilton's Pills strengthen the stomach, improve digestion, strengthen the nerves and restore debilitated systems to health. By cleansing the blood of long-standing impurities, by bringing the system to a high point of vigor, they effectually chase away weariness, depression and disease. Good for young and old, for men, for women, for children. All dealers sell Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut.

Walking Contests

The Oshawa, Port Hope and Peterborough applicants for honor in long-distance walking events are keeping up a continual string of challenges and shooting off unlimited quantities of hot air about what they can do when they get in uniform on the road again. They're all champions, in their own imagination, but when the time comes for them to "toe the scratch," either the heat or the dust bothers them, and they's all in.—Lindsay Post.

Congratulations for Mr. Donovan

The Liberal-Conservative Association of West Peterborough, and the Young Conservative Club this week sent a telegram of congratulation to Mr. A. E. A Word to Farmers

How Slaughtered Animals Are to be Prepared for Market

(To the Editor of The Times:)

Sir,—The custom prevailing among farmers throughout Canada of slaughtering animals, particularly swine, upon their own premises and selling the dressed carcasses on the local market, is one which entails more or less loss to the producer. Before the advent of packing establishments, the domestic trade was supplied by the local butchers, who were necessarily compelled to provide for future supplies, and, as a result, the local markets were created. Conditions have changed however, the local dealers no longer supplying the domestic trade, which has passed into the hands of the packing houses, which are now the distributing centres for meats. Packers can afford to, and actually do pay higher prices and sell at lower values, owing to legitimate causes or reasons which are obvious when one considers that profits are represented by the by-products. The packers are adverse to buying dressed carcasses as they represent smaller profits in by-products; again dressed carcasses are imperfectly handled by the farmer, the meat in many cases being bruised and unsightly, this as well as improper chilling, being detriment to good prices. Animals, especially hogs, require scientific chilling, otherwise those parts which enter into the process of curing become sour and unfit for market. Packers prefer to buy their meats on the hoof, and for the reasons set forth above, are able to pay higher prices for the same.

In view however, of the large trade carried on in some parts of Canada, more particularly during the fall and winter in dressed pork, as well as in other dressed meats, attention may be directed to one of the requirements of the regulations made under the new Meat Inspection Act, which is likely to have a considerable effect on the business above referred to. The Department of Agriculture at Ottawa having assumed the responsibility of inspecting and practically guaranteeing the healthfulness of all meats and meat products sent out by the packing houses, must, of necessity, protect itself by making sure that no diseased carcases are permitted to enter these establishments. The most effective way of preventing the entry of such diseased meat is, of course the careful ante-mortem inspection provided for by the regulations, but in view of the large trade carried on in dressed carcases and of the fact that both farmers and packers have been in the habit of handling meats in this way, the officials in charge of the enforcement of the Act have decided to admit to the establishments under inspection, dressed carcases under such conditions as will enable them to judge with reasonable certainty, as to whether the animal, prior to slaughter, was free from disease. Provision has therefore been made for the admission on inspection of dressed carcases with the head, heart lungs and liver held by their natural attachments, such carcases to be inspected before entering the establishment and if found fit for food to be stamped and admitted for packing purposes, while if found to be deceased, to be condemned and tanked.

This being the case it is incumbent upon every farmer bringing dressed hogs or other animals to market to remember that unless the carcases were dressed in accordance with the regulations mentioned above, namely, with these organs left in their proper positions, it will not be possible for the representatives of the packing houses to buy such carcases for use in any of the establishments coming under the operation of the Meat and Canned Foods Act.

The presence of the buyers or agents of these establishments on our local markets has always been, at least to some extent, a safeguard against possible attempts by local combinations of butchers and others to depress the price of dressed meats, and it will be well for producers to bear in mind the new conditions and when, for any reason, unable to market their stock on the hoof, and for the reasons set forth above, are able to pay higher prices for the same.

J. G. RUTHERFORD,
Veterinary Director-General.

Ottawa, October, 3.

Theatrical

All the action of "The Gingerbread Man," the new and novel musical comedy fantasy by Frederick Ranken and A. Baldwin Sloane, to be seen here soon, centers in and about the mythical kingdom of Pastryland and Bon Bon Land, His Saccharine Majesty, Bunn XIII, is ruler of these kingdoms. The Princess Sallie Lunn, as cousin to King Bunn of Pastryland, is loved by Prince Caramel, the heir apparent of Bon Bon Land. He has a rival, although unaware of it, in the person of his father. Enter now the complications in which cupid and always welcome friends of the Nursery Rhymes bear part; Kris Kringle, Simple Simon, Peter Piper, Margery Daw, and Little Jack Horner. Jack has a love affair with Mazie Bon Bon, a confectioner's saleslgirl, ostensibly, but who is really the only daughter of King Sugar Plum. Through the machinations of one Machavoli Fudgen, a dealer in Black Art and evil omens, Mazie and Jack are separated. Jack invokes the aid of Carmelita, the good fairy queen, to restore Mazie to him. All the action in land to this first act occurs in Santa Claus land. Fudge has by the powers of his art restored to life a Gingerbread Man. He, too, joins in the search for Mazie. They are close upon her. Fudge appears in an airship and bears her away to the kingdom of Bunniard, to where the fairy and the searchers give chase. The rival, the beautiful kingdoms of Bon Bon Land and Pastryland are all aroused over the arrival of the strangers. Other characters introduced are "The Man from Our Town," "Taffy Toffy" and "The Fiery Dragon," and of course the two kings. The Fairy Queen demonstrates that her powers for good are stronger than those of Fudge for evil, and Mazie is restored to her lover Jack Horner.

There is a gorgeous and happy ending to the story, not spoiled by the fact that Carmelita, the Fairy, reforms Fudge, the Black Art exponent. In all the company numbers over seventy people, and will be at the Grand Opera House, on Thursday, October 17.

Good Guess at Cattle's Weight

Yesterday morning six head of cattle were weighed on the market weigh scales. Several drovers were present and made guesses as to their probable weight. Mr. Stabler placed his guess at 4600 and the cattle weighed exactly 4600 not a pound more or less. This was a most remarkable estimate of the weight of live stock on the hoof and demonstrates beyond contradiction that Mr. Stabler understands the drovers' business in that particular that particularly affects the money.

A SHORT HISTORY

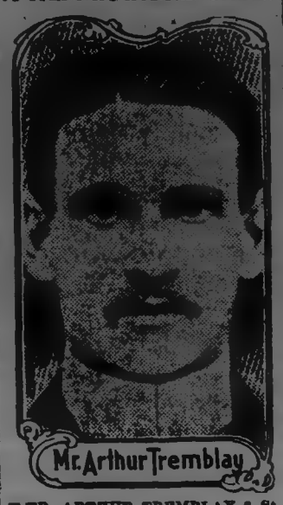
A REMARKABLE CASE.



Mr. Arthur Tremblay

MR. ARTHUR TREMBLAY, 8 St. James street, Mont Pleasant, Que., Can., writes:

"About three years ago, catarrh in its most serious form assailed me.

"I consulted a specialist who prescribed medicines as constitutional treatment and a liquid to use locally.

"This gave me relief for a time, but soon afterwards the disease returned.

"I was then suffering very much, my appetite had left me and I was growing weaker.

"I had frequently read pamphlets regarding the cures made by Peruna, and although somewhat dubious as to its doing me any good, I decided to try a few bottles.

"I had not taken Peruna for more than two weeks before a marked improvement was perceptible.

"As I continued taking the remedy, the disease gradually disappeared and in a few months I was entirely rid of the nauseous malady."

THE JUVENILE CLAIMS AMOUNT TO $52,661

What Part of the York Loan's Assets Shall be Given the 7,987 Claimants Under 15 Years of Age!

Toronto, Oct. 12—Referee Kappele at ten o'clock this morning heard the claims of the juvenile shareholders in the York County Loan & Savings Company, which come under the classification as Class 9.

Subscriptions were first solicited for the stock in the year 1901. These shares were paid for in small sums from time to time as convenient to the subscribers at the rate of not less than five cents per share per month. Payments were due and payable on the first Monday of each month. The holders of this stock could withdraw after payments had been made for five full years. This stock appears on the records of the company in the name of the Trustees for the children Mr. W. H. Hunter appeared for this class of claimants.

THREE GROUPS OF CLAIMANTS.

There are three groups of this class of claimants. First, there are those whose five years' time had expired, and who had made application for withdrawal according to the bylaw. This bylaw stated that juveniles could not apply for withdrawal until the full five years had been paid up. This, however, was altered when in 1903 a new bylaw was enacted giving juvenile shareholders the right to make application for withdrawal prior to the lapse of the five years provided that a deduction of five per cent. was made for expenses. The shareholders who had filed applications under these conditions formed the second group. The third group is made up of juvenile shareholders as had not made application for withdrawal at all.

The first group claims priority over all general shareholders, as they have made their application for withdrawal in the regular way, and had paid up their full five years.

THEY WANT 95 PER CENT.

The second group claim priority for their shares less five per cent. for expenses, which makes a claim of 95 per cent. of their shares, because they had applied for withdrawal. These claims amount to $1,172.29.

The third group claims the payment of the full amount which each shareholder had paid without increment.

The total amount of the three groups of juvenile claimants which come under the classification as No. 9 is $52,661.18, and includes 7,987 claims.

Mr. Linn, formerly connected with the York Loan Company, was called to the box to give evidence as to the different class s of applications for withdrawal.

His evidence disclosed nothing new in regard to this class. His evidence was the only evil nee taken this morning. The discussion of this issue will take place next Friday morning at ten o'clock.

23 Lives were Lost on Lake Superior

Detroit, Oct. 13.—A dispatch to the Journal from Grand Marais reports that an unknown steamer was lost last night in Lake Superior off Deer Park, twenty miles from Grand Marais.

One survivor was washed ashore lashed to a life raft, and is now in a critical condition. He was just able to tell that he was the sole survivor of twenty-three persons on the boat. A furious northwest gale prevailed on Lake Superior last night, and the steamer is pounding to pieces or had been driven on the shore. The condition of the survivor is very critical, but it is hoped that he will rally and be able to give more information of the disaster.

Mystery of Double Disappearance is Now Cleared Up

Montreal, Oct. 12.—The mystery surrounding the disappearance of Helen Maloney, daughter of Martin Maloney, the Philadelphia millionaire, and Samuel Clarkson, who had paid her marked attention, has been cleared up by the announcement that the two were married in this city by a Catholic priest. The notarial deeds in connection with the civil contract were prepared in the office of A. L. Bonin, the lawyer of the city.

Herbert Osborne, of New York, has made the unqualified statement that he and Miss Maloney were married on Dec. 28, 1905, under assumed names, and that the marriage has never been annulled. To this Mr. Bonin gives a denial. Mr. Osborne had declared that not only did Clarkson know of the marriage, but that only a short time ago he sought to have it annulled, having gone so far as to consult New York lawyers on the subject.

Incidentally, Mr Bonin stated that it was not a fact, as reported, that Mr. Clarkson was the young lady's chauffeur. That has been the current report, arising from a misapprehension of the facts on the part of those connected with the wedding. As a matter of fact the bridegroom was a member of the Junior Naval and Military Club of London, and highly connected in the Old Country. Mr. Bonin does not know the present whereabouts of the couple, but states that they had been here up to yesterday.

ARE NOW IN ENGLAND.

Liverpool, Oct. 12.—Mr. and Mrs. Clarkson, the young Englishman, and the daughter of the Philadelphia millionaire, Maloney, whose secret marriage in Montreal and subsequent disappearance caused such a sensation, arrived today on the Empress of Ireland, and immediately left for London.

American Hotel Changes Ownership

Mr. Geo. Long, of the East Ward, Now in Full Possession

Mr. Geo. Long, of the east side, on Saturday morning took possession as proprietor of the American Hotel, the license of which has been held since December last by Mr. J. D. Flynn, who is retiring. Mr. Jos. Stewart, license inspector, has completed arrangements in connection with the transfer, having been empowered to do so by the license commissioners notified Mr. Long that he would be permitted to assume the proprietorship on Saturday.

The Increased Provincial Subsidies

Ottawa, October 14.—The Finance Department will forward to the various provincial treasuries within a few days cheques for the amounts due under the provisions of the amendment to the British North America Act, respecting provincial subsidies, passed at the last sessions of the Canadian and British parliaments. The annual provincial subsidies are paid in half yearly instalments on July 1 and January 1, July 1 last the amounts due the various provinces under the old arrangements were forwarded. The increased amounts due or those payments will now be forwarded.

Of the increase Ontario will get in round numbers, $789,000; Quebec, $600,000; Nova Scotia, $177,000; New Brunswick, $132,000; Manitoba, $12,000; Saskatchewan, $136,000; Alberta, $100,000; British Columbia, $277,000; and Prince Edward Island, $76,000.

A CAR, CROWDED WITH PASSENGERS, BURST INTO FLAMES

Seventy Feet Above the Ground--Passengers on a Hoboken Trolley Walked Along a Slippery Trestle in the Dark

New York, Oct. 12.—Crowded with theatergoers returning from New York, and half way across a high trestle, a Hoboken trolley car suddenly burst into flames shortly before midnight last night. At this point on the trestle the car was seventy feet above the ground. Many of the passengers were women, and it was with difficulty that a panic was quelled.

The conductor and the motorman begged the passengers to be calm, and assured them that all would escape in safety. As soon as the car stopped the passengers swarmed out and made their way to a narrow plank pathway, made slippery by the rain. On this dangerous footing, surrounded by live feed wires, they walked for some distance in the dark before reaching solid ground. All got off the train, which is 150 feet high at its highest point, without accident. The car was entirely consumed.

SENATOR COX ON CANADIAN BANKS

Winnipeg, Oct. 14.—Senator Cox is in Winnipeg, and was asked about the agitation at present in force among real estate agents of Winnipeg to secure better financial conditions. The claim was made by these dealers that four fifty millions of Canadian money had been invested by the Canadian banks in call loans in New York, thereby causing undue tightness in the Canadian money markets.

"The Canadian banks have branches on the other side of the line," he said, "and I have no doubt that a large proportion of this fifty million was deposited by Americans in any event."

He did not think the money were correct would it not be better, in view of present existing conditions, for the Canadian banking institutions to invest their money in call loans, which can be realized upon instantly in case of emergency, instead of in western real estate, which process of securing ready cash from mortgage loans is extremely slow.

Where IS Mr. William Loretto?

Anxious Wife Writes Asking About Missing Husband

Chief Rogel was on Saturday in receipt of the following communication from Parrsboro, Cumberland County, N. S., which speaks for itself. The letter reads as follows:—

Oct. 9th.

Dear Sir:—

Would you be so kind as to write me if there is a man in that place by name of William Lorette (French) Jafagan maker. He is my husband and I have been expecting him but not hearing from him for about two months. I am very anxious for fear something has happened him. I did hear he went to Peterborough and this is why I write you. He can work at shoe-making also.

Yours Respectfully

Mrs. William Lorette.

Beginning with this morning, the citizens of Peterborough will have to pay seven cents a quart for milk. It has been expected for some time that the price of milk would advance here, as it has been going up in other towns and cities. In Montreal the price is ten cents; and in Brantford, Hamilton, St. Catharines, Galt, Havelock and other places seven cents.

Local vendors spoken to by The Times on Saturday, declared that it is, with hay at $20 per ton and other feed in proportion, hard to make a living profit under the increased prices.

RUGBY

Quite a fair-sized crowd gathered at Riverside Park Saturday afternoon to see the local Rugby team badly defeat the Victorias of Toronto by a score of 46—6. The weather was ideal for the game and the ground in good condition, so that all present had a most enjoyable and exciting afternoon.

It was Peterborough's game almost from the start, the sphere being constantly in the Toronto territory. The game was marked by good clean play. The visitors were outclassed in many respects, their wings were unable to cope with their opponents and Peterborough rushes took through almost at their leisure. The Peterborough back division was very strong and were seldom in a dangerous position. Crowley, Colledge and Hurtubise were shining lights.

The teams lined up as follows:

Peterborough — Quinlan, Colledge, Crowley, Dickson, O'Connor, Clarke, Beanard, Hurtubise, Crough, Diloh, Canniff, Wilkie; Fitzgerald, Davidson.

Victorias — Hewitson, McWhirter, Love, Hewitt, Marsh, Milligan, Brown, Jaffray, Brown, Chamberlain, Dickenson, Ellacott, Mims, McWhirter, and Stanton.

Morrison of Toronto, acted efficiently as referee and Tommy Hay, also of the Queen City, was umpire.

Montreal 14 defeated the Hamilton Tigers on Saturday.

The Argos defeated Ottawa Rough riders.

BASEBALL.

Inherits Thirty Millions

Mrs. C. Oliver Iselin Is One of America's Richest Women.

New York, Oct. 14.—In the discussion of great fortunes Americans are prone to exaggerate and to impute to men and women of wealth larger riches than they actually possess. There is one instance however, where there is no overestimate. Indeed there is a disposition to underestimate in this case, because of the unostentatious part which the Goddard and Iselin families play in the drama of high finance.

Mrs. C. Oliver Iselin is to-day one of the very rich women of America. By the will of her father, the late Col. Goddard, of Providence, she inherited $10,000,000 and eventually she will come into an estate of $30,000,000. She has two children. Her husband is the distinguished New York yachtsman and she is now with him on a cup defender.

Although Mr. Iselin is just now in the public eye as the husband of a rich woman his fame is no second-hand, for he was known long ago as a manager of cup defenders. He is a son of Adrian Iselin and a graduate of Columbia College. He is a member of the Iselin banking house.

Story of Cassie Chadwick

Whose Death in Ohio State Prison is Reported

Mrs. Cassie Chadwick, whose death in the Ohio State Prison is reported, was one of the most remarkable women that the last half century has produced. That her talents were exercised wholly in the fields of crime is an incident for which her surroundings may have been responsible. Had Fate cast her lines otherwise, she would surely have become celebrated, for she possessed courage, audacity, nerve, perseverance, and half a dozen other high qualities to a remarkable extent. It has been estimated that Mrs. Chadwick's swindlings ran into the millions, and there can be little doubt that many of her victims have kept their losses to themselves, rather than become a public laughing-stock. Of the whole remarkable story, the most significant feature is that Mrs. Chadwick got the money without bearing heavily on her femininity. In the common sense of the word, she was not an adventuress. She was personally without physical charm.

HER EARLY CAREER.

Her own testimony on the subject being worthless, we may assume that Mrs. Chadwick's maiden name was Elizabeth Bigky, and that she was born at Aggin, Ont., 45 years ago, as her sister says. Her parents were poor, and life on the farm held no attraction for Elizabeth Her early attempts to make a name for herself was executed on a cheque, and was attended by some irregularity which landed her in a police court. On the plea of insanity she escaped imprisonment, and soon left the country to join her sister in Cleveland There, in 1882, she married Dr. W. S. Springsteen, who divorced her shortly. Next she appeared in Toledo, under the name of De Vere, and succeeded in fascinating several men one of them being an express agent named Lamb, whom she landed in financial difficulties, before she, herself, on a charge of forgery, was imprisoned for nine years. On her release she went to Cleveland, calling herself Mrs. Hoover, in affectionate memory of her last husband. She obtained employment as traveller for a millinery establishment, and later on blossomed forth as a clairvoyant and masseuse. In the latter role she met Dr. L. E. Chadwick, a wealthy Cleveland physician, whom she so infatuated that he proposed marriage and was accepted, the ceremony being performed at Pittsburg.

A MOTIVE LACKING.

It was in Cleveland that her sensational career as a financier began. At the outset we are puzzled to find a satisfactory motive for her colossal borrowings. Dr. Chadwick was a wealthy man, and quite able to support his wife in luxury; but this was not good enough for Mrs. Chadwick. The tremendous sums she fraudulent obtained were put to no logical purpose; probably half of the huge total was given away. She bought a dozen rings from a Toronto jeweler, but gave them all away to former Canadian acquaintances. She spent several thousands of dollars in equipping her domestic servants with silk and fine linen, and a satakin sacque. Her home in Cleveland was a huge bric-a-brac shop, costly pictures, price less rugs and bronzes, famous statues, and other most expensive articles of virtu were scattered about with almost unlimited profusion. On her hands were thousands of dollars' worth of jewels. She lived in the most luxurious style, but to a rational approximation of all this insane prodigality she might have legitimately attained through Dr. Chadwick's wealthy.

BORROWED $2,000 TO PAY $1,000.

Traced from its small and modest beginnings, Mrs. Chadwick's system of borrowings is easily understood. For any reasonable amount she had good security—the known fortune of her husband. Her method was not new. She would borrow a thousand dollars, and when the note became due borrow two thousand from someone else and retire the first issue. When the second note expired, she could go back to Borrower No. 1 for $3,000, and probably get it on the strength of her promptness in the matter of the first loan. This principle could be worked safely for any sum up to $10,000, but when the woman desired greater advances some better security than her note of hand was necessary. After a few years of this sort of financing, Mrs. Chadwick met C. T. Beckwith, president of the Citizens' National Bank of Oberlin, Ohio, a man whom she completely deceived. To Beckwith she gave promissory noted amounting to $250,000, signed "Andrew Carnegie" the signatures being forgeries. She explained that she had sold property to Carnegie, but that it was "tied up" for the time being, and that it could not be realized on by either of them but that Carnegie had given the notes so that she should not be pressed for money.

THE GRAND OLD DUPE

Beckwith, although a man reputed to be a pleasing combination of Hetty Green and David Harum, was trustful enough to hand over $240,000 owned by the bank and $100,000 of his personal estate on these pieces of paper. He made some casual enquiries of a lawyer, who pronounced the notes genuine, but did not take the trouble of writing to Mr. Carnegie, a course of action which would have decided the matter at the cost of a couple of stamps. He entertained no the slightest doubt, but gave up the bank's assets and his own fortune to this woman unquestionably. This he did in defiance of a state law which forbids the loan of more than a tenth of a bank's paid-up capital to one person. To conceal this fact from the auditor, Beckwith and the cashier, a man named Spear, also a dupe, resorted to all sorts of subterfuges and doctorings of books. The grand exposure came dramatically, from the deathbed of William Redortha, an Oberlin lawyer, who had been consulted by Beckwith. Redortha felt that the directors of the bank should know how matters stood, and just before he died he told them the story which shocked and amazed the world.

The Marriage and Divorce Craze

New York, Oct. 11.—A couple of days ago William J. Gordon, of New York was married to his brother's widow. He had been divorced from his own wife only a few days.

Monday of this week Gordon's sister was married the third time. She divorced her first husband, an Englishman and married Dan R. Hanna, a divorced man. Then she divorced Hanna and almost immediately married Franklin E. Pelton another divorced man. That is the record up to Monday. There may have been further divorces and marriages since then.

How on earth such people remember from day to day who are their husbands or wives is a mystery to decent persons.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 14.—John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers, announces that he will not be a candidate for re-election as president, stating that he does not regard himself as well enough to attend properly to the office.

Fisherman Leave for the North

Messrs. Roland Denne, W. H. Benham, Wm. Gould, J. Marvin, J. Brennan, Chas. Nixon, Jas. Lynch and D. Davidson left Saturday afternoon for Jack's Lake, where they will spend two weeks fishing.

Another party leaves today for Ketcheeum Lake, where they will also spend a couple of weeks trout fishing. Those who will compose this party are Messrs. E. F. Mason, Orville Shortly, Ottawa; Benj. Shortly, Fred Dumble and Harry Winch.

Directions for Home Made Blood Medicine

This Splendid Prescription Should be Known to All

A leading health journal, in answering the question, "What is the best prescription to clean and purify the blood," prints in a recent issue the following: Fluid Extract of Dandelion one-half ounce, Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla three ounces. Shake well and use in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime.

A well known local druggist who is familiar with this prescription states that it is harmless, being composed of simple ingredients which can be obtained from any good prescription pharmacy.

It cleans the blood of all impurities and nourishes the blood. In just a few days the skin begins to clear of sores, boils and pimples. It puts vigor and energy into run-down, debilitated men and women. For many years Sarsaparilla alone has been considered a good blood medicine. But while it built up and made new blood, the impurities remained within and the good accomplished was only temporary. Sarsaparilla, however, when used in combination with Compound Kargon and Extract Dandelion works wonders. This combination puts the kidneys to work to filter and sift out the waste matter, uric acid and other impurities that cause disease. It makes new blood and relieves rheumatism and lame back and bladder troubles.

This prescription is better than the usual patent medicines, which are in the most part alcoholic concoctions. The ingredients cost but little and are easily mixed at home. Every man and woman here should make some up and try it if they feel their system requires a good blood medicine and tonic.

The Kargon to clean the kidneys and vitalize the nerves they can clean the blood, Sarsaparilla to make new rich blood and Dandelion to tone the stomach, clean the liver and make it active. For positive constipation is the way the prescription acts and so mildly and gently that one does not consider they are taking a medicine.

Christian Scientists Up for Manslaughter

Mount Holly, N. J., Oct., 14.—Edwin M. Watson and his wife, charged with manslaughter for their failure to provide medical treatment for their little son, Granville, who died from pneumonia on May 26, after a brief illness, were found guilty to-day by a jury which recommended mercy.

The Watsons are Christian Scientists. A physician who was called in at the last moment to see the sick child said his life could have been saved had he received proper treatment.

Eckard P. Budd, of counsel for the defense, said: "We certainly expected an acquittal. Within four days we shall make a motion for a new trial, to take place in this county. If this is denied we shall then carry the case to the Supreme Court."

A Big Southern Canning Merger

New York, Oct. 14.—Announcement is made today that an important deal involving the combination or merger of some large southern packing and canning interests has just been completed through George W. Young and associates. The deal involves the acquisition by the McIlhenny Company, of the Tabasco sauce business of E. McIlhenny's son and the canning and packing business of the McIlhenny Canning and Manufacturing Company.

The capitalization of the new company will be $10,000,000.

The company's lands and factories are located on Avery Island, La., and it has offices in New York, Chicago, San Francisco, Portland, Montreal and London. In the production of its Specialties the company will operate a fleet of fifty boats and upwards and will employ over one thousand hands.

Poor Season for Behring Sealers

Victoria, B. C. October 14—The first complete returns from the local sealing fleet were received yesterday on arrival of the schooner Victoria from Behring Sea with a catch of 443 skins. She reports the catch as very small, and will not be more than one third of last season's. The total catch for the season will not reach more than 8,700 in comparison with the 9,756 of last year.

The reason given for such a small catch is the very heavy weather. According to the mate of the Victoria, the weather has been the worst in fifteen years experience.

Although the total catch is very small its value will be brought higher by the fact of landing thirty-eight sea otter in comparison with thirteen last year.

The crew reports thirty-four Japanese schooners hunting this season, all of which have done very well.

The delegates of the Liberal Conservative Association of East Hastings, in convention at Tweed, have unanimously nominated their president Mr. W. N. Northrup, M. P., to again contest the riding as their candidate for the Dominion House.

Captain Fined for Cruelty to a Boy

Montreal, Oct. 14.—The German Consul Mr. Frankson, who was instrumental in the arrest of Captain K. S. Kristiansen, of the Norwegian barque Agat, at New Carlisle, County of Bonaventure, recently for ill-treating a ship's boy, has turned the case over to the Russian Consul, M. de Struve; and it is possible that the Norwegian Consul may also take up the case, as it lies in his hands to deprive Kristiansen of the command of the ship. That has been some question as to the boy's nationality and at first, as he was believed to be a German. Mr. Frankson instructed a lawyer to prosecute the case. Later developments tend to prove that the boy is a Russian as he was born at Kief, but absolute proof is wanting.

The treatment received by the boy roused such a general indignation that no one is satisfied with the sentence imposed by the magistrate. The Agat arrived at Bonaventure to take on a cargo of wood, and the people who were attracted by the arrival of the vessel, saw a strange spectacle of the boy attached to a ring of iron on the quarterdeck of the ship. Later the captain and the first officer having fastened the boy with rope around the body plunged him many times into the water, dragging him out more dead than alive. Furthermore the boy was only allowed black bread and water. When the captain was arrested by Miss Ola the gaoler's clerk, acted shoulder, and defied the police.

As a result of the trial Captain Kristiansen was fined one hundred dollars, as was also the mate, and there is a feeling that these sentences were entirely inadequate to the offence committed. The interests of the boy have been looked after by Mr. Frankson, and matters were taken up by the Russian Consulate at the point where the German Consulate gave up the case.

Theatrical

Nixon & Zimmerman announce their big revolution and original production company in Frederick Ranken's and A. Baldwin Sloane's musical comedy, "The Gingerbread Man" at The Grand Opera House on Thursday, Oct. 17th.

The announcement that this musical fantasy will be seen in our city should create unusual interest on account of the tremendous success this play had in New York, Chicago and Philadelphia. Its love interest is charming, which will bring back to us the memories of our childhood days. The Gingerbread Man and all his friends, Little Jack Horner, Margery Daw, Prances Sugar Plum, Fudge, Taffy, etc., will come to life and sing and dance and make us merry.

The cast has many well known artists among whom are, Evelyn Kellog, Nellie Nice, Margaret Savoi, Anna Drexler, Fannie Martine, Amy Haddon, Lulu Borden, Fred Nice, Rose Snow, Garrick Major, J. M. Holden, James H. Huber, Lute Vroboskin, John Sanders, and a grand beauty chorus of forty well trained voices.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Halifax, N. S. Oct. 14.—The Massachusetts fishing schooner Fannie Prescott seized last year for fishing inside the three mile limit, was released today and the captain and crew from Gloucester have taken her over. At first the owners held there was no violation of fishing regulations but recently they changed their minds and pleaded guilty. They were fined $1,000 and costs and today the Admiralty Court issued an order for the vessel's release.

Toronto, Oct. 12.—Legal steps probably will be taken shortly to appeal to the Privy Council the judgment handed out last summer by the Supreme Court in the case of the Province of Ontario vs the Dominion of Canada, relative to the trust funds of the province now held by the Dominion. By the judgment of the Supreme Court the claim of Ontario that the Dominion could not reduce the interest paid on the Upper Canada Grammar School and other funds from 6 to 4 per cent., as was done three years ago was upheld, while the Dominion upon the contention that the whole principal could be repaid to the province.

News Briefs

Smith's Falls, Oct. 12.—Mr. Alex May, local and feed merchant, has a perfect specimen of a petrified foot. It was found in a glen near his summer home on Rideau Lake, and is exciting considerable interest. It has every line and curve of the human foot, of which it is a perfect reproduction in stone.

Vancouver, B. C. Oct. 12.—William Ogilvie, former governor of the Yukon, who ran the Canadian International boundary line between Alaska and Yukon Territory, southward from Yukon River, while he was off as much as 1,000 feet, did very good work under the circumstances. Such is the declaration of G. C. Baldwin and Thomas Riggs, jr., head of the big American party of boundary delimitators, who have returned from the summit's work on the line.

Boyhood of Other Days

London, Oct. 14.—A charming collection of relics of the child life of ancient Greece and Rome is now on exhibition in the British Museum. A little rag doll of some baby that lived and died centuries ago and carven horses and rusty chariot and pair, which may have been put away by some "Little Boy Blue" in those far-off days, suggest certain constant and unchanging elements in the stages and pursuits of humanity. Similarly, the discovery of the pagan world is brought near by fragments of written exercises and glass and crystal marbles. He was not very different from the boy of to-day, of one may trust the passage in one of the old plays in which an indignant mother complains that her boy "knows the 7th and the 9th of the month—whole holidays—as if he read the stars."

A man who owes a fine coffee plantation in Jamaica said: 'Four years ago I discovered that coffee was ruining my health, and I quit and have been using Postum ever since.'

Experience taught that man that he could not drink his own high-grade coffee. Its active drug—caffeine—irritates the nervous system, interferes with digestion, and trouble is sure to follow.

Some folks may take the hint and change to Postum.

It is absolutely free from drugs, and when well made, that is, boiled 15 minutes, it has a delicious taste similar to the mild, high-grade Javas, with the natural vital food elements of the field grains that repair the damage done by coffee. TELEGRAPH POLES

They have begun to make telegraph and telephone poles of concrete, and the advocates for their substitute for the old cedar outfit are able to make out a pretty strong case. The concrete supports are said to be practically indestructible, and since the cost of replacement of cedar poles in the United States alone is $16,000,000 a year, the first cost of the concrete support might be easily met by the added durability.

A new pole of the concrete type recently invented in Indiana is described by a writer in the Scientific American. In the body of the pole and near its circumference equally spaced are rods of twisted electro-carbon steel specially prepared. These rods are held in position by spiral binding wires. These form the skeleton work of the pole, or the reinforcement, which is enclosed in a form into which cement is poured. When the cement sets the form is removed, and the result is a concrete pole.

It is claimed for the new pole that it is not affected by extremes of heat or cold or by heavy demands on its strength or elasticity. The elasticity of the concrete pole is said to be remarkable. A thirty foot pole will deflect 31 inches at the top without cracking the concrete! Its breaking strain is figured at 6,000 pounds.—that is to say, the concrete pole is three times as strong as the common wooden pole.

The first cost of the concrete pole is figured at slightly more than that of the cedar pole. The average life of the cedar pole is twelve years, that of the concrete pole being practically unlimited. The labor cost of removing a decayed cedar pole and attaching the wires to a new pole is estimated as greater than the cost of the pole itself, and this labor cost is held to be the greatest item of depreciation in both telegraph and telephone properties. "Indeed," says the writer in the Scientific American, "this very item is perhaps the only one that has made telephone securities less desirable than railroad stocks. With cement poles the renewal cost is eliminated."

The cement poles act as lightning rods and protect wires, instruments, and electrical machinery. They stand against sleet and wind storms which would bear the wooden poles to the ground. They are immensely strong, graceful in form, need no painting and "can be aligned to mathematical exactness." And finally they are self-supporting and bear their own strain, avoiding the necessity of dangerous and unsightly anchorage.

This sounds pretty good. If we in cities are to have the telegraph and telephone wires above ground at all we should be interested in finding a pole a little less unsightly than the wooden things which nowadays shock all our senses of the beautiful. And since the concrete pole project promises a real economy the telegraph and telephone people might begin to stick it up much more quickly than they would through any purely sentimental desire to please the public.

PORTER WORE HIS BOOTS

Sequel to the New System Regarding Shoe Shining at Hotels

'Twas a very small hotel
In Peterborough, Ont.,
I laid my boots beside my door
Feeling very gaunt,
Expecting when I rose next day
To find them right and clean;
But in the morning, low my boots
Were nowhere to be seen.

It was my only pair and so,
As hungry I did feel,
In stocking soles I had to go
To have my morning meal.
The other guests stared frigidly
(My feet were frigid too),
But, tell me, in the circumstances
What else was I to do?

I wandered round for half an hour
A-searching for my boots,
And then by chance I happened on The porter,—Mr. Coutts.
To him I went, my story then
To whom I did repeat,
When suddenly I noticed that
My boots were on his feet!

"Oh, Mr. Coutts, pray pardon me,
Those boots you wear are mine,
I laid them in the corridor
Last night to get a shine."
His eyes both sought the floor, his feet
Uneasily did they shift;
"I saw 'em sir, and took 'em, fer,
I thought they was a gift!

"But you may have 'em, for I find
That they are much too tight,
Though I'd advise you not to lay
'Em out another night;
But for a shining parlor ask
A member of the police;
They ruin shoes there good and fine,
And charge a five cent piece."

Minister's Daughter — Would Force a Date

Rochester, Ind., Oct. 12.—Miss Iva Wagoner, 17 years of age, and the daughter of a well-known minister, is under arrest here on a charge of trying to wreck a Lake Erie & Western passenger train, thus endangering forty or fifty lives. No less strange is the accusation that the wreck was planned by Miss Wagoner in order that she might get to see her sweetheart, who is employed by the railroad company, and who would have been summoned to the scene of the wreck, had it occured.

The railroad detectives who made the arrest, and who claim to have secured a confession, have reached the conclusion that the girl's mind is unbalanced.

Several days ago section men found crossties and rails piled on the Lake Erie & Western tracks, and the obstruction was removed only a moment before the passenger train came along. While the men were at work however, Miss Wagoner appeared upon the scene and was very demonstrative when she saw her sweetheart with the section men clearing away the obstruction.

One of the railway detectives laid siege to the girl's heart, won her confidence and in the end secured a statement to the effect that she had been in love with a young man employed by the railroad company, that she had appealed to him frequently to come and see her, but he had ignored her, and finally she had piled the railroad ties on the track, knowing that he would be at the place if a wreck occurred.

Miss Wagoner refuses to make any statement concerning the affair, but is plainly disappointed that her supposed new sweetheart should have turned out to be a railroad detective. Her father has not decided whether he will place her in an institution for treatment or let the law take its course, but is inclined to the latter.

Increase in the British Mail

Ottawa, Oct. 12.—The Post Office Department has completed its statistics of British mails coming into Canada by Canadian steamers for the months of July and August. The increase in the British newspapers and magazines coming into Canada as a result of the reduction of postage is phenomenal. The total increase in the number of mail bags coming into Canada from Great Britain during the months of July and August as compared with the corresponding figures of 1906 is 162 per cent., the number for July and August 1906, being 3,120, while for the same months in 1907 there were 6,569 bags. In Toronto 379 bags were received during the months of July and August, 1906, during the same months of 1907 the number was 1,049. The increase in Montreal was from 442 to 1,024. During July 1906, there were received at Winnipeg 181 bags of British Mails by the Canadian steamers. For the corresponding months of 1907 the number has risen to 1,736.

More Plague Deaths Frisco Sees Danger

San Francisco, Oct. 12.—Two deaths from bubonic plague today brought the total of fatal attacks within the city since May 27th to thirteen. Twenty-four cases have been reported. To-day's victims were a Chinese merchant and a Greek.

Dr. Rupert Blue, the government expert who has been placed in charge of the plague situation, says there is no cause for alarm, however, and that there is no necessity for a quarantine.

The board of health also issued a proclamation today declaring there was no danger of a spread of the plague or of quarantining the city.

CASSEROLE COOKING.

The charm of cooking en casserole is in the delicious blending of flavors that it accomplishes. And one can have meat as well as vegetables, all from the same dish and with equal good flavor. Perhaps the most popular casserole dish is chicken. To prepare this the chicken should be washed and wiped very carefully and thoroughly, then buttered all over and dipped in flour. The chicken is then laid in the bottom of a good sized casserole and two cups of soup stock are added. If vegetables are desired with it, a dozen small onions are put in whole, with a couple of large potatoes cut into about two dozen small balls, one carrot cut into fancy shapes, two handfuls of string beans, two stalks of celery, a clove of garlic, whole; salt and pepper, a sprig of parsley and one turnip cut into fancy shapes. All these are laid around the chicken, and the casserole is then put in the oven to stay for an hour and a quarter. If the vegetables are young and fresh, then it is best to put them in after the chicken has cooked for twenty minutes. But if they are old then they can be started when the chicken is, and both will become tender and done at the same time.

Devilled chicken is another savory casserole dish, which is better known at restaurants than it is at the family table. To make this the chicken is first broiled. Ten minutes before it is time to serve the chicken is removed from the broiler, laid in the casserole and the following sauce poured over it: Take a little mustard, two or three tablespoonfuls of worcestershire, pepper, salt and stir. After the same is poured over the chicken breadcrumbs are sprinkled on it, and then the casserole, with its contents, is put in the oven to braise for a few minutes.

TO RENOVATE BAGS.

A Stunning Design in Gold Beads and Sequins.

The shabbiest of suede or silk wrist bags can be made to look very elegant and expensive in the following way: Cut away the old leather to within an inch of the frame and make a new bag or brocade or thin tapestry the same size. To stitch it to the suede right up close to the frame is a very easy matter, the stuff being turned into shape as you go along. Next comes the decoration. The bag illustrated is sewn with jewels, with the lovers' knot in tarnished gold braid. The jewels are very close together, and it is a good plan to follow the pattern of the brocade or else use a simple geometrical design. When the embroidery is finished, allpstitch in a silk lining, which will hide all the stitches. Several bags too dilapidated to use were renovated in this way and realized a considerable sum each for a charity.

"Not Taking Any."

An amusing story is being told concerning a certain duchess and little Prince Henry of Wales. The duchess was staying at Sandringham, and tea was being served in the big hall. Prince Henry, who was present, was made much of by the ladies, and the duchess, in her sweetest tones, said to him:

"Come here, dear, and give me a kiss."

Prince Henry came, gave a good look at her and then said in his shrill, childish treble:

"Thank you, some other day."

It was quite irresistible; no one could help smiling, and happily the duchess' sense of humor was sufficient to permit her to enjoy a laugh against herself.

A Rule of Three.

Three things to govern—temper, tongue and conduct.

Three things to cultivate—courage, affection and gentleness.

Three things to commend—thrift, industry and promptness.

Three things to despise—cruelty, arrogance and ingratitude.

Three things to wish for—health, friends and contentment.

Three things to admire—dignity, gracefulness and intellectual power.

Three things to give—alms to the needy, comfort to the sad and appreciation to the worthy.

The Afternoon Tea.

Orange straws are among the dainty tidbits that are frequently served with afternoon tea. To make them the easiest, quickest way, remove the white membrane from the orange peel, cut into thin, even strips and soak in cold water for two hours. At the end of that time wipe dry. Boil two cups of sugar with one of water until the syrup threads, dip the straws into this, then lay on oiled paper until the next day.

When Cleaning Knives.

Add a tiny bit of carbonate of soda to the bath brick on the knifeboard. Knives will polish much more easily.—Home Chat.

Montreal, Oct. 12.—Mr. D. B Hanna, general manager of the Canadian Northern, is at present at the Windsor Hotel, and will spend some days in this city. He stated in an interview that his road was in a position to carry all the grain entrusted to it, as its equipment of cars and locomotives had been considerably increased. He stated that so far as he knew the Grand Trunk Pacific was in a position to do likewise.

THE SUMMER MAN.

Oh, talk about the summer girl,
In frocks and frills arrayed!
The fascinating summer man
Has made her glories fade.
He walks along the sandy shore
In suit of silver gray,
Pink shirt and fetching panama
And steals our hearts away.

He plays at tennis, golf and bridge
And strums the banjo, too,
And sweetly sings romantic songs
When falls the evening dew.
He holds Amelia's skeins of floss
And carries Elsie's shawl
And begs a kiss from Emeline
At parting in the hall.

Oh, dreary would the beaches be Without his winning smile,
His gorgeous ties and shiny shoes
And stinger vermilion!
The gay, flirtatious knight is he
Of parasol and fan,
The monarch of vacation time—
All hail the summer man!

Something New in Copper

PITTSBURG - IDAHO

Mining and Milling Company

The mine is located 58 miles above Lewiston, Idaho, on the Clearwater river, and consists of 19 full claims, or 380 acres. It is developed by tunnels, shafts and open cuts for more than 2000 feet, disclosing thousands of tons of copper, gold and silver ores of both high grade and low grade. There are between 1000 and 2000 tons of ore ready for shipment. The entrance to the working tunnel is only 2000 feet from the track of the Northern Pacific railroad, to be reached by gravity tramway. There are seven parallel veins running lengthwise of the claims, one cropping out on the surface for 2400 feet and another for 3000 feet; while two veins cross these cropping into the mountain. These veins are from 30 to 200 feet wide. One ore chute has been crossed 700 feet and is solid ore from wall to wall.

We are not asking you to buy in a prospect. That risk was taken by the promoters. We are asking you to buy in a developed, proven mine. Seven years of continuous work and the expenditure of thousands of dollars has proven up one of the greatest mines in Idaho. That mine is now ready to pour out its red and yellow wealth to the world with the installing of an up to date production plant. It is for that purpose that a block of its treasury stock, full paid and non-assessable, is offered for sale. We believe that within six months from the completion of a 100 ton plant the mine can be put on a dividend paying basis, and that those dividends will be substantial and permanent. There is no better investment proposition before the people at this time.

AIKENSIDE

BY MARY J. HOLMES

Author of "Dora Deane," "The English Orphans," "Lena Rivers," "The Rector of St. Mark's," "Tempest and Sunshine," Etc.

Oh, yes! Maddy would never forget that morning or the nice ride they'd had. She had enjoyed it so much, and she thanked him many times for his kindness, as she stood waiting for him to drive away, feeling no tremor whatever when at parting he took and held her hand, smoothing it gently, and telling her it was growing fat and plump again. He was a very nice doctor, much better than she had imagined, she thought, as she went slowly to the house and entered the neat kitchen, where her grandmother sat shelling peas for dinner, and her grandfather in his leathern chair was whispering over his weekly paper.

"Did you meet a grand lady in a carriage?" grandma asked, as Maddy sat down beside her.

"Yes; and Dr. Holbrook said it was Mrs. Remington, from Aikenside, Mr. Guy's stepmother, and that she was more than twenty years younger than her husband—isn't it dreadful? I thought so; but the doctor didn't seem to," and in a perfectly artless manner Maddy repeated much of the conversation which had passed between the doctor and herself, appealing to her grandma to know if she had not taken the right side of the argument.

"Yes, child, you did," and grandma's hands lingered among the light green peas in her pan, as if she were thinking of an entirely foreign subject. "I know nothing about this Mrs. Remington, only that she stared a good deal at the house as she went by, even looking at us through a glass, and lifting her spotted veil after she got by. She may have been as happy as a queen with her man, but as a general thing these unequal matches don't work, and had better not be thought on; 'spoin' you should think you was in love with somebody, and in a few years, when you got older, be sick of him. It might do him a sight of harm. That's what spoilt your poor greatuncle Joseph, who's been in the hospital at Worcester nine years."

"It was?" And Maddy's face was all aglow with the interest she always evinced whenever mention was made of the one great living sorrow of her grandmother's life—the shattered intellect and isolation from the world of her youngest brother, who, as she said, had for nearly nine long years been an inmate of a madhouse.

"There is no great to tell, only he was many years younger than I. He's only forty-one now, and was thirteen years older than the girl he wanted. Joseph was smart and handsome, and a lawyer, and folks said a sight too good for the girl, whose folk were just nothing, but she had a pretty face, and her long curls bewitched him. She couldn't have been older than you when he first saw her, and she was only sixteen when they got engaged. Joseph's life was bound up in her; he worshiped the very air she breathed, and when she mittened him, it almost took his life. He was too old for her, and then right on top of that we heard after a little that she had married some big bug, I never knew who, plenty old enough to be her father. That settled it with Joseph; he went into a kind of melancholy, grew worse and worse, till we put him in the hospital, usin' his little property to pay the bill until it was all gone, and now he's on charity, you know, exceptin' what we do. That's what 'tis about your Uncle Joseph, and I warn all young girls of thirteen or fourteen not to think too much of nobody. They are bound to get sick of 'em, and it makes dreadful work."

Grandma had an object in telling this to Maddy, for she was not blind to the nature of the doctor's interest in her child, and though it gratified her pride, she felt that it must not be, both for his sake and Maddy's, so she told the sad story of Uncle Joseph as a warning to Maddy, who could scarcely be said to need it. Still it made an impression on her, and all that afternoon she was thinking of the unfortunate man, whom she had seen but once, and that in his prison home, where she had been with her grandfather the only time she had ever ridden in the cars. He had taken her in his arms then, she remembered, and called her his little Sarah. That must have been the name of his treacherous betrothed. She would ask if it was not so, and she did.

"Yes, Sarah Morris, that was her name, and her face was handsome as a doll," grandma replied, and wondering if she was as beautiful as Jessie, or Jessie's mother, Maddy went back to her reverie of the poor maniac, whom Sarah Morris had wronged so cruelly.

CHAPTER VIII.

It was very pleasant at Aikenside that afternoon, and the cool breeze blowing from the miniature fish pond in one corner of the grounds, came stealing into the handsome parlors, where Agnes Remington, in tasteful toilet, reclined languidly upon the crimson-hued sofa, bending her graceful head to suit the height of Jessie, who was twining some flowers among her curls, and appealing to Guy to know "if it was not pretty."

In his favorite seat in the pleasant bay window, opening into the garden, Guy was sitting, apparently reading a book, though his eyes did not move very rapidly down the page, for his thoughts were on some other object. When his pretty stepmother first came to Aikenside, three months before, he had been half sorry, for he knew just how his quiet would be disturbed, but as the weeks went by, and he became accustomed to Jessie's childish prattle and frolicsome ways, while even Agnes herself was not a bad picture for his handsome home, he began to feel how he should miss them when they were gone, Jessie particularly, who made so much sunshine wherever she went, and who was very dear to the heart of the half-brother. Full well he knew Agnes would rather stay there, that her income did not warrant as luxurious a home as he could give her, and that by remaining at Aikenside during the warmer season she could afford to board through the winter in Boston, where her personal attractions assured her quite as much attention as was good for her. Had she been more agreeable to him he would not have hesitated to offer her a home as long as she chose to remain, but, as it was, he felt that Lucy Atherstone would be much happier alone with him. Lucy, however, was not coming yet, and until she did come Agnes perhaps might stay. It certainly would be better for Jessie, who could have a teacher in the house, and it was upon these matters that he was reflecting.

As if divining his thoughts, Agnes said to him rather abruptly:

"Guy, Ellen Laurie writes me that they are all going to Saratoga for a time, and then to Newport, and she wishes I would join them. Do you think I can afford it?"

"Oh, yes, that's splendid, for I'll stay here while you are gone, and I like Aikenside so much better than Boston, Mamma can afford it, can't she, Guy?" Jessie exclaimed, dropping her flowers and springing upon her brother's knee.

"That means, I suppose, that I can afford it, don't it? but, puss, I was thinking just now about your staying here, where you really do improve."

Then turning to Agnes he made some inquiries as to the plans proposed by the Lauries, ascertaining that Agnes' plan was as follows: He should invite her to go with him to Saratoga, or Newport, or both, and that Jessie meantime should remain at Aikenside, just as she wished.

BELIEVE IN DREAMS?

If Yes, What Would You Do in a Case Similar to This?

If you should dream that a man with whom you were acquainted killed his wife, if you vividly saw him plunge a dagger into her heart in your vision, would you tell the wife of your premonition of a tragedy?

This question has been puzzling a number of people in London. A married couple were inspecting a house which was for rent in Surrey some time ago. While the husband inspected the stables the wife remained in the parlor.

Shortly after her husband left the room, the wife said, a man and woman entered. The woman was young and pretty and in tears. The man was angry. After gesticulating a few minutes he rushed to the girl, drew a knife from his coat and plunged it through her heart.

With a loud shriek the woman who witnessed the tragedy arose and staggered to the door. She looked about her and saw that the couple had vanished. She realized she had either been dreaming or had seen a vision. When her husband returned she told him her experience. They did not rent the house.

Some time afterward while attending a reception the woman was introduced to a young lady and her fiance. She recognized the characters of her vision. Later the young couple to whom she had been introduced were married. To her dismay, the woman learned they had leased the very house where she had experienced the harrowing dream.

What was she to do? She asked her friends. They were at a loss to give her advice. The woman was convinced that she was given the premonition of a tragedy. At the same time she dreaded provoking a disagreement in case there should be nothing but a hallucination.

What would you do in such a case? This would depend, of course, as to whether or not you believe in dreams. Do you?

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

As a matter of fact there are no very big fish in small ponds.

A fool is the greatest nuisance in this world. And there are quite a few of 'em.

Heart Strength

Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. Positively, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is all at fault. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve—simply needs, and must have, more power, more stability, more controlling, more guarding strength. Without that the Heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have their same controlling nerves.

This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has in the past done so much for weak and ailing Hearts. Dr. Shoop first sought the cause of all this painful, palpitating, suffocating heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this popular prescription—is alone directed to these weak and wasting nerve centers. It builds, strengthens; it offers real, genuine heart help.

If you would have strong Hearts, strong digestion, strengthen these Nerves — re-establish them as needed, with

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even-numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-agency for the district in which the land to be taken is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at an Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

The homesteader is required to perform the homestead duties under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of a homesteader has permanent residence on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of a homestead, or upon a homestead entered for by him in the vicinity, such homesteader may perform his own residence duties by living with the father (or mother).

(4) The term "vicinity" in the two preceding paragraphs is defined as meaning not more than nine miles in a direct line exclusive of the width of road allowances crossed in the measurement.

(5) A homesteader intending to perform his residence duties in accordance with the above while living with parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

Six months' notice in writing must be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of intention to apply for patent.

Absentminded 'Gators.

An old colored man who is devoutly religious returned to Brooklyn recently from a trip to Florida, his birthplace, and told his employer about a narrow escape he had had from an alligator. Knowing of the religious zeal of the darky, the employer sought to test his faith.

"What were you afraid of an alligator for?" he asked him. "Don't you know that the Lord will take care of you? Of course you know the story of Jonah and the whale. The whale swallowed Jonah, but Jonah came out all safe enough."

The darky shook his head dubiously. "Yes, boss, I knows about Jonah," he said, "but, then, you see, a whale's got a mem'ry. A alligatah ain't got no mem'ry. If a 'gatah swallows you he won't think no mo' about you."

Simplicity's Saving Grace.

"I like simplicity," said the statesman. "Simplicity saves us a lot of trouble too.

"Two men met in front of the Rhank hotel the other day and fell into a political argument. They were ordinary, everyday sort of men, but one of them had an extraordinary flow of polysyllabic language. He talked half an hour, and his companion listened in a daze.

"'And now,' the speaker pompously concluded, 'perhaps you will coincide with me.'

"The other's face brightened up.

"'Why, yes. Thanks, old man,' he answered heartily, moving toward the barroom door, 'I don't care if I do.'"

Queer Smokes.

"Tobacco," said a tobacconist, "is one of many herbs that are smoked. In the orient, for instance, bhang or cannabis, a drug that gives one the desire to caress people's feet, goes into loads of pipes. Some savages smoke the leaves of the wild potato and the wild tomato. These bitter leaves are narcotic. They throw you into a pleasant stupor. Pursued in, though, they bring insanity. Some of the Swiss guides smoke 'mogotain tobacco,' a weed that grows only at great heights. This stuff produces an intoxication akin to alcohol's. Our Indians, when hard up, smoke holly and sumac leaves and the silvery leaves of 'Indian tobacco,' which every boy has chewed."

This company owns 4 claims (adjoins) of some of the best proved mineral land in the Goldfield district, consisting of the Accidental and Accidental No. 2 lode claims, situated two and one-half miles south of the great Goldfield Consolidated Mines (comprising the Mohawk, Goldfield, Combination, Red Top, Jumbo and Laguna) the richest in the world; and the Broadway and Beauty lode claims situated three and one-half miles south of the consolidated and about one and one-half miles northwest of the Great Bend and Daisy Mines near the Zon group in the Bimorefield section second only in richness to the great Mohawk portion of the camp. Phenomenally rich strikes have recently been made out by Consolidated, the Great Bend and the Daisy Mines.

The company has also succeeded in securing the Sure Thing lode claim (20 acres) in the Cuprite district, which has an immense gold bearing ledge, running the entire length of the claim 1,500 feet, outcropping in places over 50 feet wide, and met by several cross dykes all carrying fine values in gold, and is without doubt rightly named "Sure Thing."

All of these claims are located in the same mineral belt as the other noted mines of Goldfield that have astonished the world by their production of millions in high grade ore, and will with the same development give equally profitible returns.

The money derived from the sale of this stock will be used at once for the active development of the property and the fact that all the directors are residents of Goldfield with years of successful mining experience who will give their personal attention at all times to the progress of the work goes to show that the first issue of 100,000 shares will meet with a quick and ready sale at the initial price of 10 cents per share.

We advise immediate action if you wish to participate in the vast profits of this treasury Mine.

Stock will be listed as soon as feasible on the Goldfield and San Francisco Stock and Exchange Boards. We would therefore advise purchasers to buy in board lots of 1,000 shares when convenient to do so.

A Successful Week's Engagement Ended

Splendid Exhibition Given on Roller Skates by Prof. Genno and Miss Patterson

Professor Genno the wizard of the whirling wheels has finished a successful week's engagement at the Charlotte street roller rink where his marvellous performance on the roller skates delighted thousands of our citizens. The professor is unique in his specialties and his performance is worth travelling miles to see. Friday night was his greatest night here, the rink being crowded by a well pleased audience who stood spell bound as Prof. Genno and his assistant, Miss Patterson went through their program. One of the most interesting of Prof. Genno's many specialities on the roller skates is his thrilling act on the barrel. On this unstable and easily revolving barrel the professor whilst on his skates, mounts and propels it as a river-driver with spiked shoes rolls a log in the water. Whilst this may not look so very difficult one has only to watch even an expert skater try to mount, let alone, moved the barrel along after he may have mounted it. This barrel which is about three feet in diameter the professor places on the floor of the rink and skating backwards at high speed to it, completely leaps by a backward jump. There is a standing reward of $5000 to any roller skater who excels this feat.

Another feature of the professor and Messrs Patterson is their graceful waltzing on roller skates and their stilt skating. Professor Genno holds the championship for fast skating up to a mile in distance.

The costumes Prof. Genno and Miss Patterson wear at their exhibitions are the best that have ever been seen here at a similar performance. The various feats performed by these artists of the roller skates are beyond criticism and Mr. Sheridan, proprietor of the rink has given his patrons a rare treat during the past week. Prof. Genno is assured of large audiences should he revisit this city.

Wants P. C. McDonald to Continue in Office

(To the Editor of The Times.)

Sir,—I saw in your paper of a few days ago, that P. C. McDonald had resigned from the local police force. Your paper contained full and exact report of Mr. McDonald's resignation, for the publishing of which you are to be greatly credited.

As I understand things this efficient policeman was for some twenty years on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad as private detective, and that he may return to his former workk. It is a matter of congratulation to Mr. McDonald that his former job is given to him again and a matter of loss to the city should we lose so efficient an officer. The trouble between Mr. McDonald and those in charge of the force is simply a private one, seemingly, still it is to be hoped that matters may be fixed so that he will remain on the force where his comparatively short service has displayed his good work.

There are lots of men who will accept positions on the police force of Peterborough, but how many of them come armed with a twenty years' experience in the service of one of the greatest railroads in the world. I do not know much about McDonald personally, but his past record and what he has done for the police force of Peterborough in greatly tending towards the advisability of the local commissioners of police asking him to remain From what I can ascertain Chief Rossy has nothing against Mr. McDonald, and it would be to the interests of our city's morality and good name should he be asked to continue in the position he now occupies.

A Woman's Back

Has many aches and pains caused by weaknesses and falling, or other displacement, of the pelvic organs. Other symptoms of female weakness are frequent headache, dizziness, imaginary specks or dark spots floating before the eyes, gnawing sensation in stomach, dragging or bearing down in lower abdominal or pelvic region, disagreeable drains from pelvic organs, faint spells with general weakness.

If any considerable number of the above symptoms are present there is no remedy that will give quicker relief or a more permanent cure than Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It has a record of over forty years of cures. It is the most potent invigorating tonic and strengthening nervine known to medical science. It is made of the glyceric extracts of native medicinal roots found in our forests and contains not a drop of alcohol or harmful, or habit-forming drugs. Its ingredients are all printed on the bottle-wrapper and attested under oath as correct.

Every ingredient entering into "Favorite Prescription" has the written endorsement of the most eminent medical writers of all the several schools of practice—more valuable than any amount of non-professional testimonials—though the latter are not lacking, having been contributed voluntarily by grateful patients in numbers to exceed the endorsements given to any other medicine extant for the cure of woman's ills.

You cannot afford to accept any medicine of unknown composition as a substitute for this well proven remedy of KNOWN COMPOSITION, even though the dealer may make a little more profit thereby. Your interest in regaining health is paramount to any selfish interest of his and it is an insult to your intelligence for him to try to palm off upon you a substitute. You know what you want and it is his business to supply the article called for.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the original "Little Liver Pills" first put up by old Dr. Pierce over forty years ago, much imitated but never equaled. Little sugar-coated granules—easy to take as candy.

Temperance Cause Staggered by Unexpected Result of Vote

67 P.C. Against

Winnipeg, Oct. 14.—The wiping out of local option in the Neepawa district, after an experience of more than twenty years, is declared in the west to be a blow to prohibition that will practically destroy for all time the law in Western Canada.

Of 403 ballots cast, sixty-seven per cent. were opposed to local option. Sixty per cent. had to be registered against the law to bring the saloon back.

Ministers and temperance workers assert that they are unable to account for the rejection of the law. It seemed to have worked in a satisfactory manner, though the travelling public complained that no hotel accommodation was available in the city.

As a result today there is no such thing as local option in three weeks of the lakes in Canada.

Mr. F. J. Moloney Laid at Rest

Funeral of One of Ennismore's Most Venerable Pioneers

One of the best known, most respected pioneers of that successful township of our fair county, viz., Ennismore, Mr. Francis Joseph Moloney, has passed away, at his residence, aged 89 years.

It will be remembered that the late Mr. Moloney fractured his hip about two weeks ago, and, never recovered from the shock. He is mourned by a large number of friends, both in Ennismore and other parts of the county.

The surviving members of the family are his wife, who is 80 years of age, two daughters, Mrs. Joseph Chanley of this city and one unmarried, residing at home, and four sons, Dr. Paul Moloney, of Cornwall, and Eugene, John and Joseph of Ennismore.

The late Mr. Moloney came from Ireland many years ago, and was regarded as an authority on all matters relating to Canadian and general history. He was a Catholic in religion, and in politics a Conservative.

The funeral took place yesterday morning and the cortege proceeded first to St. Martin's church, Ennismore, where Requiem High Mass was sung by Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, parish priest of Ennismore and interment took place in Chemong Lake cemetery.

There were an especially large number of people at the funeral which bespoke the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

The pall bearers, all of whom are residents of Ennismore, were, Peter Flood, Stephen O'Reilly, John O'Reilly, David Quinlan, Wm. Perdue, and Michael Crough.

Strikers are all Back at Work

New York, Oct. 15.—Officials of the Western Union Telegraph Company stated yesterday that their force had been largely augmented within recent days by personal applications of strikers to return to their work and that a large number had been taken back in various parts of the country.

The applications are being considered on their individual merits, but quite a number have not been favorably acted upon. As a result of this movement, it is said that no desirable places are left unfilled and that comparatively few vacancies remain.

It is a good thing to know how to select food that will so thoroughly feed and nourish the body that there is no indication of hunger or faintness from one meal to another.

Grape-Nuts will carry the user longer, probably, than any other food known. A young lady attending business college writes:

"Before I began using Grape Nuts I got so hungry before the dinner hour that I was faint and almost sick, but since I have had Grape-Nuts for breakfast I study harder and wait longer for my dinner without experiencing any of the former trouble.

"One of the great advantages is that it requires no cooking or preparation. I wish everyone knew of the value of Grape-Nuts for children in school." "There's a Reason" Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

GREAT BRITAIN'S OBJECT LESSON TO BIG POWERS

ONLY ONE DIVISION MANOEUVERING

THE HOME FLEET TWICE THAT OF ANY ONE NATION.

London, Oct. 15.—There is now assembling in the North Sea and the English Channel for manoeuvres under the command of Admiral Lord Charles Beresford a fleet of British warships representing an aggregation of naval power surpassing all the immediate available resources of any two other countries of Europe, and yet not a single ship of this fleet has been drawn from the reserves, the Mediterranean fleet or the Devonshire or Portsmouth divisions. The home fleet, which is now assembling, consists merely of those ships maintained in the vicinity of the British Isles, and which throughout the year have been engaged in war training. It numbers 110 pennants, and is composed of 28 battleships, 15 armored cruisers, a number of protected cruisers, various auxiliary vessels and 48 torpedo vessels.

Naturalization of the Japs--Nearly All Permanent Citizens

Ottawa, Oct. 15.—Whether the Japanese race is easily assimilable with the Canadian people or not, it is a significant fact that a very large percentage of them are qualifying to become permanent citizens of this country, and to take at least a voting interest in political affairs by taking out naturalization papers. Records of the secretary of State's department show that up to July no less than 3,386 Japanese have taken the oath. Prior to 1902, when the present naturalization papers had been granted Japanese. In 1902 there were 67 naturalized, in 1903 there were 279, in 1904 there were 82, in 1905 there were 19, in 1906 up to July 1, 40, and for the following twelve months 205. The census of 1901 showed the total Japanese population of Canada to be only 3,813, and from then until 1906 only 384 Japanese immigrants entered the Dominion. Since it required a three years' residence in the country before papers can be taken out, the above figures point to the fact that almost all of the present Japanese population who are eligible to become naturalized have availed themselves of the privilege.

Today it was found that Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux's absence from parliament during part of the coming session will not seriously interfere with the legislative programme affecting the postoffice and labor departments. He will be the minister selected by the government to go to Tokio on October 29, and confer with the Japanese government in respect to immigration and trade relations between the two countries. Mr. Lemieux is specially well equipped for the task. He was in close touch with Prince Fushimi during the visit of that member of the Japanese imperial family to Ottawa, and as minister of labor would naturally be entrusted with a mission which so intimately concerns the interests of the laboring classes in British Columbia. It is also not improbable that the minister may be accompanied by a high official of the government, who would supplement former diplomatic efforts by collecting first hand information as to the economic and social aspects of the question of Oriental immigration for the benefit of the government in formulating an immigration policy in regard to the teeming populations of Japan, China and India.

Consul-General Nosse said that he had intended giving a series of demonstrations in Japanese cities regarding Canadian trade with Japan when he returned there, but since the trouble on the coast he is in some doubt as to how his countrymen might receive them. He explained that by demonstrations he meant addresses in reference to Canadian-Japanese trade. He thinks that they might or might not care to hear them now. He is planning to take his family with him and sail on the same vessel that the Canadian envoy will go out on. While lately he said that he was on a six months' leave of absence, today he laughingly said he was not absolutely positive and added: "Perhaps I might see something like better." However, it is expected here that he will be back some six months from now. He had intended going back to Japan on a visit early in the summer, but has been delayed. He had nothing new in the way of developments regarding the situation at Vancouver.

Woodstock, Oct. 15.—Near to the scenes of her innocent childhood, the body of Mrs. Cassie Chadwick will be laid to rest in the Episcopal cemetery, on Tuesday or Wednesday afternoon, and the last chapter in an immorable career will be finished. The body is now lying at the home of her sister, Mrs. Campbell, and word from other sisters in the States is being awaited. The time of the funeral cannot be set until the expected messages arrive. One sister, a Mrs. Pyne, lives in Florida, and if she is coming the burial will not be until Wednesday.

The body arrived here Saturday evening about half-past five. The time of its arrival was no known generally, and few knew that it was coming when it did. Secrecy was observed to prevent the gathering of a large number of curious people as was accompanied by her son, Emil Hoover of Cleveland, and by Mrs. Campbell, a sister, who was called to Columbus when it was seen that the famous financier's life as would terminate. Finally, she arrived too late to see her sister alive.

CASKET SIMPLE BUT GOOD.

The body was met by an undertaker and taken to his business place in the black wagon. Later in the evening it was removed to Mrs. Campbell's home. The casket in which the body lies is a handsome one, plain and simple, covered with black cloth. It has not been opened to disclose the body to the public, and will not be if none of the other sisters come before interment.

It is said the remains preserve to a great extent the freshness and good looks of youth, and that the features seem in death to have lost the marks of suffering in her adversity and imprisonment.

Several very handsome wreaths from friends and sympathizers accompanied the bier.

OLD FRIENDS CALLED.

Quite a number of those who are intimate friends of the family, and knew Mrs. Chadwick when she was a girl, called to see the remains yesterday, and were kindly received by Mrs. Campbell, while not being permitted a sight of the body.

No word of condemnation of the manner of Mrs. Chadwick's life is now heard. All are content to let the past be buried.

The funeral service will be conducted by Rev. F. W. Thompson, pastor of the Methodist church to which Mrs. Campbell belongs, and the body will be buried in the family plot beside her father and mother.

The story that Mrs. Chadwick became convert to the Catholic church is denied. The family are reticent, and do not desire publicity on that point. They appear deeply moved over Mrs. Chadwick's death.

Nothing can be learned about the estate, if any, left by the deceased. Opinion is general that she left considerable money.

News Briefs

St. Petersburg, Oct. 14.—The cholera in Russia shows no signs of diminishing but on the contrary is spreading steadily. Every province that suffered from famine last year is now in the grasp of the scourge and every day hundreds of new cases are reported.

Newcastle, Penn., Oct. 14.—Seventeen Italians, arrested recently in connection with numerous Black Hand outrages, and who either had been convicted or had pleaded guilty, were sentenced today by Judge William E. Porter. They received a total of seventy-one years.

The highest sentence was ten years. Seven men were sentenced to five years apiece, eight others received three years and one man two years.

New York, Oct. 14.—The United Mine Workers union made known its intention yesterday to approach the coal mine operators with the view of issuing a joint call to an interstate conference to consider a new wage scale.

The wage agreement expires in April, and the miners will demand a living scale. According to reports the operators are not unfavorably disposed to such a conference, and should they refuse a strike of the coal miners may be precipitated.

Attacks on the Jews Continue

Odessa, Oct. 15.—The anti-Semitic attacks upon Jews continue their attacks upon Jews. They began by encroaching a Jewish cemetery where a funeral service was going on. First they stoned and then they fired a volley of revolver shots at the mourning Jews, many of whom were wounded. The Jews fled in panic.

Later in the day members of the Black Hundred ransacked several Jewish shops mercilessly beating the proprietors. A police sergeant who attempted to intervene was attacked, whereupon he drew his revolver and killed one of his assailants. After further Jew baiting detachments of Cossacks arrived on the scene, but instead of pursuing the Black Hundreds they laughed at the rapidity with which they made their escape.

Gov. Gen. Novitsky has made no attempt to stop the outrages, but nevertheless they are diminishing rapidly.

Boy Swims a Mile with His Dying Brother

Traverse City, Mich., Oct. 15.—William Egler, aged 22, of this city, was drowned in Lake Michigan yesterday under circumstances that reveal his brother Harry, in the light of a hero as well as that of a powerful swimmer. Turning Cat Head Point in an eighteen foot boat, they had built themselves, the young men encountered a southwest gale too heavy for them to go forward in. In turning back their boat was capsized and sank, the older brother going down with the launch.

Harry Egler dived to the bottom, secured hold of his brother's clothing and being an expert swimmer, fought his way through icy cold water nearly a mile to the shore. Cold and exhaustion began to overcome him as he was rolling the unconscious form of his brother on a barrel and he was compelled to leave the dying boy on the beach and run a mile to the nearest farmhouse for help. There he fell exhausted after explaining what had occurred and urging that help be sent instantly to his unconscious brother.

King Edward Upsets Criticisms of Constitutional Monarchy

London, Oct. 15.—"It was the sincere belief of a certain school of political theorists not long ago that the monarchy in England was a spent force." "The king can do no wrong," said these rather shallow thinkers, "but he can do no right for in the English Constitution he can do nothing at all." Majesty in the United Kingdom, they opined, reigned but no longer the power and prestige of Royalty.

"This was a very superficial and childish view of the actual state of affairs. It would be very easy to reply to these theorists, that the Sovereign, in a limited monarchy like ours possesses as much power as any potentate ought to possess who cannot be called to account for its exercise; and it would be no less easy to show how in the long reign of Queen Victoria, the sovereign had again and again exerted a restraining or inspiring influence, in national and international affairs that made for progress and for righteousness. How completely has King Edward upset all these flimsy criticisms of the Constitutional Monarchy!

THE KING'S VISITING LIST

"His Majesty returns to England after a few weeks stay on the continent, during which time he has talked with the Kaiser at Wilhelmshohe and with the ruler of Austria-Hungary at [sic]; the French Premier, M. Clemenceau, has had an audience of His Majesty at Marienbad, and he has received M. Iswolsky the Russian Foreign Minister; and all Europe is pleased. Moreover, in six short years he has brought about the cordiale with France, has gained the goodwill and confidence of Spain has lengthened the bonds of friendship with Italy and with Austria, has dispelled the jealousies of Germany, and we have no doubt, has lent his aid to the understanding with Russia. So far as we can recall, not a voice has been raised in this country to hint that the king has in the smallest lots overpassed the limits of the constitution. From no single party in the state is there a breath of remonstrance; on the contrary Liberals and Tories, Trades Unionists and Socialists, have been at one, with a strange unanimity in declaring that Edward VII had done, and was doing, precisely what they would wish the Soverign of these Islands to do.

"There has been nothing like this in modern European history, nor could there be. One Soverign only could fulfil this role—the King of England. We have no Continental ambitions and the nations of Europe recognize this fact. But that quality in itself was not enough. There was required in the Monarch of these Islands a man who understood the feeling of his own nation and had sympathy with the rights and obligations of other nationalities. That has been King Edward's valid qualification. He has restored and impersonated the sound doctrine, 'England's greatest interest is peace.'

OBJECT OF THE KING'S VISITS

"It has been the misfortune of nations that their monarchs have been trained only to military glory; it is a new thing to have a King [illegible] 'Peacemaker.' Hence the incapacity, the unwillingness to believe that the Sovereign head of the largest empire in the world can possibly be seeking the peace of Europe, with no motive in the background, that is not humble and unselfish minister. We can in all sincerity assure these critics that the one thing they have failed to realize and appreciate is that England's king has understood right down to the ground what England's people think and feel on these matters. That is the whole mystery—that, and nothing more."

Europe is Much Alarmed

Washington, Oct. 15.—Among the impressions which our Immigration Commission informally communicated on its return from Europe was that the old world governments were no longer fostering or condoning a wholesale immigration. This is a [illegible] day rule of some European governments—notably of Italy, Sweden, Norway, Greece and Spain. To Russia, Roumania and Austria it scarcely applies.

Several recent items in the cabled news from Europe go to support the belief that exodus for agriculturists and laborers has aroused general apprehension in certain countries. The Spanish minister of the interior, we are informed from Madrid, has drafted a rigorous bill to restrict immigration and even to prohibit it for reasons affecting "the public good." The primary object of this proposal is to check the movement of Spanish laborers to Panama, but previous reports in connection [illegible] a [illegible] against the emigration of agricultural laborers and villagers to Cuba, South America and the United States was assuming serious proportions and threatening depopulation of rural districts.

In Italy, official and private writers say emigration has become a kind of epidemic, and as a result large tracts of land are pressing out of cultivation and many villages and small towns are being emptied of their younger, able-bodied inhabitants. True, a golden stream of savings and gifts flows from America to Italy, but the government and the landowners no longer find in this sufficient compensation for the loss of labor and vigor. The Italian war office is unable to enlist annually the number of recruits fixed by law, and the subject of restriction of emigration is receiving serious consideration.

The Swedish government is making efforts to check the exodus of its subjects, and has sent commissioners to this country to study the means of improving the economic conditions of life in agricultural communities. It is even seeking to be believed, to induce Americanized Swedes to return to their native country. The critics of the Swedish army are recommending [illegible] laws against the inducements of emigration, and the avoidance of military service by men between the ages of 18 and 25.

The success of all such proposals is extremely doubtful. But the government itself is significant, and it is very likely there will perhaps be co-operation between the countries in the shipping subjects at home and countries suffering from excessive immigration.

Bakers Put Up the Price of Bread

Not content with a heavy percentage in the raise in price of milk yesterday from 6 to 7 cents a quart the local bakers put up the price of three-pound loaves of bread one cent per loaf, which will now sell at 11 cents.

Such was the decision reached at a well attended meeting of the bakers in the city held Saturday evening at Mann's bakery.

Copenhagen, Oct. 12.—The Arctic steamer Fridtjof, which accompanied the Wellman-Chapple-Ord-Herald expedition to Spitzbergen, was torn off Cape Tangiers, Iceland, October 5. The captain and fifteen of his crew were drowned. The engineer clung to a plank, on which he drifted ashore.

The Fridtjof was homeward bound to Norway, having been damaged by ice and coal, and was unable to withstand a storm which she encountered off Cape Langanes.

Standard Oil After Timber.

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 15.—The magnates of the Standard Oil company desire to own anywhere from 600 to 1000 square miles of the province of British Columbia.

They have already acquired something over 200 square miles of the Vancouver island timber belt.

To-day there is in the city of Vancouver a man who has in his pocket an order to add to this purchase to the extent of five hundred miles more of timber lands, provided he can get it up to the desired standard. He does not indicate that the purchasers are to stop with the amount.

The negotiations for one block at a price that will run into seven figures are practically completed, and those for other almost equally as large, are well underway. This latest purchase is located along the coast of the mainland, and takes in the timber at the head of the fourteen inlets. The pending negotiations are for a large tract at the head of Harrison Lake and at points in the interior that are sufficiently near to enable the product to be brought out by way of Harrison Lake and either down the Fraser river or by the C.P.R.

It did not the intention to get all this was holding of timber lie idle for any length of time, and the present plans contemplate the erection of billion dollar mills at central points, and an expenditure of from ten to fifteen million dollars within the next two years.

Former Local Writer Explains Nomenclature

Mrs. Frail, a Former Charming Loc a Authoress Names the Yankee Bonnet

The story in tomorrow's issue concerning a bygone steamboat race from Gore's Landing to Peterborough in 1853, brings to mind the name of one of the best known points in the Otonabee river between here and Rice Lake, viz., the "Yankee Bonnet," situated some two or three miles below the locks. This shoal has been dredged in the center the river to give sufficient depth of water for safe navigation. Some years ago a large quantity of stones was cast in along the crest of the shoal, from the west bank, and for one-third of the distance across the river, for the purpose of diverting the flow of water to the middle of the stream. At low water, the top of the shoal and stones show very clearly. The river at this point is well buoyed. The late Mrs. Trail, author of several works, the scenes of which are frequently laid right in this county, and especially in the district that is included by the shores of Rice Lake, gives possibly the correct one, at last, most plausible explanation as to the choice of the Yankee Bonnet to designate this shoal of the river. In 1831 the level of Rice Lake and the Otonabee river was much lower than now, as the Hastings dam was not then built. The Traills reached Cobourg early in the autumn of 1831 and on September 9th from Cobourg to Gore's Landing now stands. There they took the first steamer on the waters the "Pioneer-dasher" for Peterborough. Mrs. Traill says:

"Owing to the rapids and shallows in the river, the steamer was unable to go up the river, the whole way to Peterborough, so a large unwieldy scow had been engaged to meet us, a point called the "Yankee Bonnet," so named from the fanciful resemblance the topmost branches of a tree growing on the bank had to the shape of the cap worn by the Yankees."

A Zululand Town Fears an Uprising

Durban, Oct. 15.—At a public meeting held at Eshowe a resolution was passed to the effect that it was necessary for railway and strategic purposes that imperial troops should immediately be stationed in the town with a view to the effect on the native mind.

The tone of the meeting was emphatic but not alarmist.

Eshowe is in the heart of Zululand, and the Nkandhla Forest, in which all the earlier fighting in late years took place, is between it and Pietermaritzburg.

Fifty additional Natal police were sent there recently, but this is no crisis apparently, and the appeal for further aid shows how serious the situation has become.

While the rising was quelled last July it was freely predicted that another uprising was bound to come soon.

The Zulus have been verifying this prophecy with the last month. A few of their recent acts of malevolence are the attempted burning of the Umhlatuzi bridge, the shooting of a sergeant of the Natal police at the Nkandhla magistracy, the attack on a Natal native near the same outpost and the murder of the loyal chief Sibitsheli.

The colonial authorities are fully alive to the danger and only a few days ago a private warning was issued to officers commanding militia regiments to hold their battalions in readiness.

POPULATION AND ASSESSMENT INCREASED

Total Assessment of the City over $10,000,000 An Increase of

There has been an increase in everything in Peterborough this year, according to the returns of the assessors, handed in yesterday morning to the city clerk. The assessment has increased $2,602,030 during the year, and the population has taken a jump of 1038, present population of the city as indicated by these returns standing exactly 16,000, as compared with 14,962 for last year. This is a very gratifying increase.

The recapitulation of the complete assessors' returns published below gives some food for thought to the ratepayers. It shows that, while there has been undoubtedly an increase in the value of the buildings of the city, by reason of the fact that many have been erected during the year, there has also been a large increase in the assessment of those buildings already erected, the value of, amounting this year being $5,860,035, as compared with $4,050,482 in 1907 assessment, an increase of $1,743,258.

From the figures shown in the accompanying statement it will be seen that there has been an almost universal increase recorded. There are persons who find it hard to believe that the number of dogs has not increased as well.

Full particulars of the information concerning the returns, and comparisons by wards will be found. The following is a recapitulation of the assessment of the city;

The increase in assessment and population of 1908 over 1907 in the different wards is as follows;

ASSESSMENT.

Ward No. 1	$1,142,277
Ward No. 2	267,311
Ward No. 3	199,340
Ward No. 4	205,110
Ward No. 5	8,990
Total increase	$2,602,030

POPULATION.

Ward No. 1	848
Ward No. 2	92
Ward No. 3	18
Ward No. 4
Ward No. 5	123
Decrease in ward 4	41
Total increase	1,038

It will be seen that in ward 4 there has been a falling off in the population of 41.

DEATH FROM HEART DISEASE

A Case of Neglecting a Weak Heart and Tired Nerves.

If your heart flutters, be careful. An attack is liable to come on at any time. Excitement, overexertion or emotion may cause it.

If blood rushes to the head, if palpitation and short breath are noticeable, there's cause for alarm.

If you want a good honest remedy try Ferrozone. We recommend Ferrozone because we know it's just right for heart trouble. It cured A. E. Beattie, who lives at Allan Hotel, Bay City, Mich. See if your symptoms resemble these:

SYMPTOMS OF WEAK HEART.

Nervousness, Trembling, Sinking Feeling, Short Breath, Palpitation, Dizziness, Heart Pains, Weakness.

Mr. Beattie says:

"I was weak and miserable.

"I was subject to heart palpitation and dizziness.

"As I grew worse I began to have trembling and sinking sensations.

"Ferrozone strengthened my heart, gave vigor to my nerves, soon made me well. It's a great rebuilder."

By strengthening the muscles of the heart, giving proper circulation and causing a general rebuilding of the whole system, Ferrozone is bound to do grand work in heart trouble; try it, 50c per box, or six for $2.50, at all Edealers.

FARM LABORERS, NOT CLERKS, ARE WANTED

The Farming World says; "Badly as this country needs labor, quality rather than quantity should be sought for by our immigration agencies. Notwithstanding the care exercised, a great many people find their way to this country who are physically weak or diseased, and sooner or later become the objects of charity. This country does not exist for charitable purposes. It has great resources to develop, new lands to settle up, and fertile farms that need laborers, and the only kind of immigrant who can fill the bill is the strong, healthy, honest man or woman, willing to work and bend his or her energies to the task at hand. It matters little whether they have little or much of this world's goods when they land on our shores. A willingness to work and a desire to get on will soon overcome such drawbacks. We cannot have too many of this class. The Hon. Mr. Monteith, Minister of Agriculture, who has just returned from Great Britain, rightly emphasizes the need of bringing out a better class of immigrants than we have been doing. He has outlined a plan for future work in this connection that will materially improve the class of people coming to Ontario. It is not clerks that this province needs but farm laborers. The Government's first consideration should be to secure these.

IMPERIAL RELATIONS

A good many people seemed inclined to discuss public questions as though not only they, but all other Canadians could afford to disregard utterly the fact that Canada is a part of the British Empire. None of such people object to the Dominion remaining in the Empire, because they know as well as any one else that it is the Imperial connection which enables us to continue our existence as a self-governing country. If these should be a change, and Canada should become independent those people would find themselves confronted with a new set of problems, which would teach them wisdom perhaps. It is an unfortunate thing, no doubt, but as the world is constituted the final recourse for the settlement of international questions is force, and Canadians ought to know that, unaided, they would be unable to resist the nations, which are at all likely to be our enemies. How many such nations there are we shall not undertake to say, but we we have open questions with the United States and Japan. How long could Canada, if left to her own resources, hold out in a war with either of these powers? We are not going to express any opinion on that point, but will content ourselves with saying that our situation, in such an event, would be vastly weaker than it now is, when we have behind us the prestige of the British name and the power of the British navy and army. How large a share of the freedom we enjoy, that is our right as Canadians to govern Canada just as we see fit, is due to the fact that the Dominion forms a part of the British Empire, every reader can judge for himself.

In view of these considerations we submit that it is exceedingly unfair and unmanly, to expect the British Government to be always ready to come to our defence notwithstanding any disregard of Imperial interests. We must either be in the Empire or out of it. We cannot hide behind the British fleet and assume the role of people, who are prepared to fight our own battles unaided. The Times would be the last to support the idea that Canadians ought to approach the consideration of questions affecting them in a pusillanimous spirit, but we would not have them forget that we must depend upon the Empire for the enforcement of our views, when there are antagonistic to those of foreign countries. We do not believe in taking a position on any question, which we would not feel justified in taking if we knew it would bring a hostile fleet before our coasts, if it were not that such a fleet would have the British navy to reckon with. We can obtain what we want without playing the role of swashbucklers in international politics.

THE COST OF LIVING

Few subjects are consuming public attention more these days than the cost of living in connection with which we have published two opposite views quite recently, one from the Canadian Courier, tending to show that the cost of living had increased more rapidly than wages in recent years, and the other from the New York World, giving data to prove the contrary. The Bureau of Labor at Washington has also recently published an exhaustive report on the subject, commenting on which the Albany Argus says;—

"The Bureau of Labor at Washington, which, during the campaign of 1904, insulted the popular intelligence by a set of juggled figures intended to show that the cost of living was not increasing disproportionately to wages, is up to old tricks. It would like to satisfy wage earners that their wages last year increased one-third faster than the prices of their food." Figures can be made to lie, sagely says the Buffalo Courier in reply, and to many heads statistics are confusing. The matter is not worth argument, for every head of a household in the whole land knows whether he or she is money ahead or money behind as regards the relationship of wages to the present expense of maintaining as good a standard of living as that of two or three years ago. Is there a head of a family or a provider in Buffalo who has not remarked the steadily increasing costs of meats, milk, vegetables, fruit, and almost every other article of family consumption? Is there one of them who does not know, if a wage-earner, whether the wages have increased in excess of the increase of the cost of living, or equally with it, or have fallen short? All such people can draw conclusions for themselves, from the most direct kind of evidence. If they are dissatisfied, next year will offer the opportunity to strike for the change which will never come as long as the monopolists rule this country. As for those who receive fixed salaries which never are raised, may the Lord help them if the change doesn't come!

Cheese Factories Should Give Full Weight

Mr. J. S. Cook the Belleville cheese buyer, who cuts so large a swayth in the Peterborough sales of cheese, last week did more for the factories of this county than those who do not look below the surface of current events have any idea. Now to get and keep a "name" for any article on the market, particularly the market of the world. London, Eng., good faith must be established between buyer and seller. The man or company who makes, say $50 or $100 today by even misrepresentation or false weights, by false representation, or by any other misinformation, whether by accident or design, may be a winner of a paltry sum for a short time, but those in charge of large commercial transactions must sooner or later find out the discrepancy.

Again, it is quite possible for a factory, whether turning out electric motors, roller skates, dogs or cheese, to make mistakes through its employes.

Now to get down to facts and provable data, some of the cheese factories of this county have, and we believe by accident or ignorance on the part of those under fire, been of late, in the habit of marking their respective boxes of cheese. Light weights that will not stand the test of a thorough investigation, as per the scales of an unbiased weigher. Last week's weighing of a large number of cheeses from various factories of the county, showed that, with certain exception, noted in a former issue, the cheeses that Peterborough is sending to England is marked light weight. Now does it pay the great cheese industry of the County of Peterborough to run the chance of having Peterborough cheese adjudged by the English buyers as crooked as to weights? No! A thousand times no! This county puts up as good a quality of cheese as Canada can produce and it would be short-sighted policy for us to lose our good name because a few factories, whether by accident, misunderstanding or design might insist on sending to the local buyers, boxes of cheese marked as to weight higher than the real weights would or could justify.

It may seem a small matter to kick about that some cheese buyer gets a few score boxes marked, say for argument, at 85 pounds each, that only weigh when tested possibly 86 1-2 or say even 87 pounds each (this omits the allowance for shrinkage in transit as above explained). Still the loss of only half a pound per box is a serious loss to the wholesale buyer and, worse still has a direct and inevitable tendency to give a bad name to the cheese of this county and district. It is better for the factories, and we think they all mean to do the right thing and are assured of their honest intentions to allow enough to the buyers to assure his protection when the cheese arrives in the Old Country.

The Star in the East

O, a new star, a new star,
Blazed like a lamp of gold.
For closely pressed to Mary's breast
The Saviour Jesus lay at rest,
As prophets had foretold.

(But little Judas, as he slept,
Stirred in his mother's arm and wept.)

O the night wind, the night wind
A new song found to sing,
Caught from the gleaming angel choir,
With harps of light and tongues of fire
To praise the new born King.

(But little Judas, as he slept,
Stirred in his mother's arm and wept.)

O, the shadow, the shadow
Of the cross upon the hill;
But yet the babe who was to bear
The whole world's weight of sin and care,
On Mary's breast lay still.

(But Judas' mother with a cry, Kissed him and wept, she knew not why.)

—Virginia Bloren Harrison.

WHEN TO FEED COWS.

The Regular Routine of Feeding and Milking.

Feeding cows before, after or at time of milking has but very little influence upon the amount of milk given or the cows' comfort, provided that, whichever method is adopted, it is continued regularly. Cows, like men, are creatures of habit. They know almost to a minute when it is time for the grain ration or other feed and when the milker is due to take the milk, and nothing should occur to cause a break in the regular routine of feeding, milking, etc.

At Milking Time.

Our own practice has been to feed after milking. It has also seemed best to have the cows all attention at milking time. If eating a grain feed while being milked, a cow is eager for the feed and possibly brings the right hind leg forward suddenly against the milker, causing the pail to move about and rattle. The unexpected noise may cause the cow to kick or the cow next to her to do so. The milker must be constantly on his guard. In moving from one cow to another he must speak to her and attract her attention from the feed or she may kick. Possibly she is the gentlest cow in the herd; but, being busy with her feed, she kicks out at a noise in the rear or upon being touched with the cloth or hand. She is nervous and seeks to protect herself.

First Work in the Stable.

Our first work in the cow stable in the morning is milking. The cows begin to get up and stretch. They are perfectly quiet, are not expecting food, but are ready to be milked, and as each cow's turn comes she puts herself in proper position and does not move a muscle. She likes to feel the brush on her flank, udder and belly, brushing off loose straw, hair, etc. The moment that the last cow is finished, however, that quiet, sleepy condition is changed to one of activity.

A Matter of Habit.

They are eager for breakfast and ask for it with wide open eyes and gentle lowing. They smell the ensilage as it comes down from the silo. Their actions plainly indicate that they would like to have the feeder hurry. In an hour they are lying down, eyes closed, and busy with the grind of contentment. It certainly must be plain to every one that this is habit and that a continuance of such regular work is best for the cow.—M. Stenson in Farmers' Review.

Just Discovered It.

Before a New York dairymen's convention Mrs. Marshall, one of the proprietors of a dairy farm, gave a knock at some of the dairy advice so freely floating around at present: "In every movement looking to the reform or betterment of degenerate conditions, the existence of which has been perfectly obvious to thinking people, there arises a class of 'just-discovered-it maniacs' who fairly froth at the mouth in their zeal to outdo each other in correcting the abuse. For a few years the dairy has been the target of surplus wrath. It has been specialized, scrutinised, sterilized, pasteurized and paralyzed. Some of the latest items since the reformers have had their fling are: 'There is nothing but dirt in the dairy, and you keep overlasting at it.' 'And you tell everybody of your gymnastics to keep the dairies sanitary, and you shout Fifteen the housetops, and you write it to the dairy papers,' and soon your labors will be all done, for nobody will want your milk or butter."

SILO AND SILAGE.

Corn silage would be fed the entire year on the profitable Michigan dairy farm managed by Charles J. Augevine if it were available.

Soiling is not practiced except when absolutely necessary. The manager considers silage in every way as good a feed as green crops and more economical.

Special care is taken in producing the corn that is to go into the silo. A large kind of ensilage corn is planted on well manured and thoroughly prepared land. The field of corn that made twenty-five tons of silage per acre in 1905 received two coverings of stable manure—one during the early winter and the other just before plowing in the spring.

Marked success has resulted from seeding corn stubble with rye, cutting the rye for hay and planting the same field to corn again. From a ten acre field cropped in this manner four big loads of rye and fifteen tons of silage to the acre were harvested this year.

Getting a "Good Ready."

Being thoroughly prepared for any line of farm work is of paramount importance. In no work is this more true than in filling the silo, remarks Buff Jersey in Kimball's Dairy Farmer. I have filled silos when the cost was $1.25 per ton in labor, and I have filled them when it was 35 cents per ton. Why the variation? Lack of preparation, lack of knowledge in getting ready, lack of knowledge in selecting a good machine to cut up the cornstalks, lack of machinery in the field and lack of properly constructed racks and wagons, making the loading and unloading costly.

Mixed Ensilage.

Neither peas nor soy beans keep as well when siloed alone as when corn is mixed with them, remarks Hoard's Dairyman. There is probably a wide variation in the amount of corn and beans that can be used, but at the Maine station fourteen parts of corn and nine parts of soy beans were mixed, and the silage kept perfectly and was eaten with much relish by the stock.

SLAY BRITISH SOLDIERS.

Natives of New Hebrides Resist Advance of Punitive Party.

Much unrest prevails in portions of the New Hebrides, and news has recently been received at Sydney of an encounter between the natives and a punitive expedition landed by H. M. cruiser Cambria to avenge the murder of a European.

Some of the natives were in possession of rifles, and one bluejacket was killed and another wounded.

The New Hebrides is a group of islands in the western Pacific. The people, who are of Papuan descent, exhibit remarkable diversity of language, customs, and habits, and number from 75,000 to 80,000. Christianity is established in one of the islands, but most of the islanders are heathens, cannibals, and ancestor worshipers.

Each power is still said to retain jurisdiction over its own subjects. The islands, however, under the new convention are administered jointly by two high commissioners appointed by the two powers, who are authorised to issue regulations binding on all the inhabitants of the group, settlers or natives, and to control the police, harbors, public works, posts and telegraphs, and finance.

The signing of this convention created a strong feeling of dissatisfaction in Australia, the Australians regarding the New Hebrides as outlying parts of Australia which ought to be British.

Aliens Stowaways.

A ship was on a voyage from New Zealand to Plymouth, and a stowaway got on board at Teneriffe. He was not discovered until the ship had been at sea for two days, and when the ship arrived in England the stowaway was prosecuted and convicted. The unpleasant result was, that in consequence of prosecuting the man, the shipowner was being compelled to pay the costs of sending him back to his own country, Germany, which was the very place he wanted to go to, and he had to be taken back there and fed on the way.

Sometimes as many as sixteen stowaways were found on a ship. If the contention of the crown were correct, nineteen other stowaways would have turned the ship into an emigrant ship. If the master were liable here the result would be that no master would prosecute a stowaway. The owner had tried to carry out the law of England, with the result that the Secretary of State wanted to fine him for doing so. If it had not been for the prosecution no expulsion order would have been made.

His lordship said it seemed to him that the policy of the act was that the ship should be made responsible if any undesirable alien came to this country.

Judgment was entered for the crown with costs.

England Short of Pennies.

Following the advent of the American penny-in-the-slot machines, the master of the royal mint is struggling with the problem of meeting the demand for copper coins, of which there is a serious shortage.

Investigation discloses that more than 60,000,000 pennies are withdrawn from circulation by being continuously locked up in machines used to supply gas, electricity, chocolate, matches, gum, etc.

The effect of this may be realized when it is remembered that this amount exceeds the total issue of pennies during the years 1900, 1903 and 1905.

The mintage of gold in England has been far in excess of that of previous years, and this is taken as an indication that times are abnormally good. The mint bought over $65,500,000 worth of bar gold during the last fiscal year, and in addition took $13,500,000 in specie for coinage.

Spanish Country Girls.

Country girls in Spain seldom wear hats or bonnets of any kind. It was in Spain, by the way, that the custom of a bride wearing orange blossoms in her hair originated.

The Siamese Language.

Siamese, like other oriental languages, is very poetic. Thus a laborer is "luk can," the son of hire, and the thumb is "mae mu," the mother of the hand. In this respect Siamese resembles the ancient Greek. Hesiod spoke of the hand as "pentaxon," the five branched (the modern pugilist's "bunch of fives"); of a small as "phereoikos," the house carrier; of a cuttlefish as "octopous," the hoseless.

Something New in Copper

PITTSBURG - IDAHO

Mining and Milling Company

The mine is located 58 miles above Lewiston, Idaho, on the Clearwater river, and consists of 19 full claims, or 380 acres. It is developed by tunnels, shafts and open cuts for more than 2100 feet, disclosing thousands of tons of copper, gold and silver ores of both high grade and low grade. There are between 1000 and 2000 tons of ore ready for shipment. The entrance to the working tunnel is only 2000 feet from the track of the Northern Pacific railroad, to be reached by gravity tramway. There are seven parallel veins running lengthwise of the claims, one cropping out on the surface for 2400 feet and another for 3000 feet; while two veins cross these running into the mountain. These veins run from 30 to 200 feet wide. One ore chute has been crosscut 60 feet and is solid ore from wall to wall.

We are not asking you to buy in a prospect. That risk was taken by the promoters. We are asking you to buy in a developed, proven mine. Seven years of continuous work and the expenditure of thousands of dollars has proven up one of the greatest mines in Idaho. That mine is now ready to pour out its red and yellow wealth to the world with the installing of an up to date production plant. It is for that purpose that a block of its treasury stock, full paid and non-assessable, is offered for sale. We believe that within six months from the completion of a 100 ton plant the mine can be put on a dividend paying basis, and that those dividends will be substantial and permanent. There is no better investment proposition before the people at this time.

AIKENSIDE

BY MARY J. HOLMES

Author of "Dora Deane," "The English Orphans," "Lena Rivers," "The Rector of St. Mark's," "Tempest and Sunshine," Etc.

Guy could not find much pleasure in escorting Agnes to a fashionable watering-place, particularly as he was, of course, expected to pay the bills, but he sometimes did unselfish things; and as he had not been very gracious to her on the occasion of her last visit to Aikenside, he decided to martyr himself and go to Saratoga. But who would care for Jessie? She must not be left wholly with the servants. A governess of some kind must be provided, and he was about speaking of this to Agnes, when the doctor was announced, and the conversation turned into another channel. Agnes Remington would not have confessed how much she was interested in Dr. Holbrook. Indeed, only that morning in reply to a joking remark made to her by Guy, she had petulantly exclaimed:

"The idea of my caring for him, except as a friend and physician. Why, he must be younger than I am, or at most about my age. A mere boy, as it were."

And, yet, in making her toilet that afternoon, she had arranged every part of her dress with direct reference to the "mere boy," her heart beating faster every time she remembered the white sunbonnet and the Scotch plaid shawl she had seen beside him in the drive that morning. Little Maddy Clyde would hardly have credited the story had she been told that the beautiful lady from Aikenside was positively jealous of Dr. Holbrook's attentions to herself; yet so it was, and the jealousy was all the more bitter when she remembered who Madeline was, and how startled that aged couple of the red cottage would be, could they know who she was. But they did not; she was quite sure of that; and so she had ventured to pass their door, her heart throbbing with a strange sensation as the old waymarks came in view, waymarks which she remembered so well, and around which so many sad memories were clustering. Agnes was not all bad. Indeed, she was scarcely worse than most vain, selfish, fashionable women; and all that day, since her return from riding, haunting, remorseful thoughts of the long ago had been clinging to her, making her more anxious to leave that neighborhood, for a time at least, and in scenes of gayety forget, if possible, that such things as broken vows or broken hearts existed.

The arrival of the doctor dissipated her sadness in a measure, and after greeting him with her usual expressions of welcome, she said, half playfully, half spitefully:

"By the way, doctor, who was that old lady, all bent up double in shawls and things, whom you were taking out for an airing?"

Guy looked up quickly, wondering where Agnes could have seen the doctor, who, conscious of a sudden pang, answered, naturally:

"That old lady, bent double and bundled in shawls, was young Maddy Clyde, to whom I thought a short ride might do good."

"Oh, yes; that patient about whom Jessie has gone mad. I am glad to have seen her."

There was unmistakable irony in her voice now, and turning from her to Guy, the doctor said:

"The old man was telling me to-day of your kindness in saving his house from being sold. It was like you, Guy; and I wish I, too, had the means to be generous, for they are so very poor."

"I'll tell you," said Jessie, who had stolen to the doctor's side, and laid her fat, bare arm upon his shoulder, as if he had been Guy. "You might give Maddy the doctor's bill. I remember how mamma cried, and said she never could pay papa's bill when it was sent in."

"Jessie!" said Agnes and Guy, simultaneously, while the doctor laughingly pulled one of her long, bright curls.

"Yes, I could do that. I'd thought of it, but they might not accept it, they are proud as well as poor."

"Mr. Markham has no one to care for but his wife and this Madeline, has he?" Agnes asked, and the doctor replied:

"I did not suppose so until a few days since, when I learned from a Mr. Green that Mrs. Markham's youngest and now only brother has been an inmate of a lunatic asylum for years; and that though they cannot pay his entire expenses, of course they do all they can toward providing him with comforts."

"What is a lunatic asylum, mother? What does he mean?" Jessie asked, but it was the doctor, not Agnes, who explained to the child what a lunatic asylum was.

"Is insanity hereditary in this family?" Guy asked.

Agnes' cheek was very white, though her face was turned away as the doctor answered: "I do not know; I did not ask the cause. I only heard the fact that Joseph Mortimer exists."

For a moment there was silence in the room, and then Guy told the doctor of what himself and Agnes were speaking when he arrived.

"I suppose it's of no use asking you to join us for a week or so."

"There was not," the doctor said. "His patients needed him, and he must stay at home."

"Doctor, how would this Maddy Clyde do to stay here with Jessie while we are gone, partly as companion and partly as her teacher?" was Guy's next question, which brought Mrs. Agnes at once from her reverie.

"Guy," she exclaimed, "are you crazy? That child Jessie's governess! No, indeed! I shall have a teacher from Boston—one whose manners and style are unexceptionable."

Guy had a will of his own, and few could provoke it into action as effectually as Agnes, who, in thus opposing him, was working directly against herself. Paying her no attention, except to bow in token that he heard, Guy asked Jessie her opinion.

"Oh, it will be splendid! Can she come to-morrow? I shan't care how long you are gone if I can have Maddy here, and the doctor will come up every day, will you, doctor?" and the soft eyes looked up pleadingly into the doctor's face.

"It is not settled yet that Maddy comes," the doctor replied, adding as an answer to Guy's question: "If Agnes could be willing, I do not think you could do better than to secure Miss Clyde's services. Two children will thus be made happy, for Maddy, as I have told you, thinks Aikenside must be a little lower only than Paradise. I will gladly open negotiations, if you say so."

"I'll ride down and let you know to-morrow," Guy said. "These domestic matters, where there is a difference of thinking, had better be discussed alone," and he turned good-humoredly toward Agnes, who knew it was useless to oppose him.

But oppose him she did that night, after the doctor had gone, taking at first the high stand that sooner than have a country girl like Maddy Clyde associated daily with her daughter, whether as teacher or companion, she would give up Saratoga and stay at home. Guy could not explain why it was that opposition from Agnes always aroused his powers of antagonism. Yet so it was, and now he was as fully determined that Maddy Clyde should come to Aikenside as Agnes was that she should not. He knew too, how to attain this end without further altercation.

"Very well," was his quiet reply "you can remain at home if you choose, of course. I had intended taking you myself wherever you wished to go; and not only that, but I was about to ask how much was needed for the necessary additions to your wardrobe, but if you prefer remaining here to giving up a most unfounded prejudice against a girl who never harmed you, and whom Jessie already loves, you can do so," and Guy walked from the room, leaving Agnes first to cry, then to pout, then to think it all over, and finally to decide that going to Saratoga and Newport under the protection of Guy, was better than carrying out a whim which, after all, was nothing but a whim.

BISHOPS CRITICIZED.

Charged With Being Out of Sympathy With the Life of the Age.

Preaching recently in support of the Bishop of St. Albans' appeal for funds for the establishment of a new diocese, comprising the County of Essex, the Rev. W. Manning, vicar of St. Andrew's, Leytonstone, and hon. secretary of the Churchmen's Union, passed some trenchant strictures upon the episcopacy. He said:

"In our age the bishops have fallen on evil days. Fawned upon by clergy who desire preferment, surrounded by ecclesiastics who are officials, adored by very churchy laymen and laywomen, they are out of favor with the mass of the people, and, though often respected and loved as men, they are not in favor as bishops. Their adherence to a quaint style of dress is of itself a ground for suspicion that they are out of sympathy with the life of the age.

"Their large incomes have been a not quite unjustifiable cause of dissatisfaction, and business men have doubted the statement that these large incomes are used for the administration rather than for the private purse of the bishop because no account has been published of the funds thus administered.

"The rough sense of justice of the English people is undoubtedly sound when it hears, not without indignation, of 1,139 livings with an average stipend of £67, and of bishops with stipends never lower than £3,000."

Speaking of the relationship between the clergy and their bishops Mr. Manning added that the help and inspiration of a great-hearted and wise-headed man, the sense of encouragement, and the effect of reproof from a Father in God, which some personal relationship between bishop and clergy would create, would do more to increase Church life and to invigorate Church work than all the garden-parties at country houses and meetings in duchesses' drawing-rooms and committees in London that were ever held.

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Catarrh, and Indigestion as real diseases, but they are symptoms only of a certain specific Nerve sickness—nothing else.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr Shoop to the creation of that now very popular remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that nerve aid to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Won'erful that original and highly vital principle such lasting accomplishments were ever to result.

For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath, and sallow complexion, try Dr Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at an Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

The homesteader is required to perform the homestead duties under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of a homesteader has permanent residence on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of a homestead, or upon a homestead entered for by him in the vicinity, such homesteader may perform his own residence duties by living with the father (or mother).

(4) The term "vicinity" in the two preceding paragraphs is defined as meaning not more than nine miles in a direct line exclusive of the width of road allowances crossed in the measurement.

(5) A homesteader intending to perform his residence duties in accordance with the above while living with parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

Six months' notice in writing must be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of intention to apply for patent.

Depository ..... JOHN S. COOK & CO.
Bank of Goldfield, Nevada.

This company owns 4 claims (80 acres) of some of the best proven mineral land in the Goldfield district, consisting of the Accidental and Accidental No. 2 lode claims, situated two and one-half miles south of the great Goldfield Consolidated Mines (comprising the Mohawk, Goldfield, Combination, Red Top, Jumbo and Laguna), the richest in the world; and the Broadway and Beauty lode claims situated three and one-half miles north of the Consolidated and about one and one-half miles northwest of the Great Bend and Daisy Mines near the Zion group in the Diamondfield section second only in richness to the great Mohawk portion of the camp. Phenomenally rich strikes have recently been made on the Consolidated, the Great Bend and the Daisy Mines.

The company has also succeeded in securing the Sure Thing lode claim (20 acres) in the Cuprite district, which has an immense gold bearing ledge, running the entire length of the claim 1,500 feet, outcropping in places over 50 feet wide, and met by several cross dykes all carrying fine values in gold, and is without doubt rightly named "Sure Thing."

All of these claims are located in the same mineral belt as the other noted mines of Goldfield that have astonished the world by their production of millions in high grade ore, and will with the same development give equally profitable returns.

The money derived from the sale of this stock will be used at once for the active development of the property and the fact that all the directors are residents of Goldfield with years of successful mining experience who will give their personal attention at all times to the progress of the work goes to show that the first issue of 100,000 shares will meet with a quick and ready sale at the initial price of 10 cents per share.

We advise immediate action if you wish to participate in the vast profits of this Bonanza Mine.

Stock will be listed as soon as feasible on the Goldfield and San Francisco Stock and Exchange Boards. We would therefore advise purchasers to buy in board lots of 1,000 shares when convenient to do so.

Jas. Schrum, of Dartmouth, Makes Valuable Discovery

Dartmouth, N.S., Sept. 21.—There is a strong moral in the statement of James Schrum, of Pleasant street. Like thousands of people, he was failing in health because his stomach and digestive organs were out of repair. His vitality was slipping away, he was losing ground every day.

"I could not have held on much longer. I was wasting away simply because no remedy I used gave the tone and strength to my stomach that it craved for. The vital forces of my system seemed dead. I was advised to try Dr. Hamilton's Pills. What hidden weakness they searched out I don't know, but in a miraculous way they have made a new man of me. My stomach troubles are cured, rich blood now runs through my veins—clear skin and unmistakable evidences of health and vigor I feel every day. Dr. Hamilton's Pills have certainly mastered the secret of curing the sickly, enervated man and I strongly urge everyone in failing or lost health to use this grand remedy.

Local Pastor is Again Honored

The Montreal Witness to hand date contains the names of the fifteen directors of the Grand Ligne Mission elected at the annual meeting held in Montreal last week. Among the directors who were re-elected was Rev. J. R. Webb, pastor of the Murray street Baptist church in Peterborough. He has been a director for seven years, but this is the first time a gentleman residing outside of the province of Quebec has been honored by being chosen as a director. Mr. Webb was secretary of the Grand Ligne Mission for five years. He resigned that position on his removal to Peterborough nearly a year ago.

—During the fiscal year of 1906-7 530 tons of barley were transported via the Trent Valley Canal. There were 121 tons of peas, 695 tons of wheat, 8,404 tons of firewood, 1815 tons of lumber, 12,116 tons of saw logs, 525 tons of square timber and other numerous articles too many to give in detail.

Centenarian Comes to the City

In the person of a comparatively new arrival as a resident in this city, in the person of Mr. Jos. Mantell, formerly of Tilsonburg, Peterborough has a citizen whose hands almost reach the string that would sound a bell denoting his having reached nearly 30 years over the Biblical lot of man, three score and ten. Mr. Mantell has reached the venerable age of 98 years and is still hale and hearty. He arrived in Peterborough last week. On Sunday afternoon he took a long walk and states that he is going to walk over to see the lift lock. Mr. Mantell is remarkably active for his age, and a sturdy specimen of the long lived Canadian who more than favorably compares with his Yankee cousin of half a century or more younger, whom the "strenuous life" makes old at, say, 50 and a candidate for the undertaker during years that give fresh vim and vigor to the longer lived sons of Canada or Ireland.

Late Mrs. Woodrow's Funeral

Yesterday afternoon the last mortal remains of the late Mrs. Margaret Woodrow, 412 London street, who died there Saturday after a long illness, were laid to rest in the Little Lake cemetery. The deceased was seventy-nine years of age and was born in Scotland. She came to this country some years ago, and settled in New York City, where she resided until about four years ago, when she moved to this city.

Price of Whiskey Gone Up

With coal going, going, in fact gone up, milk gone up, bread gone up, fowl (at 10 1-2 cents per average sized mouthful comes the dire intelligence that the Canadian distillers have raised the price of whiskey 10 cents per gallon. Say! If we could only compromise and raise the price of booze seven hundred per cent. we would not kick at seven cent milk, 11 cent bread or even $8 coal. Put up the whiskey sky high if necessary, but for the children's sake, put down the cost of the various staffs (or should it be staves) of life.

Thought He Had a Grievance

In conversation with Mr. Mellmoyle, the market clerk, yesterday a Times representative ascertained that this gentleman thought he had a grievance against The Times. This alleged grievance arose out of the report of last Saturday about Mr. Cook insisting on having cheeses from the various local factories weighed accurately. Now in this connection we noted that when Mr. Cook had the cheeses of several factories weighed, he found, only too late, that the "beam" of the scale did not rise to the point he demanded. His contention was, possibly justified but we explained further that Mr. Mellmoyle had twice Saturday morning "balanced" the scales, previous to weighing of this cheese. Unfortunately, owing to lack of technical terms, we used the word "tested" instead of "balanced." This led several people to think that the Dominion government inspector of weights and measures, Mr. Howson had been called in to test the scales. In this matter, there is only in our mind a trifling technical difference between "testing" and "balancing." If a scale is out of balance it wants testing and Mr. Mellmoyle, the efficient market clerk did on Saturday "balance" the scale in question twice, that is all any sane man could expect him to do. It seems that Mr. Mellmoyle is in somewhat the same position as is many a newspaper man, viz. open game for many a crank to find fault with, nor that we would use this word to his particular fault finders.

Should he or any man in the newspaper business, listen to every man with a professed grievance he or the scribbler had better take about seven ounces of prussic acid and depart to the shores of that Walhallah where neither newspaper men nor public weighers have part.

It is now up to the humble city editor of this g.f.j. to note that hereafter cranks, criminals or kickers must consult, first, our P.D. (printers' D——), the mayor, council, and board of education and, lastly a chosen committee of leading citizens before asking us to print anything finding fault with our fellow citizens or to have anything left out of our columns concerning applicants to attain such obscurity. The Times gives its views honestly, fairly without malice and for the information of our readers the public.

The Municipal Act

Ottawa, Oct. 15.—It is announced that Hon. Mr. Hanna intends saying important amendments of the municipal act before the provincial Assembly of Ontario at the next session of that body. He is, at present, has the draft of the proposed act almost complete and will have it printed and circulated in a short time so that it can be fully considered by all parties interested and many valuable suggestions may thus be secured before the measure is ready to pass the Legislature. The Whitney cabinet is holding frequent meetings lately in order to get matters in proper shape for the coming session and much useful legislation is promised by the friends of the administration, who are in the secrets of the government.

If You Read This

It will be to learn that the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice recommend, in the strongest terms possible, each and every ingredient entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the cure of weak stomach, dyspepsia, catarrh of stomach, "liver complaint," torpid liver, or biliousness, chronic bowel affections, and all catarrhal diseases of whatever region, name or nature. It is also a specific remedy for all such chronic or long standing cases of catarrhal affections and their resultants, as bronchial, throat and lung disease (except consumption) accompanied with severe coughs. It is not so good for acute colds and coughs but for lingering, or chronic cases it is especially efficacious in producing perfect cures. It contains Black Cherry bark, Golden Seal root, Bloodroot, Stone root, Mandrake root and Queen's root—all of which are highly praised as remedies for all the above mentioned affections by such eminent medical writers and teachers as Prof. Bartholow, of Jefferson Med. College; Prof. Hare, of the Univ. of Pa.; Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Med. College, Chicago; Prof. John King, M. D., of Cincinnati; Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., of Cincinnati; Prof. Edwin M. Hale, M. D., of Hahnemann Med. College, Chicago, and scores of others equally eminent in their several schools of practice.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is the only medicine put up for sale through druggists for like purposes that has any such professional endorsement—wont more than any number of ordinary proprietary nostrums. Open publicity of its formula is the best possible guaranty of its merits. A glance at this published formula will show that "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no poisonous, harmful or habit-forming drugs and no alcohol—chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead. Glycerine is entirely unobjectionable and besides is a most useful agent in the cure of all stomach as well as bronchial, throat and lung affections. There is the highest medical authority for its use in all such cases. The "Discovery" is a concentrated glycerine extract of native, medicinal roots and is safe and reliable.

HOPEFUL REPORT ON THE GRAIN PROSPECTS IN THE WEST

Wheat Acreage in Manitoba Declined by 351,984 Acres--Increased Elsewhere by 348,792 Acres

Ottawa, Oct. 15.—John Byrnes, head of the inspection branch of the Trade and Commerce Department, who recently returned from a visit to the Canadian West, states that there is an estimated decrease in the wheat acreage in Manitoba this year of 351,984 acres, which is offset by an increase in Saskatchewan and Alberta of 348,792 acres, which thus leaves a net decrease of 3,192 acres in the area under wheat this season.

To meet this decrease in wheat there is an increased acreage of 435,056 acres in the coarser grains, of which 213,367 acres are under oats and 183,533 under barley.

In view of the reported damage by frost to the wheat crop, the good yields of barley is an unmixed blessing, and the Canadian grain is sure to bring a high price for malting purposes in the United States.

Mr. Byrnes is unable to agree with the men who say that this year will see no more than a two-thirds crop of wheat in the Canadian West. North-western Manitoba, Northern Alberta, and Saskatchewan have suffered most from the frost but the worst feature is the loss to individuals of their whole crop. On the other hand many farmers have large crops of high grade wheat. "I met one man who had 1,000 acres that would grade at least No. 2 Northern."

Threshing only started in Saskatchewan on the 8th inst., and has been much delayed in Manitoba by bad weather, from which it will be seen how hard it is to form an accurate estimate.

Up to the 9th inst., eighty per cent. of the new wheat inspected at Winnipeg graded high, but there is no doubt a great quantity will go for feed, for which there will be an increasing demand in Ontario through out the whole winter. As this grade will be as high in price as No. 1 Northern last year, the majority of the producers will still obtain a good return.

Twenty-Five Killed and One Hundred Injured in an Explosion of Powder at Mills in Indiana Town

MR. CHAS. M. HAYS

President of the Grand Trunk Pacific

700 Residents Rendered Homeless as Result of Explosion

Later Report Says Over Fifty People Killed

Whole Town Wiped Out

Brazil, Ind., Oct. 15.—From 25 to 30 persons dead and dying, 100 injured and every house in Fontanet destroyed, rendering 700 residents homeless, is the result of the blowing up of the mills of the Dupont Powder Company, near Fontanet, at 9.15 o'clock today.

The first explosion occurred in the glazing mill of the plant at 9.15. The other mills blew up at intervals of a few minutes.

In the mills at the time were from 75 to 85 men at work. When the glazing mill exploded, the men ran from the other mills.

Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 15.—A terrific shock, which smashed glass in this city, was felt at 9.15 a.m. It is reported there was an explosion at Fontanet, Ind., about 20 miles from here.

A despatch from Fontanet over a railroad wire says a second explosion occurred at 11.15 a.m. at the Dupont Powder plant, which was even more serious than the first explosion at 9.15.

ALL COMMUNICATION SEVERED.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 15.—The shock from the explosion at Fontanet was heard in this city. At Crawfordsville, 35 miles from Fontanet, the shock cracked a brick wall and sank tiling in a floor one inch. All telephone connection with Fontanet is lost, and persons have left Terre Haute and Brazil in automobiles to learn the details. It is reported, but not confirmed, that 25 persons were killed.

25 TO 100 REPORTED KILLED.

Brazil, Ind., Oct. 15.—Three distinct explosions were heard here to-day, from the direction of the Dupont Powder Mills, 15 miles away. Many windows were shattered in the business and residential districts. All plate windows in the Citizens' Bank building were destroyed. It was reported here that the powder house and two mills of the powder company at Fontanet had blown up, and that from 25 to 100 persons had been killed.

Fontanet is a mining town of a few hundred inhabitants, situated on the Big Four Railroad, 18 miles east of Terre Haute, and 65 miles west of Indianapolis.

WHOLE TOWN WIPED OUT.

Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 15.—The Laflin and Rand Powder Mills at Fontanet, 18 miles north-east of this city exploded at 9.15 o'clock this morning, practically wiping out the little mining town and killing 20 men and seriously injuring 100 more.

The mills are burning, and the bodies of the killed cannot be recovered.

Every building in the town and within a radius of half a mile was shattered.

The Big Four Railroad ran a special train to the scene of the accident with physicians, and the injured are being brought to the hospitals in this city.

Superintendent Monahan of the powder mill is missing, and supposed to be in the debris.

There were three explosions shortly after nine o'clock, and a fourth at ten o'clock, in which a number of the physicians were slightly injured, among them Drs. Wilkin and Moore of the city.

The mills destroyed were the property of the Dupont Powder Company, and not of Laflin and Rand, as one reported.

Contract for New Catholic Church

The contract for the new Catholic church to be built on Romaine St. has been award ed to Messrs. Ingford and Sheehy, whose tender was the lowest, being $14,311. This sum does not include the work for heating, electric lighting, pews, figured windows and altars, as the contract for these will be let at a later date.

NEW SET OF READERS FOR SCHOOLS OF THE PROVINCE

Dr. Goggin to Direct in the Preparation of the Books--He will be Assisted by a Consultative Committee

Toronto, Oct. 15.—Hon. Dr. Pyne, minister of education, has definitely decided to prepare a new set of Public School Readers for the schools of the Province. This decision is in accord with the views of educationalists generally.

In carrying out this project the minister will entrust the workk to Dr. D. J. Goggin, who will be authorized to consult from time to time with a committee of teachers, whose knowledge of Public schools and whose literary attainments will insure the preparation of a highly desirable series. In addition to this committee and the members of the Advisory Council other educationists will be shown advance proofs of the books during the course of preparation, that expert advice and opinion will be taken advantage of.

The Consultative Committee, who will assist Dr. Goggin in his labors, will include W. Atkin, St. Thomas, Inspector of Schools for Elgin County; Prof. Alexander, University of Toronto; G. E. Broderick, Lindsay, Principal of Model School; N. W. Campbell, Durham, Inspector of Schools for South Grey; T. A. Craig, Kemptville, Inspector for Leeds; Inspector Hughes, Toronto; Principal Ward, Toronto; Dr. Waugh, Whitby, Inspector for Ontario County, and Principal Young, of the Model School, Guelph.

At the late meeting of the Advisory Council the principal business taken up was the question of the list of authorized text books for Public Schools. The report on this matter will be completed at a later meeting.

Ask Members for Vancouver to Resign Their Seats

Vancouver, B.C., Oct. 15.—The following resolution was passed at a meeting of the Asiatic Exclusion League last evening;

"Be it resolved, That to enable the people of Vancouver to express their attitude in a constitutional manner as to the advisability of excluding Orientals from British Columbia and the Dominion of Canada, Mr. R. G. Macpherson is hereby requested to resign his seat in the House of Commons, and Hon. A. G. Tatlow, Hons. W. J. Bowser and Messrs. A. H. B. MacGowan, J. Garden, and J. E. McGuire be asked to resign their seats in the Legislature of British Columbia."

The meeting also resolved that only municipal candidates in sympathy with the League be supported for the coming election.

Two More Long Walks

October will see two more attempts to break the records of Jimmy Reynolds, Port Hope's walking barber. Thursday, D. Langford of Renfrew, will start from Port Hope at 6 a.m., and try to make the journey to Toronto and return, under the time allotted to Jimmy Reynolds, and on Friday, Oct. 25, David Hartley, a middle-aged Peterborough athlete, will try to walk from Bowmanville to Toronto and back to Peterborough, 137 miles—7 more than Reynolds' task—in the same time as Reynolds allotted himself—38 hours.

News Briefs

Ottawa, Oct. 12.—There is no dearth of applicants for the vacant postmastership at Toronto, and the Postmaster-General has now a very large field of aspirants from which to pick. The names most prominently mentioned for the position are those of ex-Mayor Thomas Urquhart and Mr. W. B. Rogers. Strong pressure, however, is being brought to bear to have the appointment go to Mr. George Ross, chief superintendent and assistant postmaster at Toronto.

St. Catharines, Oct. 13.—Two strangers called at Jesse Winger's farmhouse in Bertie township on Tuesday afternoon and demanded his money. Winger tried to fight the robbers off, and knocked one of them down, but they overpowered him and tied him up with ropes. All they got was $2

At his request, the robbers carried Winger into the house, where he was found bound and helpless two hours later. He is pretty certain that he will know the two men if he sees them again. They evidently expected a big haul. Winger lives alone.

Rome, Oct. 15.—The recent conflicts between landowners and laborers in Apulia culminated to-day in violent riots, in which the troops were compelled to use their arms.

While several landowners were going to their properties near Ruvo they were asked by a great number of laborers, who ordered them to return to the town. On their refusal the laborers beat them with sticks and the landowners answered by firing revolvers, killing one man and wounding others. The troops, hearing the report of firearms rushed to the spot and succeeded in rescuing the landowners from the mob, which was bent on lynching them.

The rioters dispersed, returned to the town and assailed all the houses of the landlords. In many cases they drove out and in others the rioters succeeded in forcing their way in and committed various acts of vandalism. The troops were again compelled to use their arms, and many rioters were wounded with the bayonet.

The town is in the greatest excitement as the number of soldiers in garrison is insufficient to maintain order in the surrounding country. Up to the present, however, the landowners outside the town are holding their own.

The Actors' union of Chicago has issued a call for high class vaudeville actors, and declares that the demand exceeds the supply.

Police Court

Allan Sipprans, a young man was charged with and pleaded guilty to riding his bicycle on the city pavement. "Have you $2? Asked the Magistrate. "Yes Sir," replied Mordan. "Well, pay it over to the Chief here." It was paid.

Gunnian pleaded guilty to having been drunk and disorderly. P. C. Newhall testified that the defendant had been raising a disturbance on the street at night. He was fined $2 and $2.60 costs which sum was paid.

In the case of Robert Venus Regan where Reagan was charged with keeping a common gambling house. The mere fact of playing cards is not in itself an offence. While those men caught in the act of playing poker in the house saw fit to plead guilty to gambling and were fined, they probably pleaded guilty to save giving evidence. The only profit Reagan made was indirectly out of the sale of liquor, but there was no evidence to show that any charge was made for the room where the cards were played or anything charged for the game either. The charge was dismissed.

In the case of Inspector Jos. Stewart vs Mr. Lawless, proprietor of the National Hotel, who was charged with a second offence of selling liquor during prohibited hours. His Worship found that the case was proven and inflicted the "Second Offence" clause. He imposed a fine of $100 with $8.55 costs, the $100.55 to be paid in 10 days or three months in jail.

Mr. Stewart was in court for the prosecution and Mr. G. W. Hatton for the defence.

The Labrador Fishery Failure

Sydney, N. S., October 16.—Advices received to-day from Newfoundland state that the Labrador fishery this year has resulted more unsuccessfully than in the past twenty years. Practically all of the fleet which escaped the disastrous gale last month have returned, and although some of the vessels have secured a good catch, they corroborate the failure of the fisheries on the Labrador coast generally, due, it is claimed, to the bad weather conditions. However, the fishing on the coast line of Newfoundland proper and the outports is reported to be the most successful in the past four or five years.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

G. T. P. Likely to Have Steamships says Pres. Hays

Montreal, Oct. 16.—Mr. Charles M. Hays president of the Grand Trunk Pacific and second vice-president and general manager of the Grand Trunk, made the absolutely definite announcement at the general offices to-day, on his return from his five weeks' trip over the two systems and journey to Prince Rupert, that as soon as the transcontinental system is completed, as soon as it is in a position to give the public the new through service, and as soon as the first locomotive is, as Rudyard Kipling put it, ready to drink waters of the Pacific, the G.T.P. and the G.T.R. would have lines of steamers under their own direction at their disposal on each ocean.

"It may be," said Mr. Hays, "that we will have a fleet, created by ourselves, on one ocean and make arrangements with some existing company for an alliance on another, but assuredly the Grand Trunk and its affiliations will be in a position to play a leading part in the world's transportation facilities."

MAY JOIN WITH ALLANS

Mr. Hays gave it to be understood that the Allan Company through Sir Montague Allan, who is a member of the Grand Trunk Pacific board, and the other members of the local firm, would be associated with these steamship arrangements. "It is too early," said Mr. Hays to go into details, for we are still talking of conditions that do not have to meet for some time.

BRITISH COLUMBIA BRANCHES

"And as regards the branches No. 5 from Prince Rupert to the Yukon, and south to Vancouver, what about them?

"We have our whole line mapped out to the coast—the surveys are completed, but until we have our transcontinental system in operation, we will not begin our branches either north or south. You have seen the map. Every branch line on that map it is my firm conviction, will be built.

THE LABOR PROBLEM

"And what about the labor problem Mr. Hays, which is just now dominating every question in British Columbia and the West?"

"We naturally want to get our line built within the time stipulated in the Act of Parliament, but beyond that we are not directly interested in it. There is a great scarcity of the kind of labor we require all through the west. The building of the line is in the hands of contractors—the McMillan Bros., J. D. McArthur and O'Reilly, and other firms.

Cause of the Quebec Bridge Disaster

New York, Oct. 16.—That the recent collapse of the great Quebec bridge, causing the death of fourscore workmen, was due to a chord or girder, on the underside of the bridge which was too light in design, is the conclusion of the editors of "The Scientific American" in the current issue of that journal they show by careful analysis and comparison with the size of chords in other bridges, intended to perform a similar office that not only was the margin of capacity above the load this chord was expected to bear insufficient, but that it did not bear the load it was expected to support, because it was not sufficiently braced.

The column or girder whose failure caused the bridge to crumble was 67 feet long, and in cross section 5 feet 7 inches by 4 feet 6 inches. It was made of four plates of steel. These were joined together at their edges by solid plates at the ends and steel lattice work in the centre. The object of the lattice work was to bind the four plates together in the centre as stiffly but free could no bend or buckle, on the same principle that a walking stick which will bend under weight when supported in the middle, will remain perfectly straight if there is something in the middle to hold it in position.

The chord was supposed to have a safe strength of 9,312 tons. That is to say, it could be subjected to an end pressure of this enormous amount without showing any sign of bending. In other words, it could support without a permanent deformation any end pressure of 9,312 tons. Its actual breaking strength, which weighs a few tons less than the supposed safe load. It was calculated by the engineers that the maximum load which it could carry without actually giving way was something over 11,000 tons or more than the weight of the Brooklyn and the cruiser Montcalm combined. It was figured out that the maximum load which could come upon the girder—the weight of the bridge itself, its traffic and the stress due to wind storms combined—was 11,320 tons a burden which theoretically was approximately its limit.

Germany Ready to Call Quits, Canada May Remove Surtax

Ottawa, Oct. 15.—Following the treaty of reciprocity which has recently been agreed upon between Canada and the French republic, Canadian ministers will next summer negotiate a preferential trade arrangement with Germany and with Italy.

Italy has been for some time desirous of improving its trade relations with Canada, and it is now said that Germany, too, has made approaches for a removal of the restrictions on trade that now exist between us and them.

The Germans are willing to reconsider their policy of retaliation against Canada if we are prepared to give them what they regard as a square deal.

Sixteen Killed and Many Injured on English Railroad

London, Oct. 15.—News that the Shrewsbury express train had been derailed reached here at ten o'clock this morning. It is reported that sixteen persons were killed, and that many others were injured.

Shrewsbury, Eng., Oct. 15.—A train, made up of passenger coaches, bound from Scotland and the North of England to Bristol, left the rails as it was entering the station here at an early hour this morning. Sixteen persons, including ten passengers, were killed and many others were injured.

A SHARP CURVE IN THE ROAD

The London & Northwestern Railroad, on which the train was running, curves sharply as it nears Shrewsbury, and there is a standing order that the engineers must not exceed a speed of ten miles an hour at that point.

ORDERS DISREGARDED

Disregard of the order is believed to have been the cause of the accident. The engine and all the cars with the exception of the last one left the rails, and when the officials from the railroad station reached the spot the cars were a tangled mass of wreckage, beneath which were the bodies of the dead and the injured.

IN DARKNESS AND RAIN.

Fortunately, the wreck did not catch fire, and the doctors and salvage crews, who soon reached the scene, did not have this added danger to fight in the darkness and pouring rain, which, however, retarded the work of rescue, and several hours elapsed before the last body was taken out.

The killed included the engineer and fireman and the guards and postal clerks, who were in the mail car immediately behind the tender of the engine.

Will Brand All the Drunkards

Chicago, October 16.—The Hyde Park Liquor Dealers Association as a matter of self protection, has started a crusade against those who over imbibe. Notices have been sent out by the secretary of the association, requesting each bartender to ask for the photograph of every drunkard, from his wife or family in case complaint about selling liquor to him is made. The pictures then are to be sent to the secretary of the association, and he in turn is to have copies made and sent to every member of the association.

These pictures then are to be posted on the mirror behind the bar so that the dispenser of drinks may see at a glance if he is selling liquor to a drunkard.

The members of the association have been pledged by indignant wives for having sold intoxicating drinks to their husbands. This caused the movement to brand the drunkards.

Capt. H. S. Rogers Is in the City

Captain H. S. Rogers, R.E., of London, Eng., is in the city on a short visit to his father, Lieut.-Col. H. C. Rogers, postmaster of Peterborough. It is fourteen years since this last visit to his old home and he notes a great change and improvements in this thriving center.

As noted in a former issue of The Times Captain Rogers in February last received from the Imperial authorities the appointment of Government surveyor of prisons in England and Wales.

Captain Rogers' many old friends are pleased to see him. He will leave today on his return to England, along with Mrs. Rogers and family.

Willie Taylor Was Not Racing when Hurt

It seems that that unfortunate boy Willie Taylor, who whilst doing his utmost to earn an honest living by selling papers, but who is apparently the shuttle cock of fate as regards personal injuries, and who has been within the past few months laid up with broken legs, which have been partly amputated, was not as alleged, racing with some other boys when he met with the accident last Friday. The cart in which he was riding fell off the sidewalk and he received his injuries as a result.

This unfortunate cripple has aroused the sympathy of the whole community in his recent misfortunes. While he may however come out of the pile as yet notwithstanding his injuries.

Rev. Dr. Marsh Sees More Sun Spots

Eminent Springville Astronomer to Entertain Local Scientists

Rev. Dr. Marsh, the eminent and rapidly being recognized Springville Astronomical expert, reports that there are more spots or disturbances on the surface of the sun. Dr. Marsh has photographed these spots and they will be shown by Timelight this evening at his residence when the members of the local Astronomical Society will be entertained. Busses will convey the members to Springville, and leave the Y.M.C.A. building at 6.45 o'clock in the evening. The spot on the west limb of the sun is 75,300 miles long and 15,000 miles wide. The disturbance on the east limb is 100,500 miles long and 17,000 wide. Between these spots on the east and west sun solar lube are three disturbances.

Methodist W. M. S. Meeting

The Methodist Woman's Missionary Society of Peterborough district will hold their annual convention on Thursday, Oct. 24th, in George street Methodist church, at 10 a.m., and this will also be an afternoon and evening session. A large attendance is expected from the auxiliaries of the district. A good program is being arranged, which it is expected will be of special interest.

Very Good Home Recipe

Rheumatism is easier to avoid than to cure, says a well-known authority. Every man, woman and child here should dress as warmly as possible, and, above all, keep the feet dry. Avoid colds and exposure, and don't become constipated.

Rheumatism is simply a blood disease, caused by inactive kidneys, which brought on by the suits of improper diet, fail in their duty of filtering the rheumatic poisons from the blood. This poisonous waste matter, uric acid, oxilate of lime, urea, etc., if not restrained from the blood promptly, decomposes and settles about the joints and muscles, causing rheumatic disease.

In damp or chilly weather the kidneys are made to do double work. The pores of the skin all over the body do not assist in eliminating the poisons of the body, throwing this work to the kidneys which become clogged and feeble, thus causing not only rheumatism, but all forms of kidney troubles, backache, weak bladder and urinary troubles, and sometimes terrible blood disorders.

At the first sign of any of these troubles the following simple prescription should be mixed and taken at once: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Any good pharmacy can supply these ingredients, and all the mixing required is to shake well in a bottle.

MOTHERS MUST HAVE ABUNDANT STRENGTH

A woman's anxieties multiply tenfold about the time the new baby is expected.

Ferrozone should be used because it makes the blood nutritious and rich. By instilling new strength into every part of the body, it uplifts your spirits at once.

Childbirth is certainly made easier by Ferrozone. The following statement expresses the earnest gratitude of Mrs. M. E. Duckworth, of Durham. It is a woman's story—of her own case—told that other women may profit by her experience;

"Before baby was born I was in a weak, miserable, nervous state. I had no reserve strength. I tried to build up, but nothing helped me. I looked upon the coming day with dread, knowing I was unequal to the occasion.

"Ferrozone braced me up at once. It gave me strength and spirits, brought back my nerve and cheerfulness. From my experience with Ferrozone I recommend it to all expectant mothers."

There is more concentrated nourishment in Ferrozone than you can get from anything else. It supplies what weak systems need. Simply take one tablet at meals and you'll feel benefited in a thousand ways.

Ferrozone makes healthy, virile, vigorous women; try it. 50c per box of fifty tablets, or six for $2.50, at all dealers.

IS THE TREND ANTI-RELIGIOUS

Gen. Booth, the Salvationist, in an address in Chicago says the trend today is away from the spiritual life, churches and missions. This is so in Great Britain; this is so in the other nations of Europe; and it is so in this country.

Now, with due respect to the venerable apostle of humble Christianity, well-informed churchmen must take exception to this conclusion. There never was a time when so much money was being expended for the maintenance and promotion of religion, charity and the uplifting which goes with these as now. It is true there is a liberalizing force at work which refuses to accept beliefs once deemed vital to salvation and which loosens the denominational idea until it is largely imaginary, but belief in the teachings of Christ was never more earnestly accepted by the enlightened nations than it is now. And it is not mere profession. It is visible every day of the year in splendid temples of worship, which the faithful have erected and are maintaining; in the buildings devoted to the manifold charities which are the offshoot and very flower of Christianity; in the helpfulness extended to the suffering beyond the pale of organized benevolence.

The need of the church today is felt by millions who absent themselves from its services but who recognize the enormous amount of good it does in the world. This multitude believe in its principles but do not deem it necessary to be church-goers to gain salvation. They are put down as indifferent but they must be reckoned with the forces of Christianity in any struggle with those who would set her aside. These abstainers give liberally to the church and sustain it in everything but their presence.

Gen. Booth and those who labor with him are always in contact with this class because they are into hunting for worshippers. They invade the strongholds of non-church attendance, from which the church shrinks, and come to think that the great majority avoid the church because of lack of sympathy with its aims. In this way an enormous impression is created which in reality has little to justify it.

No, Gen. Booth, the trend is greater to-day toward the churches than ever and he must be a queer observer who shuts his eyes to what is going on around him and takes the contrary view.

GENEROUS GIVING

The United States may justly claim to be the land of magnificent donations. Its wealthy men and women seem impelled to do something with their wealth for the advancement of the higher interests of the community; and for the most part they do not wait till they are dead to part with their money. They want personally to witness some of the effects of their benefactions, which certainly seems reasonable and natural. The Chicago Tribune has compiled a list of the donations and bequeaths made and reported in the press during one year. The aggregate amount is $76,324,275. That is about a dollar per head of the population, according to the last census. The donor who has the largest amount to his credit is Andrew Carnegie with $15,965,050. Mr. Rockefeller comes next with $8,944,597; the third is the late Arioch Wentworth, of Boston, who bequeathed $7,000,000 to found an industrial school, but whose will is in litigation, as is also the will of the late Gordon Mackay, the next highest giver, who left $4,000,000 to Harvard University. These large sums make a total of nearly $36,000,000, leaving about $41,000,000 to be made up by smaller donations, one of which, however is for $1,000,000, while several are in hundred thousands. Take it altogether it is a noble showing. The man who gives money freely to public objects shows that he believes in his country and is anxious to advance its civilization. He shows a sense, too that without the cooperation of his fellow-men and the protection of laws, he never could have amassed wealth at all, and that some recognition of this fact is due from him.

The amount of wealth per head in Canada has been estimated to be considerably higher than in the United States, but it is more diffused. All the donations, in the Tribune's list are not in the hundreds of thousands. They are of all amounts from $1,000 upwards. Leaving out all gifts of $1,000,000 or more the average of donations is $49,000,000. If we take this sum as the basis of comparison and say that Canada has one-thirteenth of the population of the United States there should be something like $3,000,000 accruing annually to our public institutions from the benefactions of private citizens. Such an amount would place our colleges, hospitals and charities on a very satisfactory foundation and would save our towns and cities from having to depend on Mr. Carnegie for their public libraries. There is too much of a disposition at present to leave the privilege of giving to a few splendid exceptions in the way of givers. We hope that, as our national aspirations grow, a generous public spirit will more and more characterize our well-to-do citizens, and that even people of moderate and slender means will feel that Canada is a good enough country to do something for, on however modest a scale. The widow put in her mite and her deed had its value, and has not been forgotten.

PANBESA'S LETTER.

An Account of an Egyptian City Thirty Centuries Ago.

Probably the oldest letter in the world is the letter of Panbesa, written fifteen centuries before Christ to his friend, Amenemapt, a scribe.

The manuscript is of perishable papyrus, and it is amazing that it should have survived for more than thirty centuries and still be legible.

It is preserved in the collection of the British museum. It has been several times translated. It presents an interesting picture of life in Egypt in the time of Rameses II. It is more in the nature of a literary production, a poem composed in celebration of the visit of Pharaoh to the city of Pa-Rameses, than an ordinary letter of today.

Panbesa "greets his lord, the scribe Amenemapt, to whom be life, health and strength," and then goes on to describe the verdant fields, the thrashing floors, the vineyards, the groves of olives, the orchards of figs, the great daily markets, with their fish and waterfowl and swarms of purchasers.

The citizens had their "sweet wine of Khemi, pomegranate wine and wine from the vineyards," and to these they added "beer of Kati."

There was music in plenty furnished by the singers of the school of Memphis.

On the whole, Pa-Rameses seems to have been a pleasant place to live in. "The lesser folk are there equal with the great folk," and Panbesa writes that its maidens were "in holiday attire every day," with locks "redolent of perfumed oil."

THE CITY OF CANALS.

Venice and the Many Islands Upon Which It Is Built.

Venice is one of the most singular and famous cities in Europe and is built upon a cluster of islands in the lagoon. This lagoon is banked off from the Adriatic by a long, narrow sand bank which is divided into a number of islands, six in number. Inside of this sand bank and between it and the mainland is the lagoon, a sheet of shallow water. In parts of this marshy, sea covered plain islets have become consolidated into ground, firm enough to be cultivated.

And in the midst of a crowded cluster of such islands, amounting to between seventy and eighty in number, the city of Venice is built. The chief of these islands is called Isolda de Rialto, or Island of the Deep Stream. The islands, in many places mere shoals, afford no adequate foundation for buildings, and the city for the most part is built upon an artificial foundation of piles and stones.

The Grand canal divides Venice into two equal parts and is the main thoroughfare for traffic and pleasure. The city is subdivided by some one hundred and forty-six small canals or water streets, and the gondola is used for the carriage. Access can also be had to various parts of the city by land, there being over three hundred bridges across canals. The Rialto, the most famous bridge, spans the Grand canal. There are also narrow lanes in among the houses.

The Overruling of a Judge.

A judge once awoke in the night to find his room in the possession of two armed burglars. Covered by the pistol of one of the marauders, the judge watched the proceedings with his usual judicial calm. One of the depredators found a watch. "Don't take that," the judge said; "it has little value and is a keepsake." "The motion is overruled," replied the burglar. "I appeal," rejoined the judge. The two burglars consulted, and the spokesman then replied: "The appeal is allowed. The case coming on before a full tribunal of the supreme court, that body is of the unanimous opinion that the decree of the lower court should be sustained, and it is accordingly so ordered." Pocketing the watch, court adjourned.

A Brave Struggle Ended By Death

Robert McDonald Was a Stranger in a Strange Land

Toronto, Oct. 15.—The story of a brave fight against adversity and of a hope which had no cavil because of repeated disappointment, is revealed by the death of Robert Anderson McDonald, aged 39 years, formerly of Springhill Gardens, Glasgow, who came to Canada about thirteen months ago.

While walking along Wilton avenue on Saturday morning McDonald was suddenly overtaken with illness. He was assisted as far as No. 120, where he had boarded for some weeks, and was there taken care of until the arrival of the ambulance. Somewhat recovered, he was able to walk to the conveyance, in which he was removed to 121 Sumach street, the home of Mr. Charles Freeman, where he has been boarding recently. Here he collapsed completely and died shortly afterwards.

McDonald was a civil engineer. To those with whom he had become acquainted he stated that he came to Canada because of ill-health, and in the hope that he might be able to better himself. It appears that he had never been able to secure employment at his profession in this country, and his ill-health and weakened physical condition had never permitted him to undertake heavy labor. He opened a tobacco store, but it had not proved a success, and he had also worked as a collector and insurance agent. On Saturdays he obtained employment in a Riverdale store.

It is learned at places where he boarded that McDonald never complained of the difficulties which confronted him in obtaining a livelihood. He always appeared gentlemanly, and frequently he gave expression to the hope that he might soon be able to bring his wife and children to this country or join them at home. From correspondence found among his belongings it was evident that he had paid some attention to schemes which promised big returns for small investment, although it is doubtful whether he actually made disposition of his money in that way.

At one house where he boarded McDonald owed $35, but the lady in charge stated that she never protested beyond remarking on one occasion that she was a poor woman and could not very well afford to buy the food.

McDonald had evidently been at one time in good circumstances. Among his effects are certificates and regalia showing that he was a prince in the Grand Lodge of R.A.O.B., a companion in the St. Andrew's and St. John's chapters of the Royal Arch Masons, and a junior warden of the Grand Lodge of Scotland. There are also papers showing that he was granted his discharge from the Lanarkshire Royal Engineers on May 20, 1905, having joined them on March 20, 1889. There are many excellent testimonials as to his character and ability, one being from Prof. Laing, of Toronto University, who knew him in Scotland, and another from a Glasgow magistrate.

The last letter which McDonald wrote home is addressed to his daughter, Miss Agnes McDonald, and was found among other papers in his bag. The pitiful missive is written on King Edward Hotel paper, and runs as follows:

"My Own Dear Wee Nanny;

"Why have you, or mother, or someone, not written to me for over three weeks. It is so lonely when you don't get a letter. Do write to me soon. I am going to try and make you all a pair of boots, and send them over in the big ship. Tell me how you are getting on at school, and how Ruby is? Can she walk a lot now? Do you take her out much? Who takes you out to walk on Saturdays now?

"I think I will go out on Saturday to try to get you a nice new Maple Leaf pin, and then you will give mother a kiss for me. I am going to try and send you a lot of money, so as you can flit to another house. Would you like that? with lots of kisses, from your own daddy."

One week ago last Thursday McDonald was discharged from the General Hospital, where two weeks before he had gone, complaining of dizzy spells and pains in the head. During the past week, it is learned, he had been sleeping in the stable in the rear of Price's Dairy, and it is evident that the exposure which he underwent was too much for his weakened physical condition.

A letter recently received from his wife stated that she had secured employment from 8 a.m. till 10 p.m. for seven shillings a week in order to keep the children. He was unable to send them any money. His wife urged him to return and his little girl wrote:

"Dear Daddy.—We are all wearying for you. Do come to your own 'Agnes.'"

Mrs. McDonald's address is 70 Eastwood avenue, Shawlands, Glasgow, and McDonald's brothers and mother are at 6 Steven street, Glasgow.

The body has been removed to the morgue. It will probably be interred by the Masonic fraternity or Sons of Scotland.

Chief Coroner Johnson is investigating the circumstances.

Strikers are all Back at Work

New York, Oct. 16.—Officials of the Western Union Telegraph Company stated yesterday that their force had been largely augmented within recent days by personal applications of strikers to return to their work and that a large number had been taken back in various parts of the country.

The applications are being considered on their individual merits, but quite a number have not been favorably acted upon. As a result of this movement, it is said that the desirable places are rapidly filled and that comparatively few vacancies remain.

EDUCATING WILLIAM.

His Mother-in-law Tells His Wife the Subtle Process.

"He isn't stingy," declared the young woman, rather indignantly. "I'm sure he's as generous as he can be in most things, but"—

"Oh, I know," said the older woman. "Your father used to be a great deal the same way."

"Pa!" exclaimed the young woman.

"Until he got educated," said the older woman. "I had to educate him, of course, and you'll have to educate William. Arguing isn't any use."

"I know," said the young woman sadly. "I've tried it."

"And crying isn't any use," said the older, with some severity.

The young woman blushed and glanced hastily at a mirror that hung on the wall.

"No, your eyes aren't red," said the elderly woman reassuringly, "but you have been crying, and I tell you it won't do, and crossing won't work one time in a dozen."

"Then how?"

"Use your common sense. There are lots of ways. Take him to shop with you the next time you go. That's one pretty good way of making him realize that a woman can't dress on nothing."

The young woman shook her head. "You don't know William as well as I do," she said. "I'd be worse off than ever, and, besides, he wouldn't go."

"Oh, yes, he would," said the elderly woman confidently. "He will if you manage him properly. You tell some woman friend what exquisite taste he has when he's around and notice how he'll begin to swell up. I never knew the man who didn't believe that he knew more about what was becoming to a woman than she did herself. Then follow that up by asking him to help you select a hat. He'll do it fast enough if you can make him really believe you depend on his judgment."

"But, mother"—

"I suppose you think he'll pick out some five dollar horror or something that doesn't suit you at all."

"I'm afraid he would."

"Well, he wouldn't. You begin by wanting him to go to some dollar and ninety-eight millinery store and watch him select. Look in at the window and comment favorably on one or two of the shapes if you can't do anything else, especially if some other people are standing by looking in. He'll insist on your going to some decent place. Don't take him to Ellen, though. Go any place where there's a fairly good assortment, but not where they take $20 hats as a matter of course. All you've got to do is to pick out an intelligent saleswoman and insist on something inexpensive. If she brings you anything over $6, say: 'Oh, dear, no! I can't afford to pay that price.'"

"I don't see"—

"Well, you will. You'll see that he'll insist on seeing something better, and you'll see that he'll be about as helpless as a babe between you and the saleswoman, and he'll see that the only way he can assert himself is to urge you not to consider expense. Don't tell me he won't. I know 'em. You can have any hat you want, and he'll go out of the store under the impression that he selected it. And you don't want to disabuse his mind either. Tell him that you think the hat is perfectly charming and you are afraid he has been extravagant and the one at $11 would have done just as well. See if he doesn't tell you that it's economy in the long run to get a good thing and that you will get more than $5 worth of satisfaction out of the difference in the price. But don't ever let him convince you."

"Why not?"

"Because it wouldn't do. But don't fail to tell him how your friends raved about the hat and how surprised they seemed when you told them it was his choice and how they said they would hate to have their husbands pick out a hat for them and how you thought so, too, but didn't say it, and mention casually as the thing goes on to any company you have that you always let William select your hats on account of his exquisite taste, the only drawback being his criminal disregard of price. Same thing applies to gowns or anything else."

"But it would be awful to have to be overstockingly taking him around."

"You won't have to," said the elderly woman. "Don't you worry about that. He'll get tired after the first few times and let you get what you want yourself. But you won't hear any more talk about your extravagance. He'll have got his business extended. But don't on any account let him lose his own good opinion of his taste."

"It seems a little deceptive," said the young woman, "but I almost believe I'll try it."

Suited to His Business.

"Gracious!" exclaimed the kind old lady to the beggar, "are they the best shoes you've got?"

"Why, lady," replied the candid beggar, "could you imagine better ones fur dis business? Every one o' dem holes means sickness an' disease to me."

A Brother.

Mistress—Jane, have you remembered the bundle on to the young boy which you dropped yesterday, Jane—I started to, mum, but, most unfortunately, I dropped the contents bottle—Punch.

Lean.

"And do they offer no excuse?"

"Oh, they say dividend exhibits will be more modest."

Something New in Copper

PITTSBURG - IDAHO

Mining and Milling Company

The mine is located 58 miles above Lewiston, Idaho, on the Clearwater river, and consists of 19 full claims, or 380 acres. It is developed by tunnels, shafts and open cuts for more than 2100 feet, disclosing thousands of tons of copper, gold and silver ores of both high grade and low grade. There are between 1000 and 2000 tons of ore ready for shipment. The entrance to the working tunnel is only 2000 feet from the track of the Northern Pacific railroad, to be reached by gravity tramway. There are seven parallel veins running lengthwise of the claims, one cropping out on the surface for 2400 feet and another for 3000 feet; while two veins cross these running into the mountain. These veins are from 30 to 200 feet wide. One ore chute has been crosscut 60 feet and is solid ore from wall to wall.

We are not asking you to buy in a prospect. That risk was taken by the promoters. We are asking you to buy in a developed, proven mine. Seven years of continuous work and the expenditure of thousands of dollars has proven up one of the greatest mines in Idaho. That mine is now ready to pour out its red and yellow wealth up the world with the installing of an up to date production plant. It is for that purpose that a block of its treasury stock, full paid and non-assessable, is offered for sale. We believe that within six months from the completion of a 100 ton plant the mine can be put on a dividend paying basis, and that those dividends will be substantial and permanent. There is no better investment proposition before the people at this time.

CAPITALIZATION $1,000,000. - PAR VALUE $1.

AIKENSIDE

BY MARY J. HOLMES

Author of "Dora Deane," "The English Orphans," "Lena Rivers," "The Rector of St. Mark's," "Tempest and Sunshine," Etc.

Accordingly, next morning as Guy was in his library reading his papers, she went tripping up to him, and folding her white hands upon his shoulder, said, very prettily:

"I was real cross last night, and let my foolish pride get the ascendency, but I have considered the matter, and am willing for this Miss Clyde to come, provided you still think it best."

Guy's mustache hid the mischievous smile lurking about his mouth, and he received the concession as graciously as if he did not know perfectly the motive which impelled it. As she had commenced being amiable she seemed determined to continue it, and offered herself to write a note soliciting Maddy's services.

"As I am Jessie's mother, it will be perfectly proper for me to hire and manage her," she said, and as Guy acquiesced in this suggestion, she sat down at the writing desk, and commenced a very pleasantly worded note, in which Miss Clyde was informed that she had been recommended as a suitable person with whom to leave Jessie during the summer and a part of the autumn, and that she, Jessie's mother, wrote to ask if for the sum of one dollar per week she were at liberty to come to Aikenside as governess, or waiting-maid.

"Or what?" Guy asked, as she read to him what she had written. "Maddy Clyde will not be waiting-maid in this house, neither will she come for one dollar a week, as you propose. I hire her myself. I have taken a fancy to the girl. Commence again; substitute companion for waiting-maid, and offering her three dollars per week instead of one."

As long as Guy paid the bill Agnes could not demur to the price, although remembering a time when she had taught a district school for one dollar per week and boarded around besides, she thought three dollars far too much. But Guy had commanded, and him she generally obeyed, so she wrote another note, which he approved, and sealing it up sent it down to the red cottage.

CHAPTER IX.

The reception of Agnes' note produced quite a commotion at the red cottage, where various opinions were expressed as to the prime mover of the plan, grandpa thinking that as Mrs. Agnes wrote the note, and was most interested in it, she, of course, had suggested it, grandma insisting that it was Jessie's doings, while Maddy, when she said anything, agreed with her grandmother, though away down in her heart was a tiny spot warm with the half-belief that Mr. Guy himself had first thought of having her at Aikenside, where she would rather go than to any other spot in the wide world; to Aikenside, with its shaven lawn, almost large enough to be called a park, with its shaded paths and winding walks, its costly flowers and running vines, its fountains and statuary, its fish pond and grove, its airy rooms, its marble hall, its winding stairs, with banisters of rosewood, its cupola at the top, from which so many miles of hill and meadow land could be discerned, its bay windows and long piazzas, its sweet-faced, golden-haired Jessie, and its manly, noble Guy. Only the image of Agnes, flashing in silk and diamonds, was a flaw on the picture's fair surface. From thoughts of her Maddy had insensibly shrunk, until she met her in the carriage, and then received the note asking her services. These events wrought in her a change, and dread of Mrs. Agnes passed away. She should like her, and she should be so happy at Aikenside, for, of course, she was going, and she began to wish the doctor would come so as to tell her when she would be strong enough to perform the duties of teacher to little Jessie.

At first Grandpa Markham hesitated. It might do Maddy a deal of hurt to go to Aikenside, he said; her humble home would look mean to her after all that finery, while the temptations to vanity and ambition would be greater there than at home; but Maddy put all his objections aside, and long before the doctor came she had written to Mrs. Agnes that she would go. The doctor could not understand why it was that in Maddy's home he did not think as well of her going to Aikenside as he had done the evening previous. She looked so bright, so pure, so fearless, sitting by her grandfather's knee, that it seemed a pity to transplant her to another soil, while, hidden in his heart, where even he did not know it was hidden, was a fear of what might be the effect of daily intercourse with Guy. Still he said it was the best thing for her to do, and laughingly remarked that it was far better than teaching the district school, and then asked if she would ride again that day; but to this Mrs. Markham objected. It was too soon, she said. Maddy had hardly recovered from yesterday's fatigue, suggesting that as the doctor was desirous of doing good to his convalescent patients, he carry out poor old deaf Mary Barnes, who complained that he stayed so long with the child at "granther Markham's" as to have but a moment to spare for her.

Instantly the eyes of Mrs Markham and the doctor met, the latter feeling very uncomfortable, while the former was confirmed in the suspicion raised by what Maddy told her the day before.

It was the doctor who carried Maddy's answer to Agnes, the doctor who made all the succeeding arrangements, deciding that Maddy would not be wholly strong until the very day fixed upon by Agnes for her departure for Saratoga. For this Guy was sorry. It would have been an easy matter for him to have ridden down to the cottage, and seen the girl in whom he was beginning to feel so much interest that in his last letter to Lucy he had mentioned her as about to become his sister's governess; but he did not care to see her there. It seemed to him that the surroundings of that slanting-roofed house did not belong to her, and he would rather meet her in his own more luxurious home. But the doctor's word was law, and so, on the first day of August, he followed Agnes and her three huge traveling trunks to the carriage, and was driven from the house to which Maddy was coming that afternoon.

CHAPTER X.

It was a long, tiresome ride for grandpa, from Honedale to Aikenside and as he was not in his wife's secret, he accepted thankfully the doctor's offer to take Maddy there himself. With this arrangement Maddy was well pleased, as it would thus afford her the opportunity she had so much desired, of talking with the doctor about his bill, and asking him to wait until she had earned enough to pay it.

To the aged couple, parting for the first time with their darling, the day was very sad, but they would not intrude their grief upon the young girl looking so eagerly forward to the new life opening before her; only grandpa's voice faltered a little when, in the morning prayer, he commended his child to God, asking that she might be kept from temptation, and that the new sights and scenes to which she was going might not beget in her a love of the world's vanities, or a disgust for her old home; but that she might come back to it the same loving, happy child as she was then, and never be ashamed of the parents to whom she was so dear. There was an answering sob from the chair where Maddy knelt, and after the devotions were ended she wound her arm around her grandfather's neck, and said earnestly:

"Grandpa, do you think I could ever be ashamed of you and grandma?"

"I hope not, darling; it would break our hearts; but finery and things is mighty apt to set folks up, and after you have walked a spell on the velvet carpets, you'll no doubt think your feet make a big noise on our bare kitchen floor."

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at an Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

The homesteader is required to perform the homestead duties under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of a homesteader lives permanent residence on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of a homestead, or upon a homestead entered for by him in the vicinity, such homesteader may perform his own residence duties by living with the father (or mother).

(4) The term "vicinity" in the two preceding paragraphs is defined as meaning not more than nine miles in a direct line exclusive of the width of road allowances crossed in the measurement.

(5) A homesteader intending to perform his residence duties in accordance with the above while living with parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

Six months' notice in writing must be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of intention to apply for patent.

TENDERS FOR SUPPLIES 1908

THE UNDERSIGNED will receive tenders up to noon on Monday, 4th November, 1907, for supplies of Butchers' Meat, Creamery or Dairy Butter, Flour, Oatmeal, Potatoes, Cordwood, etc., etc., for the following institutions during the year 1908, viz:—

At the Asylums for the Insane at Toronto, London, Kingston, Hamilton, Mimico, Brockville, Cobourg, Orillia and Penetanguishene; the Central Prison and Mercer Reformatory, Toronto, and the Hospital for Epileptics at Woodstock.

Provisions—Tenders are not required for the supply of Meat to the Asylums in Toronto, London, Kingston, Hamilton, and Brockville, nor for the Central Prison or Mercer Reformatory, Toronto.

A marked cheque for five per cent of the estimated amount of the Contract, payable to the order of the Provincial Secretary, must be furnished by each tenderer as a guarantee of his bona fides. Two sufficient sureties will be required for the due fulfilment of each contract, and should any tender be withdrawn before the contract is awarded, or should the tenderer fail to furnish security, the amount of the deposit will be forfeited.

Specifications and forms of tender may be had on application to the Department of the Provincial Secretary, Toronto, or to the Bursars of the respective institutions.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without written authority from the Department will not be paid for it.

This company owns 4 claims (80 acres) of some of the best proved mining land in the Goldfield district, consisting of the Accidental and Accidental No. 2 lode claims, situated two and one-half miles south of the great Goldfield Consolidated Mines (comprising the Mohawk, Goldfield, Combination, Red Top, Jumbo and Laguna) the richest in the world; and the Broadway and Beauty lode claims situated three and one-half miles north of the Consolidated and about one and one-half miles northwest of the Great Bend and Daisy Mines near the Zion group in the Diamondfield section around only in richness to the great Mohawk portion of the camp. Phenomenally rich strikes have recently been made out in the Consolidated, the Great Bend and the Daisy Mines.

The company has also succeeded in securing the Sure Thing lode claim (20 acres) in the Cuprite district, which has an immense gold bearing ledge, running the entire length of the claim 1,500 feet, outcropping in places over 50 feet wide, and met by several cross dykes all carrying fine values in gold, and is without doubt rightly named "Sure Thing."

All of these claims are located in the same mineral belt as the other noted mines of Goldfield that have astonished the world by their production of millions in high grade ore, and will with the same development give equally profitable returns.

The money derived from the sale of this stock will be used at once for the active development of the property and the fact that all the directors are residents of Goldfield with years of successful mining experience who will give their personal attention at all times to the progress of the work goes to show that the first issue of 100,000 shares will meet with a quick and ready sale at the initial price of 10 cents per share.

We advise immediate action if you wish to participate in the vast profits of this booming Mine.

Stock will be listed as soon as feasible on the Goldfield and San Francisco Stock and Exchange Boards. We would therefore advise purchasers to buy in board lots of 1,000 shares when convenient to do so.

Learned Physician Astounded by the Increasing Numbers of His Cures.

Halifax, N.S., Sept. 21.—That unusual knowledge is possessed by Dr. Hamilton is evidenced by the statement of Mrs Medford, of 514 Campbell Road, of this city For years this lady suffered with torturing feeling headaches that could only be allayed by strong narcotics. "Different physicians," she states, "failed, so I decided to see what Dr. Hamilton could do. I purchased a few boxs of his Mandrake and Butternut Pills and their use immediately gave the most grateful relief. Headaches and their depressing influence left me. Spells o' fainting we kn s long hours of sleeplessness, fear of nervous collapse, all these disappeared after treating with Dr. Hamilton's Pills. My restoration to vigorous health is complete and no remedy could do more than Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut.

—The meeting of the Board of Managers of Knox church that was announced for Monday night, did not take place, as there were not sufficient members present.

—Suppression of names is one thing; still a $80 fine and the general public being wise as to the players, is another when a good stiff fight would have saved the L.X. and no more notoriety involved

—Wheat, barley, and oats will hereafter have to get Burbank the Californian plant expert to attend to their requirements and get seed that will produce them fitted with wings as prices on such commodities are soaring so.

Trial Catarrh treatments are being mailed free, on request, by Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. These tests are proving to the people—without a penny's cost—the great value of this scientific prescription known to druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Remedy. Sold by all dealers.

—A larg enumber of local citizens took in the special excursion to Lindsay, at 7.15 last night. This cheap trip was due to the reduced rates for those wanting to take in the opening of the new roller skating rink in Scugogville.

—Mr. Sheridan, the hustling manager of the Charlotte street roller rink, who has recently inaugurated a new roller rink at Lindsay, which opened last night, spent yesterday in that town getting things in shape for the opening.

—The Cobourg Star says; This week work was started fixing up Donegan Park, and when it is completed it will be one of the finest parks in Canada. The ground is being levelled off, and paths put here and there. A large grand stand, with seating accommodation for 1500, is to be built —A Jackson Park street car jumped the track at the corner of Charlotte and George streets yesterday afternoon, and blocked traffic for a considerable length of time. The car was turning north on to George street when the rear wheels, and one of the front ones went off the rails. After half an hour's hard work it was put in commission again.

Nuptials of W. E. Dixon and Miss L. Buntin

On Monday evening a pretty but quietly celebrated wedding was performed by Rev. E. O. Pearson, pastor of the George street Methodist Church, in the latter's residence, when Miss Lula May Buntin, daughter of Mr. Robt. F. Buntin of this city, became the wife of Mr. Wm. Edward Dixon, also of Peterborough. Miss Gertrude Buntin, sister of the bride acted as bridesmaid, while Mr. H. W. Pearson assisted the groom. The happy couple will reside in Hamilton for which city Mr. Dixon left last night. Mrs. Dixon will leave for the Ambitious City in about a week when they will take up house keeping.

Local Man's Death was Accidental

A Hamilton despatch of yesterday says; Five witnesses were examined at the inquest last evening, into the case of Frank O'Brien, the Peterborough young man who was killed at the steel plant last Thursday morning. None of the witnesses saw the accident occur, but their opinion was that O'Brien while standing on the top of the car, which was being shunted, shifted his position and in doing so fell. The car wheels passed over his head causing instant death. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death with no blame attached to any person.

Mistook Vet Office for a Dentistry

Yesterday afternoon two men accompanied by three ladies entered the office of a Charlotte street veterinary surgeon. The party had seen the Vet's sign whichread "Dr.——" and took his place of business for a dentist's office. One of the ladies expressed a desire to have "that awful tooth that had nearly driven me crazy for the last three days," extracted. The Doctor thinking it was a favorite colt or horse of the fair customer, that had caused her the trouble, got out a number of implements of the profession which had a most formidable aspect. As he entered with a pair of forceps that looked as though they should have an electric motor or a steam engine at their business end the lady wilted at ascertaining the truth. The party left, the lady still in possession of the aching molar.

Possible Pastor for St. Paul's

It is rumored that a congregation meeting of St. Paul's church will be held in the near future to appoint a pastor. It is stated that Rev. Robert Poyde, associate pastor of Bethany church, Philadelphia, Pa., who preached at both services on Sunday and created such a favorable impression, will be invited to accept the pastorate of the church.

New Church for Port Hope

The new Mill street Presbyterian church will be opened for divine service on Sunday, October 20th. The opening sermons will be preached by Rev. R. B. Nelles, the recent pastor. As the pulpit gifts of Mr. Nelles, are both well known and much appreciated, and as the occasion is one of special importance both for the town and community, large congregations are to be expected.—Port Hope Times.

Fred Whitcroft for Edmonton

Mr. Fred Whitcroft, the local hockey player, will leave the city on Friday, for Edmonton, Alta, where he has been given the position of manager and captain of the Edmonton Hockey team, in the Northwest Professional League. Last winter Major Stewart of Edmonton, saw Whitcroft play in Winnipeg, and took a fancy to him, and forwarded the contract for him to sign. Major Stewart is one of the most enthusiast advocates of the formation of the new league, and one of the most influential members of the Edmonton Club.

Wedding Bells

Yesterday morning at St. Paul's Roman Catholic church, Lakefield, the wedding of Mr. James J. O'Brien of Charlotte street, and Miss Margery Quigley, daughter of Mr. Martin J. Quigley, of Lakefield, was quietly solemnized. Father Phelan of Young's Point, tied the nuptial knot. Miss Alice Kennedy of Lakefield, was bridesmaid, and Mr. Martin Quigley, brother of the bride, supported the groom. The bride wore a pretty travelling suit of white silk and the bridesmaid was neatly attired in a navy blue silk tailor-made gown.

Mr O'Brien is well-known in this city. The happy couple left in the morning for Toronto, and on their return will take up their residence in Peterborough.

A Lazy Liver

May be only a tired liver, or a starved liver. It would be a stupid as well as savage thing to beat a weary or starved man because he lagged in his work. So in treating the lagging, torpid liver it is a great mistake to lash it with strong drastic drugs. A torpid liver is but an indication of an ill-nourished, enfeebled body whose organs are weary with over work. Start with the stomach and allied organs of digestion and nutrition. Put them in working order and see how quickly your liver will become active. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has made many marvelous cures of "liver trouble" by its wonderful control of the organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores the normal activity of the stomach, increases the secretions of the blood-making glands, cleanses the system from poisonous accumulations, and so relieves the liver of the burdens imposed upon it by the defection of other organs.

If you have bitter or bad taste in the morning, poor or variable appetite, coated tongue, foul breath, constipated or irregular bowels, feel weak, easily tired, despondent, frequent headaches, pain or distress in "small of back," gnawing or distressed feeling in stomach, perhaps nausea, "sinking" or "risings" in throat after eating, and kindred symptoms of weak stomach and torpid liver, no medicine will relieve you more promptly or cure you more permanently than Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Perhaps only a part of the above symptoms will be present at one time and yet point to torpid liver or biliousness and weak stomach. Avoid all hot bread and biscuits, griddle cakes and other indigestible food and take the "Golden Medical Discovery" regularly and stick to its use until you are vigorous and strong.

The "Discovery" is non-secret, non-alcoholic, is a glyceric extract of native medicinal roots with a full list of its ingredients printed on each bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. Its ingredients are endorsed and extolled by the most eminent medical writers of the age and are recommended to cure the diseases for which it is advised.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the Council of the City of Peterborough intends, after this notice has been posted up for one month in six of the most public places in the immediate neighborhood of that part of the original allowance for road hereinafter described, and published weekly for four successive weeks in The Morning Times newspaper, being a paper published in the City of Peterborough, to pass a bylaw for stopping up that part of the original allowance for road in the City of Peterborough forming the gore near the intersection of Donegal street and Edinburgh street, described as being that triangular parcel of land bounded on the north by the south side of Edinburgh street, on the east by lot number 19 south of Edinburgh street and the northerly part of lot number 19 north of Dublin street and on the west by a line drawn parallel to and sixty-six feet distant easterly from the eastern limit of lots numbers 20 on registered plan No. 39 for the City of Peterborough, and authorizing the conveyance thereof, when so stopped up, to the respective owners of said lots numbers 19 south of Edinburgh street and 19 north of Dublin street in exchange for a grant of a right of way for a drain through said lots.

And take notice that the said Council will, at the meeting to be held on the 4th day of November, 1907, hear in person or by counsel or solicitor any one whose land might be prejudicially affected thereby and who petitions to be heard.

Dated this 23rd day of September, 1907.

Stories of Strangulation and Torture Told In the Witness Box--Series of Murders Admitted by the Different Tribes

Winnipeg, Oct. 16.—The arrival of Commissioner A Bowen Perry, R.N. W.M.P., and his party in Winnipeg last night from Norway House, disclosed a terrible story of wholesale strangling and burning in the region of Keewatin district, just above the north-east corner of the Province of Manitoba. The commissioner held his court in the council chamber of the H.B. Company's fort at Norway House on Monday, Oct. 7. Two Pequaquan chiefs of the Sucker band of Salteaux Indians were to have been tried, but Chief Jack strangled and cleverely throttled himself to death a few days before the arrival of the commissioner at Norway House. His brother, Joseph Fiddler, was tried, and participation in several murders was proved against him, particularly that of his kinswoman, Mrs. Thomas Fiddler, and a man named Menowasceum, whom he helped to strangle twenty days after he strangled the little squaw.

Two brothers named Fiddler and Angus Rae gave most sensational evidence, and specifically described five strangulations and burnings in which they had participated. The bodies in two instances were quietly buried by these Race, but in the other three they were thrown on a huge fire In one instance the strangulation was not complete, and was not intended to be, for the victim was bound with leather thongs and placed on a platform over a fire, and his bonds burst with the heat, and the poor fellow, all in flames ran bowling through the woods.

SENTENCED TO HANG.

Joseph Fiddler was sentenced to be hanged on Jan. 7 next, and the police will again take a long trip to Sandy Lake, and fetch back the Rae and Meekis families, implicated in these tragedies. Angus Rae has been detained at the fort, and will likely be arraigned as soon as the police return.

Two People Over 107 Years

Yesterday a Times representative had a chat with Mr. Thos. McNamara, of Messrs H. LeBrun & Company's George street dry goods establishment about his recent trip to his old home in Roscommon, Ireland. Mr. McNamara, or as he is best known to his host of friends in the city as "Tom" noted that his three months visit to the "Old Sod" was to see his mother who is now some 86 years old. When the Times man remarked "Tom, that is a good old age, better than most Canadians attain." Mr. McNamara replied, 'People of 86 in Ireland are common. Why where I was over in the Old Country I met two people who lived next to my old home, a man and a woman who were each 107 years old, and hale, hearty and in full possession of their faculties at that." He went on to say further that one day he met the old gentleman who was seven years over the century mark, out for a walk, swinging his walking stick over two miles from his home.

Mr. McNamara, in course of conversation said that the vast majority of tourists and travellers who visit Ireland, do not get a real idea of the people there. Those who simply visit the larger towns and cities and stop at hotels are, as he expressed it, "Only on the outside fringe of the real heart of the people. The Irish people in the country districts are shy and will not talk to strangers whom they suspect may use what they learn for publication or otherwise."

To revert to the old lady and gentleman of 107 years of age, our informant noted that whilst he was in the old country, the supercentenarian had claimed to be 110 years of age. The Farmers Journal sent a reporter down to investigate and he found that whilst the old man was in earnest regarding his age, that he had no Family Bible or other record to prove his age. The reporter interviewed the priest of the Parish who went back through the parish records and therefrom ascertained conclusively that the old man was really 107 years old.

In response to a question put to the Times man as to how Mr. McNamara found his mother whilst abroad, "Tom" replied 'Bright as a kitten. I was well rewarded for my trip by seeing the old lady in such good health. You know Mr. Times Man that there is something nearer the heart than making a good sale of overhauls or other dry goods."

Commission Broke The Provincial Insurance Law

Toronto, Oct. 15.—It is claimed by Toronto insurance men that the Ontario Government has violated its own laws by placing $2,000,000 of insurance with American and English companies. The amount in question covers the property of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway, and the rate obtained is about 45 cents on the dollar. Lloyds, of England, get about 40 per cent. of the total. The remainder goes to American companies, and Ontario agents are wrathy against what they claim is a policy of Ontario for the Americans.

The firm currently mentioned as getting the American end of the business is Johnston and Higgins, of New York. It is admitted that the rate is a cheap one, but it is asserted that at least a portion of the insurance could have been placed as cheaply with Ontario companies which have to keep a deposit with the Ontario Government, but which apparently do not get that government's business.

WHAT THE ACT SAYS

Mr Reginald W. Eyre, of Curry, Eyre, and Wallace, this morning quoted to a newspaper representative the law which is said to cover the case. It comprises sub-section 3, section 22, of 2 Edward VII, chap 12, which amends Sec. 86, Cap. 203, R. S.O., being the Insurance Act. This says:

"In case of any risk, if it is proved to the satisfaction of the Insurance Registrar that no insurance or no sufficient insurance be obtained at the ordinary rate of premium from insurance corporations registered under this Act, the insurance registrar may under his hand and seal of office, grant in writing a permit to the person therein named to effect the necessary amount of insurance in or with one or more or any registered corporations, insurers or underwriters, for a term not exceeding twelve months specified in said permit, and such permit shall, for the said term, exempt the said person and the said insurance contract from the operations of Secs 51, 85, and 86 of this Act. In respect of each such permit, a fee of $2 shall be payable to the provincial treasurer.

PENALTY FOR AGENT

Section 54 provides as follows:

"No insurance other than as counted by and for the purpose of the Land Titles Act, and other than contracts of guarantee undertaken by a company standing registered under the Loan Corporations Act, shall be transacted or undertaken in Ontario, except by a corporation duly registered as hereinbefore provided."

The other sections mentioned provide a penalty for the companies or agents not so registered, who take insurance in Ontario, except, of course, under the provisions of the permit provided for by the amendment quoted, which can only be taken out when the registrar is satisfied that the placing of the insurance with Ontario companies is impossible.

"There seems to be no penalty provided for the insurer," said Mr Eyre, "but unquestionably he is forbidden to insure with foreign companies unless he satisfies the registrar and gets a permit."

WHAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN

"It may be quite true," said a prominent Toronto insurance man today "that the Temiskaming insurance was offered to companies which are members of the Canadian Fire Underwriters' Association, but we have spoken to a large number of the companies outside of that—the companies that come under Ontario jurisdiction and that put up deposits here. These could have handled a large portion, if not the whole of the insurance."

"Could you name any companies that weren't offered it?" asked the reporter, and the insurance man was prompt in replying, "Yes," he said, "such companies as the Ottawa, Ontario Standard, York, Queen City, Hand-in-Hand, Rimouski, Millers, Fire Insurance Exchange, and so on. Then, there might be such others as the Economical, Gore, Equity, Anglo American, Independent, Perth, Mutual, etc. I do not say that all of these would have been willing to handle the insurance, but I do say that a part of it could have been placed with some of them, and I don't see how the government could satisfy the registrar that it could not get insurance from companies registered under the Act, when so many of them were not asked about the matter at all."

The penalty for the agent on summary conviction before a police magistrate is from $20 to $200, or, in default of payment, as much as three months with or without hard labor

Coal Dealers Holding Up the People?

Toronto, Oct. 16—Municipal coal yards may be again established. The mayor received an anonymous letter this morning complaining that the people were being held up by the coal dealers, and declaring that it was time the city took action.

"There is a growing undercurrent of feeling that the coal men are holding us up and making from $1.50 to $2 a ton," said the mayor today. "If this is shown, and if true, it is bound to come, I am in favor of the city going to any length, for this concerns a necessity of life."

The mayor thought there should be a government commission to look into all cases of combine.

Is Brantford So Bad?

Brantford, Oct. 16—Mayor Bowlby is out with a reply to Rev. S. J. Farmer, who on Sunday declared he had seen more drunkenness in Brantford than elsewhere in his travels. The mayor characterizes the statement as notoriously false, and holds that Brantford has little profanity and less than the ordinary amount of drunkenness.

Rev. Dr. Riley, the Baptist evangelist, here some time ago, declared he had travelled the continent, and had yet to visit a city in which could be seen more drunkenness than in Brantford.

Speaking at Colborne street Methodist church recently Rev. W. H. Caswell, the pastor, who has toured Britain, asserted that there was more profanity in Brantford than in any other city he had ever met with in his experience.

In his sermon on Sunday Rev. Mr. Farmer referred only incidentally to profanity, but took firm ground against drunkenness, and stands by it.

Violent Earthquake Reported Today Indicate Big Calamity

Albany, N.Y., Oct. 16.—The occurrence of an earthquake of unusual proportions was indicated by the seismograph at the State Museum, which registered its passage during a period of nearly an hour this morning. The records show the disturbance to have originated at a distance of about 5,000 miles from Albany, and the vibrations of one of the instruments were so violent as to exceed its limit for registering. According to a bulletin issued this afternoon by State Geologist Clark, the direction of its transmission cannot be stated certainty, though from a comparison of the two records received the center of the disturbance would seem to have been somewhere to the south or southwest. The arrival of first waves was recorded at 9.01 a.m., and of the main vibrations at 9.14 a.m. The latter lasted about five minutes after which the swings gradually subsided, but were traceable for about an hour.

The bulletin says; "The only disturbance comparable in violence that has been recorded this year is the earthquake of April 14th, which was so destructively felt in Mexico. The present one may very well mark a continuation of the movements that have been under way for some time in the Cordilleran and Caribbean zones, to which may be traced also the earth-quakes of San Francisco, Valparaiso and Jamaica."

SUBSIDED IN SIX MINUTES!

Washington, Oct. 16.—An earthquake of great violence was recorded by the seismograph at the weather bureau today. The strongest motion of the disturbance began shortly after nine a.m., and subsided about six minutes after, the approximate time as first shown by the government instruments being from 9.14 to 9.20.

RECORDED IN TORONTO.

Toronto, Oct. 16.—Did you feel the earthquake shock this morning? The towers of St. James' Cathedral and the City Hall did. They rocked about one inch.

The shocks came just after nine o'clock, according to the tracings of the seismograph at the Observatory, and the seismograph goes not the Also the report of our seismograph is confirmed through telegraphic despatches, by the instruments in the big observatories in the United States.

The first shock was recorded at 9.02. This was a mere tremor. There was another one at 9.12, and still another at 9.15, the last being the greatest.

The record shows a shocke of "fifteen seconds are," which being interpreted and illustrated means that the airy structuers of the City Hall and St. James' moved one inch out of place, and other tall buildings in proportion.

The observatory men figure out that the heaviest end of this quake was about 3,500 miles west, or more likely north-west and somewhere in the Pacific Ocean. Chances are that any steamer in the vicinity when the shock came received a rather rude jolt. It is not unlikely that a tidal wave will follow.

EXCEEDED SCALE LIMIT.

The vibrations up the boom of the local observatory exceeded the scale limit of the instrument for about three minutes. Small vibrations were left up to 16.45.

To Break Record Today

Port Hope, Oct 16.—D. Langford, of Renfrew, Ont., a young Englishman, 26 years of age, and weighing about 135 pounds, arrived in Port Hope this morning for the purpose of starting out from here tomorrow morning at six o'clock, to establish an amateur record walk to Toronto and return. Longford hopes to cover the distance in 35 hours.

The London-Brighton walk of 52 1-2 miles he has covered in ten hours, and on another occasion in England he travelled 12 hours at a 5-mile clip. Langford has invited Jimmie Reynolds, Port Hope's veteran rider, to accompany his trainer in a rig.

Mrs. Chadwick Buried

Woodstock, Oct., Oct. 16.—All that was mortal of Mrs. Cassie Chadwick was laid to rest this afternoon, in the lot with her parents and other relatives, in the Woodstock Episcopal cemetery. The service was simple and impressive, and there was nothing about it to indicate that one of the most remarkable women of the century was being buried.

A large number of people gathered around Mrs. Campbell's home at the hour of the service, half-past two, and those who had any claim, owing to friendship with members of the family, entered the house. Rev. F. W. Thompson conducted the service, which was brief. The procession was then formed, and the cortege proceeded to the Episcopal cemetery, where the simple rites were soon ended, and the body of Mrs. Chadwick rested in the grave.

The pall-bearers, six of the most prominent men of the city, were Mayor John Ruther, R. E. Butler, Ald. Dr. A. B. Wellwood, Dr. John Odlum, J. G. Karn, and F. L. Dunn.

The chief mourners were Mrs. D. A. Campbell, a sister-in-law, her daughter, Miss Campbell, Daniel Bigney of Cleveland, a brother-in-law, Mrs. McDonald of Florida, a sister, and her son, Emil Hoover, of Cleveland.

Mrs. Pyne of Florida, another sister, was unable to be present, owing to illness in her family.

The floral offerings were magnificent and came from many parts of the country.

French Priests Were Expelled

Lamperneau, France, Oct. 17.—The Priests of the Department of Finistere, having generally refused to leave their presbyteries, which reverted to the communes under the Church and State separation Laws are now being expelled by the aid of gendarmes. At many places resistance was encountered.

At Ileleo the gendarmes were forced to break in the doors of the presbyteries in order to eject the priests, who were assembled by weeping women, and at Peneran, after a tumultuous scene, the gendarmes took possession of the bell in the tower of the church, in order to prevent the irate crowd from arousing the people.

Nova Scotia Miners May Go On Strike

Sydney, N. S., Oct. 17.—The Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company may soon have to deal with the strike question. The possibility of a strike by the miners employed by the company is causing the officials some worry. The trouble appears to be over the refusal of the company to grant the request of Drummond Lodge for an increase of six cents a ton on the present rate paid the hand packers in No. 1. colliery. They now receive 61 cents a ton, ten hour shift, but owing to the increased cost of living contend it is impossible to make both ends meet.

Otonabee Resident Passes Away

Mr. Isaac Baxter Died Yesterday Morning

Yesterday morning one of the most respected resilents of the township of Otonabee, in the person of Mr. Isaac Baxter, passed away in the Nicholls Hospital, his death being caused by sciatica. Mr. Baxter, who was well known by many of the citizens of Peterborough, has lived for many years near Down's Corners.

The deceased was a son of the late Jas. Baxter, and was born in Otonabee. He was 62 years of age, and had been in good health until the illness which resulted in his death overtook him on the 11th. He was unmarried and leaves four brothers and one sister, the brothers being, Frank and Robert of Otonabee; George, of Detroit; and Joseph, of Vancouver, B.C., the sister being Miss Mary Jane Baxter with whom the deceased lived.

The funeral will take place this afternoon, at 2.30 from the residence of his sister, near Downey's Corners, to the Little Lake cemetery.

Want Law Regarding Chinese Amended

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 17.—The public school will, at the next meeting pass a resolution asking the Dominion Government to amend the law by which Chinese school pupils at the end of one years attendance at school are refunded the head tax of $500, which they are compelled to pay on entering British Columbia. There are nearly fifty pupils in Vancouver alone.

Rev. Dr. Fraser, in a sermon on Oriental exclusion stated that he had it on good authority that the foremen in mills accepted tips to give preference to Oriental laborers, and an investigation of bank accounts would result in a revelation. He blamed the presence of the Oriental in a measure to the whites themselves because of the latter's tendency to strike and drink, making themselves unreliable and inefficient.

Eagle Lake Hunt Club Reorganizes

As foretold in The Times the Eagle Lake Hunt Club, which contains some of our best known sportsmen and straightest marksmen have held their fall meeting in the Commercial House and arranged for the trip of this year to the back country.

The members, after considering such important details as dogs, guns, transportation, etc., decided to start for the forest primeval on Wednesday, Oct. 30th. They will therefore open the hunting grounds on the dawn of the first of November. Mr. J. J. Cottingham was elected captain, and, as far as is now known, there will be about a dozen members join the party.

Indian River Dame After Stephen Murphy

An information has been laid before County Magistrate Edmison by Mrs. Johanna Guerin of Indian River against Stephen Murphy, who, she claims, recently broke in some doors and windows at her residence, and among other things took off the covering of the well. She states that she is afraid of Mr. Murphy, and asks that he be punished for his alleged wrongs, and that she be given damages for the destruction of her property. The magistrate will probably try the case in the near future.

Havelock Boy on Trial Tomorrow

Tomorrow morning Willis Hastle of Havelock, who is accused of stealing two watches and two oranges, will be tried before County Magistrate Edmison at the County Police Court room at ten o'clock. He is alleged to have broken into the residence of Mr. John W. Hubble to get the goods above mentioned. He is now on jail awaiting his trial on Friday, when it is likely that he will be remanded. The prisoner states that he is not guilty, but that a little boy who went into the residence with him took the things, and afterwards gave them to him.

News Briefs

Montreal, Oct 16—A man who gives his name as Gordon Spendlove, has, according to the police, been working an entirely new scheme. He went around to the different saloons of the city with a camera, stating he was taking a series of photographs of saloons that keep open on Sundays, to be published in a local news paper. For the sum of ten dollars he agreed not to include the saloon which he was working at the time.

As many of the bars keep open in defiance of the law, he is said to have reaped a harvest.

Paris, Oct. 16.—A wealthy American, during the lunch hour yesterday of the dressmaking establishments on the Rue de la Paix, got into conversation with two pretty young women whom he thought were dressmakers. He promised to send them some picture post cards from Milan, and drew out his pocket-book and placed a card on it for them to write their addresses. Suddenly the bell recalling the girls to work was heard, and the young women rushed into taking the pocket-book with them. It contained $1,200. The police were notified and found that the girls were not known in any dressmakers' establishment in the neighborhood.

Hindoo Landowner Discusses British Columbian Problem

Yes, I do think so. There is only one class of people of India who would work under any circumstances, and they are the men from the Punjab. They are a lot of hard-working, energetic fellows, and they are also always on the lookout for a way to make money. They have a great deal more enterprise than the members of any other section of the population, and so they go to other lands for work. But at the same time, I don't think Canada need fear a large influx of them even under the most favorable circumstances. I think however, that they would prove good workmen and would be useful in the construction work going on in this country. If they are very industrious. They would probably settle here, too, if they had proper inducements, and would, I believe, prove very useful citizens."

Regarding the disturbances in India, Mr. Sinha said that these were quite serious, and that unless something were done to suppress the agitation going on much harm might result. "The agitators were men of education, but of no means, who were anxious to make a career for themselves, and who saw no other way of doing so but by stirring up the people.

"Do you think that the agitation would ever go so far as to induce the people to resort to arms against the British Government?" was asked.

"How could they do so?" he asked with a smile, "when they have no arms? The only natives who have arms are the soldiers; and in spite of the fact that most of the native soldiers are Punjaubi, amongst whom the agitation is at its height, I have no reason to believe that the army is anything but very loyal. I cannot, however, speak with any degree of authority here as I know nothing of the army or the spirit which animates its men. But I am confident that the disturbances will never go beyond the stage of hot words and utopian schemes of establishing a republic."

"What is the attitude of the moneyed classes of Hindoos?"

"The landowners and the moneyed classes generally are opposed to any sudden change in the form of government. We are well protected in the exercise of our rights and privileges by the British Government, and we would naturally be opposed to any sudden and serious change. At the same time I feel that the time is approaching when the natives of India must be given some measure of self-government, and this is the general feeling of the educated classes. They realize that the people are gradually becoming educated to a point where this may be done with safety and great advantage though they are opposed, as I said, to any violent or premature movement in this direction. I they feel that the granting of representative government to India must be a work of time and that many generations must pass before Hindoos will take their proper place in the world."

The Rev. Dr. Potts Passed Away Yesterday Morning

Toronto, Oct. 17.—Rev. John Potts, D.D., secretary of education for the Methodist Church in Canada, and a fighter for fifty years in the battle of the Church, slept quietly away at his home, 8 Prince Arthur avenue, at 6.30 this morning. He was in his seventieth year.

Only his two sons and two daughters were present when the end came. For nine months the distinguished clergyman had been more or less disabled from Bright's disease; for several weeks he has been confined to his room and during the last eight days of his life he was unconscious. On Friday the doctors pronounced his case hopeless, and since then the members of the family had scarcely left the bedside.

There was no outward change when death came shortly after daybreak this morning. The stalwart frame simply exhausted in the fight against disease and advancing age.

FUNERAL ARRANGEMENTS.

It has been decided that the funeral will be conducted by the Methodist Church Connexion. At one o'clock on Friday, there will be a short private service at the late home of deceased. Then the remains will be taken to the Metropolitan church for the public service.

Rev. Dr. Carman, general superintendent of the Methodist Church will be in charge of the public service. Three speeches of eulogy will be given by Rev. Drs. Burwash, Sutherland, and Briggs, who were in others with Dr. Potts of the "Old Guard" of Canadian Methodism. The pall-bearers will be chosen from the leading members, lay and ministerial of the Methodist Church. Interment will probably be made in Mount Pleasant cemetery.

The students of Victoria College will turn out in a body. Further arrangements are being made by Rev. Dr. Chown.

Rev. Dr. Albert Carman, general superintendent of the Methodist Church in Canada, paid the following tribute to the deceased.

"The death of Dr. Potts is a sore bereavement to Canadian Methodism and will be keenly felt throughout our entire works and to our remotest mission World-wide Methodism will

CANADA'S OUTLOOK

The New York Sun has been publishing a series of letters, written by Dr. Theodore Barthe, a German physician, who has recently visited Canada and the United States. As the result of his observations Dr. Barthe declares that on geographical, numerical and economical grounds Canadians have far more reason to look forward with confidence than had the Americans in 1800. The Sun bears out this conclusion with statistical information and proceeds:—

"The population of the United States in 1800 was 5,308,000; that of the Dominion in 1901, exclusive of Newfoundland, was 5,371,000. The total imports and exports of the United States in 1800 were valued at less than $163,000,000; the total imports and exports of the Dominion of Canada in 1901 exceeded $540,000,000. The receipts of the United States Treasury in 1800 were from customs $9,080,000, and from internal revenue $809,000, the total revenue of the Dominion in 1906 was $80,000,000, to which $60,000,000 was contributed from customs and excise. In 1800 the United States did not have a steamboat or a mile of railways. Canada on the other hand, at the end of June 1906, had a network of steam railways with a trackage of 20,000 miles. Finally the inhabitants of all the chief cities of the United States in 1800 did not constitute more than a fraction of the present population of Montreal. In view of these facts Dr. Barthe is amply justified in his assertion that the Canadian Dominion entered the twentieth century under auspices far more encouraging than those with which the United States began the preceding hundred years. It may be said that Canada cannot hope to develop her remarkable natural resources with much rapidity, because the annual accession to her population from immigration is relatively small. If by 'relatively' we mean relation to the United States at the present time the objection is well founded. As a matter of fact, however, as late as 1820 the number of alien passengers arriving in the United States that year was less than 8,000 and even in 1844 it fell short of 79,000. Canada has good reason to believe that before 1944 the immigration into her territory from the United States alone will greatly exceed the last named figure. It is, indeed, altogether probable that all the wheat fields of the Canadian Northwest will have been turned to account in a period considerably shorter than that which was required to put the prairies of the Mississippi Valley under culture."

It seems to be generally accepted that this present century belongs to our Dominion, and the wonderful progress made along almost all lines since the advent of the twentieth century amply proves that Canadians are fully cognizant of the fact, and are rising to the full measure of their opportunities.

ST. LAWRENCE ROUTE

Hon. L. P. Brodeur, Minister of Marine, says that while in Europe he had taken special pains to ascertain the views of British and other marine interests as to the needs of the St. Lawrence route. At the outset, he was gratified to find, from steamship captains as well as from other experts in navigation that the general opinion was that the years of work which Canada had devoted to the improvement of the St. Lawrence were at last bearing fruit. The Minister was surprised to find that the Mersey, the great channel of navigation into central England, was not nearly as well supplied with lights and other aids to navigation as in the St. Lawrence. More than one captain stated that no further improvements were needed on the St. Lawrence, and that it was now regarded as an ideal channel.

AVOID PANIC

Once more The Farmers Sun would warn farmers against the danger of giving way to sudden panic over the feed situation. That situation is serious enough, but it does not justify the payment of a cent a pound for hay and nearly two cents for grain, on the one hand, or the sale of good cows at $15 and $20 on the other. We believe that a man with feed enough to last him during February would be justified in holding on to all the stock that is worth holding, and the neglecting of buying the food necessary to see them through to spring until the necessity of buying arrives. In seasons similar to the present, very high prices in fall have been followed by much lower prices before spring, and it looks as if history will repeat itself this year. At the same time it should be remembered that there are on Ontario farms every year a lot of scrub stockers and inferior cows which do not pay for the feed put into them. It is folly to maintain such at any time; this year wisdom will be shown by knocking these useless feed consumers on the head and realizing on the hides and tallow.

Panic in Montreal Stock Exchange

Montreal, Oct. 16.—There was a regular panic in Montreal Stock Exchange today, and the severe manner in which stocks had to be sacrificed means heavy losses to traders, and more especially to the French-Canadian crowd, who were particularly large shareholders of Detroit United and Toledo Railway.

The alleged uncalled-for action of directors of Detroit United Railway in passing the dividend of stock after increasing it to a five per cent. basis only a year ago, fairly knocked the Montreal crowd off their feet, as there had not been the slightest intimation that any such action was contemplated.

The biggest declines were in Detroit United, Toledo, Montreal street, and Montreal Power. The decline of over 10 points in Detroit United in the late trading yesterday resulted in brokers calling for 40 and 50 points margin, and this resulted in scores of traders being forced to let their stocks go.

A DISCOVERY OF GREAT VALUE

Because a Cure Was Found for Inflammatory Rheumatism

There are many types of rheumatism but none worse than inflammatory.

It was this kind that almost killed Mrs. Edw. Warman, of Kent Jct., N. B.

Weak and despairing, she was at her wits end when the remarkable cure of Thos Cullen was published. This gentleman was cured of rheumatism by "Ferrozone." Consequently Mrs Warman used the same remedy. Here is her statement.

"For years I have been rheumatic. I tried various forms of relief without success. The disease increased, settled in my joints and muscles; these swelled, caused excruciating pain and kept me from sleeping. My limbs and arms stiffened, my shoulders were lame and prevented me from working. Week by week I was losing strength and despaired of finding a cure. It was a happy day I heard of Ferrozone. Every day I took Ferrozone I felt better, it eased the painful joints, gave relief so that not an ache has returned. My energy and a feeling of new life. Ferrozone cured my rheumatism, cured. Even damp weather no longer affects me."

Ferrozone has power to destroy Uric acid, neutralize and enrich the blood, and therefore does cure the worst cases. Mrs. Warman's statement proves this.

By removing the cause of the disease and building up a reserve of energy Ferrozone is certain to cure. Sufferer, isn't it about time to stop experimenting? Ferrozone is a cure. We guarantee this. Sold by all dealers. 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50. Remember the name—Ferrozone.

Former Steamers that Sailed on These Waters

Original Str. Otonabee Won Wager on Run from Gores Landing

Yesterday afternoon Mr Jas. Collins the lockmaster at the original locks dividing the Little Lake and the lower stretches of the Otonabee river, whilst talking with several local citizens, got into a reminiscent mood and gave a resume of several items concerning the former history of Peterborough.

It so happened that, as naturally induced by his connection with the waterway leading from the city to Rice Lake, the subject of present speed of the boats now doing business on Peterborough's inland waters, drew from him samples of the speed made in former days.

Mr. Collins remarked yesterday that in July, 1853, a wager was made for £50 stock in the Otonabee against £25 cash, that the, a certain steamer, the name of which our representative candidly admits forgetting, made a bet that it could, with a certain handicap, beat a boat whose name is now familiar in present local steamboat circles, "the Otonabee." The race was to be from Gore's Landing, Rice Lake to Peterborough. The general manager of the then-times, Otonabee, was a Mr. Stott. The manager of the company owning the Otonabee, was Mr. Weller, a former manager of stage lines from Kingston to Cobourg and from that town to Peterborough. Mr. Weller put fifty pounds worth of stock in the Otonabee that this steamer could give a thirty-minutes' handicap to the opposition boat and beat it from Gore's Landing to Peterborough.

On the day of the race the shores at Gore's Landing were crowded with spectators as were those of the local banks of the Otonabee. The Otonabee won out in the race by some 25 minutes amid the applause of the assembled crowds. Mr. Collins thought that the speed of the boats in 1853 was not far behind that attained by the present steamers, with all their modern improvements. The speed made then however was not given authentically, still it is of interest to learn that in 1853 the "Otonabee" was then queen of the Otonabee waters as a steamer of the same name is now.

Mr. Collins further noted, when speaking of old times that his father was in charge of, in fact the contractor for a plank road built, in the early 50's from Cobourg to Gore's Landing, via Cold Springs, over which the mails from Peterborough from the rest of Canada came. This was some years before the now shattered bridge across Rice Lake from Harwood to Hiawatha was constructed. Mr. Collins also noted that a flat bottomed freight steamer, about the same year as above indicated, made her way up the creek, or race way to the east of the river right up to where the Hunter street bridge now stands and unloaded a cargo.

Explanation Was Necessary.

As the Pratts' dog was at last detached from the trousers leg of the new milkman by Mr. Pratt's vigorous efforts the victim of the onslaught began to express his mind with considerable freedom.

"I wouldn't keep a dog like that," he said indignantly, but Mr. Pratt broke in before he had time to say more.

"He's only playful, that's all," he insisted, and at the same time he pressed something into the new milkman's hand.

The man glanced at the wad of green, and then as he transferred it to a safe pocket his expression changed.

"I guess I can take a little fun as well as anybody," he said dryly. "But till you explained it I had a notion that dog was in earnest when he bit that piece out of my trousers."

Seeing the Sights.

Even in these days of liberal education the young women sometimes show how confused are the ideas shut up in their heads. Illustrative of this is the native blunder which Edmondo de Amicis recounts in his story of a voyage from Genoa to Buenos Ayres:

The captain of the steamer which numbered the charming young blunderer among its passengers met her one morning and said:

"Signorina, we cross the tropic of cancer today."

"Oh, indeed!" she cried with enthusiasm. "Then we shall see something at last."

A Zulu Rain Charm.

The Zulus employ a rain charm which is very remarkable considering their usual fierceness and cruelty. They catch a bird, and after the tribal wizard has consecrated it and made it a "heaven bird" they throw it into a pool of water. In spite of their own indifference to the sufferings of animals they believe that the sky, which they conceive to be a personality, will be full of woe at the death of the bird and drop sympathetic tribute in showers of rain.

Keep to the Right.

Bishop Wilberforce was out driving one day when a man on horseback stopped him and, thinking to have a joke, asked:

"Excuse me, bishop, but could you tell me the road to heaven?"

"Certainly, sir," the bishop answered. "Turn to the right and keep straight on."

What He Said.

"I once gave a waiter a two dollar tip."

"What did he say?"

"To me he expressed his thanks, but I heard him say to another waiter that I couldn't have real good sense."

U. S. Parcel Post as Planned by Meyer

Boston, Oct 15.—If the recommendations to be made by Postmaster-General Meyer are adopted by Congress the immediate future will bring some remarkable changes in postal facilities in the United States. An outline of some of the most important recommendations to be made was given by Mr Meyer in an address at the Postmasters' Convention here.

Probably the most important recommendations will be that regarding the extension of the parcels post. Mr. Meyer will recommend that the maximum rate for all parcels be reduced from 16 to 12 cents per pound; that the limit of weight for rush parcels be increased from 4 to 11 pounds, that local parcels posts equipped with wagons or automobiles be established in cities where the free delivery system prevails, and that a special parcels post system with an extremely low charge for service be established in connection with the rural free delivery.

"If my recommendations are adopted, it will cost twelve cents a pound for the mail order house to send parcels to the rural delivery patron from any city postoffice, while for delivery from the distributing office of the rural route, or if mailed by a patron on the same route, or at the distributing office of said route, the charge will be but five cents for the first pound and two cents for each additional pound, up to eleven pounds, or 25 cents for a package weighing eleven pounds.

"I shall recommend a postal savings bank system. The policy will not be to compete in any way with the savings banks, but rather to encourage the habit of depositing savings. Our object is to bring hidden money to light.

"I find that there is a great demand for postal notes, and it is the purpose of the department to recommend such paper in denominations of 10, 20, 25, 30, 40, 50, 60, 80 and 90 cents, $1 and up to $2.50, the notes payable to the party designated. A small fee will be charged. From one cent to nine cents the notes will be made payable to bearer and no fee will be charged.

"Tests of stamp vending machines will be begun this month, and if the machines are satisfactory they will be adopted."

Defending the rural free delivery, Mr. Meyer said;

"The isolation which existed in many parts of the country has been overcome; the people are in daily communication with their friends in the rest of the world; the daily papers and magazines come to the door of every farmhouse on the rural routes, and enlightment and information are being spread broadcast throughout the land. Medical men have said that already the establishment of the rural service is having its effect upon the mentality of our country patrons, and that because of it insanity is on the decrease."

—Judging by what the magistrate said in yesterday's police court, the poker players, who a few days ago pleaded guilty to a charge of gambling and were fined $60 each, might just as well have contested the case and won out, thereby saving enough for the nucleus of a good fat jack pot.

A Nice Little Hint.

First Lieutenant—How do you like the horse you bought from me last week? Second Lieutenant—Very much. He might hold his head a little higher, though. First Lieutenant—Oh, that will come all right when he is paid for.—London Tit-Bits.

Soothing.

"Are you hurt, John?"

"Yes, dear, I am afraid three or four of my ribs are broken."

"Well, don't feel bad; it doesn't show."

Logic and Metaphysics.

Joaquin Miller was once conversing with a learned professor who was visiting California. To the poet's query, "What do you do?" the professor answered that he held the chair of metaphysics and logic at a New England university. Whereupon the venerable Miller, with an encouraging smile, reassuringly patted the professor on the shoulder. "Logic and metaphysics, eh? Well, I suppose we must have people to look after those things, even if they don't exist."

Tortures.

"The Carthaginian mercenaries," he said, "incased their prisoners in a cement that as it hardened contracted. You can't imagine how uncomfortable this was."

"Oh, yes, I can," she answered. "I once had on a tight bathing suit when it began to shrink."

Plenty of Old Ones.

Mr. Chipps (looking up from the paper)—The doctors have discovered another new disease. Mrs. Chipps—Well, I wish they'd stop looking for new diseases long enough to find a cure for my old rheumatism.—London Telegraph.

Both Disappointed.

He—I suppose, then, we may as well break the engagement and say we have both been disappointed in love. She—There seems to be no other conclusion. You thought I had money, and I certainly thought you had.—Judge.

He Told Her.

She—I wish I knew how I could make you extremely happy, dear Karl. He—Well, write to your father and ask him to double your dowry.—Meggendorfer Blatter.

Something New in Copper

PITTSBURG - IDAHO
Mining and Milling Company

The mine is located 58 miles above Lewiston, Idaho, on the Clearwater river, and consists of 19 full claims, or 380 acres. It is developed by tunnels, shafts and open cuts for more than 2000 feet, disclosing thousands of tons of copper, gold and silver ores of both high grade and low grade. There are between 1000 and 2000 tons of ore ready for shipment. The entrance to the working tunnel is only 2000 feet from the track of the Northern Pacific railroad, to be reached by gravity tramway. There are seven parallel veins running lengthwise of the claims, one cropping out on the surface for 2000 feet and another for 3000 feet; while two veins cross these running into the mountain. These veins are from 30 to 200 feet wide. One ore chute has been crosscut 70 feet and is solid ore from wall to wall.

"We are not asking you to buy in a prospect. That risk was taken by the promoters. We are asking you to buy in a developed, proven mine. Seven years of continuous work and the expenditure of thousands of dollars has proven up one of the greatest mines in Idaho. That mine is now ready to pour out its red and yellow wealth to the world with the installing of an up to date production plant. It is for that purpose that a block of its treasury stock, full paid and non-assessable, is offered for sale. We believe that within six months from the completion of a 100 ton plant the mine can be put on a dividend paying basis, and that those dividends will be substantial and permanent. There is no better investment proposition before the people at this time.

AIKENSIDE

BY MARY J. HOLMES

Author of "Dora Deane," "The English Orphans," "Lena Rivers," "The Rector of St. Mark's," "Tempest and Sunshine," Etc.

"That may be, but I shan't be ashamed of you. No, not if I were Mrs. Guy Remington herself." And Maddy emphasized her words with a kiss, as she thought how nice it would be, provided she were a widow, to be Mrs. Guy Remington, and have her grandparents live at Aikenside with her.

"But, pshaw! I'll never be Mrs. anybody; and if I am, I'll have to have a husband, which would be such a bother!" was her next mental comment, as, leaving her grandfather, she went up to help her grandmother with the breakfast dishes, wondering when she would wipe those blue cups again, and how she should feel when she did.

Quickly the morning passed, and just as the clock struck two the doctor's buggy appeared over the hill. Up to this moment Maddy had only been happy in anticipation; but when, with her shawl and bonnet on, she stood waiting while the doctor fastened her little trunk, and when she saw a tear on the wrinkled faces of both her grandparents, her fortitude gave way; and 'mid a storm of sobs, she said her good-bys and received her grandfather's blessing.

It was very pleasant this afternoon, for the summer breeze was blowing cool across the fields, where the laborers were busy; and with the elasticity of youth, Maddy's tears stopped their flowing, but not until the dear old home had disappeared, and they were some distance on the road to Aikenside.

"I wonder how I shall like Mrs. Remington and Mr. Guy?" was the first remark she made.

"You'll not see them immediately. They left this morning for Saratoga," the doctor replied.

"Are you very sorry?" the doctor asked, and Maddy replied:

"I did want to see him once; I never have."

It would be such a surprise to find that Guy was no other than the terrible inspector, that he would not undeceive her, the doctor thought; and so he relapsed into a thoughtful mood, from which Maddy aroused him by breaking the subject of the unpaid bill, asking if he'd please not trouble grandpa, but wait until she could pay it.

"Perhaps it's wrong asking it when you were so good, but if you only will take me for payment," and Maddy's soft brown eyes were lifted to his face.

"Yes, Maddy, I'll take you for payment," the doctor said, smiling, half seriously, as his eyes rested fondly upon her.

Even then stupid Maddy did not understand him, but began to calculate out loud how long it would take to earn the money. She'd heard people say that the doctor charged a dollar a visit to Honedale, and he'd been so many, many times, that it would take a great many weeks to pay him; besides, there was the debt to Mr. Guy. She wanted to help pay that, but did not see how she could, unless he waited, too. Did the doctor think he would? It seemed terrible to the doctor that one so young as Maddy should be harassed with the payment of debts, and he felt a most intense desire for the right to shield her from all such care, but he must not speak of it then; he'd rather she should remain a little longer an artless child, confiding all her troubles to him as if he had been her brother.

"There's Aikenside," he said, at last, and it was not long before they passed through the gate, guarded by the great bronze lions, and struck into the road leading to the house.

"It's grander, finer, than I ever dreamed. Oh! if I could some time have just such a home! and, doctor, look! What does make that water go up in the air so? Is it what they call a fountain?"

In her excitement Maddy had risen, and with one hand resting on the doctor's shoulder, was looking around her eagerly. Guy Remington would have laughed, and been gratified, too, could he have heard the enthusiastic praises heaped upon his home by the little schoolgirl as she drove up to his door. But Guy was away in the dusty cars, and only Jessie stood on the piazza to receive her teacher. There were warm words of welcome, kisses and hugs; and then Jessie led her friend to the chamber she was to occupy.

"Mother wanted you to sleep the other side of the house, but Brother Guy said no, you should have a pleasant room; and when Guy says a thing, it's so. It's nice in here, and close to me. See, I'm right here," and Jessie opened a door leading directly to her own sleeping room. "Here's one trunk," she continued, as a servant brought up and set down, a little contemptuously, the small haircloth box containing Maddy's wardrobe. "Here's one; where's the rest?" and she was flying after Tom, when Maddy stopped her, saying:

"I have but one—that's all."

"Only that little, teenty thing? How funny! Why, mamma carried three 'most as big as my bed to Saratoga. You can't have many dresses. What are you going to wear to dinner?"

"I've been to dinner." And Maddy looked up in some surprise.

"You have! We never have it till five, when Guy is at home; but now they are gone, Mrs. Noah says we will have it at one, as folks ought to do. To-day I coaxed her to wait till you came, and the table is all set out so nicely for two. Can you carve, and do you like green turtle soup?"

Maddy was bewildered, but managed to reply that she could not carve, that she never saw any green turtle soup, and that she supposed she should wear to dinner the delaine she had on.

"Why, we always change, even Mrs. Noah," Jessie exclaimed, bending over the open trunk and examining its contents.

Two calicoes, a blue muslin, a gingham, and another delaine, besides the one she had on. That was the sum total of Maddy's wardrobe, and Jessie glanced at it a little ruefully as Maddy carefully shook out the nicely folded dresses and laid them upon the bed. Here Mrs. Noah was heard calling Jessie, who ran away leaving Maddy alone for a moment.

Maddy had seen the look Jessie gave her dresses, and for the first time there dawned upon her mind the possibility that her plain apparel and ignorance of the ways of Aikenside might be to her the cause of much mortification.

"And grandma said they were so nice, too—doing them up so carefully," she said, her lip beginning to quiver, and her eyes filling with tears, as thoughts of home came rushing over her.

She could not force them back, and, laying her head upon the top of the despised hair trunk, she sobbed aloud. Guy Remington's private room was in that hall, and as the doctor knew a book was to have been left there for him, he took the liberty of getting it; passing Maddy's door he heard the low sound of weeping, and looking in, saw her where she sat or rather knelt upon the floor.

"Homesick so soon?" he said, advancing to her side, and then, amid a torrent of tears, the whole came out.

Maddy never could do as they did there, and everybody would laugh at her so for an awkward thing; she never knew that folks ate dinner at five instead of twelve—she should surely starve to death—she couldn't carve—she could not eat mud-turtle soup, and she did not know which dress to wear for dinner—would the doctor tell her? There they were, and she pointed to the bed, only five; she knew Jessie thought it mean.

Such was the substance of Maddy's passionate outpouring of her griefs to the highly perplexed doctor, who, after quieting her somewhat, ascertained that the greatest present trouble was the deciding what dress was suitable to the occasion. The doctor had never made dress his study, but as it happened he liked blue, and so suggested it, as the one most likely to be becoming.

BLIND MAN'S BUFF.

Origin of This Favorite Sport of Childhood and Youth.

This favorite sport of childhood and youth is of French origin and very high antiquity, having been introduced into England in the train of the Norman conquerors. Its French name, "Colin Maillard," was that of a brave warrior, the memory of whose exploits still lives in the chronicles of the middle ages.

In the year 999 Liege reckoned among its valiant chiefs one Jean Colin. He acquired the name of Maillard from his chosen weapon being a mallet, wherewith in fight he used to crush his opponents. In one of the feuds which were of perpetual recurrence in those times he encountered the Count de Louvain in a pitched battle, and, so runs the story, in the first onset Colin Maillard lost both his eyes. He ordered his esquire to take him into the thickest of the fight, and, furiously brandishing his mallet, did such fearful execution that victory soon declared itself for him.

When Robert of France heard of these feats at arms he lavished favor and honors upon Colin, and so great was the fame of the exploit that it was commemorated in the pantomimic representations that formed part of the rude dramatic performances of the age. By degrees the children learned to act it for themselves, and it took the form of a familiar sport.

The blindfolded pursuer, as, with bandaged eyes and extended hands, he gropes for a victim to pounce upon seems in some degree to repeat the action of Colin Maillard, the tradition of which is also traceable in the name, blind man's buff.

A REALISTIC ACT.

Amazing Story of Joseph Jefferson as Rip Van Winkle.

While he was playing Rip Van Winkle at Chicago Joseph Jefferson once went to the theater very much exhausted by a long day's fishing on the lake. As the curtain rose on the third act it disclosed the white haired Rip still deep in his twenty years' nap. Five, ten, twenty minutes passed, and he did not awaken. The audience began to get impatient and the prompter uneasy.

The great actor doubtless knew what he was about, but this was carrying the realistic business too far. The fact was that all this time Jefferson was really sleeping the sleep of the just, or, rather, of the fisherman who had sat eight hours in the sun. Finally the gallery became uproarious, and one of the "gods" wanted to know if there was going to be "nineteen years more of this snooze business?"

At this point Jefferson began to snore. This decided the prompter, who opened a small trap beneath the stage and began to prod Rip from below. The fagged comedian fumbled in his pocket for an imaginary railway ticket and muttered drowsily, "Going right through, doctor."

At this entirely new reading the audience was transfixed with amazement, when all at once Jefferson sat up with a loud shriek, evidently in agony. The exasperated prompter had jabbed him with a pin. Consciousness of the situation came to him, and the play went on after that with a rush.

Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys surely point to weak Kidney Nerves. The Kidneys, like the Heart, and the Stomach, find their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide and strengthen them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the Kidneys alone, is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well.

If your back aches or is weak, if the urine scalds, or is dark and strong, if you have symptoms of Bright's or other distressing or dangerous kidney disease, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative a month—Tablets or Liquid—and see what it can and will do for you. Druggist recommend and sell

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at an Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

The homesteader is required to perform the homestead duties under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of a homesteader lives permanent residence on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent in the vicinity of a homestead, or upon the homestead entered for by him in the vicinity, such homesteader may perform his own residence duties by living with the father or mother.

(4) The term "vicinity" in the two preceding paragraphs is defined as meaning not more than nine miles in a direct line exclusive of the width of road allowances crossed in the measurement.

(5) A homesteader intending to perform his residence duties in accordance with the above while living with parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

Six months' notice in writing must be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of intention to apply for patent.

President ... EDWARD T. PATRICK,
Mine Owner and President of the Goldfield Stock and Exchange Board.

Vice-President ... JUDGE CHAS. L. HAYES,
Mine Owner and Leading Attorney of Goldfield, Nevada.

Secretary and Treasurer ... ADAMS F. BROWN,
Corporation and Mining Lawyer and Member of Living Committee Goldfield Stock and Exchange Board.

Depository ... JOHN S. COOK & CO.
Bank of Goldfield, Nevada.

This company owns 4 claims (80 acres) of some of the best proved mines land in the Goldfield district, consisting of the Accidental and Accidental No. 2 lode claims situated two and one-half miles south of the great Goldfield Consolidated Mines (comprising the Mohawk, Goldfield, Combination, Red Top, Jumbo and Lepanto the richest in the world); and the Broadway and Beauty lode claims situated three and one-half miles north of the consolidated and about one and one-half miles northwest of the Great Bend and Daisy Mines near the Zom group in the Diamondfield section second only in richness to the great Mohawk portion of the camp. Phenomenally rich strikes have recently been made on the Consolidated, the Great Bend and the Daisy Mines.

The company has also succeeded in securing the Sure Thing lode claim (20 acres) in the Cuprate district, which has an immense gold bearing ledge, running the entire length of the claim 1,500 feet, outcropping in places over 50 feet wide, and not by several cross dykes all carrying fine values in gold, and is without doubt rightly named "Sure Thing."

All of these claims are located in the same mineral belt as the other noted mines of Goldfield that have astonished the world by their production of millions in high grade ore, and will with the same development give equally profitable returns.

The money derived from the sale of this stock will be used at once for the active development of the property and the fact that all the directors are residents of Goldfield with years of successful mining experience who will give their personal attention at all times to the progress of the work goes to show that the first issue of 100,000 shares will meet with a quick and ready sale at the initial price of 10 cents per share.

We advise immediate action if you wish to participate in the vast profits of this Bonanza Mine.

Stock will be listed as soon as feasible on the Goldfield and San Francisco Stock and Exchange Boards. Would therefore advise purchasers to buy in board lots of 1,000 shares when convenient to do so.

Drastic Purgatives Destroy the Intestines

If you burn your hand you have a good example of the sort of inflammation that the Drastic Purgatives excite in the intestines. Yet many people consider the virtue of purgative pills depends upon their activity.

Dr Hamilton was the first to produce a pill that would cleanse the system not by drastic action, but by exciting normal secretion of kidneys, liver, and bowels.

The deepest recesses of the system are searched by Dr. Hamilton's Pills Poisonous and depressing accumulations whether stores in the lymphatic, kidneys, liver or bowels are driven out—inward cleanliness is effected.

You are sure to feel better, sure to experience the buoyancy of robust health that comes with Dr. Hamilton's Pills. No medicine is more gentle, more searching, or surer to give that buoyant feeling of sound health. For the family no remedy is so universally satisfactory as Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25 cents per box at all dealers.

$2,000,000 for a New Building

We learn that the Christian Scientists of Boston are asking for $2,000,000 for a new building for their use. Judging by local samples of their work and its results, they would make enough by getting sick people in at so much per week, preventing them from getting medical attendance and, after paying funeral expenses still be able to erect buildings suitable to the good (?) they do. It is time the government stepped in and stopped this kind of possible resemblance to man-killing under the pseudo name of the Lord. We have seen a Christian Scientist admit under oath that he took a sick man to his own house, kept him segregate from all medical attendance until the man was dying, and then when the victim died, had to admit in open meeting that he went through the dead man's pockets and took his money. It is time some responsibility be placed on such individuals.

Principal McDonald Ill

On account of the illness of Principal McDonald, of St. Peter's Separate School, the senior class has been dismissed for the week. Mr. McDonald is suffering from pneumonia, and is said to be seriously ill. If he is unable to take his work it is probable that a temporary teacher will be engaged.

St. Andrew's W. F. M. S. Meets

There was a good attendance at the meeting of St. Andrew's W.F.M.S., and the collection was most encouraging. Mrs. (Rev.) S. S. Burns of Lakefield, the Presbyterial president, gave a stirring address on the opportunities that women here have of helping their sisters in foreign lands. After the meeting light refreshments were served, and a social half-hour was spent.

Local Railroad Men Elected

At the annual meeting of the Canadian Passenger Agents' Association, held in Winnipeg this week, Mr. W. Bunton and Mr. W. McIlroy of this city were elected to positions on the executive. Both have been respectively presidents of this association, and in their choice, whether as president or on the executive, the association made no mistake as each or each of them is capable and efficient.

Walked Here From Lindsay

A local wine-clerk and his friend, who took the roller rink excursion to Lindsay on Tuesday evening, by misadventure lost their train for home that night. Wanting to get to work bright and early next morning they decided to take "Shank's Mare" for Peterborough, and walked, or as they claim, saw the 28 miles between Lindsay and here in about three hours and a half. They looked chipper yesterday as though their pedestrian effort had agreed with them.

Local Prize Winners at Lindsay

In our issue of yesterday we noted that some seven car loads of excursionists took in the cheap trip to Lindsay, organized by Mr. Sheridan, the hustling proprietor of both a roller rink at Ottawa, one here on Charlotte street and a new one at Lindsay. In the opening of the new rink at Lindsay, Mr. Sheridan had offered a large number of prizes, some of which were captured by local people, to wit, the judges; Lindsay people at that, awarded prizes to Miss Edith Scott and Mr. Fred Whitcroft, of Peterborough. Miss Scott received a handsome jewel case, and Mr. Whitcroft a fountain pen.

Theatrical

"The Gingerbread Man" the musical extravaganza which Nixon & Zimmerman will present in this city at the Grand Opera House, Thursday October 17th, has been called a musical fantasy, and the old phrase is said to amply describe it. The book and lyrics which was written by the late Frederic Rankin with the music by A. Baldwin Sloane has been a tremendous success the past two seasons. It deals with Santa Claus' Land, and the characters include the familiar figures of childhood such as little Jack Horner, Margery Daw, The Wise Man From Our Town, Princess Sugar-Plum, and the Gingerbread Man. The play is extravagantly mounted, and presents many attractive pictures. Some of the principal musical numbers are, "The Gingerbread Man," "Moon, Moon, Moon", "Mazie", "Beautiful Land of Bon Bon", "Queen of My Dreams", "Nursery Rhymes", "John Dough", etc.

The members of the Company are all well known and capable players, and include Evelyn Kellog, Nellie Price, Rose Snow, Garrick Major, Maurice Holden, James H. Lichter, Lute Vrooman and a grand beauty chorus of forty well trained chorus. This with an augmented orchestra under the leadership of Fred Walz, makes a complete organization, numbering 60 people.

Exciting Game of Pool Yesterday

An exciting game of pool was played yesterday afternoon in the billiard rooms of Mr. M. Pappas, 337 George street, between Mr. Pappas and a customer. They had played a number of games "for fun" until at last a game was on for who should "buy." 'Nuff sed, as to what to buy. They played along until each knight of the cue had an equal number of balls on the rack the on left on the table being the bone of contention on the pocketing of which decided which should buy. In this shot it was necessary to, what pool-players will understand, play across the table taking in a cushion. The whole trend of the remarkability of this little story is that whilst the player's ball was pocketable possibly some twenty of thirty times, it took these two experienced and skilful players at least sixty shots before, at last Mr Pappas pocketed the ball, thus winning and impelling the other fellow to buy. Quite a number of wagers of small amount were made during the final stage of the game. This billiard and pool room is doing a large business and is always well patronized.

mourn with us over his bier. And we venture to think the churches of a mighty evangelism, yes, all churches, will mingle their sympathies with our grief. Canadians and Britons everywhere will rejoice that he long stood a pillar of the Church, and of the State; that he stood for the best and largest things in humanity, patriotism, and religion. The cause of the sanctity of the Sabbath, of the dissemination of the Holy Scriptures, of the sobriety and intelligence of the common people, of sound theological education, and of the efficiency and success of the Sunday schools, each and all, and many other humane and uplifting enterprises, had in him a steady support and unwavering friend. The most largely representative friend. The most largely representative man in our Methodism. Women Who Wear Well.

It is astonishing how great a change a few years of married life often make in the appearance and disposition of many women. The freshness, the charm, the brilliance vanish like the bloom from a peach which is rudely handled. The matron is only a dim shadow, a faint echo of the charming maiden. There are two reasons for this change, ignorance and neglect. Few young women appreciate the shock to the system through the change which comes with marriage and motherhood. Many neglect to deal with the unpleasant pelvic drains and weaknesses which too often come with marriage and motherhood, not understanding that this secret drain is robbing the cheeks of its freshness and the form of its fairness.

As surely as the general health suffers when there is derangement of the health of the delicate womanly organs, so surely when these organs are established in health the face and form at once witness to the fact in renewed comeliness. Nearly a million women have found health and happiness in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It makes weak women strong and sick women well. Ingredients on label—contains no alcohol or harmful habit-forming drugs. Made wholly of those native, American, medicinal roots most highly recommended by leading medical authorities of all the several schools of practice for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments.

For nursing mothers, or for those broken-down in health by too frequent bearing of children, also for the expectant mothers, to prepare the system for the coming of baby and making its advent easy and almost painless, there is no medicine quite so good as "Favorite Prescription." It can do no harm in any condition of the system. It is a most potent invigorating tonic and strengthening nervine nicely adapted to woman's delicate system by a physician of large experience in the treatment of woman's peculiar ailments.

Dispute as to Local Bar Receipts

A conversation between several leading citizens took place Tuesday morning in a public office of the city regarding the amount of money spent daily in Peterborough for liquor. Several prominent and well known citizens claimed that the 21 hotels of the city each average over their respective bars, as claimed by those present from a guess of $35 to $65 a day. Yesterday a Times man went on a still (not a still for making alcohol) hunt around the various hotels and the consensus of information ascertained resulted in showing that an average receipt of $30 would be an outside figure. There are hotels, that, on a Saturday, Fair Day, Circus Day or the arrival of a large excursion to the city which occasionally take, say $100 over the bar. Still to get down to a year's average, the bars of Peterboro, as far as could be learned, and this is given in good faith, do not average $30 a day all round and this figure might be noticed more when all the smaller places line up in this average.

Peterborough may be an expensive town to live in, thanks in part to Tax Assessors, bakers, coal dealers, milkpurveyors, etc., but Toronto is now seriously considering butter at 40 cents per pound. Good Lord! (Fontleroy) where are these raises in household necessities going to stop?

NITRO-GLYCERINE FACTORY BLOWS UP AT PETROLEA

Was Smashed Into Matchwood, Great Hole Dug In Ground, and Country for 20 Miles Around Shocked

Petrolea, Oct. 18.—A terrific explosion startled the inhabitants of Petrolea and the surrounding towns at four o'clock this morning, when the magazine of the Petrolea Torpedo Company exploded with terrific force. The magazine is situated on the 12th line, about two miles north of the town, and contained about 1,000 hundred quarts of nitro-glycerine at the time. The cause of the explosion is a mystery, as the proprietors say they have not been manufacturing since last May. There was no one around the works since early yesterday morning, and when the employes left the places everything was in good order

BUILDING TOO WARM

One reason given for the explosion is that there was too much heat in the building, causing the nitro-glycerine to melt, and the friction that ensued caused the deadly fluid to explode. The company's factory was situated about one hundred yards west of the magazine, and was a complete wreck. It was built of wood and is now nothing but a heap of matchwood. Residences situated on the 12th line within a radius of a mile of the magazine were all more or less damaged, doors being torn off and windows being broken and blown in.

Messrs. Glass and MacIntyre and Braybrook were the heaviest losers, the residence of the former being almost completely ruined. Braybrook's barn was blown off its foundation, and his pumping rig walls were badly damaged. His loss will total about one thousand dollars.

The magazine was a one-storey, building, built of brick on a concrete foundation, and was about 30 by 20 feet in size. Where it stood is nothing but a hole in the ground, big enough to swallow it—perhaps 60 feet by 20—and not enough of the building can be found to tell what it was

In Petrolea considerable damage was incurred by the breaking of glass. Eight large plate glass windows that faced the north on Main street were completely destroyed.

Dozens of residences also lost window lights. The explosion was also felt in Wyoming, a town five miles north of the scene of the accident, where, it is reported, the damage is even greater than in Petrolea. Fortunately the accident happened at a time when no person was around or the loss of life would doubtless have been considerable.

NO LOSS OF LIFE

This vicinity has been the scene of several severe explosions of nitro glycerine in years past, but the present explosion is the first one where no loss of life was incurred. Some time ago complaint was made to the council of the township of Enniskillen that this magazine was situated too near the residences along the 12 line. This fact will bring up a serious phase of the damage question and residents whose property has been destroyed will doubtless try to hold the council responsible for their loss.

The company's intention could not be learned this morning, but they will doubtless rebuild the plant, as the business is a very profitable one, notwithstanding its dangerous nature. The only serious injury that was sustained was by a lad named Glass, who was lying in his bed at the time and sustained some severe cuts about the head by flying glass

Shall New School Readers be Free?

Toronto, Oct 18.—In connection with the forthcoming supply of new Public School text books, the Education Department has under consideration the advisability of supplying the readers free, as well as of reducing the list of other authorized text books to the minimum. It is understood the Hon Dr Pyne has had several conferences with the Prime Minister, Hon Mr Whitney, and the Provincial Treasurer, Hon Mr. Matheson, as to whether the proposal is financially practicable or not. Should the plan meet with approval the new readers, whose subject matter is already under consideration by Dr. Goggin — has essentially still to be issued to the trade and pupils entirely free of charge.

The text books are not expected to extend further than the readers at the present time, but preparations have been made to secure a very material reduction in the price of all other authorized text books

22 Cases of Smallpox at Oakville

Toronto, Oct. 18.—The town of Oakville is now face to face with a serious fight against smallpox as a result of the slackness with which the first case was handled three months ago. Even one of the members of the Board of Health is stricken down.

The first case was one of two negroes who caught the disease. The other came to Toronto and spread the disease here. The difference in the methods in the two places is shown by the fact that Toronto had six cases that were all cured over a month ago; Oakville's is worse than ever.

Rigid regulations were put in force yesterday and half the town is in revolt.

There are twenty-two cases of the disease; ten houses are under quarantine and twenty men are employed to guard them.

Some of the doctors, it is said, have refused to take any cases, on the ground that this would destroy their other practice. One doctor who has taken patients is almost boycotted.

The local Board of Health is nearly in despair as it is finding it almost impossible to enforce the quarantine. One man who drove a smallpox patient to quarantine in place of the constable, is proving fractious and refuses to consider himself as dead to the world for two weeks. Instead, he moves in and out, as usual.

In place of the member of the board who has taken the disease, Mr. Marlott assumed office yesterday in his place. This morning he came to ask Dr. Sheard, as ex-[illegible] Provincial Board of Health, and the one who had coped so successfully with outbreaks in Toronto, to come to the assistance of the town.

The advice given him was, "You have got to shut the lid down tight and sit on it. If you quarantine every suspected case and follow up those that came in contact with it, you'll be rid of smallpox within a month."

The result was that a doctor will be sent out from Toronto, and an experienced quarantine officer, with full powers to enforce the law.

There will be four shifts of men a day on the various quarantined houses, and an officer will be appointed to see that they never leave the houses unguarded for an epidemic.

Those who refuse to submit to quarantine will be forced to do so by a constable's help.

The town will supply provisions to all those who are shut up for the period of two weeks, who are not in a position to afford the extra expense.

The doctor from Toronto will take full charge of the treatment of the smallpox patients.

Wives Beat Husbands

Chicago, Oct. 17.—An epidemic of husband beating has broken out in Chicago. In some of the city's suburbs, notably South Chicago and Kensington, the husbands are fleeing from their wives. Every day a panic-stricken husband or so seeks refuge in the police stations of these suburbs, and the municipal court judges are working overtime in an effort to find a remedy that will curb the ferocious wives in those parts of the city. Acting Chief Justice W. N. Gemmill of the municipal courts says the greatest problem before the judges of these courts is to find a way to restrain the strong armed women who habitually maul their husbands.

Judge Gemmill says the wife beating evil is insignificant compared to the task of finding relief for wife-beaten husbands. The laws of several states provide for the wives who are mistreated by their husbands, but nothing has been done for the benefit of those unfortunate husbands whose wives regard them as punching bags. These men, whose numbers constantly are increasing, are left to the tender mercies of the callous-fisted women who often promised to obey them.

"The wife-beaten husband is the most unduly afflicted of men," said Judge Gemmill. "When a wife is beaten she at once becomes an object of universal pity. Her neighbors flock in her aid with politics and advice, and the laws of her country aim in various ways to comfort and avenge her. Besides this her husband, after beating her, is scorned of men. Little children point him out on the street, and he is derided and left to himself as though he were something loathsome. But the husband who falls a victim to his wife's fists is accorded different treatment. True, he also is pointed out on the street by little children, but the children have another purpose in this instance. He is a man to be laughed at and called a nanny and an easy mark. He is the man that allows his wife to beat him, as if he could prevent it. This is equally true that he is scorned of men—more so, perhaps, than the wife beater. But the scorn has a different basis in his case. He is scorned as a weakling and as a creature unworthy the name of man. Nobody will associate with him, for who wants to be classed as a friend of a man that would allow a mere woman to beat him.

"And the law, which is designed to protect all citizens with equal zeal, and which does provide punishment for wife-beating husbands, does nothing to relieve him. Unlike his former friends, the law simply rises up, in its glaring inconsistency, to mock him and to laugh him to scorn. Legislators everywhere have failed to recognize his grievance and for him to ask relief ever is the signal for a fresh outburst of laughter. Truly, the wife-beaten husband has a hard road to hoe."

Had Judge Gemmill cared to do so he could have illustrated his remarks with any number of instances in which Chicago men have been cruelly and unmercifully beaten and maltreated by their wives. A search through the police records of the police stations reveals an amazing number of complaints from men who suffered at the hands of their wives, and there isn't a police official in the city who isn't willing to testify that husband beating is one of the serious problems with which he is compelled to wrestle.

Lieut. Jenkins, who is one of the best informed police officers of the South Chicago station, says husband beating is a favorite pastime of South Chicago women, and that nearly half of the complaints lodged at the station are based on this charge.

"Among the foreign women, especially the Poles, the beating of husbands is marked," said the lieutenant. "There isn't a night in the year that we are not called upon to rescue some unfortunate husband from the clutches of his wife, and on more than one occasion a man has been beaten to death by his wife in this part of the city."

Ferocious Wild Cat At Ball Lake

River Drivers in an Adventure with a Huge Feline

A Lindsay despatch says:

A specimen of the ferocious wild cat family was killed by river drivers at Ball Lake and brought to town on a tow of logs.

The animal is extremely long and thin. It is of light brown color on the back, turning to nearly white on its breast. It has a forbidding row of teeth and long claws, and a [illegible] obtain completes a fierce-looking picture.

The cat was first seen swimming rapidly through the waters of Ball Lake in pursuit of a deer, and the river drivers took after it in a punt. The beast turned at bay, but was killed by a blow over the head.

Theatrical

The "Gingerbread Man."

Old to some, but new to the greater part of the audience, Sidon & Zimmerman's Ginger Bread Man" was given its second presentation in Peterborough last night, and few, if any, attractions have given such general satisfaction. It is a festive musical fantasy which had won favor with theatregoers the continent over during the past three seasons, and last night made a similar reputation here.

The music was splendid and the applause merited emptied to join in the singing of such popular musical numbers as "Indian Love Call," "Egyptian Land of Bon Bon," "Old Ramses," "Moon, Moon, Moon," and "Nursery Rhymes."

Fred J. Nice took the title role, acquitted himself to perfection and sang "Again I ought with a pleading effect." Nellie Nice took the part of Margery Daw and entered into the spirit of the role with commendable energy. Evelyn Francis Kellogg appeared as Jack Horner, and her singing of "Mazie" and the "Moon" song was excellent, and she was gracious and most attractive in her every line.

Garrick Major as the villainous-looking Fudge, is the possessor of a matchless baritone voice and was very much in favor. Queen of My Dreams" Grace Belmore was a pleasing Mary Jane, Ross Snow, as Wondrous Wise, Fred Watson as Simple Simon, and Jack Holden as the Fairy Queen contributed good comedy.

The play is given in [illegible] scene of Burns at the [illegible] Land, opening with a bright and pretty chorus, which was maintained throughout the piece. The second act, a dividing line between the realms of Kris Kringle and King Sugar Plum, is a [illegible] Moon [illegible] and a Mother Goose [illegible] the latter [illegible] pantomimically delightful. She was repeatedly encored. In the [illegible] Sugar Plum and [illegible] compare favorably with those of the best companies that have visited this city. The performance was, as expected, crowded house.

Predicts an Early and Severe Winter

Montreal, Oct. 18.—"Every sign familiar to the woodsman points to an early and severe winter," Mr. H. J. Armstrong, the Colonization Agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, has noted a great deal in the open spaces of the north, especially with open spaces as are found in Northern Quebec and Ontario, and he knows the lore of trees and creeks and all the craft of old-time men who depend upon weather prophets for their forecasts. He has just returned from a trip to Lake Nipigon, and he sees in everything there indications of an early and severe winter.

In answer to the questions of a reporter to-day, Mr. Armstrong proceeded to unpack some of his woodcraft and explained his reasons for making such a prediction about the coming winter.

"In the first place," he said, "the leaves are full, which is generally a pretty good sign of early winter. It is very common that the woods are in before all the watercourses are filled. We have now a fine supply of water in the country, and this signalizes [illegible] for the approach of winter."

The pelts of fur-bearing animals the furriers' indications by which woodmen judge of the coming of winter, and as these animals have already developed very thick coverings of fur, this is also taken to mean that winter will be early and severe. The squirrels, too, who are credited with unusual foresight in the matter of weather forecasts, are said to have laid up large hoards of nuts.

The Indians in the country about Lake Nipigon said Mr. Armstrong, all declare that the coming winter will be a long and severe one, and these Indians are the very best of weather prophets. Therefore, it is a good idea to lay in winter supplies and be ready for the siege.

Mr. Armstrong admitted, however, that he had seen one sign which, he says, he noticed a flock of geese headed north, a rather unusual thing at this time of year, and one which might be considered a sign of a considerable interval before the coming of winter. The book of the signs however, points to the near approach of frost and snow.

Wealthy Man Kills Bride and Suicides

Ashland, Ky. Oct 18.—Gen. Webb Hayes, a wealthy veteran of the civil war, shot and killed his wife, a bride of two weeks, and then killed himself on the piazza of his home in Ironton today. The tragedy is supposed to have followed a quarrel.

Neighbors found Gen. Hayes' body in the yard with the top of his head blown away. Inside the house was found the body of Mrs. Hayes, with two shots in the head. The position of the body indicated that she had been killed as she [illegible] struggle. She was formerly Miss Jane Perrin and is connected with some of the most prominent families in Kentucky.

The woman murdered by Hayes was his third wife. His first wife died about two years ago and his second wife being divorced one year ago.

Mr. Small Retains His Position

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Sylvester C. Small the suspended president of the Commercial Telegraphers Union, arrived in this city ago from New York yesterday.

Asked if he would make an effort to have himself reinstated at the convention announced to be held at an early date in Milwaukee, Mr. Small replied: "I shall not ask for reinstatement for the simple reason that I am not suspended. I am president of the union and so far as I know no call for a convention has been issued."

When told of the bitter attitude of the strikers toward him, the deposed leader said, "I don't care a rap what they say about me. I am the president and I know what I am doing."

Arrested for Stealing His Own Chickens

The Hamilton Star says:—At Police Court on Saturday morning a case of a peculiar character was heard with [illegible] on the outskirts of the town. The evidence brought out the fact that the accused had gone to the complainants coop and took out two of his own chickens which were there, but he also took two others which he could not swear were his own. The accused made no denial of the case against him, but considered he was taking his own chickens and had left a note with the complainant saying he had done so, but as he had taken two chickens not his own the magistrate imposed a fine of $5 and costs, and the owner of the chickens to be paid $1 for his same.

Hastings Factory Makes Assignment

The Boiler & Radiator Company, Hastings new industry, has made an assignment for the benefit of its creditors. The assignment was caused by a writ issued by Samuel, Benjamin & Co Iron merchants of Toronto. The assets of the company are supposed to be at least as large as the liabilities and it is expected that all the creditors will be paid in full.

INAUGURATION YESTERDAY OF THE MARCONI SERVICE

After Years of Doubts and Difficulties Trans-Atlantic System is Established--Must be Taken at 10 Cents a Word

Sydney, N.S., Oct. 17.—An event occurred here this afternoon at two o'clock that promises to mark an epoch in the history of world progress. At that hour a wireless message was flashed across the Atlantic between the station at Port Morien, and Clifden, Ireland, and the wireless trans-Atlantic service inaugurated on a commercial basis. Signor Marconi, to whose indefatigable efforts, through five years of disappointments and temporary defeats, the inauguration of the service comes as a personal triumph, was himself at the keys, and had the pleasure of sending the first messages. These were nearly all sent to or from newspapers in Britain, Canada, or the United States, and were almost entirely of a congratulatory nature.

SIR WILFRID SENDS MESSAGE

The communication to the people of the Old Country from Sir Wilfrid Laurier, which was sent to the London Chronicle, as the first message sent on a commercial basis from Canada to England, was sent on its aerial flight of 2,300 miles. It read as follows:

"Greetings to the people of Great Britain upon attainment between British and Canadian coasts of Nature's latest, greatest triumph over distance.

"Wilfrid Laurier."

The event is entitled to rank with the initial operation of the first railway and the running of the first steamer.

MESSAGES ARE EXCHANGED

London, Oct. 17.—Several of the newspapers today received despatches from the Marconi station at Glace Bay, N.S., and many persons sent congratulatory messages to Marconi, including the Lord Mayor of London, Sir J. C. Moll, the Duke of Argyle, and the Canadian High Commission, Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal.

Sad Death of Geo. Kincaid

Yesterday probably the most universal topic of conversation among our citizens was the terrible news received of the tragic death of Mr. George Kincaid, a former local citizen.

In Peterborough no man was better known than George Kincaid. Found dead on the steamer Prospector at Dawson. He was born here, and, until he went to the Klondike several years ago, made his home in this city, working at his trade as a carpenter. He was a son of John Kincaid, one of the oldest and most highly respected businessmen in the city. About three years ago George was here and spent several weeks visiting his parents, who are well up in years, past the allotted span of life. It was known that he had prospered while in the North, and on the occasion of his last visit there were evidences that his residence in the Klondike had not been fruitless from a financial standpoint. He was about forty years of age, and has one brother.

His father has held different municipal offices since his retirement from business. He is prostrate over the news the despatches bring him.

The Vancouver despatch says that George Kincaid, head foreman of the Public Works Department in Yukon Territory, arrived on Sunday in charge of the police at Selkirk, 175 miles above Dawson. He was charged with stealing $40,000 in gold from a registered mail sack delivered in Dawson, July 29th from Fairbanks by the steamer Seattle. It was believed that he had confederates who mixed the gold with Klondike gold and sold it to the banks. Kincaid was placed on board the steamer Prospector, and died three hours before the arrival of the boat. A vial, supposed to contain poison, was found in his bunk. It is believed the man was so overcome with shame because of his capture, that he ended his life."

Police Court

Four persons occupied the dock at yesterday's Police Court. A local man was charged with having been disorderly in a Chinese restaurant on Wednesday night. A Chinaman went into the box as interpreter for still another member of the celestial kingdom. He said the defendant came in the kitchen. Two ladies came in for bread and pie etc. The defendant came in and split the milk for an oyster stew into the stove. Prisoner used bad language and hit the proprietor John with a chair and kicked him. Defendant did not give an order for food but wanted straight to the kitchen after asking the proprietor if he had a girl there.

The defendant went into the box and said when he went into the restaurant that [illegible] could no speak English. He went into the kitchen and ordered some food. The proprietor pushed him out and struck him with a chair. The Chinaman then locked the door and kept him until the police came around.

The Magistrate said he believed the Chinaman's story, as no one would have looked for trouble or sent for the police. He fined the defendant $5 and costs. He said as long as Canada allowed Chinamen into the country they were entitled to the same protection as a white man.

Another prisoner was then brought in a similar charge. The Chinaman said he was cooking. They said [illegible] helping himself to food. He [illegible] at the restaurant. They said [illegible] and decided to put him out. He refused and assaulted them. He was fined $10 and costs and remanded, were discharged and allowed to go out of court, if they have no business here.

Sense About Food

Facts About Food Worth Knowing

It is a serious question sometimes to know what to eat, as often persons are troubled and their foods cause trouble.

Grape-Nuts food can be taken at any time [illegible] will digest. A wide experience of people is valuable to anyone interested in foods.

A Battle Heath woman writes, I had suffered [illegible] indigestion for about four years, and came an attack of typhoid fever and [illegible] could eat nothing but the very lightest food, and often suffered much agony with my stomach. I would wish I never had eaten anything. I was urged to try Grape-Nuts and am using it. I do not have to starve myself any more, but I can eat it at any time and feel nourished and satisfied. Dyspepsia is a thing of the past and I am now strong and well.

My husband also had an experience with Grape-Nuts. He was very weak and [illegible] could not attend to his work. He was pu under by doctor's care but medicine did not seem to do him any good until he began to use of ordinary food and us Grape-Nuts. It was positively surprising to see the change in him. He grew better right off, and naturally he has now [illegible] words of praise for Grape-Nuts.

"Our boy thinks Grape-Nuts are [illegible] [illegible] Grape-Nuts, and he learns to [illegible] at school that his teacher and other scholars comment on it. I am satisfied that it is because of the great nourishing elements in Grape-Nuts. There is a reason."

It contains the phosphate of potash from wheat and barley which combines with albumen to make the gray matter to rebuild the brain and nerve centres.

It is a pity that people do not know what to feed their children. There are many mothers who give their young-sters almost any child food and when they become sick begin to pour the medicine down them. The real way is to stick to proper food and be healthy and get along without medicine and expense.

Mrs. Wm. Blackwell Leaves Liverpool Today

Today a lady well known in local social circles, Mrs. William Blackwell sails from Liverpool, to Montreal, en route home. Mrs. Blackwell, wife of the well known local architect, now in charge of the new armories building and many other local buildings, both public and private has been in Europe for the past year, less about two weeks, enjoying the sights and social events of many of the southern European countries in company with her sister and aunt.

During her absence Mrs. Blackwell spent a number of months at that celebrated health resort, Nice, near Monaco and Monte Carlo. Some months ago, accompanied by her friends, Mrs. Blackwell made an extended tour of Italy, France, Switzerland and other European countries. She [illegible] and her sister went to the English cathedral city of Ely where an old friend was visited and enjoyed. As before noted Mrs. Blackwell leaves Liverpool today for Peterborough, and whilst having enjoyed both the most her European and widespread tour of the continent, is glad to get back to her home.

Jim Reynold's Pacing Man who Tries to Lower His Record

Port Hope, Oct. 17.—Langford, the young Englishman from Renfrew, who has an ambition to not only establish an amateur walking record on the Port Hope-Toronto route, but also to lower Jimmy Reynolds' time, left the Queen's Hotel, this morning at six o'clock under most favorable road and weather conditions. O'Brien, the trainer of the Renfrew hockey team, is looking after Langford en route and Jimmy Reynolds accepted Langford's invitation to accompany the party in a rig. Reynolds will pace Langford from the Halfway House to the King Edward, Toronto, and back to the Halfway House a distance of 18 miles.

MAKING GOOD TIME.

If Langford's plans materialize he should reach Port Hope by eight o'clock tomorrow night. Langford leaves Canada next week for South Africa.

He covered the 18 miles from Port Hope to Newcastle in three hours 45 minutes, and was reported in good condition.

Bowmanville, Oct. 17.—D. Langford of Pembroke, who is attempting to walk from Port Hope to Toronto and return in 38 hours, reached here at 11.07 a.m. He stopped for ten minutes at Thomas Todd's bakery and confectionery store, and partook of light refreshments. He was accompanied by Jimmy Reynolds and W. O'Brien, his trainer, in a buggy. Langford was lightly clad, and was going at a good easy pace, and was in good spirits. Reynolds offers to walk the journey in 34 hours if anyone will put up $500 for him. The time recorded for Langford is as follows:

Port Hope, 6 a.m.; Newtonville, 6.37 a.m.; Newcastle, 9.45; arrived at Bowmanville (about 24 miles from Port Hope) at 11.07; left Bowmanville 11.17.

32 MILES IN 6.27.

Oshawa, Oct. 17.—Langford of Renfrew, who left Port Hope this morning at 6.03, arrived here at 1.27 p.m., accompanied by his train, W. O'Brien, and Jimmie Reynolds of Port Hope, covering the distance, 32 miles, in good shape. After receiving a rub and rub down at the Oshawa House, he left at 1.56 p.m., feeling confident that he can make the return trip from Toronto to Port Hope ahead of Reynolds' time.

Backache is Nature's Danger Signal

Prescription, If Taken in Time, Prevents Kidney Disease

More people succumb each year to some form of kidney trouble than any other cause. The slightest form of kidney derangement, often develops into Bright's kidney disease, diabetes or dropsy. When either of these diseases are suspected the sufferer should at once seek the best medical attention possible. Consult only a good, first-class physician, leave patent medicines alone.

There are many of the lesser symptoms of kidney trouble which can be treated at home as stated by a well-known authority. For some of these such as backache, pain in the region of the kidneys, weak bladder, frequency, (especially at night) painful scalding and other urinary troubles, try the following simple home remedy. Fluid Extract Dandelion one-half ounce, Compound Karsoo one ounce, Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. These simple ingredients are harmless and can be obtained at any good prescription pharmacy and anyone can mix them by shaking well in a bottle. The dose for adults is a teaspoonful after each meal and again at retiring.

There is no better general remedy known to relieve all forms of rheumatism either, because it acts directly upon the kidneys and blood, it cleans the clogged up pores in the kidneys so they can filter and strain from the blood the poisonous uric acid and waste matter which if not eliminated remain in the blood, decompose and settle about the joints and muscular tissues causing the painful suffering and deformity of rheumatism.

Backache is nature's signal notifying the sufferer that the kidneys are not acting properly. "Take care of your kidneys," now is the physician's advice to his patients.

Celebrated Diamond Wedding Anniversary

Varna, Oct. 18.—There has just been celebrated in the little village of Ironbridge the anniversary of a wedding that occurred just 100 years ago. All Hungary is interested and the emperor has asked the authorities to forward him official particulars so he can personally congratulate the couple.

The long wedded couple are named Szadmari. The husband is 170 years old and the wife 168. They have hundreds of decendants in and around the village.

A score of years ago there was a celebration in honor of the married centenarian birthday, and applications were made to the Hungarian Government for a pension. It was granted, after the records of the village had been examined and the marriage verified. Four years later the woman also was granted a pension.

The old people live in a modest cottage and are well looked after by relatives. They are nearly blind and deaf, and keep nearly all the time. The man, however, still enjoys his pipe and a glass of wine, and neither is bed-ridden.

It is a strange fact that in all their years they have never left the village and [illegible] morning of the great wedding of Ironbridge. They were born there and have lived continuously a quiet and peaceful life.

IS THE GOOD TIME COMING

The physicians and surgeons at the opening of the medical schools for the winter term, according to a report from London, Eng., predict the time when the doctor in private practice will be but a pleasant memory and the state physician will take his place.

This is a socialistic doctrine, but one nevertheless which will be favored by civilization when the proper time arrives. That time has not yet arrived but it might be hastened by those who would have foresight enough to realize the importance of public health.

Only a few months ago no less eminent an authority than Sir Frederick Treves, His Majesty's physician, stated that some day civilized countries would know that there was no cause for disease.

To-day is it not possible to realize that? It may be generations before it can be eradicated, but if the medical men of the world would apply their energies to it it could be accomplished.

The surgeon will always have his place, for as long as the world lasts accidents will happen. Not so with the physician, who will find less and less use for his powers if only the full import of the necessity of public health is grasped the world over and the necessity of legislating against improper marriages and other means by which disease is maintained.

Aiming at this will at least bring about better conditions. Progress has been made so far to the extent of minimizing the danger of smallpox and many other diseases that at one time decimated the population from time to time. Diphtheria has not its terrors, neither have many other once fearful diseases. The prevention of typhoid is possible, and consumption, the worst of all today is receiving more and more attention.

It is recognized by all that if disease is to be eradicated it must be by prevention. And prevention can only be attained by a due regard of the laws of nature and the principles of public health.

The ideal conditions of health have been a long time coming. Progress has been made but slowly. For further progress there is no longer excuse for delay—it can be brought about by a public awakening to the inviolable rules of health and the great possibilities of care, and this can best be done by the medical profession lending its aid in the great enlightenment that is necessary before the doctor in private practice will be replaced by the state physician whose duties will be to prevent rather than cure disease.

Rev. Dr. B. L. Whitman, who recently returned from a missionary tour in the Orient, has been telling some interesting things to the Baptist ministers in Philadelphia. He was ready to admit, with the late Bret Harte, that "for ways that are dark and tricks that are vain," the heathen Chinee is peculiar." As an example Dr. Whitman told of certain communities which were reported to have become converted to Christianity, even going to the extent of building chapels and requesting the Mission Boards to send missionaries to give the people instruction. When Dr. Whitman arrived in China he made enquiries about these "converted communities." His emotions were conflicting when he learned that the chapels were built at points where rival clans must attack the "converts." As the chapel would thus be attacked first, the assault would become an affair of international importance, in which the United States would demand the punishment of the attacking clan. This was the secret of the sudden "conversion" of the community.

Longboat Challenged by Burns, of Calgary

Toronto, Oct. 17.—Art Burn of Calgary, the runner, who defeated Chandler, the Pacific coast champion, in a 15-mile race the other day, and won the Western championship, has challenged Tom Longboat to a race, and says he is willing to come to Toronto to run him.

"I'll run him if the club says so," said Tom, simply, when the wire was shown to him.

"What do you say?" he asked T. C. Flanagan, the I.C.A.C. manager.

"Well, Tom, we can't pay attention to every Tom, Dick, or Harry who challenges you," replied Mr. Flanagan. "Who is this Burn, anyhow? What entitles him to a race with you? He ran 15 miles in 1.28 and something the other day, and Tom runs four more at least in 1.41. Where would he get off at in a race with you? I'll just wire him that you are entered at the Montreal Herald road race on Thanksgiving Day, and if he wants a crack at you, all he has to do is to come east. He can meet you in any open event he wants to. There is nothing to stop him if he is an amateur. He left his challenge a little late in the season, else he could have been a starter in half a dozen open events you have been in."

That settles the matter as far as Longboat is concerned; for what Tom Flanagan says goes with him.

If Burn wants a little racing, let him come East and take Tom Coley or Percy Sellen on at an indoor meet at the armory. They'll run him five or ten miles indoors. Or better, still, let him run in the Hamilton Herald road race.

BALANCE IN THE AIR.

The Necessity For Equilibrium In Bird Flight.

It is likely that the bird's superb ease and grace in the air are due to its ability to maintain absolute balance. If a gull makes the mistake of bending until the wind strikes its head and wings on the top it will tumble instantly. And the sailing birds, though they make no flapping motion of their wings, are constantly balancing themselves, like a man on a tight rope. Some scientists have maintained that the air sacs make it possible for the bird to manage minute changes that are very valuable in restoring equilibrium. It is known that the wing is joined to the body of the bird by what is called a universal joint, enabling the creature to make almost every possible motion. The body of a man is heavier than water, but if he gets into a position of perfect balance he will float. In some such way, it is claimed, the bird floats in the air. But as the bird would fall much more rapidly in the air than a man's body would sink in water the necessity for a far more subtle ability to keep the center of gravity on the part of the bird is apparent; hence, according to this theory, the bird is provided for this purpose with the most sensitive equipment, made up of nerves and mysterious air ducts, many of the wing feathers perhaps acting as sentinels, warning instantly of the slightest approach of shifting currents.—Everybody's Magazine.

ENTERTAINING THE DUKE.

Rudely Interrupted While He Was Chatting With Royalty.

The daily papers do their best, but not even their ubiquitous representatives garner all the store of good things which attend a royal visit to Ireland, says the London Sketch. No paper at the time printed the cream of the stories which grew out of a visit of the Duke of Connaught to the Emerald Isle. "Welcome to Ireland!" said a man as he saw the duke on the steps of a hotel in the little western town in which he was staying. "Welcome to Ireland, your royal highness. I hope I see your royal highness well." "Quite well, thank you," answered the duke. "And your noble mother, the queen. I hope her ould leddyship is enjoyin' the best of health?" "Yes, thank you. The queen is very well indeed," said the duke, vastly amused with the easy familiarity of the peasant. "It's glad I am to hear it. And tell me, your royal highness," the other went on, "how are all your noble brothers and sisters?" Before the duke could answer an aid-de-camp appeared, with, "Here, get along there." The peasant looked up with infinite scorn. "Arrah! What are yez interruptin' for?" he exclaimed. "Can't you see that me and his royal highness is houldin' a conversation?"

London, Oct. 16—The directors of the Barnardo Homes have declined 20 per cent. of the shares in the Bulgans Company, which the late Senator C. E. Fulford of Brockville, Ontario, directed should be allotted in the event of the company being formed. Such shares to be retained by the institution as a permanent investment. The company has been formed with a capital of 100,000 pounds but the directors compromised with the deceased's family for a sum with the deceased's family for a nominated cash payment.

BOND WAS BEATEN, IS NOW SNUBBED

Newfoundland Government Overruled in Spite of Its Attitude of Defiance

The evidence of a Blue Book issued yesterday shows that the rift between Britain and Newfoundland are severely strained at the present moment. Britain is enforcing the modus vivendi, in spite of Premier Bond's refusal to even publish the rescript putting it into effect, and suspending colonial laws regarding the punishment of Newfoundland fishermen serving on American vessels. The governor, however, obeyed Britain, and had the order published in the Gazette. The last word from Lord Elgin, the colonial secretary, pronounced a few days ago, was that "the Newfoundland ministers could not be supported in any attempt to enforce service of a process on American vessels, and the senior naval officer had been so instructed."

London, Oct. 17.—The Manchester Guardian says Lord Elgin's despatch constitutes, in spite of its obvious straining after a milder tone, a severer rebuke to the Newfoundland government, for the part played in the fisheries' dispute. The Pall Mall Gazette says the despatches show that Bond's government has laid itself open to a somewhat unmerited reproof from the pen of Lord Elgin.

After surveying the negotiations lengthily the Times says: "Even Sir Robert Bond must recognize, we should hope, the perfect justice of Lord Elgin's statement that in such a matter as this some consideration must be shown for the view of the Imperial government, who are the trustees of the interests of the whole empire, as well as of Newfoundland. That trust, as it applies to their own colonies, many colonial politicians seem disposed to occasionally forget or ignore."

While Sir Robert Bond, the premier of Newfoundland, was in London he was informed by the Earl of Elgin that in stating the principles of international law he did not seem to give due weight to the "probabilities of international difficulties." The secretary further remarked that, while his Majesty's government would prefer in matters of this kind to rely on colonial legislation, it would not hesitate if necessary to use other such means as were open to it to obtain sanction for arrangements which it considered essential "for the preservation of the relations of peace and amity with a friendly nation."

COLONY OVERRULED.

London, Oct. 17.—A Blue Book has been issued giving the correspondence in the Newfoundland fisheries' dispute from Oct. 13, 1906, to Sept. 28, 1907. On Sept. 9th last, Lord Elgin informed Sir W. MacGregor of the passing of an order in council to carry out the undertaking given that the shipping of Newfoundland fishermen by American vessels would be unpenalized. Subsequently, he pointed out that the order, until formally revoked by his Majesty in council, was binding on the government.

The Newfoundland Governor requested a suspension of the order, and in the meantime Lord Elgin received a despatch transmitting a copy of a letter from Sir Robert Bond, submitting what he considered to be a practicable working arrangement for the next season, and which would render the modus vivendi unnecessary. On September 14 Lord Elgin replied that that his government saw no reason for a revocation of the order in council, and that it must be published immediately on the arrival of the American fishermen, unless before that date the Newfoundland ministers accepted the modus vivendi.

On September 17, Lord Elgin observed that the proposed working arrangement might well have been pressed on the United States if it had been made earlier. He expressed the earnest hope that satisfactory arrangements might be made locally with the United States fishermen.

On Sept. 21 Sir W. MacGregor submitted a minute from the ministers, stating that they could not be parties to the modus vivendi, and protesting against the promulgation of the order in council.

Whitby, Oct. 16.—Albert McGowan, who escaped from Whitby jail on July 9th last, was captured at Strathroy on Friday last, and brought back here. He received his trial yesterday, sentence being reserved.

DEEP SEA APPETITE.

Sailor Startled a Cultured Boston Waitress With His Order.

A fine example of a deep sea appetite, illustrated with moving pictures, was given in a restaurant in Newspaper row the other evening. A hale and hearty looking deep sea sailor moored up to one of the near mahogany tables and without hesitation started to gauge his appetite as follows:

"I would like a nice tenderloin steak, some broiled mackerel and half a dozen scrambled eggs. You may also bring me if you will a mess of lettuce and some sliced cold tomatoes."

The waitress with sixteen inch waist forgot her usual smile in her anxiety not to forget anything. Before she reached the slide her confidence failed her, and she communicated her doubts about the sanity of her patron to the manager.

The latter decided to investigate. With all sails set be tacked up to the deep sea sailor and anchored alongside.

"Have you given your order yet?" he inquired, trying to look unconcerned.

"I have," was the frank reply.

"What is it?" inquired the manager a little timorously.

Then the deep sea order was repeated, and on looking up and seeing the blank look upon the manager's face the sailor asked, "Well, can't I get it?"

"You shall have it; you shall have it," said the manager, slightly embarrassed.

"Didn't the girl think I meant it all?" said the sailor, blushing like a poppy.

"That is all right," said the manager, sailing away.

It was the girl's turn to blush when she placed before her patron the full order, with half a dozen buns and five potatoes. And as nearby patrons glanced around they saw the deep sea man eating slowly, but surely, until there did not seem to be seven crumbs left of any part of the order.

"He should have had six potatoes instead of five," said the waitress, "and I'm sorry that he did not get them all."

"Amen!" said a chorus from the next table.—Boston Post.

Passing of the Manuscript.

The typewriter is greatly harming the business of manuscript collecting, for in the future there will be no more manuscript, everything being typewritten.

The authors whose manuscript will ultimately be worth collecting all, with hardly an exception, use the typewriter. Mr. Howells, Mr. Kipling, Joseph Conrad, H. G. Wells, Bernard Shaw, Mary Wilkins Freeman, Mark Twain—these authors' manuscripts would a century hence be of great value, but they will leave no manuscript behind them.

Some collectors propose to regard typewritten copy as manuscript and to collect it accordingly. But they are in the minority. Their opponents point out that the typewritten matter may not even have been typed by the author himself, but by his secretary or wife, so that it has really no greater value than so much printing.—New York Press.

Why They Killed Captain Cook.

At the recent celebration of the one hundred and thirty-seventh anniversary of the landing of Captain Cook at Botany bay, near Sydney, a remarkable link with the past was present in the person of a venerable mariner ninety-five years old named Captain Charles. He was able to identify the exact spot where the historic landing took place, it having been pointed out to him in early manhood by one of the blacks who witnessed the event. He actually conversed with a native of the Sandwich islands who saw the massacre of Cook. According to this native, Cook and his companions were killed because they spread out some sails to dry on a certain sacred strip of the shore used for sacrificial purposes.—Indianapolis News.

A Sample of Chinese Cake.

Says the North China Daily News of Shanghai: "At the instance of a Chinese gentleman a shopkeeper was charged at the mixed court yesterday with selling a cake unfit for human consumption. The cake was produced in court and contained quite an entomological collection, including several cockroaches, two or three centipeds and a beetle. A servant of the complainant gave evidence of buying the cake. Accused apologised for his mistake. He had prepared the cake as medicine for himself. His assistant had sold it to the servant by mistake. He was fined $2 and cautioned."

Getting Around the Law.

During the last elections in Russia an orator at a public meeting presided over by Professor Milyoukow concluded his discourse by exclaiming, "Hurrah for the constituent assembly!" He was interrupted by a police officer, who said, "It is forbidden to mention the constituent assembly." "Well, then, ladies and gentlemen," said the orator, "hurrah for that which it is forbidden to mention!" A tremendous hurrah followed.

Dr. Twain, Not Dr. Clemens.

According to the cabled reports, the chancellor of Oxford university, Lord Curzon, presented the degree of doctor of literature to Mark Twain, not to Samuel L. Clemens, thus making it a case of Dr. Twain—Harper's.

Something New in Copper

PITTSBURG - IDAHO

Mining and Milling Company

The mine is located 58 miles above Lewiston, Idaho, on the Clearwater river, and consists of 19 full claims, or 380 acres. It is developed by tunnels, shafts and open cuts for more than 2100 feet, disclosing thousands of tons of copper, gold and silver ores of both high grade and low grade. There are between 1000 and 2000 tons of ore ready for shipment. The entrance to the working tunnel is only 2000 feet from the track of the Northern Pacific railroad, to be reached by gravity tramway. There are seven parallel veins running lengthwise of the claims, one cropping out on the surface for 2400 feet and another for 3000 feet; while two veins cross these running into the mountain. These veins are from 30 to 200 feet wide. One ore chute has been crosscut 50 feet and is solid ore from wall to wall.

We are not asking you to buy in a prospect. That risk was taken by the promoters. We are asking you to buy in a developed, proven mine. Seven years of continuous work and the expenditure of thousands of dollars has proven up one of the greatest mines in Idaho. That mine is now ready to pour out its red and yellow wealth to the world with the installing of an up to date production plant. It is for that purpose that a block of its treasury stock, full paid and non-assessable, is offered for sale. We believe that within six months from the completion of a 100 ton plant the mine can be put on a dividend paying basis, and that those dividends will be substantial and permanent. There is no better investment proposition before the people at this time.

AIKENSIDE

BY MARY J. HOLMES

Author of "Dora Deane," "The English Orphans," "Lena Rivers," "The Rector of St. Mark's," "Tempest and Sunshine," Etc.

"That!" and Maddy looked confounded. "Why, grandma never let me wear that, except on Sunday; that's my very best dress."

"Poor child; I'm not sure it was right for you to come here where the life is so different from the quiet, unpretentious one you have led," the doctor thought, but he merely said: "It's my impression they wear their best dresses here, all the time."

"But what will I do when that's worn out? Oh, dear, dear, I wish I had not come!" and another impetuous fit of weeping ensued, in the midst of which Jessie came back, greatly disturbed on Maddy's account, and asking eagerly what was the matter.

Very adroitly the doctor managed to draw Jessie aside, while as well as he was able he gave her a few hints with regard to her intercourse with Maddy, and Jessie, who seemed intuitively to understand him, went back to the weeping girl, soothing her much as a little mother would have soothed her child. They would have such nice times, when Maddy got used to their ways, which would not take long, and nobody would laugh at her, she said, when Maddy expressed her fears on that point. "You are too pretty, even if you do make mistakes!" and then she went into ecstasies over the blue muslin, which was becoming to Maddy, and greatly enhanced her girlish beauty. The tear stains were all washed away, Jessie using very freely her mother's eau-de-cologne, and making Maddy's cheeks very red with rubbing; the nut-brown hair was brushed until it shone like satin, a little narrow band of black velvet ribbon was pinned about Maddy's snowy neck, and then she was ready for that terrible ordeal, her first dinner at Aikenside. The doctor was going to stay, and this helped to relieve her somewhat.

"You must come to the housekeeper's room and see her first," Jessie said, and with a beating heart and brain bewildered by the elegances which met her at every turn, Maddy followed to where the dread Mrs. Noah, in rustling black silk and a thread-lace collar, sat sewing and greatly enjoying the leisure she had in her master's absence.

Mrs. Noah knew who Maddy was, remembering the old man said that she would not disgrace a drawing room as fine as that at Aikenside. She had discovered, too, that Mrs. Agnes was opposed to her coming, that only Guy's determined will had brought her there; and this, if nothing else, had disposed her to feel kindly toward the little governess. She had expected to see her rather pretty, but was not prepared to find her what she was. Maddy's was a singular type of beauty—a beauty untarnished by any selfish, uncharitable, or suspicious feeling. Clear and truthful as a mirror, her brown eyes looked into Mrs. Noah's, while her low courtesy, so full of deference, found its way straight to that motherly heart.

"I am glad to see you, Miss Clyde," she said, "very glad."

Maddy's lip quivered a little and her voice shook as she replied:

"Please call me Maddy. They do at home, and I shan't be quite so—so——"

She could not say "homesick," lest she should break out again into a fit of crying, but Mrs. Noah understood her, and remembering her own experience when first she went from home, she involuntarily stooped to kiss the pure, white forehead of the girl, who henceforth was sure of one champion at least at Aikenside.

The dinner was a success, so far as Maddy was concerned. Not a single mistake did she perpetrate, though her cheeks burned painfully as she felt the eyes of the polite waiters fixed so often upon her, and fancied they might be laughing at her. But they were not, and thanks to the kind-hearted Guy, they thought of her only with respect, as one who was their superior and must be treated accordingly. Knowing how different everything was at Aikenside from that to which she had been accustomed, Guy, with the thoughtfulness natural to him, had taken the precaution of speaking to each of the servants concerning Miss Clyde, Jessie's teacher. As he could not be there himself when she first came it would devolve upon them, more or less, to make it pleasant for her by kind, civil attentions, he said, hinting at the dire displeasure sure to fall on anyone who should be guilty of a misdemeanor in that direction. To Paul, the coachman, he had been particular in his charges, telling him who Maddy was, and arguing that from the insolence once given to the grandfather the offender was bound to be more polite to the grandchild. The carriage was to be at her and Jessie's command. Paul never refusing a reasonable request to drive the young ladies when and where they wished to go, while a pretty little black pony, recently broken to the saddle for Agnes, was to be at Miss Clyde's service, if she chose to have it. As Guy's slightest wish was always obeyed, Maddy's chance for happiness were not small, notwithstanding that she felt so desolate and lonely when the doctor left her, and standing by Jessie, she watched him with a swelling heart until he was lost to view in the deepening twilight.

Feeling that she must be homesick, Mrs. Noah suggested that she try the fine piano in the little music room.

"Maybe you can't play, but you can drum 'Days of Absence,' as most girls do," and opening the lid she bade Maddy "thump as long as she liked."

Music was a delight to Maddy, who coveted nothing so much as a knowledge of it, and sitting down upon the stool, she touched the soft-toned instrument, ascertaining by her ear several sweet chords, and greatly astonishing Jessie, who wondered at her skill. Twice each week a teacher came up from Devonshire to give lessons to Jessie, but as yet she could only play one scale and a few simple bars. These she attempted to teach to Maddy, who caught them so quickly and executed them so well that Jessie was delighted. Maddy ought to take lessons, she said, and some time during the next day she took to Mrs Noah a letter which she had written to Guy. After going into ecstasies over Maddy, saying she was the nicest kind of a girl, that she prayed in the morning as well as at night and looked so sweet in blue, she asked if she couldn't take music lessons, too, advancing many reasons why she should, one of which was that she could play now a great deal better than herself.

It was several days before an answer came to this letter, and when it did it brought Guy's consent for Maddy to take lessons, together with a note for Mr. Simons, requesting him to consider Miss Clyde his pupil, as well as Jessie.

Though greatly pleased with Aikenside, and greatly attached to Jessie, Maddy had had many hours of loneliness when her heart was back in the humble cottage where she knew they were missing her so much, but now a new world, a world of music, was suddenly opened before her, and the homesickness all disappeared. It had been arranged with Mrs. Noah, by Agnes, that Jessie should only study for two hours each day, consequently Maddy had nearly all the time to herself, and well did she improve it, making so rapid progress that Simons looked on amazed, declaring her case to be without a parallel, while Jessie was left far behind. Indeed, after a short time Maddy might have been her teacher, and was of much service to her in practicing.

Meanwhile the doctor came often to Aikenside, praising Maddy's progress in music, and though he did not know a single note, compelling himself to listen while with childlike satisfaction she played him her last lesson. She was very happy now at Aikenside, where all were so kind to her, and half wished that the family would always remain as it was then.

FAMOUS BRIDGES.

The Zambesi bridge in Africa is 430 feet in height.

The famous Niagara suspension bridge was begun in 1852 and completed in 1855. It is 245 feet above the water and 821 feet long.

The Forth bridge, over the Firth of Forth, near Edinburgh, has two cantilever spans, each 1,710 feet in length, the longest in the world. The total length of this structure is one and four-sevenths miles.

One of the most peculiar bridges in the world is the tubular suspension bridge across Menai strait. This bridge consists of two lines of immense tubing, each 1,500 feet long, supported by three granite towers, besides the shore abutments. This strange bridge is 100 feet above the sea and weighs 11,000 tons.

The steel bridge the Portland and Seattle railroad is building across the Columbia at Vancouver will be a mile and a half long, the longest steel bridge in the world. It will be finished next January. Twenty thousand tons of steel will be used in it, not including the weight of the double track. The drawbridge is 404 feet long.

SPORTING NOTES.

There is an own sister to Sonoma Girl in Indianapolis, and they say she can trot in 2.10 very handily.

They say that Glenwood M., 2.07¼, will not stand the preparation for his race in Austria and has been retired to the stud.

In three months' time, Bill Squires says, he will try to redeem himself in the ring, so the promoters have stopped considering him for the present.

Pitcher Waddon Henley, farmed out by the Brooklyn club to the Rochester team, holds the strike out record in the Eastern league so far this season.

Catarrh

To prove unquestionably, and beyond any doubt, that Catarrh of the nose and throat can be cured, I am furnishing patients through druggists, small free Trial Boxes of Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure. I do this because I am so certain that Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure will bring actual substantial help. Nothing certainly, is so convincing as a physical test of any article of real, genuine merit. But that article must possess true merit, else the test will condemn, rather than advance it. Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure is a snow white, healing antiseptic balm, put up in beautiful nickel capped glass jars at 50c. Such soothing agents as Oil Eucalyptus, Thymol, Menthol, etc., are incorporated into a velvety cream like Petrolatum, imported by Dr. Shoop from Europe. If Catarrh of the nose and throat has extended to the stomach, then by all means also use internally, Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Stomach distress, a lack of general strength, bloating, belching, biliousness, bad taste, etc. surely call for Dr. Shoop's Restorative.

For uncomplicated catarrh only of the nose and throat nothing else, however, need be used but

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at an Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

The homesteader is required to perform the homestead duties under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of a homesteader has permanent residence on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of a homestead, or upon a homestead entered for by him in the vicinity, such homesteader may perform his own residence duties by living with the father (or mother).

(4) The term "vicinity" in the two preceding paragraphs is defined as meaning not more than nine miles in a direct line, exclusive of the width of road allowances crossed in the measurement.

(5) A homesteader intending to perform his residence duties in accordance with the above while living with parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

Six months' notice in writing must be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of intention to apply for patent.

TENDERS FOR SUPPLIES 1908

THE UNDERSIGNED will receive tenders up to noon on Monday, 4th November, 1907, for supplies of Butchers' Meat, Creamery or Dairy Butter, Flour, Oatmeal, Potatoes, Cordwood, etc., etc., for the following Institutions during the year 1908, viz.:—

At the Asylums for the Insane at Toronto, London, Kingston, Hamilton, Mimico, Brockville, Cobourg, Orillia and Penetanguishene; the Central Prison and Mercer Reformatory, Toronto, and the Hospital for Epileptics at Woodstock.

Exceptions—Tenders are not required for the supply of Meat to the Asylums in Toronto, London, Kingston, Hamilton, and Brockville, nor for the Central Prison or Mercer Reformatory, Toronto.

A marked cheque for five per cent of the estimated amount of the contract, payable to the order of the Provincial Secretary, must be furnished by each tenderer as a guarantee of his bona fides. Two sufficient sureties will be required for the due fulfillment of each contract, and should any tender be withdrawn before the contract is awarded, or should the tenderer fail to furnish security, the amount of the deposit will be forfeited.

Specifications and forms of tender may be had on application to the Department of the Provincial Secretary, Toronto, or to the Bursars of the respective Institutions.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without written authority from the Department will not be paid for it.

CHURCH AND CLERGY.

The Rev. Mendels de Sola has just completed twenty-five years of service as minister of the Spanish and Portuguese synagogue of Montreal.

Rev. Casper Brunner, who in 1868 organized the German Reformed church of Bridgeport, Conn., is still its pastor and one of the oldest in the state in point of service.

Rev. Joseph A. Johnson, pastor of the Abyssinian church, who is the only minister in Portland, Me., with a union card, works as a painter during the week and preaches on Sunday.

It strikes Americans as odd to learn that the sermons of Phillips Brooks, which have lately been translated into German, are pronounced "too high" for the German churchgoing public.

A sign of the times in England is a movement for a stricter Sabbath which has the support of the archbishop of Canterbury, the Roman Catholic archbishop of Westminister and the Rev. John S. Liggett, representing the nonconformist churches.

This is a straight Business Undertaking.

The Smelting of Ore is the safest and most profitable business in the world.

We have fifteen mining properties, located in Kern County, California, carrying good values in Gold, Silver and Copper.

The smelter nearest to us is at Needles, 250 miles distant.

We propose to install on our properties a smelter to treat the ores from our own mines and to do custom smelting for others.

50 per cent. per annum is a moderate estimate of the profits we can earn. If you want to make a safe and profitable investment send for full information and investigate our proposition.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION—One-fifth Cash and the remainder in Four Monthly Payments.

Officers and Directors

President ..... EDWARD T. PATRICK,
Mine Owner and President of the Goldfield Stock and Exchange Board.
Vice-President ..... JUDGE CHAS. L. HAYES,
Mine-Owner and Leading Attorney of Goldfield, Nevada.
Secretary and Treasurer ..... ADAMS F. BROWN,
Corporation and Mining Lawyer and Member of Leading Committee Goldfield Stock and Exchange Board.
Depository ..... JOHN S. COOK & CO.
Bank of Goldfield, Nevada.

This company owns [illegible] (80 acres) of some of the best proven mining land in the Goldfield district, consisting of the Accidental and Accidental No. 2 lode claims, situated two and one-half miles south of the great Goldfield Consolidated Mines (comprising the Mohawk, Goldfield, Combination, Red Top, Jumbo and Laguna), the richest in the world; and the Broadway and Beauty lode claims situated three and one-half miles south of the Consolidated and about one and one-half miles northwest of the Great Bend and Daisy Mines near the Zon group in the Diamondfield section second only in richness to the great Mohawk portion of the camp. Phenomenally rich strikes have recently been made on the Consolidated, the Great Bend and the Daisy Mines.

The company has also succeeded in securing the Sure Thing lode claim (20 acres) in the Cuprite district, which has an immense gold bearing ledge, running the entire length of the claim 1,500 feet, outcropping in places over 50 feet wide, and met in several cross cuts all carrying fine values in gold, and as without doubt rightly named "Sure Thing."

All of these claims are located in the same mineral belt as the other noted mines of Goldfield that have astonished the world by their production of millions in high grade ore, and will with the same development give equally profitable returns.

The money derived from the sale of this stock will be used at once for the active development of the property and the fact that all the directors are residents of Goldfield with years of successful mining experience who will give their personal attention, at all times to the progress of the work goes to show that the first issue of 100,000 shares will meet with a quick and ready sale at the initial price of 10 cents per share.

We advise immediate action if you wish to participate in the vast profits of this Bonanza Mine.

Stock will be listed as soon as possible on the Goldfield and San Francisco Stock and Exchange Boards. We'd therefore advise purchasers to buy in board lots of 1,000 shares when convenient to do so.

Perney Hirtsehman Tells His Part of Story

The Case Fully Reported, Proves the Work Was Done by Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Halifax, N.S., Sept. 25.—A well-known resident at 93 Sackville street, Mr. Perney Hirtsehman, who has been in a somswhat serious condition lately, has recovered, and says: "Six months ago my appetite fell off and my health became very poor. I had terrible attacks of indigestion and often was unable to sleep at night. My poor color showed what an ill man I was. I tried numerous remedies but the only genuine one was Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. Two boxes cured my indigestion. My appetite increased and my strength came back quickly. Today I have a fine zest for my meals. I feel as strong and healthy as a young boy. Because they are so cleansing and so tonic in their effect I think Dr. Hamilton's Pills should be used by every person. My wife used them regularly with grand results.

A 50 Cent Bargain

We are just in receipt of a large shipment of Bohemian glassware, consisting of water pitchers, lemonade sets, sugar and creams, butter dishes, fruit dishes, fancy card and bouquet holders, vases, & etc. These are the most fancy and novel ever shown in Peterborough and will be on sale this week at only 50 cents each. Times Bookstore.

County Tax Sale Next Monday

The re-adjourned county tax sale will be held on Monday, October 21st. The hour for beginning is set for ten o'clock, and Mr. Ed. M. Elliott, the county treasurer, will be the auctioneer. This is the third county tax sale which has been held this year.

Arrows Get Into the Game

The basket ball team of the Arrows will again be in the game this year and, judging from the work of the two Cressmans and Miller, they will again be strong. The Arrows are contemplating taking a trip about Thanksgiving Day up to Cannington and other neighboring towns, and by that time will be in a position to put up their best game. There has as yet been little said of the reorganization of the Y.M.C.A. League for the season, but it is practically assured that there will be four or five teams after the trophy.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co.. Testimonials free.

Sold by druggists. Price 75c per bottle.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Mr. T. J. Begley Home from the West

Talking about Canada's cold climate, it might be mentioned that Mr. T. J. Begley returned yesterday after a visit in the West, where he represented the local Trades and Labor Congress sessions at Winnipeg. After a week in that city he spent some time in North Dakota, where he said that all the Canadians are well to do. However snow and frost then, hastened his return to Peterborough comparitively tropical weather.

Dr. Rose Speaks on Asiatic Immigration

The Toronto Globe of yesterday has the following from the pen of a former local dentist, Dr. Rose, who says, Opposing the action of people of British Columbia, in respect to the Asiatic "invasion," and favoring an "open door," on the ground of the "Golden Rule and broad 'citizenship of the world." Dr. A. Rose, in a paper read before Court Queen City, No. 81, Canadian Order of Foresters, last night, aroused strong opposition on the part of some of the other members of the court. A number of them expressed views directly counter to the doctor's.

Mr. J. A. Culverwell Has Begun Operations

A Havelock despatch says that development of the celebrated Healey Falls and Rapids has been commenced.

Managing Director J. A. Culverwell, with the company engineer and two nearby directors of the Northumberland Durham Power Company, drove from Havelock with a gang of men and two wagon loads of construction material and tools. Working upon the property with a procession of four teams, a construction building was erected in record time and ground broken.

Magistrate Mathison, real estate man and founder of Havelock, and Councillor Joseph Knox, contractor, new directors of the company, with Councillor Campney, master blacksmith, assisted in construction operations and the christening ceremonies were performed. Work will be pushed rapidly.

New Restaurant Opens on Monday

Mrs. Robert King Takes Over the Former Palace Hotel

Yesterday in front of the premises immediately to the south of The Times office, George street, huge furniture vans of the Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Co., were, one after another kept busily engaged backing up to the pavement and unloading seemingly endless lots of furniture.

The reason for this was that Mrs. Robt. King, who formerly conducted a high class boarding house on Park street, assisted by her daughters has taken over the premises, as above noted, recently vacated by Mr. F. E. Darcy.

The new restaurant will be conducted on strictly first-class lines. The King family will not only accommodate regular roomers and boarders but will provide meals for transients or casual callers, supplying oysters, etc., for after theater or other entertainment callers. The new proprietors expects to have the new place in full operation by next Monday.

Beer, Like Bread and Coal, to go Up

It seems that price s for beer, booze, bread, milk and taxes are all on the upward tendency. A Toronto despatch says that the Toronto brewers have under consideration the proposal to increase the price of beer by five cents a dozen on bottles and two or three cents a gallon on bulk. The matter was left over until the meeting of the liquor men next week, when the hotel men, brewers and distillers will organize to fight local option. The question of retail prices will also be taken up. The raise of 8 cents a gallon on whiskey ism ot meeting with the approbation of the hotelmen of the city. Some of the Toronto hotel keepers say that it will cost them from $400 to $500 a year more than at present.—Mail and Empire.

Cures Woman's Weaknesses.

We refer to that boon to weak, nervous, suffering women known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Dr. John Fyfe one of the Editorial Staff of THE ECLECTIC MEDICAL REVIEW says of Unicorn root (Helonias Dioica) which is one of the chief ingredients of the "Favorite Prescription":

"A remedy which invariably acts as a uterine invigorator * * * makes for normal activity of the entire reproductive system." He continues "in Helonias we have a medicament which more fully answers the above purposes than any other drug with which I am acquainted. In the treatment of disorders peculiar to women it is seldom that a case is seen which does not present some indication for this remedial agent." Dr. Fyfe further says: "The following are among the leading indications for Helonias (Unicorn root): Pain or aching in the back, with leucorrhoea; atonic (weak) conditions of the reproductive organs of women, mental depression and irritability, associated with chronic diseases of the reproductive organs of women; constant sensation of heat in the region of the kidneys; menorrhagia (bleeding) due to a weakened condition of the reproductive system; amenorrhoea, suppressed or absent monthly periods, arising from or accompanying an abnormal condition of the digestive organs and anaemic (thin blood) habit; dragging sensations in the extreme lower part of the abdomen."

If more or less of the above symptoms are present, no lady should hesitate to better than take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, one of the leading ingredients of which is Unicorn root, or Helonias, and the medical properties of which it most faithfully represents.

Of Golden Seal root, another prominent ingredient of "Favorite Prescription," Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Medical College, Chicago, says:

"It is an important remedy in disorders of the womb. In all catarrhal conditions * * * and general enfeeblement, it is useful."

Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., late of Cincinnati, says of Golden Seal root:

"In relation to its general effects on the system, there is no medicine in use about which there is such general unanimity of opinion. It is universally regarded as the tonic useful in all debilitated states."

"Valuable in uterine hemorrhage, menorrhagia (flooding) and congestive dysmenorrhoea (painful menstruation)."

VOL XXXV. NO 244 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 19 1907 PRICE TWO CENTS

DOMINION GOVERNMENT MAY APPOINT A COMMISSION TO INTVESTIGATE THE PRICES.

Does a Combine Exist for the Purpose of Raising and Keeping Up the Price of Coal?--Big Profits Made

Toronto, Oct. 19.—"Whereas it is alleged that a combine exists in the coal business in Toronto and elsewhere, whereby the price of coal is rising from time to time until it has become, and is now, an excessive burden, and that unduly large profits are realized by those engaged in the trade, it is ordered that a petition be sent at once by the city solicitor to the Dominion Government asking that a commission be issued to investigate, determine and report the reason for the increased price of coal, and whether any combine exists for the purpose of raising and keeping up the price."

The mayor made up his mind over night that public opinion warranted an investigation into the alleged coal combine, and his resolution asking for one was unanimously passed by the Board of Control this morning.

The News has taken some trouble to inquire as to what the cost of hard coal is to dealers in Toronto. The information obtained is that the latest circular received from the Pennsylvania shippers places the price of anthracite at the bridge at $5.40

Cost of one ton of hard coal, 2,240 pounds, gross, at the International Bridge	$5.60
Cost of 1 ton coal, 2,000 lbs. net, at bridge	$5.40
Freight per ton, 2,000 pounds from the bridge to Toronto	.60
Cost per ton delivered on the siding in Toronto	$5.80
Liberal allowance for distribution to consumers, i.e. commission, including every possible expenditure	1.00

Dealers' profits per ton is therefore 65 cents, which is $7.25, the present price, less $6.60, the maximum cost. It should be stated that when coal is sold by the car load the cost of handling is very much less than $1.00 per 2,240 tons, which is exactly $5.00 net ton of 2,000 pounds.

It has been ascertained that the freight rate is 60 cents per ton from the International Bridge to the siding of any coal dealer in Toronto. This means that the cost F.O.B. in Toronto is $6.60. The news was also informed upon reliable authority that if a man could get $1 a ton for the delivery of all the coal brought to Toronto, including handling from the car to the yard and from the yard to the wagon and then to the customers' cellars, office and other expenditures, he could be rich in a few years. In addition to that, however, the present sale price of $7.25 allows 65 cents per ton additional.

However, the News is informed that there is in Toronto an association of coal dealers which for real "combined" quality puts in the shade even the Plumbers' "close corporation" of days not long past. It is stated that if any firm or dealer having membership in this ring sells below $7.25, his name is at once forwarded to the Pennsylvania dealers, who combine at the mouth of the coal pit, with the result that his supply is at once cut off until full repentance has been made and accepted.

It seems quite probable that existing circumstances with regard to the price of coal in Peterborough—$7.50 a ton—are the same as in Toronto when coal is $6.25, if an investigation is made in Toronto and there is no doubt will be, and it is proven that exorbitant prices are being extorted from the citizens, some stringent proceedings will be taken not only in Toronto but in Peterborough to have the members of the coal trust punished; and thereby coal sold at a nominal price.

2,000 More Japs Coming

Vancouver, B.C., Oct. 18.—The [illegible] Japanese [illegible] same [illegible] half of the R. and [illegible] boarding house [illegible] has chartered a [illegible] steamer to load Japs from Honolulu for Brazil in March.

22 Drowned off Scotland--The Steamer Went on the Rocks

London, Oct. 18.—The Danish steamer Alfred Erlandsen has been wrecked on the rocks off Castle Point, near St. Abbs Head, Scotland.

She went ashore during a gale last night and twenty of her crew were drowned.

A lifeboat which spent the night looking for the survivors had a narrow escape, being frequently swept by heavy seas."

Acquits Mrs. Sharpe of Kenora on Charge of Manslaughter

Sherbrooke, Oct. 18.—Mrs. Sharpe of Kenora was found "not guilty" of manslaughter. The judge's charge was favorable and the jury took the view that the bullet glanced from a tree, striking Coates. There was applause in the court room and the verdict was most popular.

The crown examined two witnesses, Alvin A. Bailey and his daughter, Miss N. Bailey. Bailey said on the night of the shooting he was sitting on the doorstep of his house, and hearing two shots went into the house to see what was the matter. His daughter, Nita, told him that she had fired the first one, and her cousin, Mrs. Sharpe, the accused, the others to try and frighten away those who were driving by the house, shouting.

Harold Coates had not been warned by witness that so long as he kept company with Morril Coates he would not allow him to come around the house or go with any member of his family.

ADMITS SHE FIRED.

Nita Bailey said she was in her room upstairs on that night, and heard the young men making a loud noise, and singing a parody of popular songs as they passed the house, as well as using insulting language. She said she then took the rifle and fired a shot as they passed the house to try and frighten them away. When they passed the house again her cousin, the accused said, "Let me shoot this time."

This closed the Crown's case.

LANGFORD FAILED TO BREAK JIMMY REYNOLDS' RECORD

Young Englishman From Renfrew Broke Down About Four Miles from Port Hope--His Feet and Ankles Gave Out

Oshawa, Oct. 18.—David Langford, the pedestrian arrived back here at 10.40 this morning, ten minutes behind scheduled time, and left at 11.05 on his way to Port Hope. He is in fair condition in all other respects, but his feet, which are in very bad shape. He had to stop at a farm house west of here to have his extremities washed and treated. He bandaged his toes and kept on his way having nine hours less two minutes to make the 32 miles.

William Scattergood, the Oshawa walker, walked to Toronto and back with Langford, and Jimmie Reynolds accompanied him on the trip. Reynolds has very little hope of Langford being able to make Port Hope. But it all depends on how his feet hold out.

WAS NOT TRAINED.

There are few incidents to record in connection with the trip so far. He has now made 100 miles in fairly good shape, but the test of endurance is yet to come, the distance to Port Hope being 32 miles, but it is a good road. Mr. Reynolds entertains all whom they meeting along the way with boasts that he will make the trip in 34 hours next weeks, provided he can get some wagers up.

It is worthy of note in connection with Langford's try, that he has had to spend training for the trip, and what little walking he did in advance has proved a drawback for it made some of his feet sore, and this has bothered him all the way to Toronto and return.

News was received in the city last night that Langford's feet and muscles gave out when about four miles from Port Hope, and that he reached Port Hope 1.15 minutes later than his scheduled time.

Pres. Hays' Announcement of G. T.P. Fleet on Both Oceans Causes Discussion in Shipping Circles

Montreal, October, 19.—President Hays made a brief statement the other day to the effect that the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company may operate two fleets of steamships, one on the Atlantic and one on the Pacific. Brief as his remarks were on the subject, a vast deal of discussion has been aroused by them in Montreal.

Those directly interested say that the matter is still well in the future; that it is too early to say anything; that the railway will not be ready to carry passengers and freight across the continent for some years yet, for there is a great deal of construction work yet to do; that the Quebec bridge is yet to be built, a work of many years.

Nevertheless, the directors of the railway are doubtless looking ahead, planning for what will be when the newsreel from Moncton on the east to Port Simpson on the west, is an accomplished fact.

It is readily admitted that the Grand Trunk Pacific must have a line of steamships on each side of the continent, a line which they must either hold as their own property or be joined to in such an alliance on which they can depend as having full transportation facilities at all times.

For the service on the Atlantic a fleet of vessels large and able to travel at a good rate of speed are required; and to build such a fleet would require an immense sum of money. On the Atlantic, there is likely to be affiliation and in all probability the affiliation will be with the Allan line. It would be an alliance of convenience. The Allan steamships would have ready facilities for the transportation of their cargoes from Europe to or from any points in the west. They would be in a position to quote more favorable rates; there would be no danger of having their freight lying about on the wharves awaiting railway shipment. In this regard the railway would benefit in exactly the same way. A very large steamship accommodation would be required to handle the amount of merchandise brought from the west by the new Transcontinental, and the Allan line with its large and growing fleet is the only Canadian line on the Atlantic now equipped to do it. The Canadian Pacific Railway Company's vessels are, of course, kept busy in the service of their own company, while the Dominion line belongs to the International Mercantile Marine with headquarters at New York.

On the West, control of a line of steamships is even more insistent. Port Simpson is the terminus, and it has nothing as yet to command it except its advantageous position. It has no shipping trade of any account, and unless the railway wished to run the risk of being completely stalled, a steamship carrying service must be installed by the time the line is open.

The railway management is, therefore already looking about. Today comes a rumor from the West, unconfirmed, but founded on good authority, that negotiations have already been opened to secure control of the Union Steamship Company of Vancouver—preferably an outright purchase of their steamships if such can be arranged, or an affiliation such as is talked of with the Allan Line on the Atlantic.

The Union Steamship Company is one of the great lines on the Pacific Coast, it has a fleet of some half dozen vessels carrying both passengers and freight, and it is increasing it every year. One new vessel, the Cariboo, has recently been launched on the Clyde, and will shortly start on her way to Vancouver, while the order for another has been placed with the Allan Shipbuilding Company on the Clyde. This latter vessel is to be named the Chilcotin, and is designed for the Vancouver and Prince Rupert trade.

If the negotiations with the Grand Trunk Pacific are successful, any or all of the new vessels may be turned to Port Simpson, and will complete the chain of service from Great Britain to Australia and peculiar that, offered by the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Germany and Russia Will Not Make Trouble

Berlin, Oct. 18.—Regarding the persistent reports published in the English press that Germany desires to absorb Austria after the death of Emperor Francis Joseph, it may be stated that the policy of Germany with reference to the internal affairs of the Austro-Hungarian monarchy has been announced to be one of entire aloofness. The Foreign Office some months ago sent a dispatch on this subject to Baron Speck von Sternburg, the German ambassador at Washington, for the information of President Roosevelt. The relations between Austria and Russia were recently the cause of considerable comment in the German press, but the matter has been settled. It is known that the Austro-Hungarian monarchy is not in the slightest degree anxious for action which might increase the numbers and strength of the Catholic party in Germany. This party is the most powerful, numerically, in the Reichstag, and should Austria come in with an immense addition of Catholics it would probably increase the religious animosities and make the problems of government more difficult.

In addition to all this the German official circles say that the Austro-Hungarian monarchy is not in the slightest danger of dissolution.

One Breadmaker Defies the Trust?

It seems that the same unanimity and almost convincing proof of a combine among the local coal dealers does not control those who in Peterborough make and sell the staff of life, viz., "Bread." As noted in a former issue of The Times, the local bakers were resolved to put up the price of this necessity commodity to eleven cents. However, yesterday, a George street confectioner hung out, for all the world and his mother, to see, on which appeared the encouraging device "Try our bread, 10 cents a loaf." If the size, quality and weight of this independent advertising compares with that of the "trust," this independent baker is assured a big business. It is more or less dollars to cancelled postage stamps of merchants to saw-horses, the cash 10 cent per loaf advertiser is not doing business, and paying George street rents and taxes for the good of his health alone.

Death of Mrs. James Northey of Selwyn

On Friday, October 18th, one of Smith's oldest and most respected residents passed away in the person of Mary Jane Roberts, wife of Mr. James Northey, of Selwyn.

The deceased was born in 1828, near Port Hope, and until young married with her father to the 5th concession of Smith, where she resided until 1852. In the year she was united in marriage to James Northey, and moved to the 11th concession of Smith where she has resided ever since. She was a devout member of Wesley Methodist church.

The late Mrs. Northey was ever ready to do all in her power to relieve the sick and sorrowful, and her loss is deeply mourned by a husband, two daughters, Mrs. Geo Preston, of South Mr. Peter Pearson, Peterborough, and four sons, Mr W J Northey, Mr John Northey, Mr T H Northey, Mr. Samuel Northey, of Smith, and Mr. Alex Northey of this city; besides four sisters; Mrs. S Sherlin, Lakefield, Mrs. Geo Armstrong, Smith, Mrs. James Bell, Markdale, Mrs. Geo Preston, Bethel, Mrs. and one brother, Mr. Daniel Roseboro, Andrew Roseboro, John Roseboro, of Manitoba, Samuel Roseboro, British Columbia, and Mr. Alex Roseboro of this city.

The funeral will leave the family residence, Smith, at two p.m. on Sunday, Oct. 20th, 1907, for Lakefield cemetery.

Extraordinary Death of a Horse

Mr. Geo Millburn, who lives in the township of Smith, about two miles from town on the Bridgenorth road on Wednesday night lost a valuable horse, one of a matched pair, in a most peculiar way. Mr. Millburn fed the horse early in the evening and left it in a stable on the best of health as far as he could see. On going to feed the horse next morning it was gone from the stall, the broken halter alone remaining. Mr. Millburn found the horse had smashed a door down that stood between the stable and the cow shed. The animal had then smashed down the wood partition surrounding the shed and got into the pig pen. It then smashed down the wall of the pen and got into an empty feed shed. Here Mr. Millburn found his horse lying dead. Marks of serious fight were visible on the horse's hide. The poor brute must have taken severe colic or inflammation during the night and became crazed with pain.

Great Fear for the King's Health

London, Oct. 19.—A well informed correspondent, stationed in Madrid, who is in close touch with court news, says that the gravest apprehensions are felt about the lungs of the King of Spain. Every effort, he says, has been made to conceal the truth, and of course the usual formal official denials will be issued, although it is well known that they will convince no one. There can be no real reason for keeping the King's condition from the public. Feverishly youthful on the side of the young King and every possible care will be taken of him, so far as his own restless temperament will permit; but what lends special gravity to the lung trouble is, of course, the fact that it is inherited from a short lived father.

It is stated that anxiety about his physical condition was the cause of the King's surreptitious visits to Cuenca. He privately consulted Continental lung specialists in that city, but they failed to give him a clean bill of health.

Friction Between France and Spain

Paris October, 19.—The French Press shows every disposition to minimize the importance and duration of the present coolness with Spain, professing to see nothing in the fact that the Spanish monarch's approaching visit to Austria and England does not include a stop-over at the French capital and ridiculing the idea of a permanent estrangement between the two countries over the Moroccan affair.

Ever since the Franco Spanish so-called co-operation began in Morocco there has been a little parallel in the continuous friction between the French and Spanish officers, and the relations of the French and Spanish residents at some While the foreign office professes entire official ignorance, all the information emanating indirectly from that very source proves that public suspicion is right in thinking that Spain is jealous of France's preponderating part in the expedition, while France resents the lack of earnest Spanish co-operation in accordance with the Algeciras agreement.

Diplomatically it is thought that all will be arranged amicably if Spain does not flare up too much. French public advisers counsel the country to keep cool, for co-operation in Morocco will be the very keystone of Franco-Spanish relations for years to come.

Read Wife Murders to His Spouse

Pittsburg, Oct. 19.—Thomas Griffin, of Allegheny, has been delighted in receiving his wife Griffin subscribed to all the newspapers in Pittsburg and many other places, and would send out news items about husbands from the wives of murders in the county. Then he would spend the evening reading the clippings to his wife and writing after in a significant manner, telling her that that was the way to spend time her.

After supper last evening Griffin took off a bundle of clippings and [illegible] Mrs. Griffin became terrorized and escaping from the house, called a policeman. Griffin was arrested and this morning Magistrate Hadfield sentenced him to the workhouse for ninety days for disorderly conduct.

Patrick Cleary Commits Suicide

Well Known Hastings Resident Takes His Own Life

A Hastings despatch of yesterday says: Patrick Cleary, an old and respected resident of this village, committed suicide by swallowing the contents of a bottle of carbolic acid. He was found in his room in a dying condition. He was a regular visitor to the hotel bar in very poor spirits of late. He had acted rather strangely in one of the shops, from which he returned to his own home where he took the poison.

His daughter, who is a trained nurse, heard her father fall and but too late rushed into the room. He was [illegible] fire. Ireland, and came to this country many years ago. He leaves a grown-up family of sons and daughters. One daughter was married only this week to T. J. Daly of Ottawa.

The funeral will take place to Warkworth cemetery, where his wife is buried, this morning.

French Bank to Come to Canada

Montreal, Oct. 19.—The Comptoir National d'Escompte, the third bank of importance in the French Republic, and one of the first moneyed institutions of the European continent, will open a branch in this city at an early date, and as the capital is nearly three hundred millions the advent of such an institution amongst us has an influence in Canadian financial commercial circles, and more especially in the commercial metropolis of the Dominion.

It is said that when Hon. L. P. Brodeur was in Paris negotiating the Franco-Canadian treaty, in company with Hon. Mr. Fielding, he had an interview with Monsieur Henri Bauer, a gentleman high up in the management of the Comptoir National d'Escompte in Paris, and although the decision to come to Canada had already been made, the information which Mr. Brodeur was able to place before those eminent financiers as regards the varied resources of Canada and especially the Province of Quebec went a good way towards accelerating their movements in the direction of the St. Lawrence.

Cheap Cigars and Tobacco Cut Out

Yesterday some excitement was caused amongst the purchasers of cheap tobacco and cigars, when it was learned that prices had gone up on both of the commodities.

Now Mr. M. Pappas of 237-239 George street, who also carries on a tobacco store on the other, or south side of George street, in the premises formerly occupied by the Palace Hotel, is, possibly the only man who has in this city, sold the regular ten-cent brands of tobaccos, both smoking and chewing at three for 25 cents. Of course, in natural course of business, most of the local cigar stores have sold the ordinary 10-cent domestic brands of cigars at four for 25 cents. However, owing to the recent raise in prices by the Canadian manufacturers, all the local retail dealers have met in conclave and have decided to cut out these cut-rate prices.

Yesterday afternoon a Times representative called on Mr. Pappas and asked, "Mike, are you going to quit this three for a quarter sale of 10-cent?" Mr. Pappas replied, "Well Mr. ——, the local dealers have talked this matter over and if they will agree so will I."

It thus looks as though those visitors from the country who have been looking for a week's chewing or smoking of less than wholesale cost, will, hereafter, i.e., after Nov. 1st, have to dig down to their jeans and pull out enough to at least pay the wholesale price. It may be secure to those wanting such bargains that stores on George street cost more than $1.83 a month for rent. Not only that, but city taxes cost a trifle for the man in or out of business on said street, [illegible] Hereafter the man coming into a cigar store and saying: "Please give me three plugs of McGinnis or other brand and throwing down a lonely quarter, and possibly plugged at that, will get a look that would make liquid air seem hot by comparison.

All Red Wireless System Propose

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 18.—F. G. Cross an expert of the Marconi Company was a passenger on the Australian liner Moana. He goes to the Fiji Islands to establish a system of wireless telegraphy to girdle the world, linking together British possessions. The route, as mapped out here, is England to Newfoundland, across Canada, thence to the Fanning Island, Fiji and Australia, due to British Possessions, Hong Kong, Ceylon South Africa, and thence home via St. Helena in the South Atlantic, or Aden Cyprus, Malta and Gibraltar.

What Do They Cure?

The above question is often asked concerning Dr. Pierce's two leading medicines, "Golden Medical Discovery" and "Favorite Prescription."

The answer is that "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most potent alterative or blood purifier, and tonic or invigorator and acts especially favorably in a curative way upon all the mucous lining surfaces, as of the nasal passages, throat, bronchial tubes, stomach, bowels and bladder, curing a large per cent. of catarrhal cases, whether the disease affects the nasal passages, the throat, larynx, bronchia, stomach (as catarrhal dyspepsia), bowels (as mucous colitis), bladder, uterus or other pelvic organs. Even in the chronic or ulcerative stages of these maladies it is often successful in affecting cures.

"Favorite Prescription" is advised for the more delicate cases of disease—those peculiar weaknesses and ailments and irregularities incident to women only. It is a powerful yet purely soothing invigorating tonic and nervine. For "run down," worn-out, overworked women—no matter what her occupation—"Favorite Prescription" will be found most effective in building up the strength, regulating the womanly functions, subduing pain and bringing about a healthy, vigorous condition of the whole system.

A book of particulars wraps each bottle giving the formulæ of both medicines and showing what leading writers of eminent medical schools, whose works are consulted by physicians of all the schools of practice, say and advise in prescribing, of each ingredient entering into these medicines.

The great praise bestowed on the several ingredients entering into Doctor Pierce's medicines by such writers should have more weight than any amount of non-professional testimonials, because such men are writing for the guidance of their medical brethren and know whereof they speak.

Both medicines are non-alcoholic, non-secret, and contain no harmful habit-forming drugs, being composed of glycerin extracts of the roots of native, American medicinal forest plants. They are both sold by dealers in medicine. You can't afford to accept as a substitute for one of these medicines of known composition, any secret nostrum.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets small, sugar-coated, easy to take as candy, regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels.

Railroad Employees May Again Strike

Rome, Oct. 19.—The administration council of the Italian railroads will hold a conference with Premier Giolitti tomorrow to determine what measures to be taken against the Italian railroad men who took part in the recent general strike.

In order to dispatches from Milan this evening, it is found out of 30,000 of seven thousand railroad employees decided that if the government should attempt to punish railroad men for taking part in this movement they will instantly go on strike. Then six thousand men say that if they go out the telegraphers will join them.

Turin, Oct. 18.—The federation of socialists held a meeting at the Labor Exchange to-night, at which it was decided to order another strike to last one week in retaliation for the forty-eight hour lockout ordered by the manufacturers. Troops arrived yesterday to punish the men who took part in the first general strike.

Stopped Rush of Cheap Newspapers

Ottawa, Oct. 19.—The discontinuance of the agreement as to second class matter from the United States has resulted, according to the post office department, in putting an end to the flood of cheap American papers and magazines which were merely advertising agencies, and which formerly poured into Canada by the hundreds of tons. They were carried for almost nothing. In May a rate of four cents a pound was put on, and since then not a pound of the objectionable matter has come in, for every thousand pounds that came in before.

The reduction in the American mails has been a great relief to Post Offices all over the country, which were formerly swamped by American advertising literature. The financial relations of the American and Canadian postal departments are now more evenly balanced than in the past. Many of the better class of American newspapers and periodicals are now being sent to Canada by express.

Old Soakers

Get Saturated with Caffeine

When a person has used coffee for a number of years and gradually declined in health, coffee is often given the credit for the trouble, not the coffee poison that has been the cause of the trouble.

A lady in Hunsville, Ala., says she used coffee for about 15 years and for the past twenty years she had suffered stomach trouble. "I have been troubled by many physicians, but all to no avail. Everything failed to give relief. I was prostrated on my bed and confined to it for weeks. I decided to quit coffee and try to partake of food for health and strength. I followed directions and I soon found out the cause of my trouble and stopped using it. I tried Postum as directed, and it promptly made a change for the better. I continued using Postum, and it promptly made me a well woman, restoring me to the table.

I have now used it four months, and my health is to greater improved that I can eat almost anything I want and can sleep well, whereas, before, I suffered for years with insomnia.

"I have found the cause of my troubles and a way to get rid of them. You can depend upon it, I appreciate Postum." "There's a Reason." Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

CURED PAINFUL IRREGULARITIES

Strong Testimony From a Lady Resident of Clarksburg, Proving That Ferrozone Surpasses All Other Remedies.

The health of many women is constantly imperilled through failure of certain organs to work according to nature's requirements.

Where this condition occurs there is no safer remedy to employ than Ferrozone, which has a specific action in female troubles.

Not only does it act directly on the organs, ensuring regularity and freedom from pain, but by forming rich red blood fortifies the system against weakening drains.

FERROZONE MAKES STRONG WOMEN

Ferrozone possesses a volume of merit totally absent in the ordinary medicine, and its superiority is proclaimed by thousands of women it has restored to vigorous health. From Mrs. F. G. Caldwell comes the following endorsement, written from her home in Clarksburg: "I went through a most trying experience with what is commonly known as 'Female Trouble.' It isn't necessary to state my symptoms, but I suffered a great deal. My health was well nigh ruined, and I got into such a condition that I couldn't even sleep. I was dreadfully nervous, weak and pale. Different prescriptions were recommended and I tried them. But Ferrozone was the first to help. I improved steadily under Ferrozone, and normal conditions were finally established. I gained weight, my color and spirits improved, and my former health was restored. Ferrozone cured me, and with a glad heart I recommend this good medicine to all other women."

Beware of imitations—don't allow a druggist to palm off anything else for Ferrozone, which costs 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50 at all dealers.

THE UNITED STATES AND THE PHILIPPINES

After nearly a decade of varied experience in the administration of the Philippine Islands, acquired from Spain as one of the results of the war with that country, the people of the United States are now asking themselves what the possession of these islands has profited the republic. The New York "Herald" recently stated that the cost to the United States of holding and governing the Philippines since they were acquired from Spain was no less than $400,000,000. The "Herald" went on to remark that this sum would have paid for forty-five battle-ships, or would have made the defences of the Pacific and Atlantic coasts of the United States impregnable. "To sell the islands," says the "Herald" and haul down the flag might not be the most glorious thing to do, but it would at any rate be a businesslike proceeding and less inglorious than to keep them as at present without adequate protection." Other American newspapers are advocating the sale of the islands. But if the whole of the American press was unanimous in such a course, it is scarcely credible if the United States Government would adopt it. In an English monthly magazine an article recently appeared which suggested that economic as well as political reasons could be adduced for the transfer of the Philippines to Great Britain in exchange for the British West Indian Islands. Such a scheme is however, just as unlikely in our opinion to find favor either in Great Britain or the United States as the "Herald's" suggestion of a sale for cash.

While it is easy to understand the disappointment felt in the United States at the financial results of its experiment in colonization, we do not doubt that its statesmen had weighed carefully all the possibilities of such disappointment when they decided to take over the Philippines as the outcome of their successful war with Spain. At all events Mr. Roosevelt, when he used the expression of "manifest destiny" in regard to the subject must have regarded the question from another standpoint than that of dollars and cents. To drop the ownership of the island now would be to admit that in all its policy the United States Government was merely influenced by sordid motives, and that it desired no part in the "white man's burden" which was to supercede misgovernment and injustice to the native population by a beneficient rule in the interests of the people, without consideration of the burden imposed on the new rulers. It is probably the case that there has been much waste and unnecessary expenditure incurred in the first years of their administration of the islands by the Americans. Unlike Great Britain the United States does not possess a body of civil servants like those found in the Indian Civil Service or of the British Colonial Office, and the lack of such capable instruments must have added to the difficulties of the government of a tropical land with a population like that found in the Philippines. Without any reflection on the Americans who have been sent out to fill official positions there we must admit that the latest reports of the conditions of the affairs in the islands lead us to think that the Americans have been slower in acquiring that experience and capacity for their duties than we had expected would be the case.

But having undertaken the task we do not see how the United States can withdraw from the Philippines. From a strategic point of view, there would be difficulties in the way of such withdrawal. To whom could the islands be sold, if it were decided to give them up? Not to Japan, since if strategic reasons did not make it inadvisable religious reasons would make the American people opposed to such a transfer. But morally we dispute the right of a power to hand over the rule of a subject people to another nation without the consent of the former. Great Britain has no desire to add to her colonial responsibilities, and the appearance of any other European Power as the owner of the Philippines would arouse international jealousies.

Outlook in the West is Bright

Mr. G. E. E. Ussher is Enthusiastic Over Outlook

Montreal, Oct. 18.—Mr. C. F. E. Ussher former general passenger agent of the C. P. R., and present western traffic manager is at present in this city on a business trip of a few days. He will return to his new headquarters at Winnipeg in the beginning of next week.

Mr. Ussher, in an interview at the C. P. R. offices said that the outlook in the west was a very favorable one, as the crop had proved to be much better than first estimates had claimed, and the people were feeling hopeful of a successful year.

"The passenger traffic over the western sections of the line has proved very heavy," he said, "and parties of tourists have been very numerous. I made a prediction on this subject last March, and at that time it was regarded as being too optimistic, but events have shown that it was under instead of over the reality. Next year the gain will be still greater, and everything points to a great rush of business."

Regarding the labor situation, Mr. Ussher said that the West continued to suffer from a shortage of labor, and that its development was being somewhat hampered on this account. He had hopes however, that a large immigration next year would improve the conditions in the labor market.

Land in Korea for the Japanese

Tokio, Oct. 18.—An official publication of the Japanese foreign office makes a denial of special telegrams from Washington and London, published recently in Tokio newspapers, in which it was declared that Secretary Taft, during his recent visit threatened to apply the exclusion act in the United States unless Japan halted immigration.

An announcement has just been made of a colonization scheme which will open up millions of acres of land in Korea to Japanese settlement, and officials aver that this will solve the question of immigration to America.

Grand Trunk Lays Heavier Rails

Montreal, Oct. 18.—The work of removing the 85 pound rails and of replacing them with 100 pounders has already begun on the montreal end of the Grand Trunk line, and gangs of men are now engaged on it. It is expected that the new rails will be laid as far as St. Anne de Bellevue this year, and next spring the work will be continued until such time as the whole line has been covered. Already a number of sections have been laid, particularly on the strip between Toronto and Hamilton, where the traffic is probably heavier than on any other sixty miles of track in Canada. Other sections of the heavy rails have been laid west of Port Huron on the old Chicago and Grand Trunk branch of the road.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Great Britain

London, Oct. 18.—Herbert Stanton, aged 30, managing clerk of Messrs. Hunt, brewers, of Stamford, was sentenced to three years' penal servitude at Stamford for embezzlement. Stanton pleaded "guilty," and the prosecution stated that the defalcations, which had extended over seven years, amounted to £2,500. Stanton's arrest was effected a few days after his return from his honeymoon.

DWELLING IN THREE PARISHES.

The inmates of a cottage on the main Amersham road (Bucks) have their meals in Chepping Wycombe, sleep in Penn, and when they stroll to the front gate are in the parish of Hughenden.

350 TONS OF STONES.

At a meeting of the Belfast Corporation it was stated that during the recent riots some 350 tons of stones were removed from the streets, and that £142 would be required to replace them.

TOLL GATES BURNT.

After Mr. Sanders Stephens, J.P., C.C., had declared the Axmouth, Devon, toll bridge, which was opened in 1877, freed from toll, the gates and posts, amid much enthusiasm, were burnt on a large bonfire.

BABY VICTIM OF A FIGHT.

While two men were fighting in a house in Candleriggs, Glasgow, they knocked a pot of boiling water over. The water fell on a little girl named Mary Sloan, aged two years, who was so severely scalded that she died. The men have been arrested.

RUSH FOR ALLOTMENTS.

As showing the large demand for small holdings in Lincolnshire, application has been made to the Allotments and Small Holdings Committee of the Holland county council meeting at Spalding, for over 200 acres of small holdings at Holbeach.

ON THE COW CATCHER.

The effectiveness of the automatic "cow catchers" attached to the London county council electric tramway cars was illustrated at Streatham, where a young servant girl who darted across the road in front of a car was picked up and flung sideways out of danger.

SOUTH SEAS EXPEDITION.

The Norwegian steamer Solglimt is in the Tyne about to make an expedition of Crozet Island, in the Southern Seas. Among her passengers is Mr. H. J. Bull, of Christiania, who was wrecked while on an expedition to the island last year, and was rescued from a small boat after nine days.

GRANDSON OF LEIGH HUNT.

Mr. Thornton Leigh Hunt, Chelsham, who was a London bank clerk till stricken down with locomotor ataxy, is among the large number of candidates for the benefits of the Royal Hospital for Incurables, Putney-heath.

FREE MUNICIPAL CONCERTS.

Under the auspices of the Public Library and Museum Committee of the Southwark Borough Council, the Southwark Borough Prize Band will give free weekly concerts at the Manor place and Lavington court Public Baths during the winter season. The expenses of the concerts will be met by the revenue from advertisements on the free concert programs.

Started the French Walking.

The celebrated Dr. Tronchin, friend of Voltaire, Rousseau and Diderot, was the inventor of walking. In France until his epoch (1709-81) the leisured class never walked either for health or recreation. Walking was only practiced by the Tiers Etat. Folks footed it from one place to another simply because they possessed neither coach nor sedan chair. Dr. Tronchin, an initiator in many other respects, induced "les elegants et les elegantes," writes a historian, to take what is now called a constitutional. To stroll abroad was named "tronchiner" after the inventor, and for their airings both sexes had special costumes and shoes, the latter being more especially necessary. The verb "tronchiner," by the way, has not had the fate of our "to boycott," having passed into disuse long ago.—Westminster Gazette.

A Saidheaded Reply.

A naval officer, very well and favorably known in London, has for some unknown reason been advanced in his profession very slowly, though he has grown gray in the service and indeed lamentably bald. Recently one of his juniors was bold enough to question him as to his remarkable absence of hair.

"How comes it that you are so very bald?"

The officer replied promptly and with much vindictiveness:

"You, man, you would be bald, I think, if you had had men stepping over your head for years in the way I have."—London Punch.

A French Joke.

Two doctors were called to attend a man who had suffered an accident to his hand.

"We shall have to amputate three fingers," said one.

"No, two," said the other.

"Three," maintained the first.

"Oh, well, three, then," replied the second. "We won't quarrel over a little thing like that."—Nos Loisirs.

Easy Permission.

"Willie, did you put your nickel in the contribution box in Sunday school today?"

"No, mamma. I ast Eddie Lake, the preacher's son, if I couldn't keep it an' spend it fer candy, an' he give me permission."

They who menace our freedom of thought and of speech are tampering with something more powerful than gunpowder.—Conway.

PITTSBURG - IDAHO

Mining and Milling Company

The mine is located 58 miles above Lewiston, Idaho, on the Clearwater river, and consists of 19 full claims, or 380 acres. It is developed by tunnels, shafts and open cuts for more than 2100 feet, disclosing thousands of tons of copper, gold and silver ores of both high grade and low grade. There are between 1600 and 2000 tons of ore ready for shipment. The entrance to the working tunnel is only 2000 feet from the track of the Northern Pacific railroad, to be reached by gravity tramway. There are seven parallel veins running lengthwise of the claims, one cropping out on the surface for 2600 feet and another for 3000 feet; while two veins cross these running into the mountain. These veins are from 30 to 200 feet wide. One ore chute has been crosscut 60 feet and is solid ore from wall to wall.

We are not asking you to buy in a prospect. That risk was taken by the promoters. We are asking you to buy in a developed, proven mine. Seven years of continuous work and the expenditure of thousands of dollars has proven up one of the greatest mines in Idaho. That mine is now ready to pour out its red and yellow wealth to the world with the installing of an up to date production plant. It is for that purpose that a block of its treasury stock, full paid and non-assessable, is offered for sale. We believe that within six months from the completion of a 100 ton plant the mine can be put on a dividend paying basis, and that those dividends will be substantial and permanent. There is no better investment proposition before the people at this time.

CAPITALIZATION $1,000,000 - PAR VALUE $1.

AIKENSIDE

BY MARY J. HOLMES

Author of "Dora Deane," "The English Orphans," "Lena Rivers," "The Rector of St. Mark's," "Tempest and Sunshine," Etc.

that Agnes and Guy would not come home, for with their coming she felt there would be a change. It was nearly time now to expect them. Indeed, Guy had written on one Saturday that they should probably be home the next, and during the ensuing week Aikenside presented that most uncomfortable phase of a house being cleaned. Everything must be in order for Mr. Guy, Mrs. Noah said, taking more pains with his rooms than with the remaining portion of the building. Guy was her idol; nothing was too good for him, few things quite good enough, and she said so much in his praise that Maddy began to shrink from meeting him. What would he think of her? Perhaps he might not notice her in the least, and that would be terrible. But, no, a man as kind as he had shown himself to her would at least pay her some attention, and so at last she began to anticipate his coming home, wondering what their first meeting would be, what she should say to him, and what he would think of her.

CHAPTER XI.

Saturday came at last, a balmy September day, when all nature seemed conspiring to welcome the travelers for whom so extensive preparations were making at Aikenside. They were expected at about six in the afternoon, and just before that hour the doctor rode up to be in readiness to meet them. In the dining room the table was set as Maddy had never seen it set before, making, with its silver, its china, and cutglass, a glittering display. There was Guy's seat as carver, with Agnes at the urn, while Maddy felt sure that the two plates between Agnes and Guy were intended for Jessie and herself, the doctor occupying the other side. Jessie would sit next her mother, which would leave her near to Guy, where he could see every movement she made. Would he think her awkward, or would he, as she hoped, be so much absorbed with the doctor as not to notice her? Suppose she should drop her fork, or upset one of those queer-looking goblets, more like bowls than anything else? It would be terrible, and Maddy's cheeks tingled at the very thought of such a catastrophe. Were they goblets really those funny colored things, and if they were not, what were they? Summoning all her courage, she asked the doctor, her prime counselor, and learned that they were the finger-glasses, of which she had read, but which she had never seen before.

"Oh, must I use them?" she asked, in so evident distress that the doctor could not forbear a laugh as he told her it was not of the slightest consequence whether she used them or not, advising her to watch Mrs. Agnes, who was au fait in all such matters.

Six o'clock came, but no travelers. Then an hour went by, and there came a telegram that the cars had broken down and would not probably arrive until late in the night, if indeed they did till morning. Greatly disappointed, the doctor, after dinner, took his leave, telling the girls they had better not sit up. Consequently, at a late hour they both retired, sleeping so soundly as not to hear the noise outside the house; the banging of doors, the setting down of trunks, the tramp of feet, Mrs. Noah's words of welcome, one pleasant voice which responded, and another more impatient one which sounded as if its owner were tired and cross.

Agnes and Guy had come. As a whole, Agnes' season at Saratoga had been rather disagreeable. Guy, it is true, had been exceedingly kind. She had been flattered by brainless fops. She had heard herself called "that beautiful Mrs. Remington," and "that charming young widow," but no serious attentions had been paid, no millionaire had asked to be her second husband. If there had, she would have said yes, for Agnes was not averse to changing her state of widowhood. She liked the doctor, but if he did not propose, and some other body did, she should accept that other body, of course. This was her intention when she left Aikenside, and when she came back, it was with the determination to raise the siege at once, and compel the doctor to surrender. She knew he was not wealthy as she could wish, but his family were the Holbrooks, and as she positively liked him, she was prepared to waive the matter of money. In this state of mind it is not surprising that the morning of the return home she should listen with a troubled mind to Jessie's rather exaggerated account of the number of times the doctor had been there, and the nice things he had said to her and Maddy.

"He had visited them ever so much, staying ever so long. I know Maddy likes him; I do, anyway," Jessie said, never dreaming of the passion she was exciting, jealousy of Maddy, hatred of Maddy, and a desire to be revenged on a girl whom Dr. Holbrook visited "ever so much."

What was she that he should care for her? A mere nothing—a child, whom Guy had taken up. Pity there was a Lucy Atherstone in the way of his making her mistress of Aikenside. It would be a pretty romance, Guy Remington and Grandpa Markham's grandchild. Agnes was nervous and tired, and this helped to increase her anger toward the innocent girl. She would take immediate measures, she thought, to put the upstart down, and the sight of Flora laying the cloth for breakfast suggested to her the first step in teaching Maddy her place.

"Flora," she said, "I notice you are arranging the table for four. Have we company?"

"Why, no, ma'am; there's Mr. Guy, yourself, Miss Jessie, and Miss Clyde," was Flora's reply, while Agnes continued haughtily: "Remove Miss Clyde's plate. No one allows their governess to eat with them."

"But, ma'am," and Flora hesitated, "she's very pretty, and ladylike, and young; she has always eaten with Miss Jessie and Dr. Holbrook when he was here. He treats her as if she was good as anybody."

In her eagerness to serve Maddy and save her from insult, Flora was growing bold, but she only hurt the cause by mentioning the doctor. Agnes was determined now, and she replied:

"It was quite right when we were gone, but it is different now, and Mr. Remington, I am sure, will not suffer it."

"Might I ask him?" Flora persisted, her hand still on the plate.

"No," Agnes would attend to that, and also see Miss Clyde. All Flora had to do was to remove the plate which she finally did, muttering to herself: "Such airs! but I know Mr. Guy won't stand it."

Meantime Maddy had put on her prettiest delaine, tied her little dainty black silk apron, Mrs. Noah's gift, and with the feeling that she was looking unusually well, started for the parlor to meet her employer, Mrs. Agnes Jessie had gone in quest of her brother, and thus Agnes was alone when Maddy Clyde first presented herself before her. She had not expected to find Maddy so pretty, and for a moment the hot blood crimsoned her cheek, while her heart throbbed wildly beneath the rich morning dress. Dr. Holbrook had cause for being attracted by that fresh, bright face, she thought, and so she steeled herself against the better impulses of her nature, impulses which pleaded that for the sake of the past she should be kind to Maddy Clyde.

"Ah, good-morning. You are Jessie's governess, I presume," she said, bowing distantly, and pretending not to notice the hand which Maddy involuntarily extended toward her. "Jessie speaks well of you, and I am very glad you suit her. You have had a pleasant time, I trust?"

Her voice was so cold and her manner so distant that Maddy's eyes, for an instant filled with tears, but she answered civilly that she had been very happy, and everybody was very kind. It was harder work to put down

The School of Politics.

"What is it when your political rival is indicted for grafting?" asked the teacher.

"It is a triumphant vindication of the principle that honesty is the best policy and that the people may be trusted to keep a watchful eye upon their servants," responded the class glibly.

"And what is it when you are indicted for the same thing?"

"It is a malicious, base conspiracy, and we demand a vindication."—Judge.

Feminine Finesse.

"Amie, it seems to me that you slyly provoke your husband to wrath every morning," said the mother to her newly married daughter. "I'm afraid you do not know what you are doing."

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments, must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential.

Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the Local.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional.

The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerve, all tissue, and all blood ailments.

The "Night Cure", as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, eases nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Subagency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at an Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

The homesteader is required to perform the homestead duties under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of a homesteader lives permanent residence on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of a homestead, or upon a homestead entered for by him in the vicinity, such homesteader may perform his own residence duties by living with the father (or mother).

(4) The term "vicinity" in the two preceding paragraphs is defined as meaning not more than nine miles in a direct line exclusive of the width of road allowances crossed in the measurement.

(5) A homesteader intending to perform his residence duties in accordance with the above while living with parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

Six months' notice in writing must be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of intention to apply for patent.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

1908

THE UNDERSIGNED will receive tenders up to noon on Monday, 4th November, 1907, for supplies of Butchers' Meat, Creamery or Dairy Butter, Flour, Oatmeal, Potatoes, Cordwood, etc., etc., for the following institutions during the year 1908, viz:—

At the Asylums for the Insane at Toronto, London, Kingston, Hamilton, Mimico, Brockville, Cobourg, Orillia and Penetanguishene; the Central Prison and Mercer Reformatory, Toronto, and the Hospital for Epileptics at Woodstock.

Exceptions—Tenders are not required for the supply of Meat to the Asylums in Toronto, London, Kingston, Hamilton, and Brockville, nor for the Central Prison or Mercer Reformatory, Toronto.

A marked cheque for five per cent of the estimated amount of the contract, payable to the order of the Provincial Secretary, must be furnished by each tenderer as a guarantee of his bona fides. Two sufficient sureties will be required for the due fulfilment of each contract, and should any tender be withdrawn before the contract is awarded, or should the tenderer fail to furnish security, the amount of the deposit will be forfeited.

Specifications and forms of tender may be had on application to the Department of the Provincial Secretary, Toronto, or to the Bursars of the respective institutions.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without written authority from the Department will not be paid for it.

W. J. HANNA,
Provincial Secretary.

Rewards of Greatness.

"It seems harder for men to be really great nowadays than it was years ago," said the student of history.

"That's very true," replied Senator Sorghum, "very true indeed. But I am inclined to think we get better paid for it nowadays."—Washington Star.

A Tartar.

His Lordship — So the beggah you turned out this morning was coarse and abusive?

Valet—Abusive, my lord! Why, he might have been your lordship himself.—Harper's Weekly.

Head and Heart.

"A woman at twenty," remarked the observer of men and things, "will take a man's tears as indicating a soft heart; at thirty as indicating a soft head."—Detroit Free Press.

All Supplied.

"It is hard to account for this war feeling," said the philosopher.

"We are patriotic," was the answer.

"Yes, but we nearly all draw pensions already."—New York American.

To Say No.

Mrs. Bainbridge—The girls of today should be taught to say "No."

Mrs. Hemphill—That's what I think. The pert things all say "Nit."—Harper's Bazar.

Brief Peace of Mind.

"Clara, I love to be with you."

"Why, Edith?"

"When I'm with you I know you are not gossiping about me."—Chicago Record Herald.

President ..... EDWARD T. PATRICK,
Mine Owner and President of the Goldfield Stock and Exchange Board.

Vice-President ..... JUDGE CHAS. L. HAYES,
Mine Owner and Leading Attorney of Goldfield, Nevada.

Secretary and Treasurer ..... ADAMS F. BROWN,
Corporation and Mining Lawyer and Member of Listing Committee Goldfield Stock and Exchange Board.

Depository ..... JOHN S. COOK & CO.
Bank of Goldfield, Nevada.

This company owns 1 claim (80acres) of some of the best proven mineral land in the Goldfield district, consisting of the Accidental and Accidental No. 2 lode claims, situated two and one-half miles south of the great Goldfield Consolidated Mines (comprising the Mohawk, Goldfield, Combination, Red Top, Jumbo and Laguna) the richest in the world; and the Broadway and Beauty lode claims situated three and one-half miles north of the consolidated and about one and one-half miles northwest of the Great Bond and Daisy Mines near the Zeon group in the Diamondfield section second only in richness to the great Mohawk portion of the camp. Phenomenally rich strikes have recently been made on the Consolidated, the Great Bend and the Daisy Mines.

The company has also succeeded in securing the Sure Thing lode claim (20 acres) in the Cuprite district, which has an immense gold bearing ledge, running the entire length of the claim 1,500 feet, outcropping in places over 50 feet wide, and met by several cross dykes all carrying fine values in gold, and is without doubt rightly named "Sure Thing."

All of these claims are located in the same mineral belt as the other noted mines of Goldfield that have astonished the world by their production of millions in high grade ore, and will with the same development give equally profitable returns.

The money derived from the sale of this stock will be used at once for the active development of the property and the fact that all the directors are residents of Goldfield with years of successful mining experience who will give their personal attention at all times to the progress of the work gone to show that the first issue of 100,000 shares will meet with a quick and ready sale at the initial price of 10 cents per share.

We advise immediate action if you wish to participate in the vast profits of this low priced Mine.

Stock will be listed as soon as feasible on the Goldfield and San Francisco Stock and Exchange Boards. Would therefore advise purchasers to buy in board lots of 1,000 shares when convenient to do so.

IN SHORT FORM FOR BUSY READERS

—Rev. Canon Davidson's confirmation class met last night.

—It was rumored yesterday that the National Hotel has changed hands and that Mr. Lawless has sold out to a Toronto man.

—Mr W. J. Edmison, general merchant of Harwood, was in the city yesterday. He brought up about 1,000 bags of potatoes by boat.

—Preparatory communion service was conducted in Knox church yesterday evening Rev. Mr. McKenzie, of Centreville, preaching.

—Bread up, milk up, coal, butter in a balloon, whiskey up and now tobacco and cigars go up on November 1st. Where is this upward movement going to stop.

—Fred Sherwood was taxed $5.05 at yesterday's police court for harboring a dog on which the city tax had not been paid.

—The application of the Grand Trunk Railway Company to build two new sidings extending eastward from Bethune street, south of the Grand Trunk station, has gone to the Railway Commission.

—The Woman's Auxiliary, St. John's branch, will hold a social one evening party at seven o'clock in the school room, Oct. 21.—Parents and children will be welcomed. Round games, music, etc., will be enjoyed.

—The wild rice crop on Rice Lake this fall is away short. The Indians are disgusted with the results. Still the shortage in rice may, in a measure be compensated for by a good wild duck slaughter.

—Messrs. Robt. Walton, of Havelock and John Nelson of Toronto Junction, had a narrow escape on the Trent River whilst out duck shooting. Their canoe upset.—They were saved by the good offices of a brother sportsman.

—The regular weekly meeting of the Sabbath School Association was held yesterday evening at the Y.M.C.A. The subject, "The Capture of Jericho." Rev. Dr. Tailing was the leader.

—It is reported that Mr. G. R. German, who has been proprietor of the Windsor Hotel in Campbellford for a few years past is about to retire from the business, and his successor is Mr. James Blute, son of the late Thomas Blute.

—The farmers will be pleased to know that Mr. Isaac Richardson is again in the field here buying hogs for the Matthews firm of Peterborough. He will ship every Tuesday from Millbrook and pay the highest prices.—Millbrook Reporter.

—Mrs. King who has taken the premises formerly occupied by Mr. F. Darcy, where the Palace Restaurant was formerly conducted, yesterday was busy getting things into shape for reception of roomers and boarders next week.

—At the close of a public meeting held in Campbellford last week, a resolution was passed that aggressive steps be taken to bring the local option law into force in Campbellford.

—There is no reason why the local Rugby team, especially, though not necessarily so, after their recent victory, should not have a bumper crowd on their excursion to Toronto a week from today. The fare is cheap and the game will be worth seeing.

Trial Catarrh treatments are being mailed out free on request by Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. These tests are proving to the people without a penny's cost—the great value of this scientific prescription known to druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Remedy. Sold by all dealers.

—Unfortunately the well intended and commendable efforts of the Peterborough Canadian Club to get Rudyard Kipling here for a night's address missed fire. The club did their best but failed to connect owing to unconquerable series of circumstances.

—Messrs L. G. Bennett, of the Queen's Hotel, and M. J. Spencer, of the Hotel St. Lawrence, were in court this afternoon on a charge of selling liquor on Sunday, Oct. 6th Mr. D. H. Chisholm appeared for Mr. Bennett, who is in Winnipeg, and pleaded guilty. Mr. Spencer pleaded not guilty. Both men were fined $95 and $5 costs.

Better This Year Than Ever

Any person who has read the Family Herald and Weekly Star for a few years back would wonder how it could be improved from year to year. Still every one will admit that during the past twelve months there has been a wonderful improvement and the Family Herald and Weekly Star is to-day bigger value than ever before. Newspaper, Magazine and Agricultural Journal all combined, it is certainly a unique publication. Any person who does not know the Family Herald and Weekly Star should give it a trial for 1908. It is a wonderful dollar's worth.

Typhoid in Monaghan Family

Yesterday morning four children of one family of North Monaghan three boys and a girl, ranging in age from 15 down to 2 years, belonging to Mr. Richard Moncrief who lives eleven miles from Peterborough were brought to Nicholls hospital suffering from typhoid fever. Four weeks ago a child of six years old died after a short illness. Mr. Belleghem's ambulance left the city about six o'clock yesterday morning and brought the four sick children to Nicholls hospital, where they are being given every possible care and attention. One of the little boys is now convalescent.

A sample of the water from the well which the family has been using was sent to Toronto to be analyzed

Much sympathy is extended to the family in their bereavement.

Purse and Money Found

Yesterday afternoon as Mr. Dave Hall, the Snowden House, tonsorial artist, was busily engaged in sweeping the fallen leaves from the pavement in front of his place he was taking a blow in a couple of days during this month, with colors varied from the deepest green to pale brown, richest carmine or neutral tints, or as regulated by a regular chemical, naturalistic "Horsonic" personality, by name O Keller, at the roots of a maple tree in front of the hotel, picked up a brown paper envelope, and with a regular actory pay envelope that contained a certain sum of money in bills, good Dominion Bank bills at that. Now, while not wishing to put those who have no right to be so we might mention that on the envelope was the name of Miss Lagueneas. The name of the owner was not mentioned however Mr. Hall, seeing a Times representative approaching in the distance as a Times man. You get him to put your find in The Times and you are sure to get the right owner."

Mr. Keller accepted in this advice and here is the golden opportunity of the owner to claim and retain her money. The Times does not charge one cent for the items given.

Did Fire Alarm System Ring Right

Yesterday shortly after the hour when decent hard working men and even newspaper reporters get ready for dinner, or about 12.45 the fire alarm sounded as per cards posted throughout the city. Now, right here is no kick, but a simple statement that contains a whole lot of significance. In the presence of some eight or ten witnesses a local citizen assured the Times that he listened carefully and counted accurately the strokes of the alarm bell, to ascertain when the fire originated. He found that, judging by the strokes of the bell, the fire box nearest to the scene of the conflagration should be No. 68. In reply to his report we said he must surely be mistaken, still if he were right a serious mistake was made.

To get down to the actual facts of yesterday's fire, it occurred at the residence of Mr. James B. Gillespie, 138 Hunter street east.

The damage done was not serious. The loss will be in the neighborhood of $400, but is practically covered by insurance. The fire originated from a defective chimney. The roof was much damaged, and will have to be replaced Mr. Melville Moore was the first to notice the blaze, and hurried to the corner of Mark street to send in the alarm. The brigade was soon on the scene and had hose playing on the blaze, as soon as could the best trained on the continent, under management of our efficient fire chief, Tom Rutherford.

Dairymen to Meet in this City

Advertisements are being issued for the special meeting of the dairymen of the Peterborough district to be held here on Wednesday, Nov. 6th, commencing at 1.30 p.m. The meeting is held under the auspices of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association and promises to be of much value.

Mr. G. A. Gillespie will occupy the chair and the following are the speakers secured:

D. Derbyshire, ex-M.P., Brockville; J. R. Dargavel, M.P.P., Elgin; Henry Glendenning, Manilla; George A. Putnam, Supt. Dairy School, Toronto J. W. Mitchell, Supt. Dairy School, Kingston; G. G. Publow, Chief Dairy Instructor, Kingston; R. G. Murphy, Brockville, Secretary Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association; and the local dairy instructor of the district.

Police Court

At yesterday's session of the police court the Loafers' League had a comparatively slow time.

W. Westcott was charged with receiving from Wm. Overend, the sum of $5 under false pretences. Westcott did not appear before the magistrate, and admitted getting the money.

Mr Overend stated that the prisoner asked him to lend him five dollars. He said Geo. Stevens owed him money but he could not get it, as Stevens was away. Mr. Overend lent the money, but afterwards learned that no money was owing Westcott from Stevens.

Westcott offered to pay the amount and thus settle up, including costs of the court.

PERUNA A WONDERFUL BOON IN MY OLD AGE.

MRS. MAHALA REID.

Heartily Approves of Pe-ru-na and Man-a-lin for Kidney and Bowel Trouble

MRS. MAHALA REID, Corbyville, Ont., Canada, writes:

"Your celebrated remedies have been a wonderful boon to me in my old age.

"I have not been in so good health for several years as now. I was troubled with constipation, rheumatism and kidney trouble.

"A little over two years ago, I completely lost my health, becoming almost helpless, when a dear friend sent me your remedies, Peruna and Manalin. I began to take them, following the directions on the bottle. I very soon began to feel benefited by their use and continued to take them.

"I am now completely recovered from the above ailments, in fact, better than I have been for years past. I cannot praise the remedies too highly and will always recommend them to others."

Constipation is almost sure to set up other derangements.

Retained accumulations within the bowels are partly reabsorbed into the system, producing sometimes rheumatism, sometimes kidney trouble.

The blood being surcharged with acids, which ordinarily find their escape through the bowels when they are regular, rheumatism is the result.

Acid blood forms crystals, which accumulate about the ligaments, cartilages and sometimes the bones in the joints.

Such morbid accumulations of blood throw extra work upon the kidneys. The kidneys being unable to perform the unusual labor of excreting these poisons, often give way and kidney trouble is the result.

Permanent relief cannot be reasonably expected except by correcting the constipation.

Regular bowels are a great safeguard to health. Peruna and Manalin are unexcelled the world over for chronic diseases affecting the bowels and kidneys.

Mrs. W. W. Lamaster, 3127 McAtee, Ave., Louisville, Ky., writes:

"I suffered for twenty-six years with bladder and kidney trouble, and being advised to give Peruna a trial, I did so. Eight bottles of Peruna and three bottles of Manalin entirely cured me."

A NEW KIND OF BUTTER BEING SOLD IN PETERBOROUGH

Messrs. White and Gillespie Supplied First Lot of Whey Made Butter--May Bring Down the Price of Butter

The Canadian Dairyman of October 9th, gives an account of two factories in the Brockville section, separating the whey from the butter-fat after drawn from the cheese vat, and manufacturing butter from the butter fat obtained from the mixture.

Mr. G. G. Publow, chief Instructor for Eastern Ontario personally inspected the plants where this is being done and strongly advises the system being adopted where factories are large enough to warrant the expense.

It might be noted that the Shearer cheese factory, situated near this city has put in a plant for making this new style of butter and from 4000 pounds of whey obtained 14.40 pounds of butter fat an equivalent of 16 pounds of butter. Messrs. White & Gillespie the George street grocers obtained a quantity of this whey made butter and supplied it to customers last Saturday. The butter greatly resembles the ordinary creamery butter both in looks and taste, it is very sweet but hardly as highly flavored as the best quarters of the cream made article. However as it is still comparatively in the experimental stage, improvements may be made that will result in a great saving to the factories and increasing the too limited supply of good butter, which is climbing to almost prohibitory prices.

McMaster will Get Sixty Thousand Dollars from Rockefeller

Woodstock, Oct. 19.—Hundreds of Woodstock College old boys are here to celebrate the semi-centennial of the Baptist school, and more are arriving at the session of the convention. This morning Chancellor McKay reported that during the past year 221 had been enrolled at McMaster, 173 at Woodstock College, and 176 at Moulton, a total of 570, the largest registration yet.

During the present year a course in Sunday school pedagogics would be presented to the senate for endorsement, with the object of assisting ministerial students. The senate should soon seriously consider the question of establishing a medical faculty. It could be done without the work becoming a charge on the present endowment. It was a duty to do it.

The total receips for all the colleges were $104,542.30, and the disbursements $108,988.80. Promises of over $40,000 had recently been secured from friends of the university. By November first of this year sufficient subscriptions would be secured to ensure the $60,000 gift from J. D. Rockefeller. McMaster had the only thoroughly equipped Baptist theological school in the British Empire.

Three thousand dollars was asked for, for the purpose of paying students for services on mission fields during the college year. The report was seconded by D. E. Thomson, K.C.

Expects a large Fortune

Mr. Alfred Cooney of this city on Saturday evening at seven o'clock, just as the local wet goods dispensaries quit the week's business, that he had that day received intelligence from the executors of an aunt of his who died last July to the effect that he, Cooney was a benificary under her will to the extent of some $35,000. He expects to enter the mining business on receipt of the fortune and will go prospecting at once. We might note that Mr. Cooney personally signed the notes concerning this intelligence as a guarantee of its authenticity. We hope the fortune Mr. Cooney spoke of Saturday will materialize.

Officers Nominated for Philomathean

A meeting of the Peterborough Collegiate Philomathean Society has been held to elect officers for the coming year. Principal Fessenden was elected honorary president, and Mr. S. J. Stubbs, B.A., and Miss Bauer, B.A., honorary vice-presidents, by acclamation, but there will be contests for the other positions. The nominations were as follows.

For president, S. Austen and Michael O'Brien.

For vice president, Miss L. Elliott and Miss F. Pollock.

For secretary, Miss L. Sandercock, Miss G. Crook and Miss G. Todd.

The election takes place this afternoon.

WATCHES FOR OLD EMPLOYES.

While visiting the hosiery factory of Messrs. T. B. Bowring & Co., of Leicester, yesterday the Lord Mayor of London presented on their behalf gold watches to each of two employes who had been in the service of the firm for over fifty years.

Gives Valuable Advice

A well-known authority says backache is nature's danger signal, which notifies the sufferer that the kidneys are sick.

The following simple home-made mixture is said to relieve backache and clear, and build up weak, disordered kidneys, if taken before the stage of Bright's disease, fluid extract Eucalyptus oil chips, compound syrup Sarsaparilla, one ounce. Mix by shaking well in a bottle, and take a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime.

A well-known local druggist is authority for these ingredients are mainly of vegetable extraction and harmless to use, and can be obtained at small cost from any good prescription pharmacy. Those who think they have kidney trouble or suffer with lame back or weak bladder, or such symptoms as frequent desire to urinate, especially at night, sinful thick, discolored urine, etc., should give this prescription a trial, as no harm can possibly follow its use, and it is said to do wonders for many people.

Police Court

Only one prisoner occupied the dock at Saturday's session of the police court, who was a young man named Doucet. The prisoner pleaded guilty to being a private in the Medical Corps of the British Army, who had deserted.

The magistrate said, 'You will be confined in the jail until claimed by the military authorities.

No time was fixed for his incarceration as he was not demanded immediately held until the military authorities sent for him.

Inspector Stewart in the box said that on the 22nd of September, early Sunday morning he went in the Norton Hotel. He watched the hotel from 12.30 a.m. to 3.30 a.m. and saw many people passing in and out, some of them drunk. He tried the doors on Water street, and the back door but could not get in. He saw the lights in the bar turned on and off several times. He saw Armstrong in the bar and in the office. Armstrong was fined one dollar and costs, or in default of distress and sales. At three o'clock the next morning he went to the Charlotte St. entrance and saw a drunk man eject. Between when the box came to the hotel at about one o'clock and three a.m. he counted twenty-five people that entered and twenty-five people who came out of the hotel. The door would be locked after each time people passed through. This was on the night that the glasses and liquor was found in a room of the same hotel.

Mr. Stewart went on to say that there were rumors that he was actuated by spite against certain people. He wished to note that he had no spite against anyone.

The magistrate replied, "Stewart, you are a police officer and your duty to perform. Every man ought doing what he can to this breg used against him." He found the defendant guilty, but reserved judgment from Saturday to some points in the act. The penalty is a $20 fine or a month's imprisonment.

Banks are Relaxing Purse Strings

Ottawa, Oct. 19.—The latest of the weekly bank statement issued by the Finance Department today is the most decisive sign to show of good business conditions and a relaxation of the banks' purse strings in the matter of accommodation on call or short loans in Canada. The former is shown by an increase of $7,610,927 during the month in "loans payable on demand," while the latter is indicated by an increase of about half a million dollars in advances on stocks and bonds, although the amount outstanding on this account in Canada on Sept. 30th is still some twenty-five millions less than the total of Canadian call loans a year ago.

Compared with Aug. 31st, the bank savings deposits show a decrease of $4,579,655, namely, from $125,727,356 to $121,147,701 on Sept. 30th. Call and short loans elsewhere than in Canada are returned at $65,158,661, an increase of $4,650,249, but [illegible] there in Canada shows an increase during the month of $1,711,106.

Current loans in Canada, which stood at $596,053,982 at the end of August, dropped to $578,277,577 on Sept. 30th. The banks have also extra-the millions more loans on current account in Canada than they had on Sept. 30th last year.

An increase of $16,750,650 in call loans is more than offset by an increase of about $11,000,000 in [illegible]

Forsees An Independent Roman Catholic Church

Montreal, Oct. 20.—A Roman Catholic church in America, independent of any papal influence from Rome, is a possibility which the Rev. Dr. Dawson, British author and preacher, who is at present in Montreal, seems to think may some day become an accomplished fact.

"There is much significance in the fact," said he, "of the tendency of viewpoint at present characterizing the Roman Catholic clergy in America. If a dispute were to arise with the authorities at Rome, an independent Catholic Church would be well within the pale of possibility."

In regard to the Church in Canada, the Rev. Dr. Dawson declared that progress of church union seemed very desirable as a remedy against the present waste of energy involved by division.

"The religious situation in this country," said he, "offers an unparalleled opportunity for a preacher with a living message of a message broader than any creed.

David Hartley will Walk Next Friday

Will try to Walk from Bowmanville to Peterboro via Toronto in 38 Hours

Mr. David Hartley who already has a past record of good fast spurting will on Friday of this week undertake his long talked of walk. His course will be from Bowmanville to Toronto and return to Peterborough a distance of six miles greater than that walked by Langford. Hartley is confident that he can accomplish this feat in thirty-eight hours. Mr. Hartley considers that even if it takes a bit longer time he is still accomplishing a remarkable performance if he finishes. Mr. Hartley firmly states that he will start next Friday. All he wants is his expenses. Mr. Hartley would like someone to accompany him in a buggy and also an official timekeeper.

A well-known local man offers to give Hartley fifty dollars to bet for himself against one hundred dollars of some other man, who will put it up.

Faster Vessels for the Pacific Route

Vancouver, B. C., October 21.—Sir Thos. Shaughnessy has joined Mr. C. M. Hays in favor of the Japanese. He said: "I cannot see why there is such opposition to the Japanese. I believe in many respects they are equal to the whites."

Sir Thomas reaffirmed the promise of faster vessels for the Pacific route.

Mr. E. B. Osler said it was desirable to have only white labor in the Dominion, but did not think rapid development could be accomplished without other labor, particularly in British Columbia. Upon the financial situation Mr. Osler sees no cause for alarm or uneasiness.

Skating Fatality Sequel at Brockville

Skating Fatality Sequel

Brockville, Ont., October 21.—A peculiar action was entered in the High Court for unstated damages by W. H. Pennock (a Conservative) against Mitchell and Wilson, contractors of that town, for negligence resulting in the death of his daughter, Lucy Maud, on December 31, 1906. Miss Pennock was drowned while skating on some private property of the town in company with a young man whose life was saved.

Mitchell and Wilson are the owners of a small tug and scow, and two days before the accident occurred from the spot with their boats to lay them up for the winter. On arriving at Gananoque they found the ice so thick around and about the wharf and decided to leave in order to get home in the boat-house, and to walk across the ice. The young lady skated broke through and subsequently met her death, as the jury alleged, was owing to the negligence of the defendants in not having taken the precaution to see that the ice was safe before allowing the public to skate upon it. The jury found a verdict for the plaintiff for $800 damages, and costs. The defendants' counsel took exception to the charge of the judge, and the case will therefore go to the Court of Appeal. Crown Attorney Ferguson, K.C., and Mr. Arthur Meighen, K.C., M.P., and Mr. Mowat, K.C., appeared for the plaintiff, and Messrs. Lewis, Holden & Lewis, of Brockville, for the defendants.

New Fraud Being Worked in Montreal

Montreal, October 19.—Mgr. Mathieu, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Regina, has received a letter from a woman in the United States asking for his help in securing the ownership of the Island of Anticosti. It was said by Mr. Mercier, Provincial Secretary, that A suit will be entered in the Superior Court, Montreal, within a few days, to endeavor to recover the claim.

Mr. Lavergne has a remedy to offer. He says that Mr. Lemieux, M.P., and Messrs. Arthur Hawkes, K.C., M.P., and Hanna, M.P., are the dupes of the dreamer, who came from Louis Joliet, the discoverer of the Mississippi, to whom the Anticosti and the Mingan Islands were ceded by Louis XIII in 1661. The land was ceded by Joliet in feudal tenure and thus should have been restituted by the new proprietors, tenure of lands at the present in England. Though the Imperial Government respected tenure of seigneurial lands throughout the colony, it allowed Anticosti to be invaded by squatters who made things so disagreeable for the ordinary settler that they forced their possessions, leaving the squatters in possession of the land. Mr. Mercier is alleged to have secured a right from the descendants of these squatters, and Mr. Peters claims that this title is defective, null and void and has up the claim of the widow to a share of this property, adding that the land was fifty years ago valued at $2 per acre, after the creation of the Province of Quebec, but is now worth $2,000,000. Crown Domain, of which in reality, it still forms part, and Mr. Mercier cannot plead prescription.

Dave Langford Tells the Story of His 138 Mile Walk

Port Hope, Oct. 19. — Accompanied by Jimmy Reynolds, a representative of the press sought Langford's room at nine o'clock this morning and was greatly surprised to find him awake and sitting up in bed as if nothing had happened. The condition of the youthful athlete was a revelation. He appeared quite cheerful and conversed freely regarding his unique performance. Beyond ordinary general stiffness, his only disability appears to be a sore instep and a galling above the ankle. He awoke this morning feeling both thirsty and hungry, and owing to the soreness of his feet was obliged to use his hands to summon refreshments.

A HARD, HARD WALK.

"It's a hard, hard walk," commented Langford, "and the rough at proposition I ever encountered. On the going trip I both felt and did fine, but it's the return journey which knocks a man out. From Pickering eastward to Port Hope it was only my will and my trainer that brought me along. I would map out the next point where I could get refreshment and utilize it as a goal on my mind. But above all, I left Port Hope confidently before me. At Pickering I succumbed to a fit of nausea, and from that on my stomach was practically without food. When I reached that big hill this side of Newcastle, where Reynolds gave out I had to stop.

SAID HE HAD GIVEN UP.

"It was reported at that stage that I had given up, but after a rub-down I struggled on. At Newcastle my heart was examined by a doctor, and it was found to be in fine shape. From that on I made better time, but it was an awful struggle. I thought we should never reach Welcome, three miles north of Port Hope. For miles the other side of that turn I was asking O'Brien and Reynolds how far it was away, and they kept telling me Irish miles. If they hadn't I can see now that I should have become discouraged.

SUFFOCATED BY DUST.

"After an appearance at Welcome was reached and from that on I was followed by a crowd of people, but the dust only made me nearly suffocated me. I kept repeating to myself, 'Port Hope, Port Hope,' and by concentrating my mind on it and using my will power, I managed to reach the hotel at 9.03."

"Considerable attention and kindness was shown to myself for my mind along the route back, and the people of Port Hope certainly gave me a great reception."

REYNOLDS A MARVEL.

Langford thinks that Reynolds, who paced him for over seventy miles, is a marvel, and he sounds high words of praise in favor of his trainer, O'Brien.

Langford will remain in town over Sunday and hopes to depart on Monday for Renfrew.

News Briefs

London, Oct. 19.—Thirteen hundred Derbyshire tenants of the Duke of Rutland, went in train to luncheon at Belvoir Hall to celebrate the coming of age of the Marquis of Granby. The tenantry and the corporation of Bleston presented illuminated addresses and handsome gold and silver cups to the young nobleman, the gathering noted that it was 138 years since a previous Marquis of Granby's coming of age had been celebrated, and that he was similarly entertained by his tenantry. Such an event had never been characterized by so great a display of devotion as they had witnessed that day.

LORD MAYOR FOR BRADFORD.

The King has conferred that the chief magistrate of the city of Bradford shall henceforth be styled "Lord Mayor of Bradford."

FINED TWENTY YEARS AFTER.

At Wycombe last Wednesday Walter Lee was fined £10 and costs for an assault committed on a police constable in 1886. The constable was arresting the prisoner for fowl-stealing on Lord Esher's estate, when Walter assaulted him and escaped. Walter came to Wycombe on Tuesday over twenty years absence and on his Springfield, Ill., Oct. 18.—John Mitchell, president of the United Mineworkers, entered the hospital at La Salle, Ill. It is understood he will submit to an operation for appendicitis, when his condition becomes more favorable. National Secretary Treasurer Wilson held a conference with Mitchell at La Salle, and later will announce names of the candidates for Mitchell's position.

Crystal City, Man., Oct. 18.—Some time ago Miss Potter, of this town, was elopted to marry Riddell to five years in Kingston Penitentiary for perjury, and his young wife, who is also his niece, is left husbandless at the beginning of her honeymoon. Trotter and the young woman, who was Miss Mary Chase, lived near the village of Warren. The parish priest refused to perform the marriage on account of Marie being Trotter's niece, and the ceremony was performed by the Protestant minister, Trotter taking the necessary affidavit that his intended bride was no relative. Soon afterward, however, the complaint was laid against him.

Miss Potter's father was in Toronto at the time of the first runaway referred to in the despatch, on his way back to Crystal City from London. While in that city he learned that the young couple had been located in Winnipeg, and he immediately started back for the west.

North Bay, Oct. 18.—Charles Trotter has been sentenced by Judge Riddell to five years in Kingston Penitentiary for perjury, and his young wife, who is also his niece, is left husbandless at the beginning of her honeymoon. Trotter and the young woman, who was Miss Mary Chase, lived near the village of Warren. The parish priest refused to perform the marriage on account of Marie being Trotter's niece, and the ceremony was performed by the Protestant minister, Trotter taking the necessary affidavit that his intended bride was no relative. Soon afterward, however, the complaint was laid against him.

Another Railway Across the Rockies

Winnipeg, Man. Oct. 18.—Mr. Duncan Ross, M.P. of Greenwood, B.C. was arrested in the city from the East on a charge, by telegraph, that the C.P.R. will not be in a position to build the Yellowhead Pass until a few years hence. Mr. Ross affirms that he would be very probable for the great transcontinental to do this. In the first instance he points out that there is not much country that is capable of being developed on the main line between Banff and Kamloops while on the proposed mountain line there is a great deal of agricultural land along the valley of the Thompson River.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company's New alternate route has developed in a very extraordinary manner, the mining agricultural and other industries having without number been brought into existence by the daring policy that conceived the construction of this line of railway. In a similar manner he believes that the construction of the Yellowhead Pass would have a similar effect not only upon the resources of the company, but upon the country through which it would pass.

The gauge would be about the same on the portions across the prairie, and he did not think that the distance by way of the Yellowhead would be any longer than the main route. There will however, be some difficulty about the railway that pass the mountains; and want to get down to the level

SERVING MAID TORTURED TO DEATH BY HER MISTRESS

Mrs. Emma Kaufmann Convicted of Having Torturing to Death Her Pretty 16-Year-Old Maid Servant

Chicago, Oct. 20.—In the criminal court at Flandreau, S.D., a few days ago, sat two women who occupied opposite poles of the social world. The rich woman, wife of a millionaire, politically powerful, was on trial charged with murder. Upon her proud face were fixed the eyes of the poor woman, almost friendless and without influence of any kind.

The charge and the testimony showed that the rich woman had fiendishly tortured to death the only daughter of the poor woman.

The haughty face of the rich woman indicated her belief that no jury would dare convict the wife of her influential millionaire husband. The poor woman, broken with grief, looked dazed. Suddenly she felt her seat among the spectators and approached the rich woman. Was she about to attack the murderess of her daughter?

No such thought was in her mind. Her conduct was even more sensational. It was indescribably affecting. Dropping to her knees in the aisle and raising her toil-worn hands aloft, while tears streamed from her eyes, she besought the Almighty to pardon the one who had tortured to death her only child.

"O God, forgive the murderer of my daughter," she prayed.

Then the poor woman's mind and body collapsed, and it was found necessary to take the mother of dead Agnes Poiresis back to her wretched little home in the country near Parkston, S.D., whence Agnes had come two years before, to be beaten to death—so it is charged—by her rich mistress, Mrs. Emma Kaufmann, wife of Moses Kaufmann, the millionaire brewer of Sioux Falls, S.D.

The story of this instance of almost incredible cruelty practiced upon a maid servant by her mistress was printed in these pages a year ago. Agnes Poiresis, a pretty girl of sixteen, was hurriedly sent from Mrs. Kaufmann's house to a Sioux Falls hospital where, next day, she died. Mrs. Kaufmann was arrested on the testimony of other servants that she had systematically tortured and virtually beaten the girl to death.

Of course the rich woman was committed for trial to answer to the charge, but the accusing servants—who said that the woman had an ungovernable temper—said that they were not compelled to flee to the cellar from her dangerous wrath—it was said that Mrs. Kaufmann's mind had been affected by the death of her daughter several years ago. The night of any other girl—especially a fresh one, like Agnes Poiresis—made her frantic.

So strong was public sentiment against Mrs. Kaufmann in Sioux Falls that she was only obtained a change of venue for her trial to Flandreau. The news that she had been admitted to bail caused such a mob to gather at the jail that she was smuggled out of a back door to her home, where she had to have police protection.

In spite of the unfriendly sentiment manifested by the spectators Mrs. Kaufmann and members of her family appeared confident of acquittal. When the jury retired to consider its verdict Mrs. Kaufmann sat between her husband and their grown son Charles. The court, the Kaufmanns and the spectators remained in their seats, evidently expecting a quick decision.

In less than an hour the jury returned.

"We find the defendant guilty of manslaughter in the first degree," said the foreman.

The spectators burst into applause, which the judge severely rebuked. Mrs. Kaufmann turned deadly pale and her head sank upon her hand.

Charles Kaufmann, her son, burst into tears. Her husband seemed utterly crushed. They knew that the least penalty under the law would be four years in the penitentiary.

Mrs. Kaufmann was first to recover her composure. This statement by the court seemed to give her some comfort.

Rudyard Kipling will Not Speak Here

Mr. F. D. Kerr, president of the Peterborough Canadian Club, received the following recognition from Mr. Rudyard Kipling, the talented English author and poet, who was invited to give an address in Peterborough.

The president and secretary of Peterborough Canadian Club.

Dear Sirs,—I have your very kind invitation to address your newly formed Canadian Club, but I fear that I shall not leave Toronto till after the hour you mention.

Yours sincerely,

RUDYARD KIPLING.

Drunken Woman Puts Lindsay on the Rough

Lindsay Post says:

"A woman from Glenarm vicinity drove into town and left her horse and buggy at Sheridan Rye's livery barn. She then went up street and disgraced herself by indulging too freely in liquor. She was seen reeling around the streets, but did not turn up for her horse at night and Mr. Rye put it in the Butler Hotel yard.

Yesterday she came to the livery stable and demanded her horse. She was told it was in there, whereupon she set to and abused all present. Chief Vance put some one to work and swore she could whip him or all his helpers. Finally she was quieted and taken away.

We are informed that the woman is a resident of Peterborough."

Large Real Estate Deal on the Tapis

One of the most important real estate deals affecting local interests in this city is now on the tapis. It is proposed by the North American Investment Co. of Toronto, to erect the National Hotel, remodel and greatly enlarge the same, giving it a frontage and main entrance on George street.

Mr. W. Young Kinsley, the general manager of the Toronto Company, referred to, as authority for the statement that the company is now negotiating for the National, and if they require it, a local company with $250,000 capital will be formed. It is proposed to purchase the present property situated to the north of the Custom House and Comstock furniture establishment, and extend the National now as to have a George street entrance. A new opera house and office buildings will be included in the structure, to be erected on this ground, the whole to be in one large and substantial building. Mr. Kinsley was in the city Saturday, though why rather than the city and the proposed new enterprise.

Mrs. J. W. Hawes Has Passed Away

On Saturday morning one of the best known and most highly respected ladies of this city and well known in the township of Smith, passed away at Nicholls Hospital in the person of Mrs. W. J. Hawes, Dunette St.

The late Mrs. Hawes' maiden name was Miss Susannah Telford, and she was a daughter of the late Robert Telford, one of the best known residents of the township of Smith. She was 58 years of age and besides her mother she is survived by five brothers and three sisters. The brothers are Robert, William Henry, George and John, of Smith, and Richard of east ward. The sisters are Mrs. B. Westway and Mrs. Thos. Howie, of Cameron, Ont., and Mrs. J. Wilson, of Harvey.

—Mrs. Hawes' death was due to blood poisoning. She was a staunch supporter of St. Paul's church. The funeral will be held this afternoon at 2.30 to the Little Lake cemetery for interment.

Stop Interference with Regimental Band

Victoria, B. C. October 21.—Officers of the Fifth Regiment Canadian Artillery have applied for a writ to prevent the Musicians Union of this city from interfering with the members of the regimental bands.

For some time past Bandmaster Rumsey has been on the black books of the union. He has already been subjected to a fine and has been notified that a second will be forthcoming unless he conforms to the laws of the union.

The officers have taken action and will carry it even to the Supreme Court of Canada if a decision is given against them in the lower courts. They claim the union has no right to dictate to bandsmen who are in the King's uniform.

Caffeine—in coffee—is such a direct poison to the nerve centres of many highly organized people that it produces all sorts of disorders, from stomach and bowel troubles, palpitation of the heart, kidney affections up to more intricate nervous troubles, such as paralysis.

The way to keep well is to leave off coffee and use Postum, which is a direct rebuilder of the nerve centres. "There's a Reason." Sure and well defined improvement in health will follow this course, as can easily be proven by any person who values health enough to make a trial.

CURED PAINFUL IRREGULARITIES

Strong Testimony From a Lady Resident of Clarksburg, Proving That Ferrozone Surpasses All Other Remedies.

The health of many women is constantly imperilled through failure of certain organs to work according to nature's requirements.

Where this condition occurs there is no safer remedy to employ than Ferrozone, which has a specific action in female troubles.

Not only does it act directly on the organs, ensuring regularity and freedom from pain, but by forming rich red blood fortifies the system against weakening drains.

FERROZONE MAKES STRONG WOMEN

Ferrozone possesses a volume of merit totally absent in the ordinary medicine, and its superiority is proclaimed by thousands of women it has restored to vigorous health. From Mrs. F. G. Caldwell comes the following endorsement, written from her home in Clarksburg: "I went through a most trying experience with what is commonly known as 'Female Trouble.' It isn't necessary to state my symptoms, but I suffered a great deal. My health was well nigh ruined, and I got into such a condition that I couldn't even sleep. I was dreadfully nervous, weak and pale. Different prescriptions were recommended and I tried them. But Ferrozone was the first to help. I improved steadily under Ferrozone, and normal conditions were finally established. I gained weight, my color and spirits improved, and my former health was restored. Ferrozone cured me, and with a full heart I recommend this good medicine to all other women."

Beware of imitations—don't allow a druggist to palm off anything else for Ferrozone, which costs 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50 at all dealers.

AN EXAMPLE FROM MINNESOTA

In Minnesota a royalty is imposed on the output of all iron mines in the State. The revenue so collected is not spent as acquired, but is kept intact, and the interest from the fund so created is devoted to educational purposes. A writer in the Chicago Record-Herald says the total of this iron mining fund now amounts to $9,000,000, and that in time the accumulation will be so great that the interest will be sufficient to provide each child in the state with a free university education.

We have in Cobalt, Sudbury and other localities a more valuable mining region than Minnesota possesses in her iron mines. Our cobalt, silver and nickel can bear taxation more easily than can the iron ore of the state beyond Lake Superior. We should follow the example of Minnesota, not only in imposing a fair royalty charge, but in applying the moneys so received to the creation of a capital that will provide, in the form of interest, a permanent revenue. The mines will be exhausted some day, but their possibilities for public benefit can be made permanent.

CANADIAN DEVELOPMENT

When speaking of the attractions which the Dominion can offer to immigrants, people are very apt to have in mind only the opportunities presented in Western Canada. But the authorities of the Maritime Provinces, Ontario and Quebec are not regardless of the importance of adding to the population of those provinces, and are considering the methods which should be adopted to that end. We notice that Mr. Duff Miller, the agent-General for New Brunswick in London, has come across to the Province to consult with the Government about this matter. New Brunswick has, of course, one advantage over the provinces in Western Canada in her geographical position, since the immigrant has merely to find the cost of the steamship fare and has no expensive railway journey to make before he reaches his destination. While it is true that there is an exodus all the time from the Eastern Provinces to the West, there is no reason why farmers and others from the United Kingdom should not find the former offering inducements to locate there. In some respects the conditions in the older settled parts of Canada are likely to be more congenial to an immigrant than those found in the settlement of a new country. Nor will it be entirely a loss to Western Canada if the efforts of the authorities in the Maritime Provinces to secure immigrants are successful. The farms the immigrants will acquire in many instances will be bought from native owners who are desirous of moving to the Western prairies. This movement is continually going on and is to the general interests of the Dominion, since it adds a desirable element to the population in the East and in the West and probably fits it to the surroundings most suitable in each case.

The Dutch have plenty of trouble in carrying their share of the "white man's burden." Out in Celebes, where a desultory war has been going on for half a century, two companies of Dutch soldiers have been killed to a man by the natives.

An examination of 75 boys in the Truro school in Nova Scotia has shown that 65 are physically defective. The physical defects of children are accountable for much of the trouble which the teachers have with them. Medical examination with more or less regularity would increase the efficiency of our school systems.

Sir Horace Plunkett Visiting In Montreal

Montreal, Oct. 16.—Sir Horace Plunkett, the prominent Irish educationalist who has been closely associated with the policy of the amelioration of the Irish peasantry by the promotion of land purchase under recent acts of Parliament and the transfer of the people from the more congested districts to areas where better crops is to be found for their industry, spent a day or two in Montreal and is the guest of Principal Robertson at the Macdonald Agricultural College, St. Anne de Bellevue.

Sir Horace who has had a very distinguished, varied and useful career is deeply interested in Sir William Macdonald's educational project for the dissemination of knowledge in the agricultural districts by providing a thorough education for teachers. He has been for the past seven years vice-president of the Department of Agriculture and Technical Instruction for Ireland and for the previous eight years he was a member for Dublin County in the British House of Commons. His work as Commissioner on the Congested Districts Board and founder of the Irish Agricultural Organization Society is pronounced by members of all political parties to have been most beneficial in promoting the development of Irish Agriculture on lines of enlightenment and progress.

When seen at the Windsor on Saturday Sir Horace modestly refrained from discussing a work in which he has played so prominent a part but he declared his firm conviction that Ireland has passed through the darkest days of her history and that her sons will yet find opportunities for successful careers in their own country which they have so often proved their capacity for achieving in foreign lands. No doubt Ireland would obtain such measure of responsible government as would be compatible with her continued progress, and the just needs of her people.

Sir Horace who is the third son of the sixteenth Lord Dunsany, is a man of distinctly aristocratic appearance, apparently about fifty years of age. A quarter of a century ago he was engaged, as a young man in pursuit of ranching, and before his return he will visit Western Canada. He has been the recipient of high academic honors at Oxford and is a Knight Commander of the Victorian order.

JOYS OF A COLLECTOR.

Picking Up a Valuable Painting at an Auction Sale.

"Collecting will always have its romances. I know of one that occurred at the sale at Christie's of the effects of the late Sir Henry Irving. Some one I knew had been to see the collection before the sale. He came across a portrait with which he was familiar because he had seen it thirty years before. On consulting his catalogue he discovered that the portrait was described as being that of a man unknown, and, further, the artist was also unknown. Now, he knew that the portrait was that of a famous actor by a famous English painter. He longed to buy it, but decided that it would go at too high a price. He went to the auction—with very little hope. The Whistler and the Sargent were sold, and then it was the turn of this picture. Nobody recognized it. Finally he had to start the bidding himself, and this he did. Only one man bid against him, but he soon stopped, discouraged, and then the picture was knocked down to the man who had never expected to get it. He hurried to the desk to pay the small amount and to carry off his prize. "Do you happen to know anything about that portrait?" the auctioneer asked him as a porter took it down to a cab. "I know it very well," said the new owner, conscious that it was now truly his property. "It is a portrait of Buckstone, the actor, by Daniel Maclise. There is an engraving of it in the Maclise portrait gallery."—Mrs. John Lane in Pearson's Magazine.

"She Isn't Me."

A woman was waiting for her sister in a railway station when a gentleman, looking for his wife and misled by a general resemblance in figure and clothing, stepped up behind her and, laying his hand on her shoulder, exclaimed, "Thank goodness, Emma, it's you!" The name he used happened to be really hers, which made the sudden familiarity even more startling. She jumped nervously. "You're mistaken, sir!" she gasped. "I'm Emma, but she isn't me."—Youth's Companion.

The shade temperature rarely if ever reaches 100 degrees in England. In northwest India, however, a temperature of 125 degrees is not uncommon, while in the deserts of Africa and Arabia the thermometer has registered over 130 degrees.

Western Wheat Crop

Ottawa, Oct. 16.—Mr. John Byrnes, head of the general inspection branch of the Department of Trade and Commerce has returned from an official trip to the West. As an indication of the effect of late threshing this year, he mentioned that in September, 1906, wheat was received at Fort William and Port Arthur to the amount of 4,164,776 bushels, whereas for the same month this year only 600,778 bushels reached the terminals.

Dealing with the crop estimate, Mr. Byrnes figures it out that, making every possible allowance for damage, taking into consideration the increased acreage there must be 83,000,000 bushels.

He adds: Northwestern Manitoba, Northern Alberta and Saskatchewan to a large extent have been attacked by frost. The worst features about the results is that some individuals have lost their entire crops. On the other hand there are large crops grading 1dm. I was informed by one farmer living forty-five miles southwest of Saskatoon that he had 1,000 acres that would grade No. 1 Northern. Threshing only started about the 8th in Saskatchewan, and owing to the wet weather has been much delayed in Manitoba, so that it is difficult to form a close estimate at this date.

"Up to the 9th inst., eighty per cent of the new wheat inspected graded 3rd, but there is no doubt that a great quantity will only grade feed, for which there will be, however, an increasing demand in Ontario throughout the whole winter and as this grade will fetch as high a price as No. 1 Northern did last year, the majority of the producers will still receive good money.

"The largely increased acreage under coarse grain," says Mr. Byrnes, "will become a boon to the farmers owing to the high prices ruling. The pure food laws in the United States having made it necessary for the maltsters to use a superior grade of barley, the higher qualities of this grain are commanding excellent prices."

AN ENIGMA IN STONE.

"Nirvana" in the Rock Creek Cemetery at Washington.

So many things may be said of St. Gaudens—of the traits of his genius, his modesty, his deep sympathy with all who possessed high ideals or who had noble thoughts; of his own noble generosity, his willingness to sacrifice himself for the advancement of art, his keen perception of beautiful character, or of a fine impulse that often shone for him out of the most commonplace of lives or of features. One incident of many, says Harper's Weekly, may not only illustrate him, but help to illumine a masterpiece of his which has perplexed some minds that may be worth the enlightening. "The work is the figure of 'Nirvana' in the Rock Creek cemetery at Washington. St. Gaudens was in Washington in the winter of 1902, making his beautiful relief of Wayne MacVeagh and Mrs. MacVeagh, and Hildegarde Hawthorne was there, too, and visited more than once that dreaming figure in the cemetery. At last she was moved to write some verses, which she sent to a magazine, but the editor thought that he had seen verses on the sculptor's work that better expressed its sentiments, and returned the verses with the stimulating suggestion that some day he would show the young woman some real poetry about the figure. St. Gaudens, too, had seen both poems, and when he heard of this expression of the editor's he wrote to him and said that Hildegarde Hawthorne had divined his intention as no writer had done, and therefore the verses are in print. So, if you like, you may solve the riddle by reading them."

Pall Mall.

Few perhaps know that Pall Mall derived its name from an old "Pall-maille" court which stood on the site 300 years since. This game was simply a slightly different form of croquet and appears to have gone completely out of fashion in the eighteenth century. Who revived it and how it came by its modern name are not known.

"SOLID GOLD" IN LAW.

Meaning of a Puzzling Term in the Jewelry Trade.

The term "solid gold" has been the cause of much discussion on the part of manufacturers of gold articles and of much misapprehension on the part of the public for some time past, and the recent law fixing the commercial definition of the phrase is welcomed on all sides.

According to this law, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, 10 carat gold is the commercial "solid gold," and all articles containing more alloy than this or all articles with parts which contain more alloy are henceforth to be known as plated, filled or rolled gold and must be so marked by the manufacturer. For example, a pin with a top of "solid" gold, even to the value of 18 carats, cannot legally be called solid if hinge, hook or pin is not 10 carat gold, while another pin of 10 carats throughout, though of much less intrinsic value than that of 10 carats, is legally "solid gold." This law was made to protect the manufacturing jewelers against the makers and sellers of "phony" jewelry and has been heartily indorsed by the legitimate trade all over the United States.

"It is a law which we have long needed," said a St. Louis wholesale jeweler, "but solid gold is a misnomer, and I for one should be very glad to see the term abandoned and the value stamp used in its place. Commercially speaking, there never was such a thing as 'solid gold'—at least not for the last 200 or 300 years. Some of the ancient jewelry of the Roman and the renaissance periods was made of pure gold, worked up by hand with the crudest tools, and that is, of course, of far greater value on account of the purity of the material as well as its quaint and beautiful workmanship and its antiquity than any modern products of the goldsmith's art.

"But alloy has been used to a constantly increasing extent since jewelers found that the harder the gold was rendered by good alloy the greater its wearing qualities and the more secure, therefore, the setting of the gems it contained. Our jewelry now is of 18, 14 or 10 carats, according to the design and character of the article, and it is much more frequently 10 than 18.

"The law requires us to mark on the article itself or on the card to which it is attached the exact value of the gold in all the parts, just as the food manufacturers are now obliged to state the ingredients of the package on the label, and a heavy penalty is attached to the use of the words 'solid gold' if any part of the article contains less than 10 carats of gold.

"There is a bill now being prepared to be introduced at the next Congress to abolish the use of this term and substitute the carat stamp for it, and both wholesale and retail jewelers over the country will work hard for its passage. We believe the term is calculated to deceive, even when fully explained. This bill, if passed, will require manufacturers to stamp all gold articles with the number of carats registered. Half a carat will be allowed for errors, but the manufacturer will have to see that the gold comes within this limit. This would be a great help to the buying public as well as to us, for then everybody could see at once what he is getting and there would not be so many chances for a comeback at us."

Mushroom Breaks Asphalt Walk.

Illustration of the wonderful strength of growing vegetable matter is afforded in a forceful manner by a mushroom brought to the office of the News by T. J. Trustler. The mushroom, which is of the edible kind, grew under the asphalt pavement of the Middle drive. Its strength in growing was sufficient to bulge up the pavement for a radius of more than two inches and finally to break off the hump of asphalt.

Imbedded like a cap in the center of the mass of asphalt is the pileus of the mushroom. This is perfectly formed. The stipe or stem is slender and only slightly bent. The circular piece of asphalt displaced is about four inches in diameter and about an inch and a half thick. The surface is filled with seams and cracks, showing that the asphalt gave way slowly under the gradually increasing pressure of the mushroom beneath.—Indianapolis News.

Future of Aristocracy.

That an aristocracy which perpetuates itself and renews itself with all the best blood of the country may be a benefit to a country is proved by the example of England, where the past is always the base of progress. In France the aristocracy, fought by royal politics, decimated by revolutions, exhausted by a new regime, has been reduced to a small number of families. The Duc de Bohm says: "There is no longer an aristocracy; money has killed it."—Paris Vie Heureuse.

Young at Eighty.

People are no longer ashamed to be about and doing their work at eighty. They no longer feel compelled to apologize to their young descendants for standing in the way. They have discovered that old age is a relative term and that unless serious physical disablements or crippling disease come at eighty one may be active without being disrespectful to the younger generation or lacking in respect for one's own contemporaries.—New York Outlook.

PITTSBURG - IDAHO

Mining and Milling Company

The mine is located 58 miles above Lewiston, Idaho, on the Clearwater river, and consists of 19 full claims, or 380 acres. It is developed by tunnels, shafts and open cuts for more than 2100 feet, disclosing thousands of tons of copper, gold and silver ores of both high grade and low grade. There are between 1000 and 2000 tons of ore ready for shipment. The entrance to the working tunnel is only 2000 feet from the track of the Northern Pacific railroad, to be reached by gravity tramway. There are seven parallel veins running lengthwise of the claims, one cropping out on the surface for 2000 feet and another for 3000 feet; while two veins cross these running into the mountain. These veins are from 30 to 200 feet wide. One ore chute has been crosscut 50 feet and is solid ore from wall to wall.

We are not asking you to buy in a prospect. That risk was taken by the promoters. We are asking you to buy in a developed, proven mine. Seven years of continuous work and the expenditure of thousands of dollars has proven up one of the greatest mines in Idaho. That mine is now ready to pour out its red and yellow wealth to the world with the installing of an up to date production plant. It is for that purpose that a block of its treasury stock, full paid and non-assessable, is offered for sale. We believe that within six months from the completion of a 100 ton plant the mine can be put on a dividend paying basis, and that those dividends will be substantial and permanent. There is no better investment proposition before the people at this time.

AIKENSIDE

BY MARY J. HOLMES

Author of "Dora Deane," "The English Orphans," "Lena Rivers," "The Rector of St. Mark's," "Tempest and Sunshine," Etc.

Maddy Clyde than Agnes had expected, and after a little further conversation there ensued a silence, which neither was inclined to break. At last, summoning all her courage, Agnes began:

"Excuse me, Miss Clyde, but your own good sense, of which I am sure you have an abundance, must tell you that now Mr. Remington and myself are at home, your intercourse with our family must be rather limited—that is—ahem—that is, neither Mr. Remington nor myself are accustomed to having our governess very much with us. I suppose you have had the range of the parlors, sitting there when you liked, and all this was perfectly proper. Mind, I am finding no fault with you. It is all quite right," she continued, as she saw the strange look of terror and surprise visible on Maddy's face. "The past is right, but in future it will be a little different. I am willing to accord to a governess all the privileges possible. They are human as well as myself, but society makes a difference. Don't you know it does?"

"Yes—no—I don't know. Oh, pray tell me what I am to do!" Maddy gasped, her face as white as ashes, and her eyes wearing as yet only a scared, uncertain look.

With little, graceful tosses of the head, which set in motion every one of the brown curls, Mrs. Agnes replied:

"You are not, of course, to go to Mr. Remington. It is my matter, and does not concern him. What I wish is this: You are to come to the parlor only when invited, and are not to intrude upon us at any time, particularly when company is here, such as—well, such as Dr. Holbrook, if you please. As you cannot be with Jessie all the while, you will, when your labors as governess are over, sit in your own room, or the schoolroom, or walk in the back yard, just as the higher servants do—such as Mrs. Noah and the sewing girl, Sarah. Occasionally we shall have you in to dine with us, but usually you will take your meals with Mrs. Noah and Sarah. By following these directions you will, I think, give entire satisfaction."

When Mrs. Agnes had finished this, Maddy began to understand her position, and into her white face the hot blood poured indignantly. Wholly inexperienced, she had never dreamed that a governess was not worthy to sit at the same table with her employer, that she must never enter the parlors unbidden, or intrude herself in any way. No wonder that her cheeks burned at the degradation, or that, for an instant, she felt like defying the proud woman to her face. But the angry words trembling on her tongue were repressed as she remembered her grandfather's teachings; and with a bow as haughty as any Mrs. Agnes could have made, and a look on her face which could not easily be forgotten, she left the room, and in a kind of stunned bewilderment sought the garden, where she could, unseen, give way to her feelings.

Once alone, the torrent burst forth, and burying her face in the soft grass, she wept bitterly, never hearing the step coming near, and not at first heeding the voice which asked what was the matter. Guy Remington, too, had come out into the garden, accidently wandering that way, and so stumbling upon the little figure crying in the grass. He knew it was Maddy, and greatly surprised to find her thus, asked what was the matter. Then, as she did not hear him, he laid his hand gently upon her shoulder, compelling her to look up. In all her imaginings of Guy, she had never associated him with the man who had so puzzled and confused her, and now she did not for a time suspect the truth. She only thought him a guest at Aikenside; someone come with Guy, and her degradation seemed greater than before. She was not surprised when he called her by name; of course he remembered her, just as she did him; but she did wonder a little what Mrs. Agnes would say, could she know how kindly he spoke to her, lifting her from the grass and leading her to a rustic seat at no great distance from them.

"Now, tell me why you are crying so?" he said, brushing from her silk apron the spot of dirt which had settled upon it. "Are you homesick?" he continued, and Maddy burst out again.

She forgot that he was a stranger, forgot everything except that he sympathized with her.

"Oh, sir, I was so happy here till they came home, Mrs. Remington and Mr. Guy. I never thought it was a disgrace to be a governess; never heard it was so considered, or that I was not good enough to eat with them, till she told me this. Oh, dear, dear!" and choked with tears Maddy stopped a moment to take breath.

She did not look up at the young man beside her, and it was well she did not, for the dark expression of his face would have frightened her. Half guessing the truth, and impatient to hear more, he said to her:

"Go on," so sternly, that she started, and replied:

"I know you are angry with me and I ought not to have told you."

"I am not angry—not at you, at least—go on," was Guy's reply, and Maddy continued:

"She told me now they had come home it would be different, that only when invited must I come to the parlor, or anywhere, but must stay in the servants' part, and eat with Mrs. Noah and Sarah. I'd just as soon do that. I am no better than they, only, only—the way she told me made me feel so mean, as if I was not anybody, when I am," and here Maddy's pride began to rise. "I'm just as good as she, if grandpa is poor, and I won't stay here to be treated like a nigger by her and Mr. Guy. I liked him so much, too, because he was kind to grandpa and to me when I was sick. Yes, I did like him so."

"And how is it now?" Guy asked, wondering who in the world she thought he was. "How is it now?"

"I s'pose it's wicked to feel such things on Sunday, but, somehow, what she said keeps making me so bad that I know I hate her, and I guess I hate Mr. Guy!"

This was Maddy's answer, spoken deliberately, while she looked up at the young man, who, with a comical expression about his mouth, replied:

"I am Mr. Guy."

"You, you! Oh, I can't bear it! I will die!" and Maddy sprang up as quickly as if feeling an electric shock.

But Guy's arm was interposed to stop her, and Guy's arm held her back, while he asked her where she was going.

"Anywhere out of sight where you can never see me again," Maddy sobbed vehemently. "It is bad enough to have you think me a fool, as you must; but now, oh, what do you think of me?"

"Nothing bad, I assure you," Guy said, still holding her wrist to keep her there. "I supposed you knew who I was, but as you did not, I forgive you for hating me so cordially. If you thought I sanctioned what Mrs. Remington has said to you, you had cause to dislike me, but, Miss Clyde, I do not, and this is the first intimation I have had that you were to be treated other than as a lady. I am master of Aikenside, not Mrs. Agnes, who shall be made to understand it."

"Oh, please don't quarrel about me. Let me go home, and then all will be well," Maddy cried, feeling, at that moment, more averse to leaving Aikenside than she could have thought it possible.

"We shall not quarrel; but I shall have my way; meanwhile go to your room and stay there until told that I have sent for you."

They went to the house together but separated in the hall; Maddy repairing to her room, while Guy sought Mrs. Agnes. The moment she saw his face she knew a storm was coming, but was not prepared for the biting sarcasm and bitter reproaches heaped upon her by one who, when roused, was a perfect hurricane.

Money and Kisses.

A man living for the time being in Columbus and who is in the habit of giving his wife a generous roll of bills the first day of every month for her pin money complained the other day that she owed him $2.80 for acting as her caddie while on the golf links during a visit to the sunny south. She demurred, but asked if he would be willing to take the pay in kisses. Although a Benedict of long standing, he still adores his wife, and he agreed to this method of payment.

While they were at breakfast on the first day of the following month he drew out his pocketbook and began counting out various bills of large denomination, while she, with hand out stretched, waited eagerly for the roll, remarking that her last month's allowance was all spent.

"Wait a moment," he said. "I believe I'll give you kisses instead." And the money was stuffed back in his pocket, much to her dismay.

It is only fair to say, however, that after she received both money and kisses.—Columbus Dispatch.

Too Low!

A well known sportsman had become very tired of listening to a series of shooting yarns that some friends had been spinning. At last he launched his first and only story that night. "I went into a field one day to have a shot," he said. "The only game in sight was an immense flock of blackbirds. I should say there were 10,000 in the flock. I fired both barrels, and now many do you think I killed?" Different guesses were made, ranging from twenty to a hundred birds. "Not one," said the stranger, "but I went out to look for results and picked up thirty bushels of legs. I had shot a little too low."—Tatler.

Early Pottery.

One of the principal territories of the potters for centuries was Ningte Chin. The finest pieces being made during the Ming dynasty. It is stated that the finest specimens were made with so much care that out of 200 pieces they would sometimes destroy 199. It is recorded in 1615 that a titled man in Japan had one of his attendants of rank whipped for breaking a cup and then sent to China at his own expense to buy another.

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments, must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential.

Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the Local.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional.

The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, making the repair of all nerve, all tissue, and all blood ailments.

The "Night Cure", as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, eases nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well

A Mean Man.

"George," chirped the young wife at breakfast, "I read where some loving and poetical husband actually wrote a poem on his wife's biscuits. Now, dear, if you want to pay me a pretty compliment, why don't you write a poem on the biscuits that I bake?"

"It would be impossible," laughed the cruel husband.

"And why, George?"

"Because the biscuits you make are so hard they wouldn't take the ink."

And then the trouble began. — St. Louis Post Dispatch.

Just a Lesson.

"I wonder if the Bimbles are getting poor!"

"I should say not! What makes you think so?"

"Why, I saw Bimble turning the wringer yesterday morning. They always used to have a washerwoman."

"Oh, I understand that."

"Then please explain."

"Well, Bimble told me he expected to buy an auto, and he's taking lessons in cranking."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

He Was Fired.

The railroad president was hearing complaints.

"What is the charge against this brakeman?" he inquired.

"Please, sir," responded the spotter, "I have frequently heard him call the names of stations so clearly that people could understand what he said."

"This is a direct violation of one of our chief rules," observed the president warmly. "Fire him."—Bohemian.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-agency to the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at an Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

The homesteader is required to perform the homestead duties under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of a homesteader has permanent residence on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of a homestead, or upon a homestead entered for by him in the vicinity, such homesteader may perform his own residence duties by living with the father (or mother).

(4) The term "vicinity" in the two preceding paragraphs is defined as meaning not more than nine miles in a direct line exclusive of the width of road allowances crossed in the measurement.

(5) A homesteader intending to perform his residence duties in accordance with the above while living with parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

Six months' notice in writing must be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of intention to apply for patent.

Officers and Directors

President ..... EDWARD T. PATRICK,
Mine Owner and President of the Goldfield Stock and Exchange Board.

Vice-President ..... JUDGE CHAS. L. HAYES,
Mine Owner and Leading Attorney of Goldfield, Nevada.

Secretary and Treasurer ..... ADAMS F. BROWN,
Corporation and Mining Lawyer and Member of Mining Committee Goldfield Stock and Exchange Board.

Depository ..... JOHN S. COOK & CO.
Bank of Goldfield, Nevada.

This company owns 160 acres (80 acres) of some of the best proven mining land in the Goldfield district, consisting of the Accidental and Accidental No. 2 lode claims, situated two and one-half miles south of the great Goldfield Consolidated Mines (comprising the Mohawk, Goldfield, Combination, Red Top, Jumbo and Laguna) the richest in the world; and the Broadway and Beauty lode claims situated three and one-half miles north of the consolidated and about one and one-half miles northwest of the Great Bend and Daisy Mines near the Zion group in the Diamondfield section second only in richness to the great Mohawk portion of the camp. Phenomenally rich strikes have recently been made on the Consolidated, the Great Bend and the Daisy Mines.

The company has also succeeded in securing the Sure Thing lode claim (20 acres) in the Cuprite district, which has an immense gold bearing ledge, running the entire length of the claim 1,500 feet, outcropping in places over 50 feet wide, and met by several cross cykes all carrying fine values in gold, and is without doubt rightly named "Sure Thing."

All of these claims are located on the same mineral belt as the other noted mines of Goldfield that have astonished the world by their production of millions in high grade ore, and will with the same development give equally profitable returns.

The money derived from the sale of this stock will be used at once for the active development of the property and the fact that all the directors are residents of Goldfield with years of successful mining experience who will give their personal attention at all times to the progress of the work goes to show that the first issue of 100,000 shares will meet with a quick and ready sale at the bona fide price of 10 cents per share.

We advise immediate action if you wish to participate in the vast profits of this Bonanza Mine.

Stock will be listed as soon as possible on the Goldfield and San Francisco Stock and Exchange Boards. Would therefore advise purchasers to buy in board lots of 1,000 shares when convenient to do so.

THE WIND OF DEATH.

Life Lines In Trieste's Street For Use When the Bora Blows.

That which was once Illyria is now Dalmatia, or, rather, that part of Illyria which reaches the Adriatic is Dalmatia, the half forgotten country, as the Austrians called it when it fell into their hands not so many years ago.

It is one of the few bits of Europe that remain in a measure unbackneyed, and it is still out of the beaten paths of the tourist, who himself is almost as much of a curiosity to the people as they are to him. There are seasons, according to an article in Appleton's Magazine, when the bora blows, that wind of death, as the natives call it, which comes out of the blue with more than a suddenness of a tornado and shakes the earth and all that is on the earth, stinging, blinding, choking. In the square of Trieste life lines are prominent features which the citizens must grasp when the bora clutches them, and they grope their way through the whirling dust and the promiscuous missiles flying in the darkened air. But the bora goes as quickly as it comes, and when it is gone the people simply excavate themselves out of the drift and think no more about the winged demon, which has left no trail whatever in the restored serenity of the scoured sky.

HIS SYMPATHY.

It Would Have Been Worth More Only He Lacked Presence of Mind.

In the criminal court in Baltimore a darky was on trial for stealing a watch, which he had pawned. He was identified by the owner as the person who grabbed the watch out of his pocket, yet the darky claimed to be innocent. When asked how he came in possession of the watch he said:

"I was standing on the corner when a man comes up to me and says he is hard up and hasn't a cent to buy food with, and he wants to sell me this watch for $3. I knew I could get $4 on it in pawn, and I felt sorry for him and bought the watch for $3 and pawned it for $4. That's how I got the watch."

The prosecutor then asked, if he had bought the watch for $3, knowing he could pawn it for $4, simply to help the man along because he felt sorry for him, why he did not advise him to pawn it himself, and then he would have had $4 instead of $3.

"Well, you see," said the prisoner, "I didn't have the presence of mind to do dat."

The Old Suez Canal.

Few people are aware that there had been a canal across the isthmus of Suez before De Lesseps ever conceived the idea of his monumental enterprise. A canal across the isthmus was actually constructed 600 years before the Christian era and served as a waterway for small vessels until about 1,000 years ago, when it was allowed to fall into disuse. Napoleon revived the idea and instructed one of the great engineers of his day to investigate the matter, but though a favorable report was presented to him, in which M. Lepere recommended the restoration of the canal, the work itself was never touched. When M. de Lesseps undertook the task of cutting the canal he thought at first to follow the idea of Napoleon and restore the ancient waterway, but this plan was abandoned and the present plan determined upon.

The Other Way Around.

The loyalty of the Scottish highlander to his kilt is a picturesque thing. He will never admit that it makes him cold, and highlanders who were suffering from cold in the ordinary dress of civilization have been known to substitute the kilt for it in order to get warm, though this would be much like removing one's coat and waistcoat and rolling up one's shirt sleeves for the same purpose.

It is said that a stranger, seeing a soldier in full highlander uniform shivering in a cold wind, asked him:

"Sandy, are you cold with the kilt?"

"Na, na, mon," the soldier answered indignantly, "but I'm nigh kilt with the cauld."

Labor of Ants.

It would perhaps be pushing metaphors to an unwarranted extreme to speak of "dignity of labor" in connection with the occupations of ants. But if by the phrase we mean that labor is the honorable lot of all citizens and that all labors of whatever sort are upon the same level of respectability then we might venture to apply the saying even to the labors of an ant hill. For therein all are workers, from the newly fledged callow to the veteran of a second summer.

Nothing.

A cockney tourist who had invaded Ireland was trying his hand at chaffing a native.

"Pat," said he, "what is the meaning of the word 'nothing'?"

"Sure, I can't explain it, but ye'll find it in the place where your brains ought to be!"

Narrow Escape.

John—You very nearly got engaged while you were on your tour in the mountains, I hear. Michael—Precious near. But fortunately just at the last moment I fell down a precipice.

At the Club.

Mrs. Bloodgood—I thought her quotation was apropos, didn't you? Mrs. Newritch—Dear me! I always supposed his name was Edgar Allan.—Exchange.

A judicious silence is always better than truth spoken without charity.—De Sales.

Lakefield Athelete Won

Lakefield has brought forth several well known figures in the field of sport. The latest addition to the number is Mr George Hilliard, jr., son of Mr. G. B. Hilliard, who has done splendidly in the R.M.C. sports, lately held at Kingston, Mr. Hilliard came out second for the trophy, winning first prize in the quarter mile in the exceptionally fast time of 51 seconds; 2nd in the 100 yards, and third in the 220 yards, and in Kicking the football.

That our American forests abound in plants which possess the most valuable medicinal virtues is abundantly attested by scores of the most eminent medical writers and teachers. Even the untutored Indians had discovered the usefulness of many native plants before the advent of the white race. This information, imparted freely to the whites, led the latter to continue investigations until to-day we have a rich assortment of most valuable American medicinal roots.

Dr. Pierce believes that our American forests abound in most valuable medicinal roots for the cure of most obstinate and fatal diseases, if we would properly investigate them, and in confirmation of this conviction he points with pride to the almost marvelous cures effected by his "Golden Medical Discovery," which has proven itself to be the most efficient stomach tonic liver invigorator, heart tonic and regulator, and the cleanser known to medical science. Dyspepsia, or indigestion, torpid liver, functional and even valvular and other affections of the heart yield to its curative action. The reason why it cures these and many other affections, is clearly shown in a little book of extracts from the standard medical works which is mailed free to any address by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., to all sending request for the same.

Not less marvelous, in the unparalleled cures it is constantly making of woman's many peculiar affections, weaknesses and distressing derangements, is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, as is amply attested by thousands of unsolicited testimonials contributed by grateful patients who have been cured by it of catarrhal pelvic drains, painful periods, irregularities, prolapsus and other displacements, caused by weakness, ulceration of uterus and kindred affections, often after many other advertised medicines and physicians had failed.

Both the above mentioned medicines are wholly made up from the glyceric extracts of native, medicinal roots. The processes employed in their manufacture were original with Dr. Pierce, and they are carried on by skilled chemists and pharmacists with the aid of apparatus and appliances specially designed and built for this purpose. Both medicines are entirely free from alcohol and all other harmful, habit-forming drugs. A full list of their ingredients is printed on each bottle-wrapper.

Thanksgiving Tea at Warsaw

A Thanksgiving tea will be held in Warsaw on Thursday, Oct. 31st, in connection with St. Marks church. Tea will be served in the Canadian Order of Foresters Hall from five to 7.30 o'clock and the program will be given in the town hall, beginning at eight p.m. It will consist of speeches by the Revs. P. W. Currie, L. S. Steedman and Geo. Nickle.

Duck Shooters for Rice Lake

Mr. Edgy Hartley left Saturday night for his usual fall duck shooting. He will spend the next few weeks at the foot of Rice Lake. He will be accompanied by Mr. John Frost of this city. These two sportsmen have been out duck shooting together for the past 25 years. It is safe to say that these two knights of the shot gun, will as per usual, bring back many a brace of ducks.

Pockets Picked on the Train

The Peterborough papers report several losses through the operations of "nimble-fingered gentry," who visited the Norwood fair. The purses containing the long green, appear, however, to have disappeared on board the special train en route for Peterborough. We have as yet to hear of any pocket-picking done at the fair. It would seem from this that the "nimble-fingered" gentry were with the Peterborough 400 who returned by the special. — Norwood Register.

Harriers Will Compete In Road Race

Mr. Baker will be at the Y.M.C.A. every night this week to look after any of the Harriers' Club who are desirous of going in the long distance Examiner road race. It is expected that five or six of the Harriers will enter the contest this year, and such members as intend to enter the race are requested by Trainer Baker to turn out for practice this week.

AMERICAN SYMPATHIZERS ARE UNDER ARREST IN RUSSIA

Were Engaged in Helping Revolutionary Party Financially and Otherwise--Woman Took University Course to Fit Her for Her Chosen Work

St. Petersburg, Oct. 22.—The machinery of the American Embassy was set in motion this morning to secure the release of William English Walling of Indianapolis, his wife, Anna, and his sister-in-law, Miss Rose Strunsky, who were arrested at the Hotel de France here last night, because of their association with members of the Finnish Progressive Party, four of whom, including the wife of Prof. Halmburg of Helsingfords University, were taken into custody at the same time.

Attaches of the embassy visited the Prefecture of Police and the headquarters of the secret police, in endeavors to learn the nature of the charges against the American prisoners, and to see whether they were comfortable treated.

The Wallings probably will be released on condition of their leaving Russia, but the examination of the books, manuscripts, and other documents seized by the police when the Wallings were taken into custody may delay the release of the prisoners for a few days.

The police accuse Mr. Walling with furnishing financial aid to the revolutionary movement, but that is not the charge on which he and the other members of the party were arrested last night.

PROMINENT IN CALIFORNIA.

San Francisco, Oct. 22.—Mrs. William English Walling and her sister, Rose Strunsky, who are under arrest at St. Petersburg, are well known in San Francisco, where they for years were prominently identified with the upper Jewish circles, and with socialistic movements. Mrs. Walling, who was Anna Strunsky, in order to equip herself for her chosen work took a course in higher Socialism at Stanford University. She gained some prominence as a collaborator of Jack London in the Kempton-Wace letters. She was married to Mr. Walling in London a few years ago. When she left San Francisco with her sister, no secrecy as to the object of their trip to Europe was attempted. It was declared in the local press at the time that their purpose was to assist in some of the popular movements in Russia, but that she would conduct her operations from some city outside of the Russian Empire.

Preparing for New C.P.R. Grain Route

Haliburton, Oct. 21.—Surveyors have commenced work in the village limits preparatory to the building of the new C.P.R. grain route which passes through Haliburton. They are being stationed here in the C.P.R. yard until they will be needed, and consist of steel rails, fish plates and telegraph wire. Large quantities have recently been brought in, and, although not officially announced, it is believed that the supply points will be Haliburton and Minden. A large pile of rails have already been brought in and all indications point to the fact that many miles of the railway will be built this season. Special trains are also expected to be run, and it is thought that the line will soon be reached from the direction of this important point, and that the completion of the eastern portion of the line will be rushed to completion.

Whether the work will be laid by way of Warsaw and Lake Belmont direct from here to Peterborough, the yards here will be made the headquarters for the supplies. At any rate the route goes through Haliburton so that the village will be the centre of the activity.

Young Man Had Both Legs Amputated

A few hours after they had received a letter from him stating that he was coming home, the parents of George Heffernan, a Peterborough boy, who had been working in the lumber camps near Blind River, were informed Sunday afternoon by telegram that he was dead. The message came from North Bay and was preceded by another telegram stating that the had had had both legs amputated. No other particulars have been received and it is not known whether the boy was injured while at work, in the camp, or had received his fatal injuries in a railway accident.

The deceased was nineteen years of age and was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Heffernan, Reid street north. He left the city only a month ago to work for a lumbering concern very much against the wishes of his mother, who endeavored, without success to persuade him to remain at home. On Saturday night a letter was received from him saying that a number of the men had been laid off, and that there was no use in writing to him any more, as he was coming home. The family were all happy at the news but their delight was soon to be rudely extinguished. About four o'clock on Sunday the sad intelligence was received that the boy had been injured Sunday morning.

The family wired Sunday night in an effort to get further particulars of the accident, but up to noon yesterday had received no information.

The body will be brought to Peterborough, and the funeral will take place here, although the particulars have not been decided upon.

The deceased is survived by his parents and two brothers and two sisters. They are William, John, Mrs. Tremaine and Miss Bella, all of this city, Mrs. Evans of Peterborough, and Mrs. Peck, of Utica, N.Y. are half-sisters.

The deceased has lived in Peterborough all his life and was well known and popular here. The intelligence of his tragic death has caused a distinct shock and the sympathy of the community will go out to the bereaved parents and family in the affliction that has so suddenly come upon them.

DESERTER DOUCET OF A BATTERY, KINGSTON TAKEN BACK

Soldiers of Canada's Regulars Arrive Here and Take Back Deserter Who Has Grievance Against Local Reports of His Arrest

Yesterday some enquiry was naturally visible throughout the city on the arrival of two non-commissioned regular officers of the Canadian branch of the British Army in the city. This is easily explained when it is told that these two richly clad soldiers had come here to take back to Kingston, Ont., Private Doucet, a deserter from the Battery in the Limestone City.

It will be remembered that some days ago Private Doucet, whose parents reside here, pleaded guilty to desertion and was held over in jail pending arrival of representatives of the military authorities.

Yesterday Bombardier Kelly of A. Battery, Kingston, and Private Robinson of Toronto, came here in full uniforms, and last night took the prisoner back to Kingston. In conversation with these two soldiers, The Times, in answer to a question, "What will be the outcome of this matter? What will they do with Doucet? Will this mean more than a week or so in the guard house?" Our representative was told that this was Doucet's second offence. That he is some $30 short in his supplies and that it means his three years' enlisted time which would have expired in a few months will begin all over again. That is that the time he had almost put in, in its entirety, will not count to his credit, but that he he will have to put in the full time again.

In conversation with Mr. Doucet, whilst he took his arrest quite officially and gave what seemed, in one sense, almost enough to imtel his desertion, seemed more concerned over what he claimed was an unjust and unfounded assertion made by a local contemporary. The article he objected to, and which he schematically asserted was neither authorized nor correct, was to the effect that Sergt.-Major Wallace of the P.A.M.C. Kingston, had been partly instrumental in his Doucet's desertion. Doucet denied that Wallace had said or done anything to cause his hitting and that he had nothing but the kindliest feelings towards this noncom. He said this report originated in the imagination of some reporter and that Mr Wallace was one of the best officers on the force. Doucet seemed to feel this misrepresentation more than the fact of his arrest.

Hill More Likely to Sell Out to Mackenzie and Mann

New York, Oct. 21. —Friends of Mackenzie and Mann who came down on the train to which Mr. Mann's car was attached last Thursday night, say Mr. Mann left town over Sunday on account of the bad money situation in Wall street, due to the Heintz-Morse-Thomas banking difficulties.

Some mighty interesting statements are made in Wall street regarding the great forward movement in which Mackenzie and Mann are pioneers, and master railway builders, their associates being interests affiliated with the Bank of Montreal, Bank of Scotland, and great Canadian traction and railways. One Wall street man said while there might be an equalization or rectification of the boundaries between Jim Hill interests and the interests behind Mackenzie and Mann, Hill was more likely to sell out the really big things to Canadians than Canadians to sell out to Hill.

These interests it was said, were investing over half a billion dollars on the North American continent. To say nothing of these Canadian and United States investments, they have control in Mexico City, of telephone, lighting, and traction. The same condition of things is true at Monterey, the "Pittsburg of Mexico." They own the Rio Janeiro Terminal Light and Power, one of the strongest corporations in Brazil, capitalized at $20,000,000, and are controlling telephone, water, and traction interests there. They also own the Soercabana Railway, that is now building a 2,000 miles connecting link between Brazil and Argentine. They own the Bahai-San Paulo railways, railways, and lighting, which returned to the investors 98 per cent.

Police Court

At yesterday's session of the police court W. Crouter and Roy Scriver were given two months in the county jail for stealing chickens from John Williams. Crouter was also fined six dollars to be paid forthwith or twenty days in jail to run concurrently with his other sentence for assaulting Mr. Williams.

This thieving took place on Saturday afternoon between three and four o'clock on Mr. John Williams' premises, Sherbrooke street. Mr. Williams saw the prisoners, with clubs in their hands, and dead chickens. They started to run but were closely followed by Mr. Williams. He caught Scriver and held him down. Crouter threatened to knock his brains out if he did not let him up. Crouter hit Williams several times. Letting Scriver up Williams went and phoned the police and then followed the thieves on his bicycle. Police Constables Newhill and Methuen arrested both, two near the City Work.

Yesterday morning both pleaded guilty Crouter's father asked for ten days in which to pay the fine, but his worship replied that he would give [illegible]

News Briefs

New York, Oct., 21.—Striking telegraphers to the number of 26 applied for reinstatement in the Western division of the Western Union Telegraph Company according to an official announcement made by the company. Other applications were 15 in New York City and one West Oakland, Cal., while all of the force at Columbia, S.C., expect to be restored to their former places.

Kingston, Ont., Oct., 21.—The strike among the tailors which has been on for two weeks is no nearer a termination. Another attempt was made yesterday afternoon to effect a settlement. A committee of merchant tailors met a committee of the strikers, but when the former found that the organizer of the tailors' union was one of them, they refused to discuss matters unless he was excluded. To this the strikers would not consent and the meeting ended.

Montreal, Oct., 21.—It is seldom that three brothers stand in the dock at the same time, as happened in the Police Court Saturday morning. The trio were George, Joseph and Telesphore Levesque all charged with vagrancy. They pleaded guilty and admitted that they had been previously convicted. The judge sentenced George and Joseph to five months each, while Telesphore got off with four.

Victoria, B. C., October 21.—At the next session of the Dominion Legislature, an application will be made for the incorporation of a company to construct a railroad from Victoria to Edmonton via Seymour Narrows. The enterprise is being pushed by local interests with Eastern capital behind them. The proposition is to construct a railway from Victoria through Vancouver Island to Seymour Narrows. Here a ferry connection will be established with the mainland and the line continued across the province to Edmonton.

Seoul, Korea, October 19.—The Emperor and Crown Prince of Korea left Seoul for Chemulpo yesterday afternoon. This was the first time the Crown Prince of Korea had ever ridden on a railroad train, and he showed a childish interest in the trip.

The Japanese Crown Prince landed from a warship in the harbor and was greeted at the dock by the Korean Emperor and the Korean Crown Prince.

He was escorted as he drove through the streets to the residence set aside for him. Japanese and Korean flags were everywhere visible.

New York, Oct. 16.—Members of the International Typographical Union throughout the United States and Canada are participating in a referendum vote on six proposed amendments to the constitution of the organization, and the results will be compiled on the 21st inst. The most important of these measures are an old age pension and the increase of the salaries of the international officers. If carried, they will become operative on Jan. 1st.

The strike [illegible] provides that [illegible] members who have [illegible] of [illegible] years [illegible] shall receive a pension of $4 per week.

San Francisco, Oct. 21.—As a result of an attack on a Japanese laundry last night, the proprietor and one of his employees are in a hospital, many whites are nursing bruises caused by the clubs of the police, and the interior of the laundry is a wreck.

The trouble was occasioned by Joseph King, an intoxicated lodger, who crashed into the window of the laundry conducted by Uhesuke, at 922 Post street late last night.

The proprietor and Omura rushed and dragged King into a rear room, where he was placed in charge of a young Japanese, who stood guard armed with a section of gas pipe, while the other Japanese hurried to summon the police to the place. The intoxicated companions of King planned to rescue their friend. Other whites were rallied in and it is followed a combined attack on the laundry. The streets were soon filled by a large crowd, and a dozen Japanese on the inside sought to repel the invaders.

Uesuuho and Omura were conveyed to a hospital, where it was found the former was cut about the head, while Omura sustained a fracture of the shoulder. King was found asleep in the rear room, innocent of the trouble he had caused. Attorney Walker of the Japanese Society of America is procuring evidence about the affair.

Mrs. Eddy to Have No Successor as Leader of Science Church

Boston, Mass., Oct. 21. —Prompted by the report that a successor had been chosen to take the place of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, as head of the Christian Science Church, after the death of the present leader, Alfred Farlow, the official spokesman for the denomination today issued this statement:

"Mrs. Eddy, founder of the faith and today in supreme control of the Christian Science Church, will have no successor.

"With Mrs. Augusta Stetson, the leader of the New York Church, nor the Lady Dunmore, who has been prominently mentioned, will ever fill the position occupied today by Mrs. Eddy.

"With the death of the aged leader, the Christian Science Church will have no single personal leader.

"The business of the organization will undoubtedly be considered by a board of directors, while the memory of the founder and discoverer will remain the only name ever connected with the faith."

Calgary Citizens to Send Burn East To Meet Indian

Toronto, Oct. 22.—Freddie Copper, the Toronto ball player, who is in Calgary, has written another letter to Robert Dale here, in which he says that the Calgarians are sure that Art Burn can defeat Tom Longboat that they are getting up a fund to send him to Toronto to meet the Indian. Copper has revised his opinion on Burn since last he wrote:

He says: "Don't get wild and wire all you have on the Indian when Burn comes down. This Burn is a wise one. He won't run unless he has to, and he never makes a runaway race of it. He is too wise. He wins, and that is all. He sometimes may not be so good as Longboat's, but he always wins. With lots left. I have been snooping around, and have come to the conclusion that Burn is a whole lot better than he seems. Calgary sports men are too wide awake to be thinking on a man who cannot show the goods. The relay race I saw him in certainly made me think he was a four-flusher, but a little inside information makes me hand you a tip to keep car fares off the roll you bet when he comes east looking for redskin scalps."

Jumped From Stack on to a Fork Handle

Lindsay, Oct. 21.—A young man from Rose's Wharf, named Albert Martha is lying in the Ross Hospital here with a gaping wound in his thigh, caused by a fall on a pitchfork handle. Saturday night he jumped off a straw stack and alighted on the upright handle of a fork. He was brought to town yesterday in the ambulance, and is now lying in a precarious condition. He is also known as Mr. Thos. Martha.

City Hockey League Meeting

On Friday night next, at 8 o'clock the annual meeting of the City Hockey League will be held in the Y.M.C.A. All teams intending to enter are urgently requested to have representatives present. The prospects for City League hockey this winter are brighter than ever, and the hockey loving public may look out for some very fast and exhibitions of the popular game will be played during the coming winter.

Thinks City Needs More Police

There is no doubt judging by talk amongst leading citizens of Peterborough that the local police force should be augmented by several men. The two small, numerically, force now doing such good work in the maintainance of morality, decency, honesty and sobriety in Peterborough, and making this city a place to be rigidly avoided by tramps, bums, thieves, pickpockets, burglars and such genry, and deserve all the credit, but it is more due to good municipal management that the town is as quiet as it is. The local police are doing the work of double their numbers but they could have assistance, at least such is general opinion so far as can be ascertained.

Will Remain Here

Mr. S. E. Salls, district manager of the Canada Life Assurance Company who has for several years supervised the agency for that company in this city, has decided to reside in Peterborough for the future making the newly equipped office of the Canada Life his headquarters and continuing to look after his large district as heretofore at the same time, personally managing the affairs of the local office. Mr. Salls joined the agency forces of the Canada Life in Toronto in 1899, one year later he was promoted to the position of special agent for the Ontario county district. Since that date his field has enlarged from time to time and he is now the district manager for this very important field.

Parliament Will Open on November Twenty-Eight

Ottawa, Oct. 22.—At a meeting of the cabinet yesterday afternoon the date of the opening of Parliament was set for November 28. It had been hoped that the department reports and preparation of the legislative program would have been sufficiently advanced by this time to enable parliament to open on November 14 or 21, but unavoidable delays and the absence of several of the ministers in Europe on business of state during a large part of the summer have resulted in holding back the opening by two weeks.

At Saturday's council the principal question discussed was the mission of Hon. Mr. Lemieux to Japan. It is confidently expected that when Canada's case is presented to the Japanese government by Mr. Lemieux, Japan will consent to abide by the understanding as to a limitation of immigration to Canada in force when the treaty was signed, but it will be made perfectly plain by Mr. Lemieux at Tokio that if the immigration is not limited as desired by Canada, the government at Ottawa will promptly give the six months' notice necessary to abrogate the treaty. Mr. Lemieux, in order to reach Tokio as quickly as possible, has again changed his plans, and instead of going via London, has cancelled his passage on the Virginian for Friday next, and will now go via Vancouver, sailing from that port on the 26th inst., as originally intended.

Hotel-Keepers will Not Employ Lawyer

Toronto, Oct. 22.—A monster meeting of Ontario hotelmen will be held in this city today, when steps will be taken to completely reorganize their protective association and place it on a new footing.

Besides the election of new officers, business to be taken up is the adoption of a plan to increase the membership. At present, both in Toronto and the country districts, a large number of the liquor men do not belong to the association, and have repeatedly refused to join owing to the course the association has been pursuing. This will be completely changed with a view of satisfying every hotelman in the province.

The change means that hereafter the association will give no help or countenance in any way to liquor dealers who break the law. In the past, it is claimed, the association funds have been used to defend law breakers, but from now on such will not be the case. The slogan of the association will be: "There is a law, so keep it." The association will not employ a solicitor.

Mrs. Luke Fisher Laid at Rest

Yesterday [illegible] former and [illegible] ler local [illegible] lost [illegible] on [illegible] whose store was formerly on [illegible] street, now that now occupied as a [illegible] northern establishment by Mr. [illegible] Mason, was in the city yesterday, on the first visit in many years, and, on a sad errand. The former local citizen referred to is Mr. Luke Fisher, who for some years past carried on a successful restaurant business in Chicago, and who arrived in the city at noon yesterday, accompanying the last mortal remains of his wife, Mrs. Fisher, brought here from Chicago, for interment in the Little Lake cemetery yesterday afternoon.

The deceased had been ill for some time and was 60 years of age. Her maiden name was Mattie Morton. Seventeen years ago, with her husband, she removed to Chicago, from this city. The late Mrs. Fisher leaves no family, but besides her sorrowing husband, one sister, Mrs. John Mowry of this city, is left to mourn her loss.

Drunken Englishman Developed Appetite

Yesterday afternoon about five o'clock a telephone message from the Palace livery stables was answered by the police station. P. C. McHarry quickly buckled on his club and a look of authority and answered the call. He found, on arrival, an Englishman, with an accent as broad as the pond that divides us from the Old Country, lying on a pile of the stable sweepings. The constable promptly brought this scion of Albion to the station and locked him up in a cell. Before the Englishman had been twenty minutes behind the bars, his appetite awoke and he fairly made the welkin ring (whatever that means) with cries of "I say, Mr. Constable, ain't you going to bring me something to eat. Say I'm as hungry as a blooming bear!" The police, however, thought it would be "Lousy labor lost," to supply him with food just then. He will explain matters to his worship this morning.

GIRLS OF TODAY ARE WEAKLINGS

Few Possess the Vitality and Girlish Beauty of the Olden Times.

Never before was physical health and vigor so highly esteemed and so eagerly sought for as to-day.

No man finds happiness in a sickly wife, and the woman who wishes to enjoy the pleasures of life should spare no effort to maintain perfect health.

Is your daughter growing up strong and ruddy? Has she strength to drink in greedily all the pleasures that youth so zealously seeks—or is she compelled to use the street car instead of enjoying the delightful exercise of walking—does she enter the ball arise refreshed and vigorous, or is she exhausted, indifferent, and perhaps irritable?

When strength and vigor can be so easily maintained by Ferrozone, when the glow of health is so quickly brought to the cheeks and elasticity to the step, it is plainly a mother's duty to see that Ferrozone is on hand to assist her daughter back to health.

Upon the wake of Ferrozone follows quickly a stream of rich, nourishing blood which imparts that power and surplus energy so earnestly desired by those in ill-health.

Stop and think what this means for your daughter—certainly a great deal, and it can be accomplished by Ferrozone.

Every growing girl and young woman derives enormous benefit in many ways from this nutritive, vitalising tonic.

It is especially suited for young women and is a guarantee of health and regularity as long as it is used.

Ferrozone is free from alcohol and perfectly safe to use. Prepared in the form of a chocolate-coated tablet and sold in 50c. boxes or six for $2.50, at all dealers.

May and December Should Not Mate

All the poets have agreed that "May and December" should not mate So most young women seem to think that the rule applies equally to "July and October." If hey are very young they make no distinction between the spectacle of a girl of eighteen marrying a toothless gentleman of eighty and that of a match between a young woman of twenty five and a healthy, cheerful, young chap of sixty.

There is a vast difference. The middle-aged man may make a kind and considerate husband, and will probably possess much more money than his younger rival. If wealth be the chief desideratum in a husband, marry an elderly man by all means, only take care he makes an ample settlement upon you, or you may find yourself in the sad plight of living surrounded by every luxury, but never having a penny you can call your own, and to be the other wife of a rich middle-aged man is far worse than to be the hard-up wife of a struggling youngster.

In the one case there is the sustaining hope that something may turn up, some wave of a magician's wand may transform poverty to affluence, but in the other your fate is fixed and sealed as inexorably as the law of the Medes. Money will be all around you, but you will never have any of it, and you dare not pawn the antique silver inkstands, rosebowls, and other costly trifles which adorn the drawing-room tables, nor engineer a mock burglary, though there are moments when the hot blood of youth urges you to it.

Ah! that's the trouble; the blood runs so cautiously, not to say coldly in the middle-aged The heyday of youth is only a memory, and blurred at that; you've to keep remembering that as, night after night, you yawn in front of the fire after dinner, when you would like to be out enjoying yourself with the other young folks.

If you are tired with long years of hard work, cooking your own inadequate breakfast over an oil-lamp and rushing away to work in the chill, unaired, morning, day after day, week after week, year after year; if the longing for pretty dresses, dainty dinners, sparkling jewels, has embittered your workaday life; if the aroma of the fleshpots is the best savor you can imagine, marry a middle-aged man—or an old man, for the matter of that—if the chance comes your way. Only be honest. Say to yourself, "I am tired of work. I want to do nothing, I'm sick of pinching to make ends meet, sick of turning out day after day in the wet and cold; I want nice clothes to wear and well-cooked food to eat, and I don't mind paying the price."

That's the rub; so many people want to get out of pay it, which is distinctly dishonest.

Let the mercenary-minded make their good bargains and pay the price There are others who follow their heaven-sent, unperverted instinct, which tells them that the full flower of love belongs to other and different unions. Youth to youth, that is the call of nature.

AN EXTINCT ANIMAL.

The Saber Toothed Tiger Was a Formidable Creature.

The most remarkable of all the extinct feline animals are those known to naturalists as the saber toothed cats or tigers, a group comprising the greater part of all the fossil forms. They date back to the earliest times of which we know anything about the family in North America and reach down to the time of man himself. A large and powerful species described from the Indian Territory by Cope lived contemporaneously with the hairy mammoth, as evidenced by the commingling of their skeletons. There can be little or no question but that the hairy mammoth was contemporaneous with man in North America as well as in Europe. Its geological range is from the close of the eocene to the latter part of the pleistocene.

The chief peculiarity of the animal is the extraordinary elongated canine teeth. The tail is of unusual length and the legs are short. The animal measures about seven feet in length aside from the tail. The lower jaws have a downward projection in front, due to a flangelike widening of the jawbones, which doubtless served as a protection to the teeth, preventing their injury or loss. In some of the larger forms from South America this flange was not present, while the canine teeth were even more elongated than is the case with this species, attaining a length of over six inches and protruding far below the jaws when closed.

A FAMOUS ROAD.

India's Tree Bordered Highway 1,200 Miles in Length.

The road I have in my mind is in India and stretches 1,200 miles from Lahore to Calcutta. It is the famous Grand Trunk road. Let me explain its nature, though one cannot do so by comparison, for there is no road of five miles in England that is anything like it. It is level. Indeed, there is not above a mile the whole distance where even a lady need dismount to walk. The material with which it is made is called kinker, and if you care to turn that word into concrete you have an idea of what it is like. It is exceedingly hard and as smooth as a prepared pavement. There is no dust. When I first got on this road and enjoyed the luxury of easy traveling I said, "This is magnificent, but in a little time I suppose it will become gritty and uneven." I went 50, 100 miles, 200 miles, 500, 600, 700 miles, and it was always the same, with not even a small stone to give a jog. Nearly the whole of the way is lined with a double row of majestic trees.

With two friends I rode across India during the hottest time of the year, in April and May, and was never seriously inconvenienced by the heat, for at a pace of fifteen miles an hour one could create a draft.—Chambers' Journal.

Roadside Wit.

He who matched wits with the author of "The Ancient Mariner" had indeed a lively task before him, for Coleridge was never caught napping. The poet was so awkward a horseman that his riding often attracted comment of anything but a complimentary nature. One day he was riding along the turnpike road in the county of Durham when a wag who met him fastened upon him as an excellent subject for sport. Consequently he drew rein and said in an impertinent drawl:

"My graceful friend, did you happen to meet a tailor on the road?"

"I'm inclined to think I did," said Coleridge meditatively. "I was not sure at the moment, but he said something about my meeting a goose farther along the road."

The wag put spurs to his horse, and the poet jogged calmly on his way.

Past Salaries of Actors.

A number of autograph letters of Edmund Kean supply some interesting information about the salaries of actors early in the nineteenth century. One relates to an offer by Mr. Ellison offering Kean £3 a week as acting manager of "the new theater in Wych street." Later this rose to £25 a month. In 1826 Kean was offered $12,000 a year to go to America. In the prime of his popularity he received £200 for a week in Edinburgh and apparently reached the highest point when Mr. Bunn wrote from the Theater Royal, Dublin, on Feb. 8, 1829, and offered him £50 a night to play in Dublin and Cork.—Liverpool Mercury.

Home Influences.

Each one of us is bound to make the little circle in which he lives better and happier; each one of us is bound to see that out of that small circle the widest good may flow; each of us may have fixed in his mind the thought that out of a single household may flow influences which shall stimulate the whole commonwealth and the whole civilized world.—Dean Stanley.

Got Too Important.

"What has become of the maid you thought such a prize?"

"Oh, I had to let her go!" replied the second fashionable woman. "After her operation for appendicitis she thought she was one of us."

Right On.

Wisejay—It must be a great pleasure to tell a joke to an acrobat. Softboy—Why? Wisejay—Because he tumbles so easily

A Good Guess.

Mother—Mercy, child, how do you get your hands so dirty? You never saw mine as dirty as that! Child—No, but I guess grandma did!—Philadelphia Inquirer.

To check a cold quickly, get from your druggist some little Candy Cold Tablets called Preventics. NEW BEAUTY INSTRUMENTS.

Femininity Much Excited Over a New Face Flapper.

Fair woman's outfit for the preservation of her beauty is growing so large and all important that it will presently be necessary for her to have a separate dressing room or beauty surgical office in which to store these very valuable instruments. There are more of these aids to beauty invented every day, and many women keep as keen an outlook for the new things in this line as on new fashions in frocks.

Just now femininity is much excited over a new face flapper, with which the face is gently tapped with a view to restoring the contour and bracing up the muscles. The face flapper has a long handle and a disk at one end for flapping purposes.

There are new nasal clamps and masks much in use for the young daughters of faithful mothers who go about improving the shape of their offspring's nose in this manner as systematically as if they were proceeding with the education or moral training of the young person. Women who wish their faces to be smaller find bands for the purpose at all the beauty parlors, while women whose double chins are the troublesome point in their appearance are provided with chin straps which have holes for the ears, which keep the strap in place. All these masks, straps, nose clamps, etc., are made of rubber, which does no harm to the skin and is not uncomfortable.

ARRANGING FLOWERS.

The Japanese Can Teach Us Much in This Art.

Among the many arts and graces which we Americans have yet to learn is the arrangement of flowers so as to display them to the best advantage. We bring in from the fields or from the florist's the most exquisite blossoms and then ruin them and condemn them to an untimely end by crushing them into a vase entirely too small for their bulk or by allowing them practically to drown in a sea of unnecessary water.

It would do us, then, no harm to take a few lessons on the subject and to learn from some more favored nation the proper relation between flowers and their receptacles.

The Japanese, most expert people in this line, would tell us, for instance, that the fewer flowers in a vase the better the effect, so that they be not overwhelmed by its size.

The tall vase of roses illustrates this dictum admirably. It is actual cruelty, as well as a crime against taste, to cut rose stems so as to accommodate them to some small and stocky vase. This style of receptacle would be particularly good in opalescent glass, being thus adapted to all the varying hues of the roses.

The Origin of Gloves.

The origin of gloves is very ancient. Some authorities assert that they were known in Bible times from references made to "shoes" which were thought to be identical with gloves.

The first clear account of gloves comes, however, from Xenophon. This writer speaks of the Persians wearing gloves on their hands to protect them from the cold. Homer describes Laertes working in his garden with gloves on his hands to protect them from the thorns, and Varro mentions this apparel as being worn by the Romans.

Gloves have been tokens of solemn and important things from the ninth century. They were adopted as a rite of the church, and later the transferring of lands or titles was always attended with the presentation of gloves. In the eleventh century the method of challenging to single combat by throwing down a glove was instituted, and this custom still remains in some countries.

Gloves were not worn by women until after the reformation.

The Care of the Eyes.

A great many of the mysterious headaches with which women are afflicted must be put down to overstrained eyes, and this kind of headache can only be cured by giving the eyes a thorough rest, and, when a cure has thus been effected, great care in the use of the eyes in future is indispensable. Reading, writing or sewing in a dim and flickering light must be given up, and the common practice of attempting to read in a jolting train or omnibus must also be discarded. The eyes should never be used too long at a time, and, when much eye work is necessary, brief rests and bathings in hot water should be resorted to if the dreaded headache is to be kept at a distance.

Ottawa, Oct., 18.—Dr. Charles A. Hodgetts, Chief medical officer of Ontario, who is in Ottawa, in the course of an interview drew attention to the fact that there are annually 2,500 deaths from tuberculosis in Ontario. It is obvious, he says, that the municipalities will have to brace up and face the problem of combating the disease. Dr. Hodgetts says that the general health of the people is good. There is no smallpox and not a great deal of contagious disease.

Be Sure

Do not trust too much to your own judgment in medical matters. Consult your doctor frequently. He knows best.

DISMANTLED OFF CAPE HORN.

English Ship Finally Towed Into Harbor After Stirring Voyage.

A thrilling account of the sufferings of the crew of the sailing ship Dynomene, which left the Tyne for San Francisco, has been received at South Shields by the parents of John Patterson, whose son was on board. When off Cape Horn the vessel encountered a terrific storm, the sea running mountains high. Every stitch of canvas was torn into ribbons, and all movable articles were swept off the decks. The huge iron jibboom was cut clean off by a big sea, whilst another wrecked the meat safe, which weighed over a ton. Three of the seamen were terribly injured. Two managed to crawl under the forecastle head for shelter, but the third was washed about the deck, and finally got jammed between the foremast and the winch.

The master, second mate, and young Patterson crawled on their hands and knees and dragged the poor fellow by the legs into a place of safety. He was unconscious. When daylight came the vessel was almost a wreck. One of the yards had crashed through the deckhouse top, another had shattered the lifeboats, the tarpaulin was ripped off the hatches, and the decks were full of water tons and aft. A young sailor fell from the rigging into the tempestuous sea and was never seen again. The gale subsided slightly, and in trying to make Port Stanley, Falkland Islands, the ship Deacon came in sight, and the master offered to take off the crew, but this was refused. A squall then sprang up, and as the crippled vessel was being buffeted about it was sighted by a salvage steamer and taken into Montevideo, after having been 123 days out from the Tyne.

Sir Frederick's Prescription.

The King of England's famous surgeon, Sir Frederick Treves, has this to say to the rising generation. It comes from one who knows:

"Boys, don't bother about genius, and don't worry about being clever. Trust rather to hard work, perseverance and determination. The best motto for a long march is: 'Don't grumble. Plug on.' You hold your fortune. Set the future in your own hands. Never waver in this belief. Don't swagger. The boy who swaggers like the man who swaggers, has little else that he can do. He is a cheap-jack crying his own paltry wares. It is the empty tin that rattles most. Be honest, be loyal, be kind. Remember that the hardest thing to acquire is the faculty of being unselfish. As a quality it is one of the finest attributes of manliness. Love the sea, the ringing beach, and the open down. Keep clean body and mind."

Britishers Are Growing.

That the British head is shrinking and the British muscles are degenerating, as recently charged by certain scientists, was refuted by evidence introduced at the meeting of the British Association of Leicester. Records for the last twenty years at Marlborough College show that the fourteen-year-old boys there average five pounds heavier and nearly an inch taller than those of 1885.

A hatter who furnishes hats for six schools, vouches that hats of 21 1-2 inches circumference formerly were rarely demanded, while now hats 22 1-2 inches in circumference are needed continuously.

Sir Victor Horsley proposed a motion at the meeting, urging the Government to institute in connection with the medical inspection of school children, a system of periodic measurements.

Shaving Statistics.

The statistician has been at it again. The average man, he has discovered, has twenty square inches of beard on his face. Ergo, if a man with twenty square inches of face shaves every morning he will scrape over 7,300 square inches in a year. Accordingly if he shaves from the time he is twenty until he is seventy years old he will have shaved 365,000 square inches of beard.

Produce, Progress, Process.

The editor wishes to caution the boys and girls against falling into the common error of mispronouncing these three words pro-duce, pro-gress and pro-cess. The o is short in each of them, and the syllables are divided as in the heading of this paragraph.—Chicago News.

Something New in Copper

PITTSBURG - IDAHO
Mining and Milling Company

The mine is located 58 miles above Lewiston, Idaho, on the Clearwater river, and consists of 19 full claims, or 380 acres. It is developed by tunnels, shafts and open cuts for more than 2,000 feet, disclosing thousands of tons of copper, gold and silver ores of both high grade and low grade. There are between 1000 and 2000 tons of ore ready for shipment. The entrance to the working tunnel is only 2000 feet from the track of the Northern Pacific railroad, to be reached by gravity tramway. There are seven parallel veins running lengthwise of the claims, one cropping out on the surface for 2,500 feet and another for 3000 feet; while two veins cross these running into the mountain. These veins are from 30 to 200 feet wide. One ore chute has been crosscut 50 feet and is solid ore from wall to wall.

We are not asking you to buy in a prospect. That risk was taken by the promoters. We are asking you to buy in a developed, proven mine. Seven years of continuous work and the expenditure of thousands of dollars has proven up one of the greatest mines in Idaho. That mine is now ready to pour out its red and yellow wealth to the world with the installing of an up to date production plant. It is for that purpose that a block of its treasury stock, full paid and non-assessable, is offered for sale. We believe that within six months from the completion of a 100 ton plant the mine can be put on a dividend paying basis, and that those dividends will be substantial and permanent. There is no better investment proposition before the people at this time.

AIKENSIDE

BY MARY J. HOLMES

Author of "Dora Deane," "The English Orphans," "Lena Rivers," "The Rector of St. Mark's," "Tempest and Sunshine," Etc.

Maybe she had forgotten what she was when his father married her, he said, but he had not, and he remembered well the wonder expressed by many that his father should stoop to marry a poor school-teacher. "Yes, that's what you were madam, much as you despise Maddy Clyde for being a governess; you were one once yourself, and before that time mercy knows what you were—a hired girl, perhaps—your present airs would seem to warrant as much!"

Guy was in a sad passion by this time, and failed to note the effect his last words had on Agnes, who turned livid with rage and terror, but smothering her wrath, said beseechingly:

"Pray, Guy, do not be angry; I know I am foolish about some things, and proud people who 'come up,' as you say, always are, I guess. I know that marrying your father made me what I am, but everybody does not know it, and it is not necessary they should. I don't remember exactly what I did say to this Clyde girl, but I thought it would be pleasanter for you, pleasanter for us all, not to have her always around; it seems she has presided at the table when Dr. Holbrook was here to tea, and even you can't think that quite right."

"I don't know why," and at mention of Dr. Holbrook Guy's temper burst out again. "Agnes, you can't deceive me; I know the secret of your abominable treatment of Maddy is jealousy."

"Guy—jealous, I jealous of that child?" And Agnes' voice was expressive of the utmost consternation.

"Yes, jealous of that child; you think that because the doctor has been kind to her, perhaps he wants her some time for his wife. I hope he does; I mean to help it on; I'll tell him to have her, and if he don't I'll almost marry her myself!" and Guy paced up and down the parlor, chafing and foaming like a young lion.

Agnes was conquered and quite as much bewildered as Maddy had been; she heard only in part how Maddy Clyde was henceforth to be treated.

"Yes, yes," she gasped at last, as Guy talked on, "stop now for mercy's sake, and I'll do anything, only not this morning, my head aches so I cannot go to the breakfast table; I must be excused," and holding her temples, which were throbbing with pain induced by strong excitement, Agnes hurried to her own room and threw herself upon the bed, angry, mortified, subdued.

The breakfast bell had rung twice while Guy was holding that interview with Agnes, and at last Mrs. Noah came up herself to learn the cause of the delay; standing in the hall, she heard a part of what was transpiring in the parlor. Mrs. Noah was proud and jealous of her master's dignity, and once or twice the thought had crossed her mind that perhaps when he came home Maddy would be treated more as some governesses were treated by their employers, but to have Agnes take the matter up was quite a different thing, and Mrs. Noah smiled with grim satisfaction, as she heard Guy issuing orders as to how Miss Clyde should be treated. Standing back to let Agnes pass, she waited a moment, and then, as if she had just come up, presented herself before Guy, asking if he were ready for breakfast.

"Yes, call Miss Clyde; tell her I sent for her," was Guy's answer, and forthwith Mrs. Noah repaired to Maddy's room, finding her still sobbing bitterly.

"I cannot go down," she said; "my face is all stains, and it's so dreadful, happening on Sunday, too. What would grandpa say?"

"You can wash off the stains. Come," Mrs. Noah said, pouring water into the bowl, and bidding Maddy hurry, "as Mr. Guy was waiting breakfast for her."

"But I am not to eat with them," Maddy began, when Mrs. Noah stopped her by explaining how Guy ruled that house, and Agnes had been completely routed.

This did not quiet Maddy particularly, and her heart beat painfully as she descended to the parlor, where Guy was still walking up and down.

"Come, Miss Clyde, Jessie is nearly famished," he said pleasantly, as Maddy appeared, and without the slightest reference to what had passed he drew Maddy's arm within his own, and giving a hand to Jessie, who had just come in, he went to the breakfast room, where Maddy was told to preside.

Guy watched her closely without seeming to do so, mentally decoding that she was neither vulgar nor awkward. On the contrary he thought her very pretty, and very graceful for one so unaccustomed to society. Nothing was said of Agnes, who kept her room the entire day, and did not join the family until evening, when Guy sat upon the piazza with Jessie in his lap, while Maddy was not very far away. At first there was much constraint between Agnes and Maddy, but with Guy to manage, it soon wore away, and Agnes felt herself exceedingly amiable when she reflected how gracious she had been to her rival.

But Maddy could not so soon forget. All through the day the conviction had been settling upon her that she could not stay at Aikenside, and so on the following morning, just after breakfast was over, she summoned courage to ask Mr. Guy if she might talk with him. Leading the way to the library, he bade her sit down, while he took the chair opposite, and then waited for her to commence.

Maddy was afraid of Guy. He did not seem quite like Dr. Holbrook. He was haughtier in his appearance, while his rather elaborate style of dress and polished manners gave him, in her estimation, a kind of superiority over all the men she had ever met. Besides that, she remembered how his dark eyes had flashed when she told him what she did the previous day, and also that she had said to his face that she hated him. She could not bear to leave a bad impression on his mind, so the first words she said to him were:

"Mr. Remington, I can't stay here after all that has happened. It would not be pleasant for me or Mrs. Agnes so I am going home, but I want you to forget what I said about hating you yesterday. I did not then know who you were. I don't hate you. I like you, and I want you to like me."

She did not look at him, for her eyelids were cast down, and her lashes were wet with tears she could scarcely keep from shedding. Guy had never known much about girls of Maddy's age, and there was something extremely fascinating in the artless simplicity of this half child half woman, sitting there before him and asking him so demurely to like her. She was very pretty, he thought, and with proper culture would make a beautiful woman. Then, as he remembered his avowed intention of urging the doctor to make her his wife some day, the idea flashed upon him that it would be very generous, very magnanimous in him to educate that young girl expressly for the doctor, and though he hardly seemed to wait at all ere replying to Maddy, he had in the brief interval formed a skeleton plan, and seen it in all its bearings and triumphal result.

"I am much obliged for your liking me," he said, a little mischievously. "You surely have not much reason so to do when you recall the incidents of our first interview. Maddy—Miss Clyde—I have come to the conclusion that I knew less than you did, and I beg your pardon for annoying you so terribly."

Then, briefly, Guy explained to her how it all happened, blaming himself far more than he did the doctor, who, he said, had repented bitterly.

"Had you died, Miss Clyde, when you were so sick, I half believe he would have felt it his duty to die also. He likes you very much; more indeed than any patient I ever knew him to have," and Guy's eyes glanced curiously at Maddy to witness the effect his words might have upon her. But Maddy merely answered:

"Yes, I think he does like me, and I know I like him."

A weak stomach, causing dyspepsia, a weak heart with palpitation or intermittent pulse, always means weak stomach nerves or weak heart nerves. Strengthen these inside or controlling nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative and see how quickly these ailments disappear. Dr. Shoop of Racine, Wis., will mail samples free. Write for them. A test will tell. Your health is certainly worth this simple trial. Sold by all dealers.

THE VOICE ADMIRED.

It is the well poised woman who receives admiration and respect.

Train the ear to recognize pleasant sounding, agreeable voices and listen to your own critically.

Just as the touch of a woman's hand should be a warm caress, so should her voice fall upon the ear with pleasantness.

The voice that is heard without raising the natural speaking tones is the well modulated voice which impresses one with its calm and its sincerity.

A course of instruction in vocal culture will create a decided change many times, but a vast improvement may be found in deep breathing and careful attention.

Tomato Fritters.

Choose ripe but firm tomatoes, not too small. Peel them by dipping for an instant into boiling water; cut in slices half an inch thick. Make a frying batter with half a pound of flour, two eggs, half a pint of milk and a little salt; mix the flour smoothly with the milk, add the yolks of eggs and salt. If possible, allow the batter to stand for an hour or two. Then beat the whites of the eggs to a stiff froth and add them to the other ingredients; carefully dry each slice of tomato, coat it in the batter and fry till brown in boiling fat; drain on paper and serve very hot.

The Linen Shower.

When giving a linen shower send out the invitation on paper which looks like hemstitched linen. It is best for the guests to meet before calling upon the bride elect and arrange what presents are to be sent. No difference what marked pieces you give the young woman, the monogram should be with her maiden initials.

PAIN

Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause. Pain is congestion, pain is blood pressure—both, as also usually. At least, so says Dr. Shoop, and to prove it he has created a little pink tablet. This tablet—called Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablet—draws blood pressure away from pain centers. Itself delicately, pleasingly delightful, thoroughly safely, it surely equalizes the blood circulation.

If you have a headache, it's blood pressure.
If it's painful periods with women, same cause.
If you are sleepless, restless, nervous—congestion—blood pressure. That [illegible] certainly for Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets [illegible] its [illegible] and the tablets simply [illegible] the unnatural blood pressure.

Remove your finger and doesn't it get red [illegible] and pain you? Of course it does. Pressure, blood pressure—you'll find it where [illegible] always. It's simply common sense.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even-numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at an Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

The homesteader is required to perform the homestead duties under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of a homesteader lives permanent residence on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of a homestead, or upon a homestead entered for by him in the vicinity, such homesteader may perform his own residence duties by living with the father (or mother).

(4) The term "vicinity" in the two preceding paragraphs is defined as meaning not more than nine miles in a direct line exclusive of the width of road allowances crossed in the measurement.

(5) A homesteader intending to perform his residence duties in accordance with the above while living with parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

Six months' notice in writing must be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of intention to apply for patent.

Habits of Monkeys.

In their wild state monkeys live in the woods, on the trees, and feed on fruits, leaves and insects. They live together in companies and never go alone when they wish to rob an orchard or find their food. It seems as if they had regular plans, for part of them stand to watch the approach of enemies and part enter the field. They form a straight line, reaching from those within to some place beyond which is a retreat for them. When they are all arranged in due order close to the orchard near the trees throw the fruit to those outside as fast as they can gather it. These pass it over to those nearest to them till the fruit is all safely lodged in their fort or retreat. If the one who acts as sentinel perceives any one coming, he makes a loud noise, and they all run away. Yet even then they will take some fruit under each of their arms or forepaws and also in their mouths. They are mischievous animals and enjoy travelers exceedingly by throwing stones and sticks at them, and they will frequently follow them for some distance when they are passing through the woods by leaping from tree to tree. They are capable of forming strong attachments even with other animals [illegible] exhibit mildness, affection [illegible] docility.

Congenial Employment.

The high price of life, the crowning fortune of man, is to be born to some pursuit which finds him in employment and happiness, whether it be to make baskets or broadswords or canals or statues or songs.—Emerson.

Able For the Rest.

"William, were you ever whipped at school?" queried the visitor.

"Only by the teacher," was the rather significant reply.

Vice-President ..... JUDGE CHAS. L. HAYES,
Mine Owner and Leading Attorney of Goldfield, Nevada
Secretary and Treasurer ..... ADAMS F. BROWN,
Corporation and Mining Lawyer and Member of Leasing Committee Goldfield Stock and Exchange Board.
Depository ..... JOHN S. COOK & CO
Bank of Goldfield, Nevada.

This company owns 6 claims (80 acres) of some of the best proven mining land in the Goldfield district, consisting of the Accidental and Accidental No. 2 lode claims, situated two and one-half miles south of the great Goldfield Consolidated Mines (comprising the Mohawk, Goldfield, Combination, Red Top, Jumbo and Lightner), the richest in the world; and the Broadway and Beauty placer claims situated three and one-half miles north of the Consolidated and about one and one-half miles northwest of the Great Bond and Daisy Mines near the Zeon group in the Diamondfield section second only in richness to the great Mohawk portion of the camp. Phenomenally rich strikes have recently been made on the Consolidated, the Great Bond and the Daisy Mines.

The company has also succeeded in securing the Sure Thing placer claim (20 acres) in the Cuprite district, which has an immense gold bearing ledge, running the entire length of the claim 1,500 feet, outcropping in places over 50 feet wide, and met by several cross dykes all carrying fine values in gold, and is without doubt rightly named "Sure Thing."

All of these claims are located in the same mineral belt as the other noted mines of Goldfield that have astonished the world by their production of millions in high grade ore, and will with the same development give equally profitable returns.

The money derived from the sale of this stock will be used at once for the active development of the property and the fact that all the directors are residents of Goldfield with years of successful mining experience who will give their personal attention at all times to the progress of the work goes to show that the first issue of 100,000 shares will meet with a quick and ready sale at the initial price of 10 cents per share.

We advise immediate action if you wish to participate in the vast profits of this Bonanza Mine.

Stock will be listed as soon as feasible on the Goldfield and San Francisco Stock and Exchange Boards. Would therefore advise purchasers to buy in board lots of 1,000 shares when convenient to do so.

HAPPY MARRIAGES.

Value of the Spirit of Compromise In Wedded Life.

If marriage meant the wedding of a saint and an angel there would be no problems to solve, no perfections to attain, no progress to make. This may be why there are no marriages in heaven.

On earth it is different. Husband and wife are strongly human. No matter how lovingly united or how sweet their accord, they never have the same temperaments, tendencies or tastes.

Their needs are different, their manner of looking at things is not identical and in varying ways their individualities assert themselves. At any critical moment if both express at the same time a desire to defer to the others taste the result is foreordained—happiness. This makes matrimony not merely union, but unison and unity.

The spirit of compromise does not mean a continuous performance in the way of self surrender and self sacrifice; it does not mean ceasing to be a voice and becoming an echo; it does not imply or justify the loss of individuality. It means simply the instinctive recognition of the best way out of a difficulty, the quickest tacking to avoid a collision, the kindly view of tolerance in the presence of weakness and errors of another, the courage to meet an explanation half way, the generosity to be first to apologize for a discord, the largeness of mind that does not fear a sacrifice of dignity in surrendering in the interests of the highest harmony of the two rather than the personal vanity.—Delineator.

ALWAYS CHEERFUL.

Even When He Lost Both Feet He Could Find Consolation.

Brown's cheerfulness was a source of wonder and admiration to his friends, according to the Ladies' Home Journal. Either his religion or his philosophy taught him to accept everything as a wise dispensation. But then he had a large share of worldly goods, his friends argued, and nothing but adversity would shake his faith.

Therefore when a promising crop was washed away by a flood the neighbors were much astonished to hear him say: "It's all for the best. I was blessed with an overabundance last year."

In the winter his house was burned to the ground. To his neighbors' solicitations he calmly responded, "The house never suited us anyway, so it is all for the best."

Other calamities befell Brown, but still he refused to be disheartened.

The climax came when he was in a railroad accident. Both feet were so badly crushed that amputation was necessary.

Sympathetic friends gathered from all quarters. They dreaded to hear the lamentations they were sure would greet them, for even Brown could hardly be expected to pass this lightly by.

"Guess you are pretty well discouraged, aren't you, with both feet cut off?" ventured some one. "Do you think this is all for the best?"

But Brown nodded his head, smiling wanly, and said:

"They were always cold anyway!"

Unprofitable Adam.

There is occasion for much beating about the bush for answers to many questions put by wise theologues to timid people, but one set of men found their match in the old Scotchwoman under examination for admission to church fellowship.

"What are the decrees of God?" she was solemnly asked.

"Indeed, I trow, he kens that best himsel'."

"What kind of a man was Adam?"

"Ou, just like ither folk!" was the quick reply.

The questioner insisted on a more definite answer. "Weel," said she, "he was just like Jeems Madden, ye ken."

"How so?"

"Weel, naebody got anything by him, and mony lost."

Curios.

Mr. Chow has a passion for curios, but was not able to distinguish a genuine article from a spurious one. One day a dealer came to him wishing to sell the lacquer bowl of Emperor Shun (B. C. 2255), the rod with which the Duke of Chow (about B. C. 1122) flogged Pak Kam, and the mat on which Confucius sat (B. C. 551). Mr. Chow sold all his worldly possessions and purchased them. Holding the bowl in his left hand, clutching the rod in his right hand and carrying the mat upon his back, he went around begging for a copper coin of King Woo (B. C. 1122).—From the Chinese.

Naturally.

Two men met at the gate of the cemetery, and each with excessive politeness bowed to the other to pass in before him. After a few minutes of this, when neither would give way, the younger of the two smiled and said:

"You are the elder of the two, so naturally you ought to go first."—Sourire.

Rest and Unrest.

"When I first went to housekeeping I tried to run everything. I ended with running nothing."

"Absolutely nothing?"

"Well, perhaps the gamut of the emotions now and then."

His Position.

Peckem—My wife referred to me as the head of the family today. Meeker—How did that happen? Peckem—She was talking to a man who called to collect a bill.

Many a man finds out too late that he cannot hide anything from his own conscience.—Pilny.

A Bold Step.

To overcome the well-grounded and reasonable objections of the more intelligent to the use of secret, medicinal compounds, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., some time ago, decided to make a bold departure from the usual course pursued by the makers of put-up medicines for domestic use, and so has published broadcast and openly to the whole world, a full and complete list of all the ingredients entering into the composition of his widely celebrated medicines. Thus he has taken his numerous patrons and patients into his full confidence. Thus too he has removed his medicines from among secret nostrums of doubtful merits, and made them Remedies of Known Composition.

By this bold step Dr. Pierce has shown that his formulas are of such worth that he is not afraid to submit them to the fullest scrutiny.

Not only does the wrapper of every bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the famous medicine for weak stomach, torpid liver or blood and all catarrhal diseases, whenever located, have printed upon it, in plain English, a full and complete list of all the ingredients composing it, but a small book has been compiled from numerous standard medical works, of all the different schools of practice, containing very extensive extracts from the writings of leading practitioners of medicine, endorsing in the strongest possible terms, each and every ingredient contained in Dr. Pierce's medicines. Any one of these little books will be mailed free to any one sending address on postal card or by letter, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and requesting the same. From this little book it will be learned that Dr. Pierce's medicines contain no alcohol, narcotics, mineral agents or other poisonous or injurious agents and that they are made from native, medicinal roots of great value; also that some of the most valuable ingredients contained in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak, nervous, over-worked, "run-down," nervous and debilitated women, were employed, long years ago, by the Indians for similar ailments affecting their squaws. In fact, one of the most valuable medicinal plants entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was known to the Indians as "Squaw-Weed." Our knowledge of the uses of not a few of our most valuable native medicinal plants was gained from the Indians.

As made up by improved and exact processes, the "Favorite Prescription" is a most efficient remedy for regulating all the womanly functions, correcting displacements, as prolapsus, anteversion and retroversion, overcoming painful periods, toning up the nerves and bringing about a perfect state of health. Sold by all dealers in medicines.

Interested in Bowling Competition

Much interest is being taken both by bowlers and onlookers in the competition at the Majestic Bowling Alleys for Mr. Smyth's prize of $5 for the bowler making the highest score during the month in three consecutive games. At present, Mr. W. Wareham leads with a score of 539, although on Friday last, Mr Geo. Cairns, came pretty nearly beating it, getting 536. Mr. Smyth will present a prize of $5 every month during the bowling season.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by Druggists. Price 75c per bottle.

JIMMY REYNOLDS, PORT HOPE WALKER, MAKING GOOD TIME

Going at a Pace of Five Miles an Hour--Is Confident of Finishing Within the Time Many Wagers Made

Port Hope, Oct. 22.—Jimmy Reynolds, the 57-year-old barber pedestrian, left the Queen's Hotel this morning shortly after six o'clock on his second attempt to cover the Port Hope to Toronto and return walking route in a limited time. On this occasion he aims to make the round trip in 36 hours' time, although he failed in his previous attempt to make it in 38 hours.

His pace westward as far as Newcastle has been over five miles an hour, but the expediency of this rapid gait is doubtful. Notwithstanding his advanced age, Reynolds believes he can materially lower the amateur record established last week by Langford, of 39 hours and three minutes.

WHAT HE HAS TO DO.

Reynolds' present attempt is made on the basis of one to two that he can make the trip in 36 hours, and even money that he will accomplish the feat in 38 hours.

Local opinion favors the latter proposition but the 36 hour limit is regarded as altogether impossible.

Reynolds was accompanied by two local men, J. Henderson and R. Woodcock, who will act in the capacity of trainer and pacer respectively.

LIKE A SCHOOLBOY.

Bowmanville, Oct. 22.—Jimmy Reynolds, the plucky Port Hope pedestrian passed through this town at 10.42 a.m. He left Port Hope at 6.02 this morning, arrived at Newtonville at 8.22 and Newcastle at 9.25. He is fully 35 minutes ahead of the time made by D. Langford, the Brantford walker, who covered the distance last week.

Two Port Hope men accompanied Reynolds, Jno Henderson and Wm. Holgate.

Henderson was gaiting him and it was a lively gait too.

Reynolds had the opposition of a very strong wind that is blowing from northwest almost a gale. Great hopes are entertained that he will cut down Langford's record, but few believe that he can do the distance in 35 hours, although he appears to be in better condition than when he attempted the feat in June.

Crowds of citizens greeted him and gave him cheering words as he passed through King street.

HAS REACHED OSHAWA.

Oshawa, Oct. 22.—Jimmy Reynolds arrived in Oshawa on his trip from Port Hope to Toronto, and return. Just as the factory whistles were blowing at one o'clock, exactly seven hours since leaving Port Hope.

QUITE FRESH AT WHITBY

Whitby, Oct. 22.—Jimmy Reynolds passed through town at 2.10 precisely. He was walking briskly, and said he was an hour ahead of Langford's time and considerably ahead of his own scheduled time. He said he felt fresh, was doing fine and was confident of doing the trick nicely. He declared he was making 4 1-2 miles an hour. He was cheerful and jolly as he passed along, talking easily and freely, and acknowledged the salutes of the crowd that watched his progress.

$100,000 Fund to Fight Local Option

Toronto, Oct. 22.—In temperance circles today there was a rumor that the brewers of Toronto are raising a fund of $100,000 to fight local option in York township.

Another report was that the brewers have declared a boycott on those farmers in York township who have signed the local option petition.

"Yes, they have a boycott going," said Mr. John Wanless, who is leading the local option fight. "You see the brewers have been in the habit of selling their refuse grain, from which the malt has been extracted to the farmers for fodder. They have a list of those farmers who have signed the local option petition, and are refusing them the food for their cattle.

"And, by the way," said Mr. Wanless, "that's the reason why the milk we've been getting in Toronto is not good. The farmers feed their cows only on this refuse grain, and give them a whisp of hay once in a while for a cud."

BREWERS SAY NO.

The press today interviewed a number of brewers, all of whom denied that they had cut off local option farmers, and also as to the $100,000 story.

It was at first intended to present the local option petition to York township council at yesterday's meeting, but as there are petitions yet to be presented from Deer Park, Doncaster, Balmy Beach, and one or two other localities, which will mean a couple of hundred names, the presentation was left to next meeting.

"There are already over 1,500 names on the petition," said Mr. Wanless, "and we'll have nearly 2,000 when all the lists are in. We require only 1,398 to make the 25 per cent. of the total vote, which would leave the council no other alternative but to submit the by-law.

Mr. Alf Kingscote Not Supt.

It seems that some of our citizens are under the idea that Mr. Alf. Kingscote is local superintendent of the Peterborough mail carriers. Now this local manufacturer has trouble enough filling orders in his present business. His son, Charles, occupies the government position designated.

Passed Through the City

Mr. A. C. Colledge, father of Tom Colledge, the crack center half of the local rugby team, accompanied by Mrs. Colledge and daughter, Miss Kathleen, passed through the city yesterday morning, en route for Des Moines, Iowa, after spending a six months' outing in the old country. His son, Tom, went with him as far as Toronto, returning yesterday. The latter's father tried to dissuade him playing the game, but finally after a heart to heart talk he consented to look at matters in a proper light and waived all objections to his child connection chasing the leather with Peterborough.

Another Chinese Restaurant Here

Two Chinamen from Toronto yesterday were busily engaged looking through the city seeking a location for still another Chinese restaurant here. We understand that they may locate on George street a few doors above Brock street where there are premises eminently suitable to their requirements. It seems as though the Mongolians or Celt when dealing the pack of restaurant cards be hand out full hands, flushes, straights, or three of a kind (vide any poker player for transcription) in the restaurant business. There is no doubt but what the Chinamen now in the restaurant business here are doing well and satisfying their patrons.

Tried to Sting but Stung

Yesterday afternoon a Downie St. citizen called at the police court to complain that shortly before, dinner, a man, a stranger, called at the house presenting himself as a police officer, and demanded a sum of money, claimed to be due the applicant. The citizen figured out that he was being coached, going at it to find out why he had to pay a constable. He refused to hand over the money and notified the police. This was evidently a case of where a sucker was fished for but a whale of fourpence-ha'penny came to the gaff. It is to be hoped that no "raw" gay deceiver will be caught before he gets a long line of suckers on his hook.

Prescription Hurts Sale of Medicines

Simple Prescription to Make Home Made Kidney Cure

To make up enough of the Dandelion treatment, which is claimed to be relieving nearly every sufferer who uses it of backache, kidney complaint, sore weak bladder and rheumatism, get from any good prescription pharmacy one-half ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion, one ounce Compound Kargon and three ounces Compound Syrup of Sarsaparilla. Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and again at bedtime.

Those who have tried it claim that it acts gently but thoroughly on the kidneys, relieving backache and bladder trouble and urinary difficulties almost instantly. Many cases of rheumatism are known to have been relieved within a few days, the pain and swelling diminishing with each dose.

A well-known local druggist, who is in a position to know, says that this prescription, when ever it becomes known, always ruins the sale of the numerous patent medicine rheumatism cures, kidney cures, etc. It is a recipe which the majority of patent medicine manufacturers, and even certain physicians dislike to see published. Few cases indeed, which will fail to fully yield to its peculiarly soothing and healing influence. Being composed of common every-day ingredients, which can be had from any druggist, it makes a most cheap, honest and harmless remedy and at nominal cost.

Turkeys will be Plentiful and Cheap for Thanksgiving Dinner

The Price will be About Fifteen Cents a Pound, a few Cents less than was Paid for TurKeys for last Thanksgiving.

Present indications are that there will be no scarcity of turkeys for Thanksgiving this year and that birds will be cheaper than they were at this time last year. It may be however, that there will not be just as much meat on the turkey's bones as would have been the case had Thanksgiving Day fallen upon a later date.

"You see, turkeys are running in the fields yet," said a retail man yesterday, "and of course are not as fat as when they are comfortably housed in a warm building. But you may depend on it, Mr. Turkey will be here in quantities equal to the demand when the time comes.

"What about the price?"

"Well we are buying turkeys at 15 and 16 cents a pound, and selling them at 18 cents a pound."

Wholesale men confirm the statement that there will be an abundance of turkeys for the Thanksgiving dinner. They point out however, that, as Hallowe'en and the holiday fall on the same date, there is likely to be quite a demand for geese. A general drop in prices of dressed poultry is prophesied. It is explained that, owing to the scarcity of grain throughout the country the farmers will kill off their birds earlier than usual.

Police Court

Things fairly hummed at yesterday's session of the police court. It will be remembered that about a weeks ago, or to be concise, on last Saturday, Mr. Ernest Armstrong was tried on a charge of selling liquor at the National Hotel during prohibited hours on Sept. 22, and adjudged by his worshipon being guilty. Judgment however, as noted in Monday's issue, was held over, but rendered yesterday when Armstrong was fined twenty dollars, to be paid in ten days, or in default of payment, thirty days in jail. Armstrong, it might be added has skipped out of town.

For the sixth time, within the past two months, Alfred Choate was charged with vagrancy. He pleaded not guilty to being a "vag" but admitted being drunk on several occasions. He is a bricklayer by trade and earns his $3.50 to $4.00 per day in wages, but apparently spends all his earnings on whiskey. His worship gave him ten days in the stone-built pile that dominates Victoria Park, to sober up, and said that the next time Choate appeared in court, he would send him to Central Prison.

Aftermath of Saturday's Fire in Cavan

It will be remembered by our readers that in yesterday's issue we noted the fire that a few days ago destroyed the residence and barn of Mr. Harry Lowes of Cavan township.

It now develops that the contents of the barn were burned and that Mr. Lowes was left without any feed for his cattle. A large portion of the contents of the dwelling was destroyed.

Rugby Excursion to Toronto on Saturday

The local Rugby team during an executive session of their Executive Committee have decided to run an excursion train to Toronto for the game with the Vics on Saturday. Secretary McDonough has made arrangements with the C.P.R. to have the train leave the Peterborough station at 9.30 on Saturday morning, so that those going will be able to visit friends or make purchases in Toronto. The return train will leave Toronto at twelve o'clock on Saturday night, giving those who take in the trip an opportunity of attending the theatre.

Active Work of the Christian Endeavorers

The Christian Endeavorers of Ontario will hold a convention in Cookes Church, Toronto, on Wednesday and Thursday of next week. The founder of the movement, Rev. Francis E. Clarke, D.D., will speak at the opening session on Wednesday evening. Dr. Clark has just been elected president of the World's C.E.S.C.E. called the United Society of Christian Endeavor. The last convention was held in Toronto two years ago.

Wedding Bells

A quietly celebrated wedding was solemnized yesterday morning at St. Peter's Cathedral, when Miss Cecilia Eakins May became the bride of Mr. James Fitzsimmons. Rev. Father McColl tying the nuptial knot. Miss Maude Fitzsimmons, sister of the groom was bridesmaid, and Mr. J. Mulligan of east ward, supported the groom.

The bride was becomingly attired in a blue cloth travelling gown. After the ceremony a dainty wedding breakfast was served at the residence of Mr. Fred Cook, east ward.

The groom, who is manager of Mac's Tobacco Shop, is widely known and popular in the city, and is considered the congratulations and best wishes of his numerous friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Fitzsimmons left in the morning for a honeymoon trip to Toronto and other points west. On their return they will take up their residence in east ward.

Meeting of The Geo. Matthews Co., Limited Held Here Yesterday

Yesterday the city was visited by members of one of our largest and most far reaching manufacturing concerns, viz., the Geo. Matthews Co., Canada's leading pork packing house. It may be possibly admitted that Toronto and Hamilton may have as large packing houses as that of Messrs. Matthews; still, not only to do this local company justice, but to give our city full credit for one of her leading industries, we cannot but claim that the Peterborough end of Messrs. Matthews' extensive industries is run along lines that for sanitariness, sanitation, purity and modern methods of putting up pork in all possibly tasty ways, is unexcelled on this or any other continent.

The gentlemen of the Matthews Company in the city yesterday were: Messrs. Geo. Matthews, Lindsay; W. E. Matthews, Ottawa; A. E. Matthews, Ottawa; A. J. Matthews, Halifax, N.S.; R. J. Matthews, Toronto; G. E. S. Matthews, Brantford.

Whilst their meeting was naturally private, there is no doubt but what the outcome will be so much more business, not only for Peterborough, but for the various places in the Province of Ontario and Quebec where they operate, Mr. T. P. Matthews, the popular local member of the firm has opened a new branch of his heretofore large business that is now doing a large trade which is rapidly increasing.

County Council in Session--Warden McNulty's Address

Yesterday afternoon those interested and patriotic residents of our fair County of Peterborough, who yearly devote so much of their time, practically gratis, towards managing the affairs of the county, met in their fall session in the County council chambers.

The popular warden of the county, whose grasp of affairs is well worth attention, viz., Mr. McNulty, very ably filled the chair, the whole County Council being present.

The ostensible reason for calling this meeting was for the purpose of giving the third reading to a by-law authorizing the issuing of $4000 debentures to provide for the payment of the new bridge being built over the McNulty decided to hold the session at the same time and thereby save time and keep down the expenses.

The warden, in his regular address referred to that important subject, viz., the admission of old and indigent men of the city into the county home at Lindsay. He expressed no direct opinion in connection with the matter, having it to the council to decide. He urged, however, that no thing be done that would be injurious to the interests of the county. In his address to the council he outlined the work to be taken up by the council in session.

Fatal Accident at Trenton Factory

A terrible accident occurred yesterday morning at the planing factory at Trenton, in which two men, Geo. Graham and Lemuel Dale, were killed. The accident was caused by the explosion of one of the carbonizers in which the contents of the cans are cooked. An inquest was held during the evening.

Local Ball Player Now in Lindsay

Mr. Dan McCaul, the thoroughly old time all round star ball pitcher, whose name is familiar to all the fans of this district, is now holding down a good position with the Machine Telephone Co. in Lindsay. Dan's many friends here when he was in the city yesterday, can very near wearing out his overcoat in shaking him whilst expressing their good wishes. Dan will undoubtedly do good work for the Lindsay baseball players during next season, and, in the meantime give host and good services to his employers.

Desperadoes Rounded Up at the C.P.R. Station

As the 10.07 eight train was coming in this morning P. C. Newhall had rather an exciting spar with three armed men. It is learned that this officer arrested two men on suspicion when a third one interfered and pulled a loaded revolver on the constable, almost like a flash of lightning. P. C. Newhall's club settled the gun business, when the second man struck the officer, and a fight for the coat in P. C. Newhall's hand. P. C. Adams was quickly on the scene but at the time of going to press, no information could be obtained from the police station, as the two officers mentioned had not returned from hunting the desperadoes.

RACERS IN BIG BALLOON CROSSED LAKE MICHIGAN YESTERDAY

Major Hersey, American, Crossed North of Chicago and Then Headed for Detroit--Travelling at a Rapid Speed

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 22.—A despatch from South Haven, Mich., says a balloon carrying two American flags passed about nine a.m. going northeast.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Oct. 22.—At 9.45 o'clock this morning a balloon passed a short distance north of Plainwell. Twenty miles north of Kalamazoo. It was travelling fast in a south-easterly direction, and spectators had a plain view of it.

Springfield, Ohio, Oct. 22.—One of the St. Louis balloons passed over this city at noon on a north-easterly course.

The balloon was flying the German flag, and dropped a letter signed "Pommern," stating that the aeronauts had made 38 miles an hour speed, and had two thousand pounds left.

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 22.—A balloon passed over Stockbridge at 11.45 a.m., with an American flag flying from the basket. It was making about 30 miles an hour.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 22.—A long distance telephone message was received here this morning from Union City, Tenn., that one of the balloons which left here yesterday afternoon passed over there at 9.45 a.m., travelling rapidly southeast.

Knickerbocker Trust Suspends Temporarily --Banks are in Trouble

New York, Oct. 22.—The Knickerbocker Trust Company has stopped paying money to depositors, the statement being made that the company could not obtain currency rapidly enough.

Second Vice-President Brown, announcing that the company had stopped payments to depositors, said: "The Trust Company finds that it will be impossible to pay any more checks today on account of the company's inability to get sufficient currency. The Trust Company is perfectly solvent and may resume payment tomorrow."

Washington, Oct. 22.—It is understood that Secretary Cortelyou has ordered $6,000,000 distributed among the leading national banks of New York.

New York, Oct. 22. — The Clearing House Committee announced the following debit balances of banks today:

Mercantile National Bank, $454,000.

National Bank of North America, $543,000.

National Bank of New Amsterdam, $340,000.

The Mechanics' and Traders' National Bank, $335,000.

The National Bank of Commerce, $7,000,000.

It was officially announced that the Clearing House Committee had render Assistance today to the Mercantile National Bank, the National Bank of North America, and the National Bank of New Amsterdam. It was stated that the large debit balance of the Bank of Commerce represented the clearances of the Knickerbocker Trust Company.

Mr. Geo. Brown May Secure Majestic Parlors

Rumors That Mr. Smythe May Sell His Fine Billiard and Bowling Establishment

It was yesterday currently rumored that Mr. Geo. Brown, the well-known local hotel man is negotiating with Mr. J. T. Smyth, proprietor of the Majestic Billiard Parlors, Water street, just to the north of Simcoe street.

Whilst Mr. Brown has not as yet so far as The Times could ascertain, concluded any arrangement, we are led to believe that the deal will go through, should the latter be effected, with Mr. Brown's well known and acknowledged local popularity, and the admitted good business in this place, the new proprietor has a very bright future.

VERY PREVELENT IN YOUNG WOMEN

A Condition of "White-Bloodedness" is Fast Increasing.

It is always associated with languor and sensitiveness to cold. All the mucous surfaces, such as the gums, lips and eyelids, are blanched and waxy looking, the skin is pallid and colorless.

The pulse becomes rapid and feeble; there is also loss of appetite and enfeebled digestion, palpitation of the heart, breathless and tendency to faint. In extreme cases there is complete disappearance of the menses and dropsical swelling of the limbs.

Physicians know of no remedy so prompt in results as Ferrozone, which contains all the elements lacking in debilitated blood.

Ferrozone not only improves the present quality of the blood, but actually forms more blood—the rich, red kind that nourishes and feeds the organs that require assistance.

"About a year ago," writes Mrs. S. G. Stanhope, of Rothesay, "my daughter complained of feeling tired. She was very pale and listless, and kept losing strength until too weak to attend school.

"We read of a similar case, that of Miss Descent, Stirling, Ont., being cured by Ferrozone, and this induced us to get it for Elaine. It took three boxes of Ferrozone to make any decided improvement, but when six boxes were used my daughter was beginning to be her old self again. It didn't take much longer to make a complete cure. It has made a new girl of Elaine. She has gained ten pounds in weight and looks the picture of perfect health. She is stronger and enjoys the best of spirits."

Every growing girl and young woman can make herself strong and healthy with Ferrozone. Price 50c. per box, or six for $2.50, at all dealers.

ADVANTAGES OF THE WARD SYSTEM

St. Catharines decided in January last to do away with the "at large" system of electing aldermen and return to the ward system. Dealing with the subject, the St. Catharines Standard said the other day:

"The election of aldermen by the at-large system failed to justify itself in this city, and the electors so expressed themselves in January last. There may be a prejudice in the minds of some of the electors against the ward system in the belief that it produces the 'ward heeler,' and ward appropriations, and fails to take into consideration the needs of the city as a whole, but that is more imaginary than real.

"One of the most important advantages of the ward system is the division and concentration of the responsibility of selecting good men as candidates. That may seem to be a paradox, but it is not so. What is everybody's business is nobody's business.

"That is a trite old maxim. When it was the business of the whole city to choose candidates it soon became nobody's. Now the responsibility is divided and the ratepayers of the three wards must be responsible for the calibre and the character of the men who will represent them."

The people of Brockville showed their wisdom in voting down the by-law to do away with the ward system two years ago.

PROVINCIAL POLICE

From many parts of Ontario crimes of violence are reported, holdups are becoming quite common, and a spirit of lawlessness seems to prevail. It is noticeable, too, that the offences are usually committed in rural parts of the province, where police surveillance is less strict or cannot be said to exist at all.

The time has manifestly come for the establishment of a provincial constabulary force of an efficient character. At present, if we mistake not, there are only two provincial detectives, and it is manifestly impossible for them to undertake the duties properly belonging to them. Evidence of this is seen in the Barton murder case, which has not yet been cleared up, and, from present appearances, will always remain unsolved.

The urban police feel no responsibility for offences committed in the rural districts, and the latter are usually too economical to provide for ordinary police duties, let alone detective work. Ontario, therefore, offers an inviting field for criminals of a hardened character, and the only way to drive them out is by means of a provincial force which will draw the dragnet from one end of the province to the other, and keep everlastingly at it.

The present Provincial Government is in the enjoyment of a considerable surplus, and there is no reason why a subject so intimately connected with the lives and property of the people should be neglected.—Brantford Expositor.

Her Purse and His Handkerchief.

"The thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts." The other day a young woman who had dropped her purse, full of pay money for the corps of girls under her charge, considered the thoughts of youth to be rather too "long."

She was in one of the large department stores, and as her hands were occupied she let her purse lie for a few moments where it had fallen. But her eye was on it. In the meantime a bright little fellow not more than nine or ten years old left his parents near by and deftly covered the purse with a handkerchief.

The woman, who is a perfectly self possessed young person, could hardly believe her eyes, but she waited to see what the boy would do. Just as he was stooping to his prize she placed her foot quietly upon it. The youngster slipped back without a word to the well dressed "respectable" people with whom he was.

Then the woman picked up her purse and, taking the handkerchief over to the lad, handed it to him, saying, "There is no reason why you should lose your handkerchief just because you didn't get my purse!"

Too Good to Miss.

"Theater audiences have improved in recent years," said a manager. "Why, with provincial touring companies in the past maltreatment was regularly expected. In fact, the companies profited by it in more ways than one.

"I know of a company that was playing 'The Broken Vow' in Paint Rock, a one night stand. The audience didn't like 'The Broken Vow,' and eggs, cabbages and potatoes rained upon the stage.

"Still the play went on. The hero raved through his endless speeches, dodging an onion or a baseball every other minute and pretty sore from those missiles that he hadn't been able to dodge.

"But finally a gallery auditor in a paroxysm of rage and scorn hurled a heavy boot, and the actor, thoroughly alarmed, started to retreat.

"'Keep on playing, you fool,' hissed the manager from the wings as he hooked in the boot with an umbrella. 'Keep on till we get the other one.'"

How a Tree Grows.

Both earth and air are required for the growth of a plant or tree. The roots absorb moisture from the soil, which, in the form of a watery fluid called common sap, rises through the fibers of the last deposited annular ring, traversing all the branches and leaf stalks until it reaches the leaves; there it undergoes a change by the absorption of carbonic acid from the air. It then travels downward again in the form of proper sap, just underneath the bark, which is expanded by the accession of moisture and in the cavity so formed a new layer of material is deposited which gradually hardens and forms a new annular ring. And so, from absorbing the moisture and minerals of the soil and the carbonic acid of the air the tree goes on until it finishes its cycle and dies.

Jack Tar at a Christening.

A sailor went up to the font to have his baby baptised. Sailors as a class claim little stock in babies, and naturally enough this one presented the infant feet foremost.

"The other way," said the minister, and accordingly Jack turned the infant upside down.

"Excuse me," said the clergyman, "I mean the other way." So back came the embryo foretopman to the first position, to the discouragement of everybody.

"Wind it, Jack," said the nautical assistant, and with an "Aye, aye, sir," Jack promptly turned the baby end for end, and it was duly christened head first.—"On a Man-of-war."

The Alternative.

The Count—Doctor, I have such a fearfully bad cough. What can I do for it? Doctor—Well, sir, you must remember that you are no longer in your first youth and you must take care of your general health. So you had better leave off smoking; take no alcohol in any form and do not excite yourself in any way; do not— The Count—The mischief, doctor; what am I to do then? Nothing but cough?—Lustige Blatter.

The Virginia Plover.

The most wonderful bird flight noted is the migratory achievement of the Virginia plover, which leaves its haunts in North America and, taking a course down the Atlantic, reaches the coast of Brazil in one unbroken flight of fifteen hours, covering a distance of over 3,000 miles at the rate of four miles a minute.

Condensed.

"Here is an article on 'How to Live a Hundred Years.'"

"Yes, and the whole subject can be condensed into two words."

"What are they?"

"'Don't die.'"

Not the Music He Loved.

Mrs. Talkamore—Your husband is a great lover of music, isn't he? Mrs. Chatters—Yes, indeed, I have seen him get up in the middle of the night and try to compose. Mrs. T.—What? Mrs. C.—The baby.

Well Named.

"This is the parlor, eh?" tentatively remarked the real estate agent, who was looking over the house.

"Yes," replied the old man Kidder, "but I usually call it the courtroom. I've got seven daughters, you know."

If you make money your god, 'twill plague you like a devil.—Fielding.

Dairy and Creamery

A rented farm where both owner and tenant are receiving adequate compensation for their investment and services and where ample returns are made to the soil to insure larger and better yields with each succeeding year should attract more than passing notice. Such conditions exist on a farm located in southern Michigan. It is a dairy farm of 120 acres, 106 acres tillable, two and a half acres in natural pastures and the remainder taken up by lanes, roads, yards and buildings.

Sawdust is used for bedding in the stalls and as an absorbent. This renders the manure especially adaptable for disking in, as in the case of fitting oat stubble for alfalfa. No ill effects on the soil have ever been noticed from the use of this material.

from the stable and dumps it on a manure spreader. The spreader stands on a rectangular cement foundation built with sides about two feet above the floor. The ends of the floor are raised, so that any drippings from the spreader cannot escape, but not high enough to prevent driving the spreader on or off. By keeping some absorbent litter, which is changed when necessary, on this foundation all the liquid as well as the solid manure is saved without recourse to a manure cistern. A roof over this foundation, supported by seven foot posts, keeps off rain and snow. The manure is hauled to the fields daily. Experience has shown that it injures the texture of the soil very much to drive a loaded wagon over it when it is too wet. To avoid this trouble, the building in the near future of a shed large enough to store the manure accumulating during the wet periods of the year is contemplated. Enough manure is produced by the herd to cover the whole farm with six to eight tons to the acre each year.

Machinery Equipment.

The implements and machinery in use on this farm are three wagons, two disk harrows, one smoothing harrow, two walking plows, one gang disk plow, two two-horse cultivators, one corn binder, one mowing machine, one two-row cultivator, one manure spreader, one weeder, one combined fertilizer and grain drill, one fifteen horsepower gasoline engine and one silage cutter. One of the best tools is a float made of three eight-foot poles weighted so as to make a good load for three heavy horses.

Work and Wages.

Five men are employed the year round. Four of them milk from ten to fifteen cows each. Two of the milkers drive the delivery wagons on the city milk route and take care of the cans and milking utensils. One attends to feeding the stock and to the chores about the barns. The fourth while not milking is engaged at labor in the fields. One man devotes his entire time to general work in the fields. A few day hands are hired during busy times, such as the haying and silo filling seasons.

The milking takes about two hours twice a day. It is the first work done in the morning, commencing at 4:30, and is finished in the evening at 6 o'clock. It takes the two men who drive the milk wagons about five hours to deliver the milk and one hour to take care of the wagons and cans. The farm men work about nine hours in the field.

The two men who drive the milk wagons receive $25 a month. The barn man gets $40 a week. One farm hand is paid $23 a month; the other, a boy, $18 a month. The wages paid the temporary help vary from 50 cents a day for boys to $2.50 a day for skilled men. All the laborers are furnished board.

Causes of "Hard Milking."

"Hard milking" occurs from varied causes. Sometimes the trouble is due to an unnatural construction of the entire length of the canal of the teat, sometimes to new growths along its course and not infrequently to little shotlike bodies attached to a pedicle, which drop down into the canal from above and form a sort of a ball valve obstruction. Again the trouble may come from injuries to the lower part (the sphincter of the teat). These last causes usually arise from injuries received from without and occasionally are due to warty growths at the opening of the teat.

Attractive Butter Prints.

Butter, if put up in prints, should be wrapped in parchment paper to preserve it. Prints should be rectangular and have a neat, trim appearance. Whatever may be the condition, the man that puts his butter up in the handsomest packages will sell the most butter if other conditions are equal.

Something New in Copper

PITTSBURG - IDAHO

Mining and Milling Company

The mine is located 58 miles above Lewiston, Idaho, on the Clearwater river, and consists of 19 full claims, or 380 acres. It is developed by tunnels, shafts and open cuts for more than 2100 feet, disclosing thousands of tons of copper, gold and silver ores of both high grade and low grade. There are between 1000 and 2000 tons of ore ready for shipment. The entrance to the working tunnel is only 2000 feet from the track of the Northern Pacific railroad, to be reached by gravity tramway. There are seven parallel veins running lengthwise of the claims, one cropping out on the surface for 2400 feet and another for 3000 feet; while two veins cross these running into the mountain. These veins are from 30 to 200 feet wide. One ore chute has been crosscut 60 feet and is solid ore from wall to wall.

We are not asking you to buy in a prospect. That risk was taken by the promoters. We are asking you to buy in a developed, proven mine. Seven years of continuous work and the expenditure of thousands of dollars has proven up one of the greatest mines in Idaho. That mine is now ready to pour out its red and yellow wealth to the world with the installing of an up to date production plant. It is for that purpose that a block of its treasury stock, full paid and non-assessable, is offered for sale. We believe that within six months from the completion of a 100 ton plant the mine can be put on a dividend paying basis, and that those dividends will be substantial and permanent. There is no better investment proposition before the people at this time.

AIKENSIDE

BY MARY J. HOLMES

Author of "Dora Deane," "The English Orphans," "Lena Rivers," "The Rector of St. Mark's," "Tempest and Sunshine," Etc.

Mentally chiding himself for trying to find in Maddy's head an idea which evidently never was there, he began to speak of her proposition to leave, saying he should not suffer it, Jessie needed her and she must stay. She was not to mind the disagreeable things Mrs. Remington had said. She was tired and nervous, and so gave way to some very preposterous notions, which she had picked up somewhere. She would treat Maddy better hereafter, and she must stay. It was pleasanter for Jessie to have a companion so near her own age. Then, as he saw signs of yielding in Maddy's face, he continued:

"How would you like to turn scholar for a short time each day, I being your teacher? Time often hangs heavily upon my hands, and I fancy the novelty of the thing would suit me. I have books. I will appoint your lessons and the hour for recitation."

Guy's face was scarlet by the time he had finished speaking, for suddenly he remembered to have heard or read of a similar instance which resulted in the marriage of the teacher and pupil; besides that, it would subject him to so much remark, when it was known that he, the fashionable and fastidious Guy, was teaching a pretty, attractive girl like Maddy Clyde, and he sincerely hoped she would decline. But Maddy had no such intention. With her beautiful eyes full of tears, which shone like diamonds, as she lifted them to Guy's face, she said:

"Oh, I thank you so much. You could not make me happier, and I'll try so hard to learn. They don't teach such things at the district school; and when there was a high school in Honedale I could not go, for it was three dollars a quarter, and grandpa had no three dollars for me. Uncle Joseph needed help, and so I stayed at home. It's dreadful to be poor, but, perhaps I shall some time be competent to teach in a seminary, and won't that be grand? When may I begin?"

Guy had never met with so much frankness and simplicity in anyone, unless it were Lucy Atherstone, of whom Maddy reminded him somewhat, except that the latter was more practical, more—he hardly knew what—only there was a difference, and a thought crossed his mind that if Maddy had all Lucy's advantages, and was as old, she would be what the world calls smarter. There was no disparagement to Lucy in his thoughts, only a compliment to Maddy who was waiting for him to answer her question. There was no retracting now; he had offered his services; she had accepted; and with a mental comment: "I dread doc's fun the most, so I'll explain to him how I am cheating her for the future Mrs. Dr. Holbrook," he replied:

"As soon as I am rested from my journey, or sooner, if you like; and now tell me, please, who is this Uncle Joseph of whom you speak?"

He remembered what the doctor had said of a crazy uncle, but wishing to hear Maddy's version of it, put to her the question he did.

"Uncle Joseph is grandma's youngest brother," Maddy answered, "and he has been in the lunatic asylum for years. As long as his little property lasted, his bills were paid, but now they keep him from charity, only grandpa helps all he can, and buys some little nice things which he wants so badly, and sometimes cries for, they say. I picked berries all last summer, and sold them to buy him a thin coat and pants. We should have more to spend than we do, if it were not for Uncle Joseph," and Maddy's face wore a thoughtful expression as she recalled all the shifts and turns she'd seen made at home that the poor maniac might be more comfortable.

"What made him crazy?" Guy asked, and after a moment's hesitancy Maddy replied:

"I don't believe grandma would mind telling you, though she don't talk about it much. I only knew it a little while ago. He was disappointed once. He loved a girl very much, and she made him think that she loved him. She was many years younger than Uncle Joseph—about my age at first—and when she grew up she said she was sick of him because he was so much older. He wouldn't have felt so badly, if she had not gone straight off and married a rich man who was a great deal older than even Uncle Joseph; that was the hardest part, and he grew crazy at once. It has been so long that he never can be helped, and sometimes grandma talks of bringing him home, as he is perfectly harmless. I suppose it's wicked, but I must hope she won't, for it would be terrible to live with a crazy man," and a chill crept over Maddy, as if there had fallen upon her a foreshadowing of what might yet be. "Mr. Remington," she continued suddenly, "if you teach me, I can't, of course, expect three dollars a week. It would not be right."

"Perfectly right," he answered. "Your services to Jessie will be worth just as much as ever, so give yourself no trouble on that score."

He was the best man that ever lived, Maddy thought, and so she told the doctor that afternoon when, as he rode up to Aikenside, she met him out on the lawn before he reached the house.

It did strike the doctor a little comically that one of Guy's habits should offer to turn school-teacher, but Maddy was so glad that he was glad too, and doubly glad that across the sea there was a Lucy Atherstone. How he wished that she was there now as Mrs. Guy, and he must tell Guy so that very day. Seated in Guy's library, the opportunity soon occurred, Guy approaching the subject himself by saying:

"Guess, Hal, what crazy project I have just embarked in."

"I know without guessing; Maddy told me," and the doctor's eyebrows were elevated just a little, as he crossed his feet upon the window sill and moved his chair so as to have a better view of Maddy and Jessie romping in the grass.

"And so you don't approve?" was Guy's next remark, to which the doctor replied:

"Why, yes; it's a grand thing for her, providing you know enough to teach her; but, Guy, this is a confounded gossiping neighborhood, and folks will talk, I'm afraid."

"Talk about what!" and Guy bridled up as his independent spirit began to rise. "What harm is there in my doing a generous act to a poor girl like Maddy Clyde? Isn't she graceful as a kitten, though?" and Guy nodded toward the spot where she was playing.

It annoyed the doctor to have Guy praise Maddy, but he would not show it, and answered:

"It's all right in you, but just because the poor girl is Maddy Clyde folks will talk. She is too handsome Guy, for Madam Grundy to let alone. If Lucy were only here, it would be different. Why, in the name of wonder, are you two not married, if you are ever going going to be?"

"Jealous, as I live!" and Guy's hand came down playfully on the doctor's shoulder. "I did not suppose you had got as far as that. You are afraid of the effect it may have on me teaching a sweet-faced little girl how to conjugate amo; and to cover up your own interest, you bring Lucy forward as an argument. Eh, Hal, have I not probed the secret?"

The doctor was in no mood for joking, and only smiled gloomily, while Guy continued:

"Honestly, doctor, I am doing it for you. I imagine you fancy her, as well you may. She'll make a splendid woman, but she needs edueating, of course, and I am going to do it. You ought to thank me, instead of looking so like a thundercloud," and Guy daughed merrily.

The doctor was ashamed of his mood, and could not tell what prompted him to answer:

"I am obliged to you, Guy; but as far as I am concerned, you may spare yourself the trouble. If my wife needs educating, I can do it myself."

A LITTLE DEAD BIRD.

How the Boy Felt Who Shot and Lost a Golden Pheasant.

The celebrated Russian novelist, Turgeneff, tells a touching incident from his own life, which awakened in him sentiments that have colored all his writings.

When he was a boy of ten his father took him out one day bird shooting. As they tramped zero o the brown stubble a golden pheasant rose with a low whir from the ground at his feet and with the joy of the sportsman he raised his gun and fired, wild with excitement when the creature fell flapping at his side. Life was ebbing fast but the instinct of the mother was stronger than death itself, and with a flutter of her wings the mother bird reached the nest where her young brood was huddled, unconscious of danger, says a writer in Our Dumb Animals. Then, with such a look of pleading and reproach that his heart stood still at the ruin he had wrought and never to his dying day did he forget the feeling of guilt that came to him at that moment, the little brown head toppled over, and only the dead body of the mother shielded her nestlings.

"Father, father," he cried, "what have I done?" as he turned his horror stricken face to his father. But not in his father's eye had this tragedy been enacted, and he said: "Well done, my son. That was well done for your first shot. You will soon be a fine sportsman."

"Never, father. Never again shall I destroy any living creature. If that is sport, I will have none of it. Life is more beautiful to me than death, and since I cannot give life I will not take it."

Symbolic Precious Stones.

The list of precious stones belonging to the different months and the sentiment of each are as follows: January, garnet; constancy; February, amethyst, sincerity; March, bloodstone, courage; April, diamond, innocence; May, emerald, success in love; June, agate, health and long life; July, carnelian, content; August, sardonyx, married happiness; September, chrysolite, antidote to madness; October, opal, hope; November, topaz, fidelity; December, turquoise, prosperity.

Rheumatism

I have found a trial well worth while for Rheumatism. Not a remedy that will straighten crooked limbs or relieve cripples, nor bring back to flesh again. That is impossible. But I can now surely kill the pain and pangs of this deplorable disease.

In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Brunswick—I found the last ingredient I needed for Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy to complete a perfected, dependable prescription. We have given it a successful trial in many cases of Rheumatism, but now, at last, I have all available cases of this horrible disease. These same three grand elements found in Rheumatic Blood are also found in sugar when added to pure water, which dissolved, does poisonous uric acid just from the system, and the entire elimination is quick and sure. Pain—your real enemy—practically ceases to suffer longer without help. We sell, and in confidence recommend Let No One Boast.

Nevertheless, let no one boast. Just as every man, though he be the greatest genius, has very definite limitations in some one sphere of knowledge, and thus attests his common origin with the essentially perverse and stupid mass of mankind, so also has every man something in his nature which is positively evil. Even the best—nay, the noblest—character will sometimes surprise us by isolated traits of depravity, as though it were to acknowledge his kinship with the human race, in which villainy, nay, cruelty—is to be found in that degree.—Schopenhauer.

The Whole Show.

When Rubinstein was traveling through the United States upon a concert tour it chanced that Barnum's circus followed exactly the same route chosen by the great Russian. On one occasion when the train was filled with snake charmers, acrobats, clowns and the like the guard, noticing perhaps Rubinstein's remarkable appearance, asked him, "Do you belong to the show?" Turning his leonine head with a savage shake, Rubinstein fiercely growled out, "Sir, I am the show!"

Aids to Humanity.

No women have done more for humanity and for the individual than the old maid reformer and the old maid aunt. There is none to whom we owe a deeper debt of gratitude and none whom we could not better spare, says a writer in the Cosmopolitan, for be sure of this, God sends old maids into the world to do the work that the rest of us leave undone.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or sub-agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at an Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

The homesteader is required to perform the conditions under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, no less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of a homesteader has permanent residence on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of a homestead, the requirement as to residence may be performed by such homesteader residing with the father (or mother).

(4) The term "vicinity" in the two preceding paragraphs is defined as meaning not more than nine miles in a direct line exclusive of the width of road allowances crossed in the measurement.

(5) A homesteader intending to perform his residence duties in accordance with the above while living with parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

Six months' notice in writing must be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of intention to apply for patent.

Vice-President ..... JUDGE CHAS. L. HAYES,
Mine Owner and Leading Attorney of Goldfield, Nevada.

Secretary and Treasurer ..... ADAMS F. BROWN,
Corporation and Mining Lawyer and Member of Listing Committee Goldfield Stock and Exchange Board.

Depository ..... JOHN S. COOK & CO.
Bank of Goldfield, Nevada.

This company owns 4 claims (80 acres) of some of the best proven mineral land in the Goldfield district, consisting of the Accidental and Accidental No. 2 lode claims, situated two and one-half miles south of the great Goldfield Consolidated Mines (comprising the Mohawk, Goldfield, Combination, Red Top, Jumbo and Laguna) the richest in the world; and the Broadway and Beauty lode claims situated three and one-half miles north of the Consolidated and about one and one-half miles northwest of the Great Bend and Daisy Mines near the Zeon group in the Diamondfield section second only in richness to the great Mohawk portion of the camp. Phenomenally rich strikes have recently been made on the Consolidated, the Great Bend and the Daisy Mines.

The company has also succeeded in securing the Sure Thing lode claim (20 acres) in the Cuprate district, which has an immense gold bearing ledge, running the entire length of the claim 1,500 feet, outcropping in places over 50 feet wide, and met by several cross dykes all carrying fine values in gold, and is without doubt rightly named "Sure Thing."

All of these claims are located in the same mineral belt as the other noted mines of Goldfield that have astonished the world by their productive of millions in high grade ore, and will with the same development give equally profitable returns.

The money derived from the sale of this stock will be used at once for the active development of the property and the fact that all the directors are residents of Goldfield with years of successful mining experience who will give their personal attention at all times to the progress of the work goes to show that the first issue of 100,000 shares will meet with a quick and ready sale at the initial price of 10 cents per share.

We advise immediate action if you wish to participate in the vast profits of this Ignacia Mine.

Stock will be listed as soon as feasible on the Goldfield and San Francisco Stock and Exchange Boards. Would therefore advise purchasers to buy in board lots of 1,000 shares when convenient to do so.

A Woman's Suffering

Consultations With Doctors and Specialists Gave But Little Relief.

Halifax, N.S., Sept. 30.—Mrs. R. J. Rawlings, of 12 Argyle street, gives the following statement which should be of interest to every reader. "No one could know what I have suffered with torturing headaches, faint feeling, and lassitude. In the mornings I was scarcely able to do my work and when night came I felt too miserable to sleep. The doctors did me little good, so I decided to buy Dr. Hamilton's Pills about which I had heard so much good. In a week I improved. My headaches were less severe, my appetite increased, and faintness passed away. Day by day I gained strength, and increased in weight. The trouble I am sure was in my stomach, and Dr. Hamilton's Pills did what was necessary. I used twenty boxes and in consequence will live twenty years longer."

Just take prescription for every tired, ailing woman,—try Dr. Hamilton's Pills and see if this isn't so. Sold by all dealers, 25c. per box.

Humorous Chinese Graft.

A certain Chinese taotai (magistrate) having told his men to have two ingots of gold sent to his treasury for purchase, the shopmen brought them in and in answer to the query of the taotai told him that the price was so much in taels, but added, "This is the ordinary price, but for your honor we will knock off one-half of the price." Then the taotai said to his underlings: "Seeing that they are to sell to me at only one-half price, just give them back one ingot of gold and put the other in my treasury, and thus their account is settled. Goodby." So the underlings of the yamen did so, but still the shopmen hung around waiting. The taotai asked them why they were waiting, when their account had been already settled. Said the shopmen, "When did your honor pay your humble servants?" Then the magistrate answered with a very fierce air: "Taio nu tsai" (impertinent slaves), "did you not say that these two gold ingots were half price to me? Then did I not give you back one ingot and keep the other and thus settle your account without the least injustice according to your own proposition? So be off with you or my lictors will give you a taste of the scourge."

A Singular Calculation.

It would require, according to the calculations of a scientist, the power of a 10,000 horsepower engine about 70,000,000,000 years to lift the earth a foot in height, and to do this work, allowing thirteen pounds of water per horsepower per hour, would require some 10,000,000,000,000,000,000 gallons of water, or more than would be discharged at the mouth of the Mississippi in 9,000 years. This would be enough, the writer estimates, to cover the entire surface of the earth to a depth of not less than 300 feet, to convert which into steam, using good boilers, would require some 4,000,000,000,000,000 tons of coal. If the latter quantity of the mineral was loaded on cars of twenty tons each it would demand 200,000,000,000,000 such cars. If the latter were thirty feet long and all coupled together in one train it would reach around the earth 45,000,000 times and, if running twenty-five miles per hour, would consume 25,000,000 years in running the length of itself. So much for figures.

"Crocodile Tears."

The phrase "crocodile tears" owes its origin to the imagination of some of the old travelers, who invented the fable that the crocodile weeps over its prey. One of the earliest English globe trotters to mention this fiction was Sir John Mandeville, who in his "Travels" (1490), speaking of "Ethiop," "Ynde" and an "Ile clept Silla," says:

"That Lond is full of Serpents and of Cokadrilles. Thesd Cokadrilles ben a manner of Long Serpente, ziiowe and ryued aboven, and had four Feete and schorte Thyes and grete Nayles as Clees or Talonns, and there ben some that had five Fadme in length and some of six and a halfendal. Ant in the nyght thei dwellen in the Water and on the Day won upon the Lond. Theise Serpentes slue men, and thei eten hem weyppne, and when thei eten thei moven the over Jowe and nought the nether Jowe, and thei have no tonge."—St. Louis Republic.

Me and My Father.

The commercial traveler dicked the dust off his boots, straightened his tie and entered the emporium of Mr. Brown, the village grocer. He was new to the district, otherwise he would not have made the error which we now divulge.

Behind the counter was a young gentleman of fourteen, with bulging eyes and a high collar. To him the traveler addressed himself.

"My boy," he said, "is Mr. Brown in?"

"I'm Mr. Brown," the boy replied. "But possibly you want to see old Mr. Brown, my father. I'll get him."

And as the boy went in search of his prematurely aged parent it dawned upon the traveler that this is indeed an age of young men.—London Answers.

Ideals.

He kissed her hand.

She withdrew it hastily and gazed reproachfully at him.

"I didn't think it of you!" she said, almost tearfully. "I had always considered you a young man with ideals, and"—

"I—I am sorry if I have offended," he stammered. "I"—

"Well," she said bitterly, "I certainly expected you to aim higher."

So he took heart and made new resolutions and things.

Safe.

Mrs. Smith—Yes, my little five-year old girl is a great help in my housekeeping. Mrs. Randall—Why, what can such a child do to help? Mrs. Smith—She goes down and tells the cook for me whenever we're going to have company.

Delicately Put.

He would not say that she painted, powdered and all that. He was too much of a gentleman for that.

"Still I may as well confess," he said, "that she impressed me as one who thinks she can improve upon the Lord's handiwork."

Peterborough, Oct. 24, 1907.

The Black Hole of Calcutta.

A scientist, writing of the black hole of Calcutta and its atmosphere, says:

"On the 20th of June, 1756, about 8 o'clock in the evening, 146 men were forced at the point of the bayonet into a dungeon eighteen feet square. They had been but a few minutes confined in this infernal prison before every one fell into a perspiration so profuse that no idea can be formed of it. This brought on a raging thirst, the most difficult respiration and an outrageous delirium. Such was the horror of their situation that every insult that could be devised against the guard without and all the opprobrious names the viceroy and his officers could be loaded with were repeated to provoke the guard to fire upon them and terminate their sufferings. Before 11 o'clock the same evening one-third of the men were dead, and before 6 next morning only twenty-three came out alive, but most of them in a high putrid fever. All these dreadful effects were occasioned by the want of atmospheric air and by their breathing a superabundant quantity of nitrogen emitted from their lungs."

Sealed Orders.

The custom of having warships sail under sealed orders arose from the desire of maritime powers to prevent the plans from becoming known to the enemy. In the American navy such orders come from the president and are delivered to a commander of a ship or squadron by a confidential messenger who knows nothing of their contents. Sometimes they are in cipher, but they are always sealed with the official seal of the navy department and the package cannot be opened until the time marked on it, which is usually several hours after the hour of leaving port. By this precaution the newspapers are prevented from disclosing prematurely the movements which may be of the greatest importance, and the spies of the enemy are rendered useless so far as their ability to discover the secret of such movements is concerned. Sailing under sealed orders is now the common naval practice in time of war. These instructions are found in the packet of sealed orders, which is opened when well out at sea.

A Runaway River.

The problem and the peril of the Colorado river are not difficult to understand. A great river running slowly on a ridge of its own creating, running in a broad and tortuous channel, choked with islands of mud and bars of sediment, running with a fall of only one foot to the mile, while to the north and west lay a vast depression below sea level and inviting the sluggish river to a swifter flow; between this sunken area and the uncertain course of the river a great garden of Eden in promise and potency, needing only to be watered and kept, then a canal tapping the river, a flood gathering at the far away sources, a breach in the unprotected bank and the whole volume of the river, forsaking its ancient and outgrown bed and rushing into that pit in the desert, sweeping in its course through miles of fertile farms and cutting canyons where canals had been—this is an outline of the situation and a hint of the peril.—A. J. Wells in Sunset Magazine.

The Dean's Raiment.

Dean Stanley was once driving with a friend from Monreale to Palermo. Both men were reading. Stanley suddenly discovered that he was shivering with a cold. He mentioned the matter to his friend.

"Well, hadn't you better put something on?" said the latter, pointing to the dean's bag, which was close at hand.

Stanley thought it rather a good idea, and the friend went on reading. As they entered Palermo there were shouts of astonishment. Stanley was placidly reading. His friend found that the distinguished churchman had absentmindedly drawn out a nightshirt from his bag and put it on over his other clothing and thus arrayed was riding triumphantly into the city.—London Sketch.

The Earth's Shadow.

The earth has a shadow, but very few ever see it, except in eclipses of the moon, or else few recognize it when they see it. Nevertheless, many of us have noticed on fine, cloudless evenings in summer shortly before sunset a rosy pink arc on the horizon opposite the sun, with a bluish gray segment under it. As the sun sinks the arc rises until it attains the zenith and even passes it. This is the shadow of the earth.

Know His Capacity.

Stranger (to waiter)—Isn't that man named Meier who is paying his bill over there?

Waiter—I don't know. I haven't been long here.

S.—What has he had?

W.—Ten glasses of beer and a bottle of wine.

S.—Oh, yes; it is he then.—Paris Rire.

Two Failures.

"I married for beauty alone," said a presumably happy benedict to an old chum. "And yet you remind me of a friend of mine who married for money," was the rejoinder. "How's that?" "He didn't get it," said the chum sarcastically.

Sarcastic.

His Wife—You have been drinking again. Haven't you, now? Her Husband—M'dear, I cannot tell a lie—His Wife—You can't! Then you are further gone than I thought!

A pessimist is a man who won't take the one remaining seat in the car for fear a woman will get on at the next corner.

No Decision Reached

St. John's Young People's Association held an interesting meeting on Monday night. Mr. Mat Drysdale, the president, was in the chair. The program included the debate, "Is the pulpit losing its power." Mr. Jos. Bell and Mr. Hamon argued for the affirmative, and Messrs. Chas. Coleman and Stanley Richardson in the affirmative. No decision was reached in the debate, as no vote was taken.

Nursing Mothers and Over-burdened Women

In all stations of life, whose vigor and vitality may have been undermined and broken-down by over-work, exacting social duties, the too frequent bearing of children or other causes, will find in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the most potent, invigorating restorative strength-giver ever devised for their special benefit. Nursing mothers will find it especially valuable in sustaining their strength and promoting an abundant nourishment for the child. Expectant mothers too will find it a priceless boon, as it prepares the system for baby's coming and renders the ordeal comparatively painless. It can do no harm in any state, or condition of the female system.

Delicate, nervous, weak women, who suffer from frequent headaches, backache, dragging-down distress, low down in the abdomen, or from painful or irregular monthly periods, drawing or distressed sensation in stomach, dizziness, faint-spells, see imaginary specks or floating before eyes, have disagreeable pelvic catarrhal drain, prolapsus, displacement or retroversion or other displacements of womanly organs from which, of parts with, whether they experience many or only a few of the above symptoms, find relief and a permanent cure by using faithfully and fairly persistently Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

This world-famed specific for woman's weaknesses and peculiar ailments is a pure glyceric extract of the choicest native, medicinal roots without a drop of alcohol in its make-up. All its ingredients printed in plain English on its bottle wrapper and attested under oath. Dr. Pierce thus invites the fullest investigation of his formula knowing that it will be found to contain only the best agents known to the most advanced medical science of all the different schools of practice for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments.

If you want to know more about the composition and professional endorsement of the "Favorite Prescription," send postal card request to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for his free booklet treating of same.

You can't afford to accept as a substitute for this remedy of known composition a secret nostrum of unknown composition. Don't do it.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the Council of the City of Peterborough intends, after this notice has been posted up for one month in six of the most public places in the immediate neighborhood of that part of the original allowance for road hereinafter described, and published weekly for four successive weeks in The Morning Times newspaper, being a paper published in the City of Peterborough, to pass a bylaw for stopping up that part of the original allowance for road in the City of Peterborough forming the gore near the intersection of Donegal street and Edinburgh street, described as being that triangular parcel of land bounded on the north by the south side of Edinburgh street, on the east by lot number 19 south of Edinburgh street and the northerly part of lot number 19 north of Dublin street and on the west by a line drawn parallel to and sixty-six feet distant easterly from the eastern limit of lots numbers 20 on registered plan No. 39 for the City of Peterborough, and authorizing the conveyance thereof, when so stopped up, to the respective owners of said lots numbers 19 south of Edinburgh street and 19 north of Dublin street in exchange for a grant of a right of way for a drain through said lots.

And take notice that the said Council will, at the meeting to be held on the 4th day of November, 1907, hear in person or by counsel or solicitor any one whose land might be prejudicially affected thereby and who petitions to be heard.

Dated this 23rd day of September, 1907.

BIG PITTSBURG COMPANIES ARE FORCED TO SUSPEND

Tightness of Money Given as the Reason--Security Investment Company Involved--Stock Exchange Shuts Down

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 23.— Pittsburg financial circles were thrown into an uproar at the opening of business today, when Secretary C. J. Holman made the following announcement.

"At the request of the Pittsburg Clearing House, and at the suggestion of the members and Board of Directors of the Pittsburg Stock Exchange, has been closed for the day."

RECEIVERSHIP NECESSARY.

"The Security Investment Company finds itself involved. This will necessitate a temporary suspension or receivership of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, the Westinghouse Machine Company, and the Nernst Lamp Company.

"The manufacturing companies are in an absolute solvent condition.

AIR BRAKE IS ALL RIGHT.

"The condition of the Security Investment Company will in no way affect the Union Switch and Signal Company, and the Westinghouse Air Brake Company.

"I would like it explicitly understood that it was at the request of the Pittsburg Clearing House that we have suspended trading temporarily."

CAN'T PULL THROUGH.

The petition for a receiver for the concerns named, it is said, will be made today. Bankers interested are expressing doubt of pulling the companies through. The embarrassment of the concerns is attributed to inability to secure funds on account of the stringency in the money market. The amount involved will run into millions.

Police Court

At the police court yesterday, a boy who recently attended the Gilmour Memorial Baptist church, in Smith, was charged with having stolen money from the said church, as well as also stealing the silver collection plates. It seems, judging by P. C. Newhall's evidence that the boy has made a speciality of stealing from churches.

Walter Mahaffery, aged 16 years, was sentenced to two months at hard labor in the county jail, when he pleaded guilty to two charges of stealing bicycles. At one time he lived in Smith, then in Peterborough, and now in Douro. However, he does not live at his home as he is working for a farmer in Smith.

On Saturday last he rode into the city on a wheel and went to one of the local gun shops, where he traded his wheel for a new gun, giving $5 to boot. Fifteen minutes after this transaction he jumped on Mr. Wm. Madill's wheel; which had been left at the corner of Hunter and George streets. He rode to Higgins' hardware store, where he exchanged wheels, taking that belonging to Mr. W. Higgins. He then rode home to Smith, but the wheel was obtained yesterday morning. Officer Murray and Mr. Higgins going out after it. Young Maffery is not a very intelligent looking lad, and from various reports has a weakness for taking other people's property, especially wheels.

In our issue of yesterday's date we noted that P. C. Newhall, assisted by P. C. Adams, had a hot time at the C.P.R. station Tuesday night, when one of three men Newhall went to arrest, pulled a loaded revolver on the officer. One of the trio of desperadoes, James Murray was arrested and brought to the station. Although he gives his name as Murray, the authorities are inclined to believe that this is merely an alias.

As far as can be learned Murray is one of a gang of three men who arrived in the city Tuesday evening from the east, on the 4.48 p.m. C.P.R. train per "blind baggage." Later in the evening a man reported to P. C. Newhall that he had suspicious that they were trying to do him, and the officer determined to watch them.

The two officers followed the three alleged crooks to the C.P.R. depot. Murray came up to Newhall and tried to sell him a ring. As he was pretending to closely examine the jewellery, the tough happened to notice the red strip down the leg of the officer's trousers, when a mix-up took place.

One of the three started to run and the officer grabbed the other two. In the scuffle another of the gang got free leaving a lapel and about half of his coat in P. C. Newhall's hand. Murray, the third man, pulled a revolver. Quick as a flash the revolver was sent flying from the man's hand by a deft blow from the officer's baton and the affair was all over.

The officer had the ring all the time on his finger.

P. C. Adams hurried to the scene, but two of the men had flown and the third was captured. The revolver was picked up fully loaded. It is a six shooter, 32 calibre and is a dangerous looking weapon. P. C. Newhall found a bottle of whiskey which one of the three must have let fall in the encounter. The two missing men have made themselves scarce.

At the police court yesterday Murray was arraigned before Magistrate Dumble on the following charge; That when arrested by P. C. Newhall, a peace officer on duty, when committing the offence of peddling without a license, he (Murray) had upon his person a pistol, contrary to the criminal code.

He quietly pleaded guilty, and another charge was preferred. The latter was that at the time of his arrest Murray was a vagrant without any means and without any visible means of support.

Chief Roszel asked that Murray be remanded for a week.

Mr. R. Hicks Wants an Investigation Into the Alleged Coal Combine

Annual Supper at All Saints' Church

Last night the annual supper in connection with All Saints' church was held in the Sunday school room and was well attended. The members and friends of the congregation turned out in large numbers showing the appreciation for the good work being done by the church in the south end of the city.

The ladies of the church had provided a most inviting repast which was done full justice to by those present. Following the supper, the Rev. Wm. Major, rector of the church, gave a very instructive and illustrated lecture.

Local Teachers to Hold Reception

It is generally understood that the Public School teachers of the city will hold a social gathering, shortly after the arrival of the new inspector, about the first of November, and that an opportunity will be afforded at this gathering for the teachers to become acquainted with Mr. Mowat. The function will likely be held in the new King Edward school. There are about fifty teachers in the schools and, it would take the new inspector some time to become well acquainted with them, and this method is suggested as a desirable one.

$50 for Coal Investigation

Will Donate $50 Towards an Investigation of Coal Matters in this City--Dealers' Profits are Not Large.

Yesterday a Times representative happened to meet Mr. R. Hicks, one of Peterborough's leading coal dealers, and asked him the question that is now agitating many of our citizens. "Is there a coal combine in Peterborough?" Mr. Hicks responded by saying. "What do you mean by a combine?" The Times reporter thus cornered replied, "Why in this city it is a funny feature, if no local combine exists, that simultaneously all the coal dealers of Peterborough on the same day, put up their prices to a similar advanced figure." Mr. Hicks said "Say, Mr. Times man, have you ever seen one of the contracts that every retail coal dealer has to sign before getting the goods? We admitted ignorance and were shown the printed list of scheduled stipulations that the American coal dealers demand signed before sending coal to Canadian dealers. These stipulations are not printed for fun or to fill up space, but are actually binding on all Canadian handlers of American coal. The provisions necessary to subscribe to by our Canadian retail dealers would take up more space than we could give in this issue.

Mr. Hicks, when wound up in his argument with the reporter, said that if other local coal dealers would do likewise, he would gladly subscribe $50 towards the appointment of a commission or committee to investigate coal matters thoroughly, and would be only too glad to have the general public thoroughly understand existing conditions, and made aware of the actual profits made by Peterborough coal dealers. Mr. Hicks, who carries on one of the largest coal and wood business in Central Ontario, seemed yesterday to be in earnest as to soliciting a thorough investigation as to the coal business and its consequent profits. It seems that so fair an offer should be taken up and that those carping against alleged exhorbitant prices should prove their contention or cut out the complaint.

German Balloon Won Landed 880 Miles From St. Louis

St. Louis, Oct. 23.—At one o'clock this afternoon, with only the L'Isle de France to be heard from, the German balloon Pommern, which landed at Ashbury Park, N.J., at nine a.m., after covering 880 miles, has a lead of ninety miles over its nearest competitor, the German balloon Dusseldorf, which landed at Dover, Del., after a flight of 790 miles, air line, from St. Louis.

Cheese Board In Session Yesterday

The highest price of the season was paid yesterday morning at the regular meeting of the Peterborough Cheese Board, when 1213-16c. was offered. Even at that the salesmen were not satisfied and some of them held out for 13c, and consequently a number of factories went unsold, Fraserville, Pine Grove, East Emily and Killarney being among the lot. Two thousand eight hundred and sixty boxes were boarded and the bidding was decidedly brisk. Messrs. Cook and Weir divided the Board between them, the former taking the greater part of the cheese. All but two factories sold at 12 13-16. Mount Pleasant and South Burleigh going to Mr. Weir at 12 3-4c.

"There's a Reason"

The County Council in Regular Session Yesterday

Again yesterday morning the County Council met in session with Warden McNulty in the chair. When the warden's address was read, a special committee, consisting of Councilors Burgess, Thompson, Sirs, Booth and Breault, was appointed to deal with it, and the report submitted the council is published below.

After the minutes of the meeting of Tuesday afternoon were read by the clerk, and adopted, the next matter of business was the reading of the report on the warden's address by Dr. Burgess, as follows:

That we agree with the warden in continuing this special meeting of the council necessarily called for the purpose of reading a debenture by-law a third time as a fall session, saving time and expense.

That any assistance that may have been given the warden in carrying on the business of the year was given in the same spirit in which it was received, namely, as a matter of respect to the office you held, at the same time recognizing the able manner in which you filled it, and the courteous and straightforward manner that was characteristic of all your dealings with your colleagues, and in the interests of the whole county.

That we congratulate you and your colleagues who constitute the Board of Management of the House of Refuge upon the success that has attended your efforts in establishing the same, and we heartily concur with you in your advice to take such steps that will congest the institution with inmates from other municipalities, thereby losing the comfort of our own aged poor.

That referring to the assuming of bridges by the county during 1907, we believe that justice and equity should be meted out to all municipalities. We also give expression of pleasure to the satisfactory position the special committee have placed the county in to execute satisfactory contracts for the new bridge over the Otonabee River in the township of Asphodel, and hope with you the debentures issued to meet the building expenses of the above bridge, will soon be disposed of to advantage and the proceeds placed to the credit of the county to meet the payments necessary during the construction and completion of the said bridge.

That we recognize in the whole of the warden's address a ring of sincerity mingled with good judgment, that must also be credited by the county at large.

The report on motion of Messrs. Shaw and Thompson, was unanimously adopted.

Magistrate Edmison then addressed the council regarding the sending of the demented young man, Wm. Hastle, of Havelock, to the home of his grandfather at Berlin. The youth came to the city with scarcely any clothing and what he had was of a poor quality. The magistrate asked that the council pay his expenses back to his grandparents at Berlin, providing that his relatives are still living there. He purposed remanding him until Saturday until other steps were taken. The boy, the magistrate stated, was certainly demented, and should be taken care of. This was also the opinion of Constable Cochrane.

The council then went into Committee of the Whole on Finance, with Councillor Thompson in chairman of the Finance Committee, presiding.

Wedding Bells

The nuptials were quietly celebrated at St. John's church yesterday morning of Miss Gertrud A. Hutchinson, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo Hutchinson, Sherbrooke St. to Mr. Ernest Payne, of Toronto. The ceremony was performed at 7.30 o'clock by the Rev. Canon Davidson, only a few of the relatives and most intimate friends being present. The bride was unattended and was given away by her father. She was attired in a pretty, travelling suit of brown chiffon broad cloth with hat to match.

Before and after the ceremony Mr. R. J. Bovey, organist of St. John's, played the following program: — "Angelic Voices," Batiste; "Song of Eve," Sinz; "Hail to the Bride" Wagner; and Mendelssohn's Wedding March.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the young couple drove direct to the C.P.R. station, leaving on the eight o'clock C.P.R. train on a wedding trip to Detroit and other cities. They will take up residence in Toronto on their return.

The young couple have a large circle of friends in Peterborough, who will unite in wishing them every happiness and success.

JIMMY REYNOLDS REACHED PORT HOPE IN RECORD TIME

Plucky Port Hope Walker Makes 132 Miles in Thirty Six Hours and Twenty One Minutes --Given Great Reception

Whitby, Oct. 23.—Reynolds reached here on his return trip at 8.05 a.m., and to the surprise of everybody he was walking at a brisk pace and appeared as strong and fresh as when he passed up yesterday afternoon. He stopped for five minutes at the Windsor House, where he drank a glass of milk, and then pushed on as blithely as before. His confidence was even stronger than yesterday for the hardest part of his work is over.

HAS OVER TEN HOURS MORE.

He made the up trip to Whitby in eight hours and 16 minutes, and he has nine hours and 56 minutes in which to get home in order to keep within his wager of 36 hours.

Everyone here who saw him left confident of his winning out. It would not surprise his friends if he were to make it in 35 hours.

WAS FINE AT BOWMANVILLE.

Bowmanville, Oct. 23.—Intense excitement prevailed here on receipt of a telegram from Whitby, saying Jimmy Reynolds, the pedestrian tonsorial artist of Port Hope, had reached that town at eight o'clock on his return journey, and was walking a strong gait.

He entered Courtice, half way between Oshawa and Bowmanville, on the striking of twelve, and after a brief stop for refreshments and a rubdown at the Bunnett House, he left at 12.20, apparently as alert and strong as when he passed westward yesterday.

WALKING TOO FAST.

So eager was Reynolds to accomplish his stunt on time that he was told repeatedly by Henderson, his trainer, to go slower. He said his feet are all right, that he is not going to become lame as was in June by that tired feeling, and really feels in first-class condition in every sense. He has some bad hills and rough road to cover, but the 22 miles of remaining distance can easily be covered in five hours and 40 minutes if his strength holds good, and barring all mishaps he is likely to cut down Langford's record considerably, and complete the 132 miles well within the 36 hours.

Port Hope, Oct. 23.—Jimmy Reynolds, the Port Hope veteran harrier, long distance walker, arrived here last night at 8.21, breaking all previous records for the walk from Port Hope to Toronto and return, doing the distance in 36 hours 21 minutes. He showed signs of fatigure from the long walk. The plucky veteran was given a great reception by the citizens and was headed into the town by the band.

Fire in Eleven Houses People Fled for Lives

Toronto, Oct. 23.—Wakened by cries of "Fire," between thirty and forty people, clad only in their nightrobes, were driven out into the streets by the flames and smoke, between twelve and one o'clock this morning, from a row of houses on Ontario street, while one, prostrated by illness, was carried out by the firemen just in time to escape being burned alive.

The blaze occurred in the row of frame buildings situated between Sydenham and Queen, on the west side of Ontario street.

ELEVEN HOUSES DAMAGED.

There are eleven houses in the row, and not one escaped damage by either fire, smoke or water, while two of them had the top story completely gutted.

The fire broke out in a chimney between Nos. 158 and 160, occupied by J. Le Garde and Patrick Shields, respectively.

"My sister Anna awoke about twelve o'clock and heard a crackling in the wall between our place and the Shields," said Mr. Le Garde to a reporter. "She thought it was heat at first, but as it grew louder she came and woke me. I jumped out of bed, and ran into the hall where I smelled smoke. In about half a minute I had my trousers on, and was going as hard as I could sprint for the fire alarm box. I sent in the alarm, and almost before the bells had stopped ringing the firemen were at the corners of Queen and Ontario and Sydenham and Ontario.

"You see, there is one long attic running the whole length of the seven houses, without a single wall to divide it, and the flames had free play among the rafters. Had there been a wind blowing there would hardly be a stick standing this morning."

In the Shields house, even greater damage was done. Miss Mary Shields, one of the daughters, has been ill for some time with consumption, and is in a very weak condition. She was awakened by the shouting and noise in the Le Garde house, and called to her mother that there was a fire. Her mother hurried to her side, assuring her that there was a fire somewhere in the neighborhood, but that there was no danger.

Before she had time to dress, however, the flames and smoke broke through into her own house, and a stamp was made for the front door, and Mrs. Shields rushed to the fire men to get aid for her daughter. Two of the men made their way through the thickening smoke, and carried the girl into the street, and thence into a neighbor's house. They were only in the nick of time, for hardly had they left the room when the plaster from the ceiling came crashing on to the bed and the flames had caught the curtains and bed clothes.

In the Burns house the fire first made its appearance in a stovepipe hole in the summer kitchen. "I smelled the smoke," said Mr. Burns, "and went to investigate. Our kitchen was full of it, and it was pouring out of the stovepipe hole. My brother and I got some pails of water and threw into the hole, thinking it was only a slight blaze. But when the black smoke and flames continued to pour out I ran into the yard, and saw that the whole top of the house was blazing.

"There were about eight or nine of us in the house, and we had to run for it with just enough on to cover us. The whole roof will have to be torn off all the houses, together with the ceilings, and most of the walls, as the heat blow will bring them down. You can be sure I am not praying for rain or wind just now, though a little more water couldn't add much to the damage."

This was quite apparent, for everything in the upper storey was soaked with dirty water and covered with charred wood.

Mrs. J. J. Long had more warning and she and the people in her house had time to dress, although very hastily.

"I had been awake for a little while," said she, "when I smelled a strong odor of cedar. As it grew stronger I went into my little boy's room to see if he had been lighting matches. He was asleep however, and there was no sign of fire, so I went back to my room. The odor grew stronger, however, I went out again into the hall and then heard the shouting of the people on the street.

"I woke the others in the house, and when I got back to my room the whole of the plaster in my room had come crashing down, in my absence, covering the bed, and the flames and smoke were curling around the rafters. We had time to dress, however, before we went into the street."

PETERBOROUGH, OCTOBER 24, 1907.

GERMANY AND AUSTRIA

We may hope that it will not soon be necessary to deal with the problems and crisis of a new reign in Austria-Hungary. The much desired prolongation of Francis Joseph's reign, however, can scarcely do more than to postpone those problems. It can hardly even lessen their magnitude or facilitate their solution; for they are fundamental, and of a character which lapse of time seems to confirm and intensify. And prominent among those problems is not only that of the continued alliance or complete separation of Austria and Hungary, but also that of the continued union of the heterogeneous provinces which compose the Austrian Empire itself.

We may assume that the protestations now put forward in behalf of Germany, that she has no desire to absorb or to annex Austria, are sincere, so far as the actual German government is concerned; but it is notorious that a large and influential "Pan-Germanic League" has long been openly and vigorously pushing the propaganda of Austrian annexation, and it is conceivable that in some contingency such influences might be effective upon governmental action. Moreover, if Germany does not desire to absorb Austria, that is a very different thing from saying that she would not receive Austria, or a part of Austria, into the empire if the latter asked it. For some years the German party, openly committed to the policy of annexation, has been growing in numbers and influence in the German provinces of Austria, and if some of those provinces should some day proclaim their secession from the eastern empire and ask to be received into that of the west it is scarcely conceivable that their request would be denied or that German troops would force them back under Austrian rule.

Rugby Excursion to Toronto on Saturday

The local Rugby team during an executive session of their Executive Committee have decided to run an excursion train to Toronto for the game with the Vics on Saturday. Secretary McDonough has made arrangements with the C.P.R. to have the train leave the Peterborough station at 9.30 on Saturday morning, so that those going will be able to visit friends or make purchases in Toronto. The return train will leave Toronto at twelve o'clock on Saturday night, giving those who take in the trip an opportunity of attending the theater.

Militia Orders

The last militia orders from Ottawa contains the following announcement of local interest,—

57th Regiment, Peterborough Rangers.—To be lieutenant-colonel, and to command the regiment, Major A. Stevenson, vice Lieutenant-Colonel J. W. Miller, who, on completition of his period of tenure of command, is transferred to the reserve of officers, 18th September, 1907.

General order 130, July 1907, so far as it concerns Sergeant Ernest John Glasgow, is cancelled.

General order 131, July 1907, under the above heading is amended to read To be lieutenant, Lieutenant Gerald Kennin Rackham, from the 10th regiment, Royal Grenadiers, vice W. A. Smith, transferred 8th July, 1907.

He Saw the Game.

The office boy had buried countless grandmothers, brothers, sisters, aunts and cousins, but he felt an enthusiasm for the baseball game that day which would not be downed.

Suddenly an idea struck him. Approaching the easy boss with an air of familiarity which had been nurtured by long usage he asked:

"May I leave at noon today, sir?"

"And why, my boy?"

"There is a fancy fair at our church and mother wants me to go this afternoon. She was so anxious that she bought me a ticket which cost a dollar, as she was sure you would allow me the few hours off. I have to assist at the refreshment stall, and it seems a pity to waste"—

"But surely you are above such things as that which take you away from your work. Why not give the ticket to one of your sisters?"

"Well, you see, sir, that wouldn't be fair, for I'm the only one of our family who can be depended upon to eat a dollar's worth, and"—

His supreme nerve won the day.

An English Amenity.

A striking difference between our manners and those of our English cousins was shown one day at a garden party. The hostess, an American, was speaking to one of her guests, an Englishwoman of rank.

"Dear Lady B.," she said, "here are some sandwiches which I made with my own hands, particularly for you. You know I've often told you about our American sandwiches and how good they are. Here are different sorts, lettuce and cucumbers, if you care for 'grass,' or if you like a savory better try the cream cheese ones with pimentoes. I've some sweet ones, too, raisins and nuts chopped together—which will you try first?"

She held a plate in each hand, a plate filled with dainty looking sandwiches, and they were extended invitingly toward her guest, who looked at them critically, then said in the clear, high pitched voice of the well bred Englishwoman:

"Oh, thank you, so kind of you, but do you know I never touch the nawsty things?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Chance For a Home Run.

A clever teacher who has the power of calling out originality in her pupils says that she would have no use for text books if she took time to answer all the startling questions asked in the classroom. One day the attraction of gravitation was under discussion when one of the boys said that he didn't see any need of it, anyway.

"It seems to me," said he, "there's no particular use in having the earth attract things. Now, when the apple fell and made Newton think out the reason for it, that apple might just as well have stayed where it was until somebody gathered it."

"You play ball, don't you?" asked the teacher. "Well, suppose you knock the ball very high, what happens?"

"It falls."

"But if there were no attraction toward the earth it wouldn't fall. Don't you think that might prove inconvenient?"

"My," cried the boy, "what a bully chance for a home run!"

PECULIAR WEAKNESS IN MANY WOMEN

Is Promptly Overcome by the Regular Use of Ferrozone

Many women suffer untold torture from nervous debility arising from disorders of the feminine organs.

Day by day they grow worse.

A false sense of modesty prevents them using a good remedy like Ferrozone.—and it would cure them.

Every pale, sickly woman can be cured and built up bright to health by Ferrozone.

New vital energy is supplied.

The blood is not only enriched and purified, but is properly circulated throughout the body.

Impossible for any woman who uses Ferrozone to be seriously ill, to suffer from weakness, irregularities or functional derangements, because Ferrozone acts directly on the organs that maintain the balance of health.

Because free from alcohol, Ferrozone can be used by young or old with absolute safety. It causes the spirits to rise, supplies ambition, cheerfulness and new sense of strength that adds much to the pleasure of life.

Prepared in the form of a chocolate coated tablet, Ferrozone is sold by all dealers, 50c. per box or six for $2.50. Trial Sample 5 cents. Sold by all dealers.

WHEY FED CALVES.

Important Points In Rearing Them In Good Form.

Some persons claim that good calves cannot be reared on whey. Others have said that the best cows that they ever saw in the dairy include a number that were reared during calfhood essentially on a diet of whey. The truth probably lies between these two extremes, remarks Professor Thomas Shaw in considering the matter, as follows, in American Agriculturist.

Calves can be reared in better form if they are not given much whey until they are five or six weeks old. Before feeding whey the calves should be started on new milk during the first week or two. No supplemental food will take the place of new milk at such a time. It would seem to be an absolute necessity in order to start the work of digestion aright. If it is not started right, ill doing is likely to follow, even though the management subsequently should be judicious. Then a change is made from new to skim milk, taking one to two weeks to make the change from all new milk to all skim milk.

As soon as the change is begun to skim milk then oilmeal or flaxseed or linseed gruel may be fed as the calves may be able to take it. This is put into the milk until they eat meal freely. As soon as they do this it is put into the meal that is fed dry. With this added to the mixture it may be composed of the following: Ground corn three parts, ground oats three, wheat bran one, oilcake one. For a time the calves may be allowed to take all of this that they will eat.

Changing to Whey.

When the change is made to whey the calves will be five or six weeks old, as intimated. Should they be younger three to four weeks should be occupied in making the change from all skim milk to all whey. If they are five weeks old, the change may be made in one or two weeks, but it should not be sudden. The quantity of whey to feed will be a little more than for calves of the same age on skim milk—that is, it will be fourteen to eighteen pounds per day for calves at six weeks, increasing at the rate of one to two pounds a week for the next few weeks. It should not be given to the extent of unduly distending the paunch, as has been sometimes done. Animals of that class are sometimes rendered hideous because of the large amount of paunch they carry as a result of the excessive feeding of whey. The character of the whey—that is, the condition in which it reaches the calves—is important. When brought from the whey tank at the factory it is frequently in bad condition because of careless management.

The Dainty Eater.

The dainty eater is not the cow the dairyman wants for business, because his profits come not from the feed that remains in mow and bin, but from that which is consumed, says D. W. Lighter in National Stockman and Farmer. During the winter, when they do little or no work, we feed our horses a light ration that we call a maintenance ration, but in the spring we add to the maintenance ration a lot of corn and oats to be transformed into pulling power to move plows, harrows, etc. The food consumed besides the maintenance ration is what gives us results. I have no use for a cow that cannot utilize three or four times the maintenance ration.

DAIRY TALK OF TODAY.

There is no question but dairying can be made profitable on very high priced land, but to reach maximum profits every detail of the industry must be carefully observed. This active, pulsating, living piece of mechanism—the modern cow—is the emancipator of poverty and the harbinger of peace, prosperity and civilization; thus henceforth let us give the place of honor to this gem of the farm.—J. Withcombe.

Testing the Young Cow.

On a famous Vermont dairy farm every young cow is tested for butter fat with her first calf. If she does not then show her two pounds of butter a day or give indications of doing it with her second calf, she is discarded. But with the second calf this rule is rigidly inforced.

The Farmer and the Factory.

In the successful cheese factory and creamery the farmers must act as assistants to the makers. Farmers, as a rule, do not recognize the fact that they are assisting in the manufacture of butter or cheese, as the case may be, and that the part they perform is a very potent factor in obtaining a prime article as a product.—W. J. Elliott.

Value of Special Pains.

I believe that if every man in Minnesota would given special attention to the selection of his cows and would take special pains to keep the cows comfortable and feed them the nutriment that they need for milk production in less than two years we could add 100 pounds of butter fat per cow. That is a pretty broad statement. We are getting about 135 pounds of butter fat a year, but I believe if the farmers paid special attention to the care of their cows we could raise that to 235 pounds on the average with the cows that they have. T. C. Haecker.

A Certain Profit Producer.

It has been said that a good dairy cow, a hand separator and a well bred brood sow, with a bunch of squealing, healthy pigs, make a combination that will write dollar signs on the farm. Such a combination judiciously managed, while it is not a get rich quick scheme, is a certain profit producer.—Country Gentleman.

Something New in Copper

PITTSBURG - IDAHO

Mining and Milling Company

The mine is located 58 miles above Lewiston, Idaho, on the Clearwater river, and consists of 19 full claims, or 380 acres. It is developed by tunnels, shafts and open cuts for more than 2100 feet, disclosing thousands of tons of copper, gold and silver ores of both high grade and low grade. There are between 1000 and 2000 tons of ore ready for shipment. The entrance to the working tunnel is only 2000 feet from the track of the Northern Pacific railroad, to be reached by gravity tramway. There are seven parallel veins running lengthwise of the claims, one cropping out on the surface for 2400 feet and another for 3000 feet; while two veins cross these running into the mountain. These veins are from 30 to 200 feet wide. One ore chute has been crosscut 70 feet and is solid ore from wall to wall.

We are not asking you to buy in a prospect. That risk was taken by the promoters. We are asking you to buy in a developed, proven mine. Seven years of continuous work and the expenditure of thousands of dollars has proven up one of the greatest mines in Idaho. That mine is now ready to pour out its red and yellow wealth to the world with the installing of an up to date production plant. It is for that purpose that a block of its treasury stock, full paid and non-assessable, is offered for sale. We believe that within six months from the completion of a 100 ton plant the mine can be put on a dividend paying basis, and that those dividends will be substantial and permanent. There is no better investment proposition before the people at this time.

AIKENSIDE

BY MARY J. HOLMES

Author of "Dora Deane," "The English Orphans," "Lena Rivers," "The Rector of St. Mark's," "Tempest and Sunshine," Etc.

Guy was puzzled. Could it be that, after all, he was deceived, and the doctor did not care for Maddy? It might be, and he hastened to change the conversation to another topic than Maddy Clyde. The doctor stayed to dinner, and as Guy watched him closely, he made up his mind that he did care for Maddy Clyde, and this confirmed him in his plan of educating her for him.

Magnanimous Guy! He felt himself very good, very generous, very condescending, and very forgiving, the early portion of the afternoon; but later in the day he began to view Guy Remington in the light of a martyr, said martyrdom consisting in the scornful toss of the head with which Agnes had listened to his plan, and the open opposition of Mrs. Noah.

"Was he beside himself, or what?" this worthy asked. "She liked Maddy Clyde, to be sure, but it wasn't for him to demean himself by turning her schoolmaster. Folks would talk awfully, and she couldn't blame 'em; besides, what would Lucy say to his bein' alone in a room with a girl as pretty as Maddy? It was a duty he owed her, at any rate, to tell her about it, and if she said 'twas right, why, go it."

This was the drift of Mrs. Noah's remarks, and as Guy depended much on her judgment, he decided to write to Lucy to see if she had the slightest objections to his teaching Maddy Clyde. Accordingly, he wrote that very night, telling her frankly all he knew concerning Maddy Clyde, and narrating the circumstances under which he first had met her, being careful also to repeat what he know would have weight with an English girl like Lucy, to wit, that though poor, Maddy's father and grandfather Clyde had been gentlemen, the one a clergyman, the other a sea captain. Then he told of her desire for learning, and his plan to teach her himself, of what the doctor and Mrs. Noah had said about it, and his final determination to consult her. Then he described Maddy herself feeling a strange thrill as he told how pure, how innocent, how artless and beautiful she was, and asked if Lucy feared aught from his association with her.

"If you do," he wrote, "you have but to say so, and though I am committed, I will extricate myself in some way, rather than wound you in the slightest degree."

It would be some time ere an answer to this letter could be received, and until such time Guy could not honorably hear Maddy's lessons as he had agreed to do. But Maddy was not suspicious, and accepting his trivial excuse, waited patiently, while he, too, waited for the letter, wondering what it would contain.

CHAPTER XII.

At last the answer came and it was Maddy who brought it to Guy. She had been home that day, and on her return had ridden by the office as Guy had requested her to do. She saw the letter bore a foreign postmark, also that it was in the delicate handwriting of some female, but the sight did not affect her in the least. Maddy's heart was far too heavy that day to care for a trifle, and so, placing the letter carefully in her basket, she kept on to Aikenside.

The letter was decidedly Lucy-ish in all that pertained to her "dearest darling," her "precious Guy" but when she came to Maddy Clyde her true womanly nature spoke; and Guy, while reading it, felt how good she was. Of course he might teach Maddy Clyde all he wished to teach her, and it made Lucy love him better to know that he was willing to do such things. She wished she was there to help him, they would open a school for all the poor, but she did not know when mamma would let her come. That pain in her side was not any better, and her cough had come earlier this season than last. The physician had advised a winter in Naples, and they were going before very long. Then followed a few more lines sacred to the lover's eye, lines which told how pure was the love which sweet Lucy Atherstone bore for Guy Remington, who, as he read, felt his heart beat with a throb of pain, for Lucy spoke to him now for the first time of what might possibly be.

"I've dreamed about it nights," she said, "I've thought about it days, and tried so hard to be reconciled; to feel that if God will have it so, I am willing to die before you have ever called me your little wife, or I have ever called you husband. Heaven is better than earth, I know, and I am sure of going there, I think, but oh, dear Guy, a life with you looks so very sweet that sometimes your little Lucy shrinks from the dark grave which would hide her forever from you. Guy, you once said you never prayed, and it made me feel so badly, but you will when you get this, won't you? You will ask God to make me well, and maybe He will hear you. Do, Guy, please do pray for your Lucy, far away over the sea."

Guy could not resist that touching appeal, "to pray for his little Lucy," and though his lips were all unused to prayer, bowing his head upon his hands he did ask that she might live, beseeching the Father to send upon him any calamity save this one—Lucy must be spared. Guy felt better for having prayed, it was something to tell Lucy, something that would please her well, and though his heart yet was very sad, a part of the load was lifted, and he could think of Lucy now without the bitter pain her letter first had cost him. Was there nothing that would save her, nobody who could cure her? Her disease was not hereditary; surely it might be made to yield; had English physicians no skill, would not an American do better? It was possible, and if that mother of Lucy's would let her come where doctors knew something, she might get well; but she wouldn't; she was determined that no husband should be burdened with an ailing wife, and so if the mountain would not come to Mahomet, why, Mahomet must go to the mountain, and Guy fairly leaped from his chair as he exclaimed: "I have it—doc!—he's the most skillful man I ever knew, I'll send him to England; send him to the Atherstones, he shall go to Naples with them as their family physician; he can cure Lucy; I'll speak to him the very next time he comes here"; and with another burden lifted from his mind, Guy began to wonder where Maddy was.

He knew she had returned, for Flora had said she brought the letter, and he was about going out, in hopes of finding her and Jessie, when he heard her in the hall, as she answered some question of Mrs. Noah's; stepping to the door, he asked her to come in, saying he would, if she chose, appoint the lessons talked about so long. Ordinarily, Maddy's eyes would have flashed with delight, for she had anticipated so much from these lessons; now, however, there was a sad look upon her face, and she could scarcely keep from crying as she came at Guy's bidding, and sat upon the sofa, near to his armchair. Somehow it rested Guy to look at Maddy Clyde, who, having recovered from her illness, seemed the very embodiment of perfect health, a health which glowed and sparkled all over her bright face; showing itself as well in the luxuriance of her glossy hair as in the brilliancy of her complex-

"T. B. A.'s Poem."

Thomas Bailey Aldrich was fond of retelling that anecdote of his own boyish daring which appears in his "Ponkapog Papers," to the effect that upon first entering James T. Fields' office in the Old Corner Bookstore his eyes fell upon that kindly editor and publisher's memorandum book, open upon the table. Mr. Fields was absent for the moment, and the youthful poet could not help noticing the impressive list of agenda: "Don't forget to mail R. W. E. his contract." "Don't forget O. W. H.'s proofs," etc., whereupon the "young Milton," who certainly deserved to succeed in his profession, wrote upon the memorandum book, "Don't forget to accept T. B. A.'s poem," and disappeared. The poem was accepted, paid for and, truest kindness of all, as Mr. Aldrich asserted, was never printed. But the resourceful youth never lost his deferential attitude toward the hearers of those famous initialed names that had once preceded his own.—Atlantic.

Spoke Too Soon.

The other day a stranger thus addressed a passenger coming out of the Union station:

"You will excuse me, sir, but isn't this"—

The passenger, without waiting for the other to finish, responded:

"Your umbrella? Well, I presume it is, sir. You will allow me to explain that I picked it up on coming out of the train just now. I have great pleasure in restoring it to the rightful owner."

The stranger expressed his thanks and quickly made off.

A few minutes later the same stranger, with a brand new umbrella tucked carefully under his arm, asked another individual the same question he had intended to ask the man who handed him the umbrella.

"You will excuse me, sir, but isn't this the nearest way to Fifth avenue?"

"The Almighty Dollar."

A recent headline, "Rule of the Dollar," has suggested the inquiry, Who originated the familiar phrase "the almighty dollar?" It was Washington Irving in "The Creole Village," which he published in 1837. The phrase became so popular and excited so much controversy in consequence of a doubt whether the adjective was irreverent that its author had to explain eighteen years later that he had intended "no irreverence, even to the dollar, which he is well aware is becoming daily more and more an object of worship." "Dollar" is certainly one of the world's great words now, and it is difficult to realize that it only means "valleyer," the "thaler" having been named after the Joachimsthal, in Bohemia, in whose valley it was first coined in the sixteenth century.—London Chronicle.

Constipation

Baked sweet apples, with some people, bring prompt relief for Constipation. Whin ripes, coarse all-wheat bread will have the same effect. Nature undoubtedly has a vegetable remedy to relieve every ailment known to man. If physicians can but find Nature's way to health. And this is strikingly true with regard to Constipation.

The bark of a certain tree in California—[illegible] cara sagrada—offers a most excellent and [illegible] aid. But, combined with Egyptian Senna, Saxpery Elm Bark, Solid Extract of Prune, etc., [illegible] caine Cascara bark is given its greatest [illegible] power to correct constipation. A [illegible] Candy Tablet, called Lax-ets, is now made at the Dr. Shoop Laboratories, from this ingenuous and most effective prescription. Its effect on Constipation, Biliousness, Sour Stomach, Bad Breath, Sallow Complexion, etc., is indeed prompt and satisfying.

No griping, no unpleasant after effects are experienced, and Lax-ets are put up in beautiful lithographed metal boxes at 5 cents and 25 cents per box.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at an Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

The homesteader is required to perform his homestead duties under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of a homesteader [illegible] permanent residence on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of a homestead, or upon a homestead entered for by him in the vicinity, such homesteader may perform his own residence duties by living with the father (or mother).

(4) The term "vicinity" in the two preceding paragraphs is defined as meaning not more than nine miles in a direct line exclusive of the width of road allowances crossed in the measurement.

(5) A homesteader intending to perform his residence duties in accordance with the above while living with parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

Six months' notice in writing must be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of intention to apply for patent.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

1908

THE UNDERSIGNED will receive tenders up to noon on Monday, 4th November, 1907, for supplies of Butchers' Meat, Creamery or Dairy Butter, Flour, Oatmeal, Potatoes, Cordwood, etc., etc., for the following institutions during the year 1908, viz:—

At the Asylums for the Insane at Toronto, London, Kingston, Hamilton, Mimico, Brockville, Cobourg, Orillia and Penetanguishene; the Central Prison and Mercer Reformatory, Toronto, and the Hospital for Epileptics at Woodstock.

Exceptions—Tenders are not required for the supply of Meat to the Asylums in Toronto, London, Kingston, Hamilton, and Brockville, nor for the Central Prison or Mercer Reformatory, Toronto.

A marked cheque for five per cent of the estimated amount of the contract, payable to the order of the Provincial Secretary, must be furnished by each tenderer as a guarantee of his bona fides. Two sufficient sureties will be required for the due fulfillment of each contract, and should any tender be withdrawn before the contract is awarded, or should the tenderer fail to furnish security, the amount of the deposit will be forfeited.

Specifications and forms of tender may be had on application to the Department of the Provincial Secretary, Toronto, or to the Bursars of the respective institutions.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without written authority from the Department will not be paid for it.

Suicide as Experiment.

A wealthy young man named Leandro Improta after taking refreshment at a cafe in Naples called for pen and ink and wrote a number of notes and letters. He then quietly took out a small revolver and shot himself in the breast. One of the letters found in his pocket runs:

To the Curious Public—In this century it is impossible voluntarily to leave this world without great efforts being made on the part of newspapers and curious people to discover the cause of the deed. In my case I wished to study metempsychosis at close quarters. Is that not a fine idea? So much has been written on the subject, and it pleases me to discover instead of talking. So I determined to die and see whether I shall be reborn in the form of some animal. It would be delightful to return to this world as a lion or a rat. This is why I wanted to die. ADDIO.

Unless He Is Cremated.

This company owns 4 claims (80 acres) of mine of the best proven mineral land in the Goldfield district, consisting of the Accidental and Accidental No. 2 side claims, situated two and one-half miles south of the great Goldfield Consolidated Mines (comprising the Mohawk, Goldfield, Combination, Red Top, Jumbo and Laguna) the richest in the world; and the Broadway and Beauty side claims situated three and one-half miles north of the Consolidated and about one and one-half miles northwest of the Great Bond and Daisy Mines near the Zion group in the Diamondfield section second only in richness to the great Mohawk portion of the camp. Phenomenally rich strikes have recently been made on the Consolidated, the Great Bend and the Daisy Mines.

The company has also succeeded in securing the Sure Thing side claim (20 acres) in the Cuprate district, which has an immense gold bearing ledge, running the entire length of the claim 1,500 feet, outcropping in places over 50 feet wide, and met by several cross dykes all carrying fine values in gold, and is without doubt rightly named "Sure Thing."

All of these claims are located in the same mineral belt as the other noted mines of Goldfield that have astonished the world by their production of millions in high grade ore, and will with the same development give equally profitable returns.

The money derived from the sale of this stock will be used at once for the active development of the property and the fact that all the directors are residents of Goldfield with years of successful mining experience who will give their personal attention at all times to the progress of the work goes to show that the first issue of 100 000 shares will meet with a quick and ready sale at the initial price of 10 cents per share.

We advise immediate action if you wish to participate in the vast profits of this Bonanza Mine.

Stock will be listed as soon as feasible on the Goldfield and San Francisco Stock and Exchange Boards. Would therefore advise purchasers to buy in board lots of 1,000 shares when convenient to do so.

John D. Roddick, Lyndhurst Tells His Experience

After Two Years' Suffering with Lame Back and Weak Kidneys, Was Cured by Dr. Hamilton.

Lyndhurst, Ont., Oct. 2—The following statement made by Mr. Roddick, lumber merchant, tells of the remarkable knowledge possessed by Dr. Hamilton.

"Two years ago I had grippe which settled in my back and kidneys. I was sickly and very miserable, suffered great pain and inconvenience. Different remedies were tried without benefit and then I decided to try Dr. Hamilton's Mandrake and Butternut Pills. I derived immense good from their use in short time. When two boxes were used I was immeasurably better. To-day I am well. Neighbors suffering from kidney and back trouble have also been cured by Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which I am convinced is the best medicine for regulating and cleansing the system. They are very mild but do the work just the same."

Case Against C. G. E. Co. Settled

The case of David Moore, versus the Canadian General Electric Company, which was to have been tried at the Cobourg assizes this fall, has been settled out of court. The action was to recover $2,000 damages for injuries sustained by plaintiff while in the employ of the defendants last spring. Moore has consented to accept $750, the Canadian General Electric Company to pay all costs in connection with the case. R. F. McWilliams was solicitor for the plaintiff and Mr. F. D. Kerr for the defendants.

—A meeting of the City Hockey League will be held tomorrow night in the Y.M.C.A. for the purpose of talking over the prospects for the season and making arrangements for the annual meeting, etc.

—The gymnasium class of the Y.W.C.A., will on Tuesday night give a party when hallowe'en games will be played. The public will be invited to this gathering, the proceeds of which will be devoted to the purchase of a library.

—The night school in connection with the Y.W.C.A. met again last night, when arithmetic was again taken up. Last week's class was well attended, and the young women are evidently appreciating the opportunity afforded for self-improvement. The school is open to all members of the association.

—On Tuesday night the members of the choir of St. Andrew's church met at the residence of Mrs. C. S. McClelland, where a special practice was held for "Ye Olde Time" concert, to be given in the Sunday school room on November 15. A good practice was held and things are progressing favorably for the success of the entertainment.

—Mr. Miles Hamilton, an old Peterborough boy, but now manager of the Bank of Montreal at Fenelon Falls, was in the city accompanied by Mrs. Hamilton. The many friends of Mrs. Hamilton will regret to learn that she has been in poor health of late, but we are pleased to say is somewhat better recently.

The Plagiarist.

"Father," said Rollo, "what is a plagiarist?"

"A plagiarist, my son, is a kleptomaniac who lacks the courage to take anything which the police could be called on to protect."

A man can know nothing of mankind without knowing something of himself.—Beaconsfield.

Her Supposition.

In the Beecher family the name of Mrs. Stowe was often quoted to the rising generation as one having authority. She was also quoted at one season, it would seem, from a story told by the Woman's Journal. On one occasion a grandniece of Mrs. Stowe became very angry at a playmate and, stamping her foot, said, "I hate you, and I don't want anything more to do with you, nor your manservant, nor your maidservant, nor your ox, nor your ass." Her mother sternly reproved her, asking her if she knew what she was saying.

Little Miss Beecher promptly replied, "Yes; the Ten Commandments."

"Well, do you know who wrote them?"

The child, looking disgusted, answered: "Goodness, yes. Aunt Harriet did, I s'pose."

The Word "Poultry."

Poultry, according to the definition given in one standard encyclopedia, includes "the whole of the domesticated birds reclaimed by man for the sake of their flesh and their eggs." The word comes from the Latin "pullus," which could mean a young horse or donkey as well as a chick (the English "foal" is akin to this), through the French "poule," a fowl. But it is curious that "poultry" has no French version, the nearest equivalent being "volaille," or "oiseaux de basse cour," birds of the low yard. German in its descriptive way knows poultry as "federvieh," feather cattle.

An Unmentioned Ancestor.

Mr. B. is very proud of his ancient lineage and never lets slip an opportunity to boast of it. At a dinner where he had been unusually rampant on this subject a fellow guest quieted him by remarking, "If you climb much further up your family tree you will come face to face with the monkey."—Lippincott's.

A Piece Conference.

Russian Bear—I think we had better have our representatives sit in convention and do what we have long contemplated—divide up Turkey. British Lion—Yes; in other words, hold another piece conference.

His Big Score.

Beginner at Golf—How many have I taken, my boy? Is it fifteen or sixteen? Disgusted Caddie—Ach, I dinna ken. It's no a caddie ye need; it's a billiard marker.

"There's a Reason."

A Wonderful Dog.

I ran a news stand at Port Jervis, N. Y. I owned a common shepherd dog which was a very intelligent animal and was of great assistance to me in the newspaper business, running across the street with papers in his mouth to customers. He attracted much attention, and he got me many new customers, for everybody liked him, he was such a business dog.

I was sick one day and not able to sell my papers. My dog came in my room where I lay in bed. He fumbled around in my pants pockets and took the keys to my news stand and ran out of the house, and the first thing I knew he had the newspaper stand opened up and doing business.

He was very clever in making change, changing five and ten dollar bills without a single mistake, working the cash register with his paws, and everything ran smoothly until a man came up and passed him a lead quarter. My dog got mad and lost his temper entirely, and I was forced to interfere. With much trouble I managed to pull them apart.

If this dog had not had such a quick temper I would have started him in business for himself. This dog is still living.

Crushed by Beecher.

Henry Ward Beecher was once approached by a young man who considered himself very clever.

"Do you know, Mr. Beecher," said he, "I've been thinking that I would settle down. Now, I like your preaching, but when I go to your church and see such men as old S. and others, grasping skinflints and hypocrites to the core, sitting there in full membership, why, the thing is just a little too much for me, and really," he added, "I cannot join."

"Well, you're right," said Mr. Beecher. "Every church has such men, and I fancy Plymouth is not free from them, and until you spoke I have always wondered why the good Lord permitted it. Now I understand."

"Ah," gurgled the young fellow, "I am glad I have thrown light on the question! What strikes you as the reason, Mr. Beecher?"

"Well," replied the great preacher, "it is permitted in order to keep just such fools as you out of the churches."

The Nearest Approach.

An English tourist visited Arran and being a keen disciple of Isaak Walton was arranging to have a day's good sport. Being told that the clog, or horsefly, would suit his purpose admirably for a lure, he addressed himself to Christy, the highland servant girl, "I say, my girl, can you get me some horseflies?"

Christy looked stupid, and he repeated his question. Finding that she did not yet comprehend him, he exclaimed: "Why, girl, did you never see a horsefly?"

"Naa, sir," said the girl, "but a wanse saw a coo jump over a preshipice."

Grandfather's Portrait.

A villager, intensely conceited and ignorant, but quite wealthy, was persuaded to have his grandfather's picture repainted.

The artist, not having been decently treated by the villager, drew the portrait almost in a nude form. Rolling it up, he told the man not to look at it before the coming New Year. On that day the villager ordered the picture to be hung up that he might pay it his New Year respects. As it was being unrolled he frantically waved his hands and shouted: "Wait! Wait! The old gentleman is not ready, for he is not yet dressed."—From the Chinese.

The Worth of His Money.

Not seldom in highland districts the attendance at church during unpropitious weather is but scanty. One minister, finding himself on a boisterous Sunday confronted with but one solitary auditor, who happened to be a gruff, outspoken character, took him into his confidence, with a view to propitiate him. "Will I go on with the sermon, John?" John answered gruffly, "Of course." Getting into the pulpit and leaning over it, he asked, "Will I give you the Gaelic sermon or the English one?" "Gie's baith. Ye're weel paid for't," said John, more gruffly still.—Dundee Advertiser.

Bituminous Coal.

Shortly after the adoption of bituminous coal as a fuel in England a royal proclamation was used forbidding its use and authorising the destruction of the furnaces of the users, who were characterised as evil doers. Scarcity of fuel, it seems, shortly compelled the resumption of its use. In the reign of Elizabeth bituminous coal was again prohibited during sessions of parliament lest the health of the members suffer thereby.—London Telegraph.

The Richest.

That country is the richest which nourishes the greatest number of noble and happy human beings; that man is the richest who, having perfected the functions of his own life to the utmost, has also the widest helpful influence, both personal and by means of his possessions, over the lives of others.—John Ruskin.

A Philosopher.

Frances Willard once wrote to a friend who had just lost a daughter: "Dear Sister Anna, how much richer are you than I! Here I sit alone without a child to die, while you are mother to an angel."

The Hat Scale.

A fifty dollar hat is a conceit.

A thirty dollar hat is a confection.

A two dollar hat is a sin and a shame and a perfect justification for going home to mother.

Burglars Break Into Market Clerk's Office

When Market Clerk W. Mellmoyle arrived at the market weigh scales office yesterday morning he found that money, pencils, chalk and several other articles were missing, and the door and window open.

After investigating the clerk discovered that burglars had evidently forced an entrance through the south window, it being left unlatched. It must have been pried upwards with something, as a nail had been driven into it at the top to keep it solid. The slats along the inside were broken in the attempt to force a way into the interior of the office, and a shelf below the sash was broken down.

Mr. Mellmoyle's private box was broken into and contents taken, including $1.50 in silver.

"The Blood is The Life."

Science has never gone beyond the above simple statement of scripture. But it has illuminated that statement and given it a meaning ever broadening with the increasing breadth of knowledge. When the blood is "bad" or impure it is not alone the body which suffers through disease. The brain is also clouded, the mind and judgement are affected, and many an evil deed or impure thought may be directly traced to the impurity of the blood. Foul, impure blood can be made pure by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It clarifies and purifies the blood thereby curing, pimples, blotches, eruptions and other cutaneous affections, as eczema, tetter, or salt-rheum, hives and other manifestations of impure blood.

In the cure of scrofulous swellings, enlarged glands, open eating ulcers, or old sores, the "Golden Medical Discovery" has performed the most marvelous cures. In cases of old sores, or open eating ulcers, it is well to apply to the open sores Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve, which possesses wonderful healing potency when used as an application to the sores in conjunction with the use of "Golden Medical Discovery" as a blood cleansing constitutional treatment. If your druggist don't happen to have the "All-Healing Salve" in stock, you can easily procure it by inclosing fifty-four cents in postage stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, 663 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y., and it will come to you by return post. Most druggists keep it as well as the "Golden Medical Discovery."

You can't afford to accept any medicine of unknown composition as a substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery," which is a medicine of KNOWN COMPOSITION, having a complete list of ingredients in plain English on its bottle-wrapper, the same being attested as correct under oath.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels.

C.P.R. MONTREAL SHOPS WORKING AT HIGH PRESSURE

The Reductions Ordered Mean a Return to Normal Conditions

Now That Danger of Another Shortage Is Over

Montreal, Oct. 24.—A leading official of the C.P.R. stated today that the company's car shops at Angus had for some time been working at very high pressure, with a view to preventing a repetion of such a car shortage as prevailed in Western Canada last year. It was now beyond doubt that the crop would not be more than seventy-five per cent. of what it was last year, which meant that less rolling stock would be required. The company, therefore, considered that by operating the shops under normal conditions they would be able to meet the ordinary demand for rolling stock. This reduction in the output would mean a corresponding reduction in the staff, or in other words the removal of all employees in excess of the ordinary staff.

The same official expressed the opinion that notwithstanding the decrease in bushels, there would be an excess of about $10,000,000 in the value of the crop, as the result of higher prices and better quality of grain. He also stated that cattle were bringing higher prices than in any previous year.

Many Will Take In Rugby Club Trip

There is every reason to believe that the excursion from Peterborough to Toronto on Saturday, held under auspices of the local Rugby Club, will be largely patronized, as our citizens who recently saw the locals trim the Toronto Vics. are proud of their club's record and will back up the enterprise displayed in getting up this outing.

As far as Saturday's game in Toronto is concerned it goes without saying that the Victorias will go up a stiff game and attempt to redeem the laurels lost here; it is just as sure that the Peterborough players will do their best to bring home still more honors.

Whilst the club first thought of running a special afternoon train simply to accommodate those wanting to see the game, it was decided to give those wanting to spend a whole day in Toronto a chance to do so.

The special train will leave here at 9.30 a.m., arriving in Toronto about noon, giving those who take in the trip, plenty of time to take luncheon, and a stroll around the city before the game begins. If the train were to leave here at noon, there would be a rush for the hotels for dinner on arrival at the Union Station.

The special returns at 12 o'clock on Saturday night, but those wishing to stay in the city over Sunday may do so, as the excursion tickets will be honored on all trains returning Monday. The return fare is $2.05, and $1.05 for children under 12 years of age. Tickets are now on sale.

Good Photograph of New Fire Hall

A splendid large photograph of the new fire hall has just been completed. This picture shows up the hall in good style, with a number of the local fire laddies standing in front. In preparing for the picture the new steam fire engine, hook and ladder wagon, hose reel, etc., just at the entrance. Among those included in the view are, Foreman Peterkenham, Engineer Sam Wainwright, Drivers Matchett, and Messrs. Wally and Dick Parnell.

One of the brigade yesterday remarked to a Times man that the picture would have shown to better advantage had the men been in uniform. He mention to say that the council had promised new uniforms to the brigade some years ago, but had never supplied the same. He said that the firemen are supposed to get two suits a year, but have had nothing of the sort for over two years.

We Must Dress Warmly

Now is the time when the doctor gets busy, and the patent medicine manufacturers reap the harvest, unless great care is taken to dress warmly and keep the feet dry. This is the advice of an oft eminent authority, who says that Rheumatism and Kidney trouble weather is here, and also tells what to do "ere" an attack.

Get from any good prescription pharmacy one-half ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion, one ounce Compound Kargon, three ounces Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla. Mix by shaking in a bottle and take a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime.

Just try this simple home-made mixture at the first sign of Rheumatism, or if your back aches or you feel that the kidneys are not acting just right. This is said to be a splendid kidney regulator, and almost certain remedy for all forms of Rheumatism, which is caused by uric acid in the blood, which the kidneys fail to filter out. Any one can easily prepare this at home and at small cost.

400 Chinese Attacked English Crew.

San Antonio, Tex., Oct. 24.—A despatch from Santa Cruz, Mexico, says that because 200 of their countrymen were detained on board by the sanitary inspectors of this port, 400 Chinese who had just landed made a murderous assault last night on the English ship Woolwich, and her crew.

Many men were seriously injured in the affray and five may die from their wounds.

The Chinese would have sweept all before them but for the timely aid brought by a large force of Federal troops and gendarmes.

Millions of Cash to Relieve the Financial Crisis in New York

New York, Oct. 24. — The stock market opened strong and higher.

New York, Oct. 24.—The Trust Co. of America began payments to its depositors promptly at 10 a.m.

New York, Oct. 24.—The Hamilton Bank on West 125th street, suspended payment to depositors today.

New York, Oct. 24. —The Twelfth Ward Bank, 125th street, has suspended payment.

New York, Oct. 24.— The National Bank today placed $2,500,000 on the floor of the Stock Exchange to be loaned, as yesterday, in $50,000 lots at 6 per cent.

New York, Oct. 24. —The Empire City Savings Bank, according to a recent statement, owed its depositors about $3,300,000.

New York, Oct. 24.—At 10.45 J. P. Morgan, in reply to a question as to the situation, said; "It is all right." James Stillman, president of the National City Bank, the largest bank in the United States, who was with Mr. Morgan, concurred, saying that the situation was satisfactory.

New York, Oct. 24.—The Empire City Savings Bank, located at 231 West 125th street, posted a notice this morning announcing its suspension for thirty days under the banking laws. The officials of the bank declare that the institution is entirely solvent, but they feared a run.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 24.—At a meeting of the members of the Pittsburg Stock Exchange shortly before ten o'clock it was decided not to re-open the exchange for business today.

Outside the office of the big Trust Company of America, which does business in a marble palace at 41 Wall street, stands a long line of depositors, who are drawing out their funds as fast as the tellers can pay them. The line extends for several blocks, and many in it had been there since ten o'clock last night.

A new development this morning was the suspension of payment by the Hamilton Bank and the Empire City Savings Bank, two concerns of some importance, whose stoppage added to the uneasy feeling that all the reassuring utterance of Mr. Morgan's associates fails as yet to dispel.

There was some little rally around 11 o'clock, when it was announced that the clearing house sheets had gone through O.K., but the rally did not hold. This might have been due to resistance by the bears to a natural rallying tendency.

COUNTY WARDEN TO BE ELECTED BY BALLOT SYSTEM

Negro Fights the Japs in British Columbia.

Welland, Oct. 24.—Mr. J. J. Seley writes from Regina describing a trip through the West. Referring to the Vancouver riots, he says: "One of the humors of the fracas was to see a negro, black as the ace of spades, in the ranks of the rioters, fighting to keep this as a white man's country, for white men only. It has been said that the rioting was a good-natured affair on the part of the rioters, that they did not wish to hurt anybody, but to bring the Oriental immigration matter to a focus.

The Peterboro County Council Business, Conclude Session

Business Transacted

Once more the members of Peterborough County Council have met and concluded their labors of the fall session, most of them returning to their respective homes during the afternoon. Whilst in session no time was wasted on superfluous talk, all present being evidently actuated by the idea that their time and the county's money was valuable and that business should be, and was done on strictly business principles.

When the council met the chairman of the Roads and Bridges Committee reported as follows:

1. That the report of the chairman re bridges in the county be received.

2. That the bridge on Black Lake Creek and known as Black Lake Creek Bridge, in the township of Cavendish, and the bridge in North Monaghan, known as Payne's bridge, be assumed by the county.

3. That the Trent Canal engineer be interviewed by Messrs. Shaw and Moher, and urged to put a fifteen-inch face of concrete on sides of Buckhorn bridge, placing steel railing above said fifteen-inch concrete face, the same of course being subject to the approval of the government, and report to this committee tomorrow.

4. That the sum of $100 be granted towards the road known as Shanon's hill in Douro.

5. That the matter of assisting the Chemong band of Indians, to impress upon the government, the necessity of the government providing a bridge from the village to the Emmismore shore, be left in the hands of the warden and chairman of this committee to report at the earliest possible moment.

Councillor Booth brought up the matter as to whether it would not be advisable to have the warden elected by ballot, instead of by open vote, as has been done in the past.

Councillor Hall asked what did the statutes say on the question.

Councillor Shaw said that according to law it was optional whether the vote was open or by ballot.

Councillor Burgess considered the ballot would be the best system, but did not care which way it was, he did not care who knew how he voted.

The warden favored the ballot system, and on motion of Councillors Moore and Thompson, it was decided to change the by-law governing the election of warden to read election by ballot, instead of by open vote.

As a result of this action, the voting will be by ballot, when the new wards are elected in January.

The chairman of the Property Committee submitted the following report:

Gentlemen:—As chairman of the County Property Committee I beg leave to report on the following work which has been done during the past season. We have had the jail painted and repaired. We also had a new bath tub placed in the jailor's [illegible] also had the sewer troughs repaired and sewer connections cleaned out. Some general repairing was also done. Steel shelving is now being put in the registry office.

I would recommend that a letter box be placed in the door of Judge Weller's office, as the city now has a street delivery of mail, also one in the sheriff's office, in the jailor's [illegible] door to the treasurer's office.

All accounts in connection with the above work will now come up before you.

Rev. J. A. Macdonald, Editor of the Globe, Addresses the Laymen at a Banquet Last Night

The laymen's banquet held last night in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, was a most enjoyable and enlightening affair. A large number of the most prominent church workers of the city sat about the festive board to listen to an able and instructive address delivered by the Rev. Mr. Macdonald, editor of the Toronto Globe.

After justice had been done to the inner man the meeting was called to order, the chairman, Mr. G. M. Rogers, proposed the toast to the King, which was loyally responded to. A solo was then rendered by Mr. Freeland.

The chairman congratulated the originators of the scheme on the success of their missionary movement. He pointed out that the evangelization of the world depended largely on the laymen as they have both numbers and wealth behind them. He asked them to use the forces at their command.

Sheriff Hall proposed a toast to Mr. Macdonald which was responded to by the hearty singing of "He's a jolly good fellow."

Mr. Macdonald referred to his early training and the opportunities which young men then had to learn Bible truths. In those days a banquet would be looked upon with disfavor, but now things are different. If a banquet aids in pushing forward the work of the church, then let us have a banquet. Do our work according to the needs of the day.

Mr. Macdonald spoke of the forces which the church should begin in the community. The laymen were beginning to feel their responsibility and were now taking advantage of their opportunity. The great question is how can we make our power tell? The individual should consider this question. The speaker asked for a strong manhood and a representation of the views of origin, let each man make life count for something in some way. The church is not merely an institution in religion, but in society and in the country. The church, home and the school, the press and the legislature is an important organ in democracy—the spirit of the age. At the present time the power is with the people and will remain so.

The speaker feared the cynical disposition sometimes manifested, and said that it is not true that "Every man has his price." Believe in your fellowman, stand out for what is good and true.

The laymen's movement touched the very life of the country, working as it does through the church. The devotional side of life is one of the strong points of the movement. The educational part is being helped largely by the Bible class movement.

The church urgently needs the services of laymen as they can, though their fellowmen at times and under circumstances when it would be impossible for the minister to act. There is a need for fidelity towards their work on the part of every worker. Life is not a comedy but a matter of and splendid opportunity, and we need to distinguish clearly those things which are worth while. The great life is the life of service. The great power of the world is "Truth" and the man behind the truth.

Mr. Campbell then favored the assembly with a solo.

A vote of thanks for the able address was moved by Mr. VanBlaricom, and seconded by Mr. Lees, to which Mr. Macdonald responded to in a few well chosen remarks.

A quartette from St. Paul's choir favored the assembly with a song after which Revs. Mr. Webb and Mr. Langfeldt gave suitable addresses. They emphasized the idea of the laymen being ministers, and ministers working as laymen. A strong idea was made to manifest energy in the work of Christ.

The meeting closed with "God save the King."

The Annual Convention of Woman's Missionary Society

Yesterday morning an important meeting was opened in the George street Methodist church, viz., the annual convention of the Peterborough district of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist church.

In addition to the members of the auxiliaries of the local churches the following are the delegates present; Mesdames (Rev.) Bedford, Leonard, Sherin, Boyce, Hill, Spence, Nugent, Baldson, Kline, Hunter, Millage, Peck, Edwards, Kelly, Misses Jurgens and Edwards of Lakefield, Mrs. Russell and Miss Burnham of Millbrook, Mesdames S. Payne, Wasson Sr., Payne, Brown, Edwards, Saunders, Nicklin, Crough and Miss Wasson, of Warsaw, Mrs. Udy and Miss Hunter of Bridgenorth, Mrs. Seaton, Mrs. Walsh and Miss Staples of Fairmount. For the Mission Band, Miss A. Davis, represented. George Street church, Miss Davis, Lakefield, Mrs. Throop and Mrs. Smiley, Marek St. church.

IN THE MORNING.

The opening session was marked by devotional exercises by Mrs. A. Morrow and Mrs. J. Steers. Mrs. M. A. Turner was appointed secretary. The reports of the different auxiliaries and mission bands were read and found to be very encouraging. A short memorial service was conducted by Mrs. Jas. Kendry in memory of the late Mrs. (Rev.) McCuaig, of Bridgenorth, and the late Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Thornton of George street auxiliary.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The afternoon session opened at two o'clock when a consecration service was led by Mrs. (Rev.) J. Bedford and by Mrs. (Rev.) Sexsmith. After the minutes had been considered a general discussion of the society's work was led by Mrs. Carlisle. Miss Tidy rendered a solo. Mrs. R. Mann spoke on "Mission Bands."

EVENING SESSION.

Rev. A. E. Pearson occupied the chair at a well attended meeting, which opened at eight p.m. and delivered a well timed address. The evening's proceedings were lightened by a well rendered solo by Miss Hoghem, in her usual good style. Rev. Robt. Emberson gave an instructive address. Miss Reesor contributed a most enjoyable solo.

Langford Doesn't Think Jim Reynold's Walk a "Square One"

The Toronto Star of yesterday's date contains the following letter:

Sporting Editor, Star: Kindly allow me a short space in your medium as to Reynolds' walk. I met him at Oshawa this morning, and, to my surprise, found the man who was supposed to be pacing him, walking behind with his shoulder against Reynolds,' assisting him up hills and pace a walker. The pacer should be a walker. The pacer should be wager Jimmie walked for this trip [illegible] who made it to accompany him all the way. I had seen Oppenheimer taking him with me over the road, he had none, anyway not from Port Hope to Toronto and back again to Oshawa.

When I made my record, which readily was 30 hours, as I did not start from Port Hope until three minutes after six, I was not competing against him. I simply endeavored to make amateur record, and was unpaced at this. If Reynolds walks it in 30, I am certain I could beat him. I tried again. I think my time was good for the record, but I only walked two 4-mile clips and one seven-mile before the event. Reynolds, I think, just walks for notoriety. He is a good man for his age, but I can never believe that this last walk of his was a square one.

D. Langford.

P.S.—Five hundred dollars was offered in Port Hope that he could not make the trip in 30 hours. Reynolds' supporters did not want that. They preferred small bets, which makes the walk look not look square.

Should be Forced to Pay License

(To the Editor of The Times)

Dear Sir,—As you know I have been a resident of this city for many years engaged in the boots and shoes business, and have all I own tied up right here. A firm from Millbrook has come to the city, not to live but to cut into my business. This people do not pay taxes here and can therefore afford to cut into such prices as a local taxpayer must say. I think such people should come under the transient traders or peddlers by-law and pay license. I think something should be done to protect local taxpayers.

A. McCARTHY.

The City's Poor are not to be Admitted

It seems that the County Council do not view with marked enthusiasm, in fact decline the receiving of the city's indigent old men into the House of Refuge at Lakefield. The request of the deputation, consisting of Mayor McWilliams and Ald. Phelan, which waited on the council, was referred to the Finance Committee, who have decided that they will do nothing this year. As a result the matter will be left for next year's council.

Fashionable Wedding at Lakefield

Miss Louise B. Le Fevre United in Wedlock to Mr. W. R. Grieve

Yesterday afternoon Rev. W. J. Creighton, incumbent of St. Johns church, Lakefield, united in holy bonds of matrimony Miss L. B. Le Fevre, daughter of Mr. H. J. Le Fevre, of Lakefield, to Mr. Wm. Robertson Grieve, of Toronto. Miss Britton played the wedding march as the bridal party entered the church. The ushers were Messrs. Wm. Cambridge, Lewis, Lionel Glass and Eldred Cumberland.

The bride wore white embroidered chiffon over white silk, the skirt en traine, being finished with broad bands of white velvet, which also formed the girdle. Rich Brussels point lace, the gift of the groom's mother, veiled the corsage. A wreath of orange blossoms and lily-of-the-valley fastened the bridal veil. The only ornament was a necklet of peridots and pearls, the gift of the bridegroom. The three little misses, Phyllis Atwood, Winifred Mackenzie and Phyllis Cumberland preceded the bride to the altar. All three wore pearl and turquoise brooches, the gift of the bridegroom.

The bride's travelling dress was of brown cloth, the coat with vest of white cloth, being embroidered in gold and turquoise.

After the ceremony a reception was held at "Clarendon" in the afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Grieve left for this city, en route for Toronto, subsequent to their long journey to their western home. They have the good wishes of the community.

—Last night St. John's church choir practised the music for the dedication festival to be held a week from Sunday.

Subscription List Has Been Opened

It now looks as though Davidson-Hartley's long talked of walk across will be consummated. It seems that the only sticker in the way was lack of cash money but now a local citizen has opened a subscription list to get up the gentleman's expenses and has placed it with a good amount. The list is being circulated around town and [illegible] have already given something.

The [illegible] hope that all expenses will be raised, and Hartley will undertake his long walk. The [illegible] is so enthused in the local sports that they [illegible] to [illegible] Hartley can do.

Canadian Brewers Raise Prices

And now the price of beer as well as the strong kind of booze has gone up, so that topers may expect to get half an inch more "collar" on their glasses of malt nectar. The Ontario Brewers have decided, owing to increase of prices of malt and other ingredients used in the manufacture of beer to adopt a new schedule of prices, which compared with the former prices is as follows.

Bottled ales porter and lager. Quarts, 24 per doz., were 90 cents. Pints, 70 cents per doz., were 60 cents.

Draught lager.

One barrel, 32 wine gallons, $8, was $7.

One-half barrel, 16 wine gallons, $4, was $3.50.

One-quarter barrel, 8 wine gallons $2, was $1.75.

One-eighth barrel, 4 wine gallons, $1.00, was 75 cents.

Draught ale and porter —33 cents per Imperial gallon, no change.

A discount of five per cent. is allowed on these prices, if payment be made within thirty days. The same regulations as before apply to empties, and all broken bottles must be paid for.

YOU FEEL TIRED ALL THE TIME

Night comes and it's hard to sleep. Morning dawns and the aimless tired feeling is still there. Unwilling to get up a strong desire to rest just a little longer.

Unwise to neglect this gradual decline. It can't cure itself,—but Ferrozone by forming rich pure blood at once supplies nutriment for building up the system. This extra nourishment is distributed throughout the entire body, gives force to the nerves, strength to the muscle, and power to the digestive organs.

At once you feel braced, toned and strengthened. You know a powerful force is building up depleted energies, you realize what it means to have the vim and spirit of robust health.

Search the world over and you won't find a tonic, to nourish, build up, and fortify a weak body like Ferrozone. Physicians claim it is the best all round strengthening medicine ever discovered.

To take Ferrozone regularly is an insurance policy of health, a guarantee that you will be free from vexatious spells of tiredness and debilitating sickness of every kind. Surely it is worth while trying a medicine that Mrs. H. S. Gold, of Bowaman, Man., speaks of as follows:

"I want to state my case, because I think it may be the means of assisting other suffering women back to health. A year ago I was almost a wreck. I was pale and emaciated, suffered from general unease and nervousness. Little things that went wrong in the house bothered me. The doctor advised different treatments, but they didn't help. He said that my low condition of health was due to weakness that might never be cured. Ferrozone had a peculiar grateful effect and built me up quickly. The ills I suffered from are cured. I am now strong and vigorous, and was made so by Ferrozone." (Signed) Mrs. H. S. Gold.

Before your ill-health assumes a chronic or malignant form build up with Ferrozone. Sold everywhere, 50c. per box or six for $2.50, at all dealers.

Trail Building in The Far North

Macleod, Oct. 23.—Inspector Camies, of Macleod, who had command of the party constructing the Peace River-Yukon trail, has returned home. The trail was commenced at St. John, on the Peace River, and it is to be extended to the Yukon Territory. The purpose of the trail is to have an independent route to the Yukon without having to cross American country. On August 23 the trail was completed to Fort Graham, 208 miles from St. John. By September 25 Inspector Camies had completed the trail to twenty miles west of Fort Graham towards Bear Lake, making a total of 131 miles for the season's work. One officer, fifteen N.C.O.'s and constables and nineteen horses remained at Fort Graham for the winter, where they were comfortably quartered and well supplied with provisions. But although the government had despatched plenty of clothing, it had only reached Fort St. John. Inspector Camies reported that he could get plenty of moose skins and that the men would not suffer. There was hard work and many hardships, but the men did the work cheerfully.

A Local Cheese Buyer's Adventure

It seems that Mr. Cook the well known Belleville and local cheese buyer, on Tuesday night got quite a scare over the presumed loss of his grip containing some $2000. Mr. Cook sent several telegrams to Stirling and other places, and eventually got the valuable package back safely. This was sufficient warning to him and, hereafter, Mr. Cook will travel with at least one hand on the grip containing his money.

Port Hope Times says:

Mr. L. G. Bennett has gone to Winnipeg, where he will act as plaintiff against R. A. Kirkpatrick, a former merchant of this town. Mr. Bennett is suing Mr. Kirkpatrick for $225, this amount being the value of the plate glass front in Fred Pedlar's store. This front was in Kirkpatrick's store when he carried on business where the Queen's Hotel dining room now is. Mr. Kirkpatrick contends that the front was given to him by Mr. Bennett in consideration of vacating the property before his lease had expired. The case is likely to come up next week and promises to be very interesting.

In the Dairy

The conformation of the udder, its approximation in outline to the curve of a semicircle, its extension therefrom, its balance of quarters, etc., are justly regarded as all important in the judging of a dairy cow. A poorly balanced udder or one lacking depth one which is deficient in the fore quarters or is funnel shaped or not well carried up behind, is not deemed a perfect milk making mechanism. Is this proposition borne out in fact? Do cows with ill balanced udders make materially less product than those with glands better proportioned?

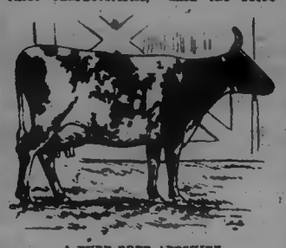
The mature animals of the Vermont experiment station herd which had made one or more years of record were carefully surveyed and grouped into three lots—those with well balanced udders, those with fairly well balanced udders and those whose udders were deficient, usually in the fore quarters. Every available record of each cow in the herd was used.

The following were their records at the close of a test as to their comparative production:

	Pounds. Milk.	Butter.
Well balanced udders.....	5,735	342
Fairly balanced udders...	5,377	333
Poorly balanced udders...	5,219	324

The Strong Point of the Ayrshire.

"The scale of points as it is today in all Ayrshire countries calls for a perfect dairy cow, with utility as the chief characteristic," said the secretary of the Ayrshire Breeders' association at a recent meeting of an Ayrshire club. "The strongest point of the Ayrshire cow, around which cluster all the other points, is the udder and teats, and this is the same in all countries under the recent revision: 'A large, square udder with four quarters of equal capacity, held strongly up on the belly, running well forward and behind, up out of the way of dirt and injury; four good sized teats wide apart on the four corners of the udder, in length from two and a half to three and a half inches, hanging perpendicularly.' It needs no argument to show that, other things being equal, a cow with the above udder and teats is perfection, and if breeders of Ayrshires would all aim to produce this style of udder on their cows it would in itself cover a multitude of imperfections in other parts of the body."



A PURE BRED AYRSHIRE.
[Imported Flora III. of Bonshaw 15575; record, 11,583 pounds of milk in one year.]

The animal here illustrated not only shows the characteristic form of udder, but its milk veins are strongly developed.

The Veins and the Milk.

In commenting upon the Holstein cow Parthenia Hengerveld, which has received first honors in competition with many noted animals of the breed, Hoard's Dairyman remarks: There is one thing in particular that stands out very prominent about his cow, and that is her milk veins. A very successful cow doctor once informed us that the milk was made in the stomach and was carried to the udder by these veins. It is held by the best authorities that these veins carry the blood which has been to the udder back to the heart.

SPLENDID DAIRY FORM.

The udder must be supplied with a large amount of blood, for it is from the blood that the milk is extracted—not directly by filtration, but by the building up of cells which are broken down into milk. The veins, being large and tortuous, are indicative of a good cow, for they show that the udder has been well supplied with blood. In poor cows these veins are not prominent or large, but short and small. Another thing to observe about this cow is that she has a place for an udder. One of the prominent differences between the beef cow and the dairy cow is that the large, round hind quarters of the beef animals give no place for an udder.

Now that the Canada Gazette has formally announced the elevation of Major Arthur Stevenson to command of the 57th Regiment, the general consensus of opinion, as far as The Times can ascertain, is most favorable to this regimental change. Mr. Stevenson is a comparitively young man who commands the general respect of the whole city and who has made a study of the duty involved in his future military work. No more popular or more appropriate appointment could have been made.

FEEDING HOGS.

Clean Food of the Utmost Importance In Hot Weather.

Every farmer knows that clean food for hogs is of the utmost importance, especially in hot weather. Still a great many will often permit the swill barrel to become filthy. This is very dangerous to the health of the hogs during summer. Doubtless diseases often start among many hogs from this source, says a writer in American Agriculturist. There are many ills that affect hogs besides hog cholera, although some may think that hog cholera is the only thing to be guarded against. By the decay of vegetable and fleshy matter various poisons are elaborated, and we must guard against these as well as hog cholera. There is no doubt that animals as well as human beings are often killed by ptomaine poisoning.

Avoid Rotten Swill.

Rotten swill is unfit for hogs as certainly as other rotten food. Some feed their hogs whey brought from the cheese factory. Often, as factory men know, the whey tanks are very dirty, not having been cleaned perhaps for months. The farmers who use this whey should make such a vigorous protest against dirty tanks that the factory men will see that they are cleaned often.

Some of the factories do not even have tanks, but have a row of barrels near the factory buildings, into which the whey is run. These are allowed to become almost putrid in the hot sun of summer. They swarm with flies, which may have been visiting the carcasses of dead hogs in the pastures of adjoining farms. Sometimes these hogs have died of cholera and sometimes of other contagious diseases. It is not a difficult matter to clean barrels often, and this should be done. It is all the easier to do if the cheese factory has a steam pipe from which a hose can conduct the steam into the barrels.

Protection Against Disease.

If disease is to be kept off the farm, food of the hogs must be carefully watched, at least in summer. The matter is not so important in winter, as the flies are not carrying germs from one place to another, and contageous diseases will not spread with the same rapidity. Animals take in disease germs mostly through their respiratory organs or through the organs devoted to the elaboration of food. If the food is protected, much will be gained in the way of protection against disease.

THE HORSEMAN.

Young foals that are stabled with their dams during cold rainstorms will thrive much better than those which are not so protected. The idea that exposure to inclement weather makes a foal hardy is fallacious.

Too Much Hay.

One fault with most horse owners is the feeding of too much hay. A horse will eat more than is necessary, and, owing to the smallness of his stomach, the partially digested hay is crowded on into the intestines. About three-fourths of a pound of hay per hundred pounds weight of the horse should be fed per day, advises an authority who makes this criticism.

Watering After Hard Work.

Watering your horse after hard work, when heated or exhausted, should be done carefully. Horses differ as men differ; some know when they have had enough and some do not. Let them drink frequently, but not too much.

Feet of the Draft Horse.

The feet of the draft horse should be large, round, wide at the hoof head, not too shallow or too high in the heels, and, above all, constructed of a good, dense horn, which indicates ability to wear well.

Greasing the Feet.

Greasing is necessary for horses which are much exposed to dampness and is as good for the sole and frog as for the wall. It is applicable also to feet which have to stand on dry bedding. Feet which, on account of diseased conditions, require to be frequently soaked or poulticed ought also to be greased. Bedding of peat moss and fine sawdust, equal parts, is most excellent. All these measures may be advantageous if the feet are properly shod.—C. R. Wood, V. S.

Horse Sense.

The good habit horse can be spoiled by the bad habit man.

With the team it's spare the curry-comb and spoil the coat.

The slovenly driving horse is the product of a careless driver.

You may feed a horse corn to make him fat, but oats are what give him life.

Keep constantly a good sized lump of rock salt in the feed box for the horse to nibble at pleasure. It will then take just as much as its appetite craves and no more than is needful.

Protein and Its Sources.

Protein is the nitrogenous part of feeds and is by far the most valuable of the different groups of nutrients. Its characteristic element is nitrogen. The white of egg is almost pure protein. Cottonseed meal and linseed meal are very rich in protein, and so are leguminous hays, such as clover, alfalfa and cowpea hay.—John Michels.

A Dry Barnyard.

Have the barnyard well drained. It will be much better for your stock, and it will be economy to have it drained on to a field that can be cultivated. Such a plan enables you to raise a prolific early forage crop by sowing corn near the yard, advises Kimball's Dairy Farmer.

To check a cold quickly, get from your druggist some little Candy Cold Tablets called Preventics. Druggists everywhere are now dispensing Preventics, for they are not only safe, but decidedly certain and prompt. Preventics contain no Quinine, no laxative, nothing harsh nor sickening. Something New in Copper

Mining and Milling Company

The mine is located 58 miles above Lewiston, Idaho, on the Clearwater river, and consists of 19 full claims, or 380 acres. It is developed by tunnels, shafts and open cuts for more than 2100 feet, disclosing thousands of tons of copper, gold and silver ores of both high grade and low grade. There are between 1000 and 2000 tons of ore ready for shipment. The entrance to the working tunnel is only 2000 feet from the track of the Northern Pacific railroad, to be reached by gravity tramway. There are seven parallel veins running lengthwise of the claims, one cropping out on the surface for 2400 feet and another for 3000 feet; while two veins cross these running into the mountain. These veins are from 30 to 200 feet wide. One ore chute has been crossed 60 feet and is solid ore from wall to wall.

We are not asking you to buy in a prospect. That risk was taken by the promoters. We are asking you to buy in a developed, proven mine. Seven years of continuous work and the expenditure of thousands of dollars has proven up one of the greatest mines in Idaho. That mine is now ready to pour out its red and yellow wealth to the world with the installing of an up to date production plant. It is for that purpose that a block of its treasury stock, full paid and non-assessable, is offered for sale. We believe that within six months from the completion of a 100 ton plant the mine can be put on a dividend paying basis, and that those dividends will be substantial and permanent. There is no better investment proposition before the people at this time.

AIKENSIDE

ion and the flash of her lustrous eyes. How Guy wished that Lucy could share in what seemed almost a superfluity of health; and why shouldn't she? Dr. Holbrook had cured Maddy; Dr. Holbrook could cure Lucy; and so for the present dismissing that from his mind, he turned to Maddy, and said the time had come when he could give those promised lessons, asking if she would commence tomorrow, after she was through with Jessie, and what she would prefer to take up first.

"Oh, Mr. Remington," and Maddy began to cry, "I am afraid I cannot stay! They need me at home, or may. Grandpa said so and I don't want to go, though I know it's wicked not to. Oh, dear! dear!"

Here Maddy broke down entirely, sobbing so convulsively that Guy became alarmed, and wondered what he ought to do to quiet her.

Controlling her voice as well as she was able, Maddy told him how the physicians at the asylum had written that as Uncle Joseph would in all human probability never be perfectly sane, and as a change of scene would do him good, Mr. Markham had better try taking him a while; that having been spoken with upon the subject, he seemed as anxious as a little child, even crying when the night came around and he was not at home, as he expressed it. "They have kept him so long," Maddy said, "that grandpa thought it his duty to relieve them, though he can't well afford it, and so he's coming next week, and grandma will need someone to help, and I must go. I know it's wrong, but I do not want to go, try as I will."

It was a gloomy prospect to exchange Aikenside for the humble home where poverty had its abode, and it was not very strange that Maddy should shrink from it at first. She did not stop to ask what was her duty, or think how much happiness her presence might give her grandparents, or how much she might cheer and amuse the weak imbecile, her uncle. She was but human, and so, when Guy began to devise ways of preventing her going, she listened, while the pain at her heart grew less as her faith in Guy grew stronger. He would drive down with her to-morrow, he said, and see what could be done. Meanwhile she must dry her eyes and go to Jessie, who was calling her.

As Guy had half expected, the doctor came around that evening, and inviting him into his private room, Guy proceeded at once to unfold his scheme, asking him first:

"How much he probably received a year for his services as physician."

The doctor could not tell at once, but after a little thought, made an estimate, and then inquired why Guy had asked the question.

"Because, doc, I have a project on foot. Lucy Atherstone is dying with what they call consumption. I don't believe those old fogies understand her disease, and if you will go over to England and undertake her cure, I'll give you just double what you'll get by remaining here. They are going to Naples for the winter, and undoubtedly, will spend some time in Paris. It will be just the thing for you. Lucy and her mother will be glad of your services when they know I sent you. Lucy likes you now. Will you go? You can trust Maddy to me. I'll take good care that she is worthy of you when you come back."

At the mention of Maddy's name the doctor's brow darkened. He was sure that Guy meant kindly, but it grated on his feelings to be thus joked about what he knew was a stern reality. Guy's project appeared to him at first a most insane one, but as he continued to enlarge upon it, and the advantage it would be to the doctor to travel in the Old World, a feeling of enthusiasm was kindled in his own breast; a desire to visit Naples and France, and the places he had dreamed of as a boy, but never hoped to see, Guy's plan began to look more feasible, and possibly he might have yielded but for one thought and that a thought of Maddy Clyde. He would not leave her alone with Guy, even though Guy was true to Lucy as steel. He would stay, he would watch, and in time he would win the young girl waiting now for him in the hall below, waiting to tell him 'mid blushes of shame and tears of regret how she had meant to pay him with her very first wages, but now Uncle Joseph was coming home, and he must wait a little longer.

"Would he, could he be so good?" and unmindful of Guy's presence Maddy laid her hand confidingly upon his arm, while her soft eyes looked beseechingly into his.

How the doctor wished Guy was away, and kindly taking the hint, Guy left them together in the lighted hall. Sitting down on the sofa, and making Maddy sit beside him, the doctor began:

"Maddy, you know I mean what I say, at least to you, and when I tell you that I never think of that bill except when you speak of it, you will believe me. I know your grandfather's circumstances, and I know, too, that I did much to induce your sickness, consequently if I made one out at all, it would be a very small one."

He did not get any further, for Maddy hastily interrupted him, and while her eyes flashed with pride exclaimed:

"I will not be a charity patient! I say I will not! I'd be a hired girl before I'd do it!"

It troubled the doctor to see Maddy so disturbed about dollars and cents—to know that poverty was pressing its iron hand upon her young heart, and only because she was so young did he refrain from offering her then and there a resting place from the ills of life in his sheltering love. But she was not prepared, and he should only defeat his object by his rashness, so he restrained himself, though he did pass his arm partly around her waist as he said to her:

"I tell you, Maddy, honestly, that when I want that bill liquidated I'll ask you. I certainly will, and I'll let you pay it, too. Does that satisfy you?"

Yes, Maddy was satisfied, and after a little the doctor continued:

"By the way, Maddy, I have some idea of going to Europe for a few months, or a year or more. You know it does a physician good to study a while in Paris. What do you think of it? Shall I go?"

The doctor had become quite necessary to Maddy's happiness. He it was to whom she confided all her little troubles, and to lose him would be a terrible loss, and so she answered that if it would be much better for him she supposed he ought to go, though she should miss him sadly and be so lonely without him.

"Would you, Maddy? Are you in earnest? Would you be the lonelier for my being gone?" the doctor asked, eagerly. With her usual truthfulness, Maddy replied: "Of course I should"; and when, after the conference was ended, the doctor stood for a moment talking with Guy, ere bidding him good-night, he said: "I think I shall not accept your European proposition. Somebody else must cure Lucy."

The next day, as Guy had proposed, he rode down to Honedale, taking Maddy with him, and offered so many reasons why she should not be called home that the old people began to relent, particularly as they saw how Maddy's heart was set on the lessons Guy was going to give her. She might never have a like opportunity, the young man said, and as a good education would put her in the way of helping them when they were older and needed her more, it was their duty to leave her with them. He knew they objected to her receiving three dollars a week, but he should pay it just the same, and if they chose they might, with a part of it, hire a little girl to do the work which Maddy would do were she at home. All this sounded very feasible, especially as

GIFT OF PRICELESS RELICS.

Antiquities For the Museum of the Toronto University.

A large altar of libations of about 2700 B.C., beautifully carved with designs of the offerings to be placed upon it, is an important addition to the collection for the University of Toronto Museum, presented by Dr. Robert Mond, of Egypt. Information to that effect has been received from Mr. C. T. Currelley, the distinguished graduate of Victoria, now engaged in research in the Orient. This altar is described as the best that has survived, and is in a remarkable state of preservation. It has an inner and outer receptacle for the pouring of the liquids.

From the same source there has also been obtained a large cedar box of the eighteenth dynasty, or the period of the Hebrew bondage, which in its exquisite paintings, exhibits scenes in the worship of the Egyptian gods. The cedar is that of Lebanon.

Mr Currelley, in a letter to Mr. John A. Paterson, K.C., of the senate of the university, announces a remarkable find in a collection of Roman garments and other articles. These were found in the sand by a peasant, and he was induced to part with them. The collection includes small towels of the Turkish type, a number of mats, a sampler, beautifully worked, a baby's embroidered shirt, parts of curtains, with applique ornamentation, and many elaborately worked strips, without a doubt part of priestly vestments. The colors are said to be still quite fresh.

This exclusive collection of textiles will also find their place in the university museum. A whole Noah's Ark can be traced in the sampler working [illegible] of the fragments of linen.

Must Have Been a Cannibal.

[illegible] some lady that I knew, while busy [illegible] toilet, felt something crawling [illegible] shoulder. She screamed and [illegible] her husband; and he had just [illegible] knock the centiped off before [illegible] bit her in the neck."

Constipation

Baked sweet apples, with some people, bring prompt relief for Constipation. With others, coarse all-wheat bread will have the same effect. Nature undoubtedly has a vegetable remedy to relieve every ailment known to man, if physicians can but find Nature's way to health. And this is drearingly true with regard to Constipation.

The bark of a certain tree in California—Cascara Sagrada—offers a most excellent aid to this end. But, combined with Egyptian Senna, Solvay Elm Bark, Solid Extract of Prunes, etc., the Cascara Cascara bark is given its greatest possible power to correct constipation. A tooth-some candy Tablet, called Lax-ets, is now made at the Dr. Shoop Laboratories, from this ingredients and most effective prescription. Its effect on Constipation, Biliousness, Sour Stomach, Bad Breath, Sallow Complexion, etc., is indeed prompt and satisfying.

No griping, no unpleasant after effects are experienced, and Lax-ets are put up in handsome lithographed metal boxes at 25 cents a box.

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26 not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-agency for the district in which the land to be taken is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at an Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

The homesteader is required to perform the homestead duties under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of a homesteader [illegible] permanent residence on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of a homestead, or upon a homestead entered for by him in the vicinity, such homesteader may perform his own residence duties by living with the father (or mother).

(4) The term "vicinity" in the two preceding paragraphs is defined as meaning not more than nine miles in a direct line exclusive of the width of road allowances crossed in the measurement.

(5) A homesteader intending to perform his residence duties in accordance with the above while living with parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

Six months' notice in writing must be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of intention to apply for patent.

TENDERS FOR SUPPLIES
1908

THE UNDERSIGNED will receive tenders up to noon on Monday, 4th November, 1907, for supplies of Butchers' Meat, Creamery or Dairy Butter, Flour, Oatmeal, Potatoes, Cordwood, etc., etc., for the following institutions during the year 1908, viz:—

At the Asylums for the Insane at Toronto, London, Kingston, Hamilton, Mimico, Brockville, Cobourg, Orillia and Penetanguishene; the Central Prison and Mercer Reformatory, Toronto, and the Hospital for Epileptics at Woodstock.

Exceptions—Tenders are not required for the supply of Meat to the Asylums in Toronto, London, Kingston, Hamilton and Brockville, nor for the Central Prison or Mercer Reformatory, Toronto.

A marked cheque for five per cent. of the estimated amount of the contract, payable to the order of the Provincial Secretary, must be furnished by each tenderer as a guarantee of his bona fides. Two sufficient sureties will be required for the due fulfilment of each contract, and should any tender be withdrawn before the contract is awarded, or should the tenderer fail to furnish security, the amount of the deposit will be forfeited.

Specifications and forms of tender may be had on application to the Department of the Provincial Secretary, Toronto, or to the Bursars of the respective institutions.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without written authority from the Department will not be paid for it.

FAMOUS DETECTIVE RETIRES.

Inspector Arrow Leaves London to Organize Spanish Police.

Chief Inspector Arrow, one of the cleverest detectives at New Scotland Yard, retired on a pension.

Twenty-six years' service in the detective force, and a career distinguished by a series of professional triumphs, is the record which he will take with him to Barcelona, where he has been engaged at a large salary to inaugurate and control a department fashioned on the same lines as that at Scotland Yard.

Mr. Arrow's long list of successes as a detective began in 1886 with the gigantic watch fraud in Geneva, and as the result of his investigations two notorious swindlers were arrested in Brussels. In 1904 the mysterious disappearance of the Nelson relics from Greenwich College caused a sensation. Arrow was successful in recovering the whole of the property, besides arresting the thief.

Another case in the same year which required much hard work was the racing sweepstakes swindle, engineered from Middelburg, and the capture of the Mackenzie gang put an end to a fraud by which thousands of punters were robbed by means of placing winners of prominent races in coupon competitions. Another successful coup was placed to his credit when he arrested Dr. Bridgewater and his confederates — a band of the cleverest criminals known in modern times for wholesale cheque forgeries.

While in charge of the detective staff at Vine street Mr. Arrow's energies were directed to the suppression of gambling clubs in the West end, and it is due to him that these once thriving dens are now but rarely heard of. During his service in the Metropolitan force he received the personal thanks of the Queen for services rendered to Her Majesty.

Inspector Arrow's colleagues have presented him with a silver tea service as a souvenir of his popularity and of the esteem in which he is held.

Depository ..... JOHN S. COOK & CO.
Bank of Goldfield, Nevada.

This company owns 4 claims (80 acres) of some of the best proven mineral land in the Goldfield district, consisting of the Accidental and Accidental No. 2 lode claims, situated two and one-half miles south of the great Goldfield Consolidated Mines (comprising the Mohawk, Goldfield, Combination, Red Top, Jumbo and Laguna) the richest in the world; and the Broadway and Beauty lode claims situated three and one-half miles north of the Consolidated and about one and one-half miles northwest of the Great Bend and Daisy Mines near the Zion group in the Diamondfield section second only in richness to the great Mohawk portion of the camp. Phenomenally rich strikes have recently been made on the Consolidated, the Great Bend and the Daisy Mines.

The company has also succeeded in securing the Sure Thing lode claim (20 acres) in the Cuprite district, which has an immense gold bearing ledge, running the entire length of the claim 1,500 feet, outcropping in places over 50 feet wide, and met by several cross dykes all carrying fine values in gold, and is without doubt rightly named "Sure Thing."

All of these claims are located in the same mineral belt as the other noted mines of Goldfield that have astonished the world by their production of millions in high grade ore, and will with the same development give equally profitable returns.

The money derived from the sale of this stock will be used at once for the active development of the property and the fact that all the directors are residents of Goldfield with years of successful mining experience who will give their personal attention at all times to the progress of the work goes to show that the first issue of 100,000 shares will meet with a quick and ready sale at the initial price of 10 cents per share.

We advise immediate action if you wish to participate in the vast profits of this Bonanza Mine.

Stock will be listed as soon as feasible on the Goldfield and San Francisco Stock and Exchange Boards. Would therefore advise purchasers to buy in board lots of 1,000 shares when convenient to do so.

Noted Evangelist's Experience

Irene, Ills., Oct. 7—"I always praise the bridge that carries me over safely" are the words of J. Dimick Taylor, the great American Evangelist, whose home is in Irene. While in Nova Scotia last winter I needed medicine and used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They helped me wonderfully and I recommended them to others. I send this testimonial because your remedy will work directly on the kidneys, and cures the urinal disorders that often give pain to the man and woman affected with kidney trouble. I have not found anything equal to Dr. Hamilton's Mandrake and Dandelion Pills. I gave them to a man on Tan Cook Island that was suffering in the most horrible way and in a few hours he was relieved.

When a minister like Mr. Taylor comes forth in praise of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, it is evident their power is beyond the ordinary. For diseases of the kidneys, bladder, liver and stomach they have no equal. Easy to take, very mild, sure to cure, 25 cents per box at all dealers.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by druggists. Price 75c per bottle.

IN SHORT FORM FOR BUSY READERS

—Quite a large amount of interest was taken throughout the city yesterday over Reynolds' successful walk. The extra issue of the Times was quickly sold out.

—The Ladies' Aid Society of the Y.M.C.A. will hold their annual tea on Monday afternoon next, October 28th, at 3.30 o'clock in the Y.M.C.A. hall.

—The County Council has decided to send William Hastie, who is now in the penitentiary, who stole a watch and two oranges at Hawkesbury back to his home at Berlin, where his grandparents reside.

—The person who bought the gold watch from a man on Tuesday night will please bring it to Chief Roszel at once. The watch is a stolen one and the man who took it afterwards sold it. If the purchaser will return it Chief Roszel will endeavor to have the money refunded.

—Over the long distance phone the O.R.F.U. secretary, J. B. Hay, informed T. W. McDonough, the secretary of the local club, that he would in all probability referee the game between Peterborough and the Victorias next Saturday. The match will be played at Jesse Ketchum park.

—Messrs. Hickey Bros. have completed a new barge which they have been building for Capt. Burn of Birdsall. The barge is for convoy with the steamer Rainbow, and is the largest on the Trent waters, being 90 feet long and having 18 feet beam.

—The following members of the Jack's Lake Fishing Club have returned to the city after two weeks' fishing and partridge shooting:—Messrs. A. Elliott, W. H. Denham, W. H. Stratton, W. H. Bradburn, D. O'Connel and W. Thompson. The party report that the fishing was good although the partridge are rather scarce.

Splendid Residences Built in Ennismore

That the contracting carpenters of this city are not only in demand but turn out good work is demonstrated by the most recent buildings erected by Messrs. Mitchell & McGrath, the Peterborough carpenters. This local firm, which has put up some 11 different buildings during the past season have just returned to the city after completing possibly the most modern and handsomely constructed residence in the township of Ennismore. The house in question is a solid brick one, of large size, erected for Mr. John Flood and which is fitted up in quartered oak, etc., contains bath rooms, closets, and spacious verandahs. This residence of Mr. Flood's would compare favorably with any in this city and will be a standing monument to the good work done by Peterborough artisans.

The above firm has also just completed a fine new brick veneer residence for Mr. M. O'Brien of Nonra in this structure Messrs. Mitchell & McGrath have also displayed the same class of local workmanship.

Obituary

Yesterday morning early, after a long illness, Mr. Jas. Wason, an old and respected citizen, passed away at the residence of his daughter, on Rubidge street. The deceased was 90 years of age and was born in Ireland. In 1831 he came to this country and settled in Dummer. For a number of years he conducted a lumber business near Colborne. He then returned to Dummer, but some years ago came to this city to live. His wife predeceased him ten years ago. He was a Methodist in religion. One daughter of this city is left to mourn his loss. Mr. John Wason of this city is a nephew of the deceased. The funeral will take place on Saturday afternoon at two o'clock from Rubidge street, to Little Lake cemetery. Friends are requested not to send flowers.

Very Nicely Done.

Gallant Man (aside)—At last I have her all to myself. Now I can tell her how I love her and ask her to be mine. How shall I do it, I wonder?

Gentle Maid (behind her fan)—It is surely coming. I am so nervous and frightened. I know he is going to be terribly dramatic. I do hope I shan't have to help him up off his knees. Goodness, why doesn't he say something? I must break this horrible silence. (Aloud, recklessly) Have you ever been abroad?

Gallant Man (stiffingly)—No. I'm saving it for a wedding tour.

Gentle Maid (demurely)—Why, how funny; so am I.

Gallant Man (meaningly)—Then why shouldn't we take it together?

Gentle Maid (innocently)—Possibly your wife and my husband might object to going in such a crowd.

Gallant Man (brilliantly)—The crowd wouldn't be objectionably large if your husband and my wife were husband and wife.

(Further conversation was disjointed and indistinct).

Where Animals Best Man.

"Nature taking aside," said the rose hopper, "mice won't eat oleo. It is a fact. Lay a pat of oleo and a pat of butter side by side and in the morning the butter will be gone, but the oleo will remain untouched.

"Oh, yes, some animals are incredibly nice about their food. The otter, when living wild, will only eat one piece, one mouthful out of each fish he catches. He will land a beautiful trout, but only one bite of it from the back, just behind the neck, is good enough for him. The rest he tosses aside. This epicure often kills a dozen fine, big trout to make one meal.

"Chimpanzees have very delicate tastes. A banana or a pineapple that to you seems delicious to a chimpanzee may be revolting. His taste is keener. Grapes grown in hothouses where sulphur fumes are used as an insecticide taste all right to a man but a chimpanzee will have none of them.

"The ichneumon loves eggs. He can tell a fresh from a stale one simply by tapping the shell."

"QUESTIONS" and THE ANSWER.

By EDNA KERR.

Copyrighted, 1907, by P. C. Eastman.

Robert Henry Cuthbert Peabody climbed solemnly into the blue plush chair and surveyed the fast filling car. Down at the far end was a man with a red fez upon his head, and for the space of a full minute R. H. C. P. regarded this strange creature there; his shrill voice rose above the bustle of the incoming passengers.

"What's that man wearing a monkey hat for, Uncle Harry?" he demanded. Harry Blake scowled at his nephew and whispered that the man came from a country where all wore similar hats.

"Are they all monkeys?" loudly demanded the youngster. Half a dozen persons tittered, and the Turkish traveler rose and went forward to the smoker. Blake coaxed the boy to look out of the window and devoutly prayed that this occupation would hold his attention until their train should pull out and the roar of the wheels drown the incessant stream of questions.

He was more than ever glad of his strategy when Mabel Manley entered the car and took a seat diagonally across from them. It is unpleasant to be in the same parlor car with a young woman who but the night before declared matrimony to be out of the question and after having worn one's engagement ring for more than two months.

Blake, anticipating trouble, wondered if he would not be able to effect an exchange into another car, but the impossibility of leaving "Questions," which was R. H. C. P.'s shorter name, alone prevented the carrying out of that plan.

He was just congratulating himself that they would at least be under way before Questions made the discovery of Miss Manley's presence when the youngster turned his attention from the window and sank back into his seat.

"They're beating us," he wailed, pointing to a departing local train on an adjoining track. "They're starting first, and it ain't fair."

The tears began to flow at the treachery of the other train that dared to precede the one he honored with his patronage, but they quickly dried as Mabel instinctively started forward to comfort him, forgetting the scene of the night before.

"HELL NEVER TRAVEL WITH ME AGAIN," DECLARED BLAKE VICIOUSLY.

"There's Miss Mabel!" cried the tormentor. "Why ain't you talking to her, Uncle Harry?"

"She doesn't want to be talked to," he whispered.

"But you're always talking to her," he insisted. "Why don't you do it now?"

"She wants to be alone," explained Blake, but Questions wriggled from his chair.

"She don't," contradicted the youth. "She's calling me."

He sprang across the aisle and into the girl's lap. For a moment he nestled against her shoulder, but it was the lull of a false peace.

"Are you mad at Uncle Harry?" he demanded.

"Hush, dear," whispered the blushing girl. "You mustn't ask such questions."

"But are you?" he insisted. "Why don't you want him to sit by you and hold your hand like you always do?"

"If you say such things I shall have to put you down," she admonished as several of the passengers began to laugh.

"But you do," persisted the little friend. "And you kiss him too! If you ain't mad, why don't you kiss him?"

Blake reached across the aisle and caught his nephew in a stern grip.

"You keep on talking and I'll spank you," he hissed through his half clinched teeth. "Now, don't let me hear a word out of you."

"I only get spanked when I tell lies," dodged Questions. "I wasn't telling lies. It's true; you do kiss her."

Blake caught his nephew's arm in a grip of steel and shook him roughly. Questions began to cry.

"You hurt!" he wailed. "I want mamma. I hate you." He rose in his wrath and began to pound Blake with his chubby fists. Within himself Blake swore fervently that never

Do You Think For Yourself?

Or, do you open your mouth like a young bird and gulp down whatever food or medicine may be offered you?

If you are an intelligent thinking woman, in need of relief from weakness, nervousness, pain and suffering, then it means much to you that there is one tried and true honest medicine of KNOWN COMPOSITION, sold by druggists for the cure of woman's ills.

The makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, for the cure of weak, nervous, run-down, overworked, debilitated, pain-racked women, knowing this medicine to be made up of ingredients, every one of which has the strongest possible endorsement of the leading and standard authorities of the several schools of practice, are perfectly willing, and in fact, are only too glad to print as they do, the formula, or list of ingredients of which it is composed, in plain English, on every bottle wrapper.

The formula of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will bear the most critical examination of medical experts, for it contains no alcohol, narcotics, harmful, or habit-forming drugs, and no agent enters into it that is not highly recommended by the most advanced and leading medical teachers and authorities of their several schools of practice. These authorities recommend the ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for the cure of exactly the same ailments for which this world-famed medicine is advised.

No other medicine for women's ills has any such professional endorsement as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has received, in the unqualified recommendation of each of its several ingredients by scores of leading medical men of all the schools of practice. Is such an endorsement not worthy of your consideration?

A booklet of ingredients, with numerous authoritative professional endorsements by the leading medical authorities of this country, will be mailed free to any one sending name and address with request for same. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

EARTHQUAKE SHOCK WROUGHT DESTRUC- TION IN CALABRIA

Five Hundred Were Killed--Two Hundred Bodies Already Recovered by Rescuers--Italian Village Reduced to Ruins

Rome, Oct. 25.—The details received here during the day regarding the earthquake in Calabria yesterday tend to show that the damage and loss of life were much more extended than at first estimated, but that the loss of life has not been great. The lowest estimates place the number of killed at over two hundred.

The pope, when informed of the destruction this morning, said, with tears in his eyes;—"Are we having a repetition of the disaster of 1905? God help the poor souls!" The pontiff will send a sum of money for the relief of the sufferers.

The shocks were especially severe in the southern end of the Calabrian peninsula, but throughout Calabria today there were scenes of desolation and despair.

HOMELESS PEOPLE DRENCHED.

The first shock was a tremendous one and was followed by two others of longer duration, which entirely destroyed two villages, and reduced many houses in several others to ruins. The first shock fortunately brought the entire population of the villages into the open, many reaching the hills or open plains. Torrents of rain greatly increased the sufferings among the homeless people.

Half the houses at Ferruzzano and Brancaleone collapsed and many persons were buried in the ruins, and at Sinopoli and St. Illario many are said to have lost their lives. Panic prevailed everywhere. Rocella, Jonica, Reggio, Cesonza, Baracdio, Citta Nova, Palmi, Marina and other towns also suffered from the shocks, but not severely. The ancient cathedral at Torre di Gerace was thrown down, as was also an ancient tower. Half the houses in the village of Gerace are in ruins.

PRISONERS MUTINIED.

During the confusion caused by the first earth shock the prisoners in the jail at Catanzaro mutinied, and were subdued with great difficulty. The female prisoners were particularly alarmed. So soon as the building experienced the first shock they began to scream and shout for the jailors, demanding their release and beating the doors until the whole place was in a terrible uproar. The prison officials did everything possible to calm the inmates, but panic broke out afresh every time another shock was experienced. So soon as possible detachments of troops with relief trains were hurried to the scene.

THE SHOCKS CONTINUE.

The earth shocks continue, but they are slight. The people are still in a condition of apprehension, which is increased by each tremor. In spite of the torrential rain that is falling, they absolutely refuse to remain under cover. They have made their beds in the open. Mattresses have been spread about the squares and the fields surrounding the stricken villages, and the people are covering themselves and their children as best they may. Many thousands will pass the night in this manner. The only buildings that the frightened people will consent to enter are the churches, and even there they will not stay long.

Brokers in Need of Funds get Permanent Relief---More Small Banks Close Their Doors---$1000,000,000 Flung Into Exchange

New York, Oct. 25.—The run upon the Trust Company of America has about spent its force, and the officers of the bank have now resources sufficient to meet any demands.

New York, Oct. 25.—The International Trust Company, one of the small and inconspicuous trust companies, closed its doors at 10:30. This trust company had a business connection with the Borough Bank of Brooklyn, which suspended payment today.

New York, Oct. 25.—A receiver was appointed for the Knickerbocker Trust Co. today. This company closed its doors Tuesday.

New York, Oct. 25.—The Brooklyn Bank at Fulton and Clinton streets, Brooklyn, which did not open for business today, has a capital stock of $300,000, and owes its depositors about $1,500,000.

New York, Oct. 25.—The secretary of the treasury is continuing to give financial assistance in a large way. The department is doing everything possible to allay apprehension. Another large supply of small bills is being rushed to New York from Washington. A statement issued by the sub-treasury today shows that local banks gained $22,705,000 from the sub-treasury during the week. This represents in large part the deposits of government funds made with the New York banks.

New York, Oct. 25.—A much calmer tone was apparent in business circles this morning. The success of the relief measure undertaken yesterday by J. P. Morgan, Rockefeller and other prominent financiers, together with the serenity with which the officials of the Trust Company of America met the run on depositors on that institution, gave great encouragement to bankers and business men generally that no further trouble was to be feared.

PERMANENT RELIEF.

The $25,000,000 made up by a pool headed by Mr. Morgan, which was sent into the stock market yesterday afternoon, is believed to have given permanent relief to the brokers who were in need of funds, with which to carry the stocks bought and held on margins for their customers.

Announcement was made this morning that the United States Exchange Bank, a small institution, located in the Harlem district of the city, would not open for business today.

New York, Oct 25.—During the sensational run on the Trust Company of America the scene about the entrance of the main office was electric. There was a tenseness in the crowd which surged to and fro as the doors of depositors huddled against the building. Messengers bearing satchels fought their way out of the jammed doors and raced towards Broad street. Trust company officers or directors, convoyed by policemen, battled their way into the building. Those who had places in the line guarded them savagely. Even inside the bank, on the main floor, those of the depositors who had gained admission rushed and jostled and quarrelled in no subdued tones. Upon several occasions fistcuffs seemed imminent.

Out on the sidewalk a sharper agitation of anger would rise. Then would be a rush and a congestion of hats, and then a rush of policemen to straighten out a brawl precipitated by some man who thought he had a right to some place occupied by another. Rumors flew among the crowd like wildfire.

It was a typical Wall street assemblage. In it there were bankers and brokers in tweeds and English headgear, and there were confidential clerks with instructions to take away from the company—once they got to it anywhere from two to fifteen thousand dollars. What women there were were also of the confidential clerk type; trig, self-possessed, and as willing to assert their right of place in the line as the man behind or in front of them.

It was not an especially good-natured aggregation of men and women. Every one seemed to realize that he gave the appearance, in a certain sort of way, of showing the white feather. And yet withal there was a grim "don't care" look.

When at length the shout went up,

Thanksgiving Day Races Excite Interest

This morning at 9:30, one of the most enjoyable and conveniently run special excursions to Toronto, at cheap rate, that the C.P.R. has carried to that city, will be run under auspices of the Peterborough Rugby team who will play a return game with the Victorias at Jesse Ketchum Park.

Return tickets, which will be sold at $2.05 for adults and $1.05 for children will be valid on any regular train up to Monday night. No better program for a Saturday outing could be found than this trip to Toronto by a train leaving at a convenient hour, with the optional privilege included of seeing one of the most hotly contested games in the O.R.F.U. seniors series, and in the evening a visit to one of the many theatres. By going to Toronto today you will not only have an enjoyable outing, but will assist the club and other rewards, including medals is now assured, as many entries have already been handed in. Whilst some of those who ran last year will not enter this time, there are others who show good promise of speed and endurance now getting into shape for the event.

Great interest is being taken in the junior race, and there will be great competition for the prizes in this event. The young runners have been training consistently, with the result that the majority will be in excellent condition.

This race is strictly for juniors, that is for boys not more than seventeen years of age. Every one entering the junior race has to make a declaration giving his exact age, and this has to be certified to by the parent or guardian.

English Immigrants Begging for Bread In Peterborough

Yesterday a complaint was made to the police that an English immigrant wife and children were wandering about the city begging. It is time steps were taken to let European would-be emigrants know that gold in sovereigns do not lie in the streets, nor do five pound notes grow on every tree in this great Canada of ours. Whilst there is work for men, of those who come out with a little money to keep them going until it is found, some of the steamship agents misrepresent conditions greatly. A Times representative yesterday talking with an English man, recently arrived, said the steamship agent who sold him his ticket, gave him to understand that employ is were fairly falling over one another in their anxiety to procure help. He believed this and, on his arrival at Quebec had exactly 26 cents in his pocket wherewith to keep himself until he found a job.

Trouble from Coffees

People Beginning to Learn About the Drug

"Coffee irritated me so badly that I want to tell people about it, and if you can use my letter I will be glad.

"I am 45 years old and have drank coffee all my life. I have left it off for years and did not know what ailed me. Sometimes I would have to press my hand against my heart, it would be in such pain and I got so I could hardly do my work. My head would feel heavy and dizzy, and many a time I got so blind I just had to drop down or else I would have fallen.

"I felt bad all over. My feet would swell and hurt me. A friend of mine asked me to try Postum and stop drinking coffee. I tried Postum, but it was some days before I got hold of the right way to make it. My heart disease and dropsy disappeared and I got nearly well.

"There is much in making it. It has to be boiled long and thoroughly, coffee, but when I got it made right it was fine, and now I wouldn't have coffee in my house at all. I am sure that Postum saved my life, and I am now practically well. I could give the names of about twenty people that have been helped by leaving off coffee and using Postum. Read Cole's letter.

It's worth while to read "The Road to Wellville" in pkgs.

Mrs. Walters, Aged 88 Years and Blind, Burned to Death

Whitby, Oct. 25.—Mrs. Walters, aged 88 years and blind, who resided with her daughter, Mrs. Edward Pascoe, at lot 1, con. 3 East Whitby township, was burned to death yesterday. The aged lady was warming herself at a stove in her room when her clothing took fire. When her daughter arrived in answer to her screams her clothing was in flames. Though the blaze was at once smothered, Mrs. Walters had been so severely burned that death released her from her agony in less than an hour.

CINDERELLA DANCE A HUGE SUCCESS

Two Hundred People Present--Good Music and a Very Acceptable and Varied Program of Dances--Invitations of a Verbal Nature Only

The Cinderella Dance given in the Market Hall last night, under the auspices of a committee of young people, was a marked success in every way. There were over 200 people present, and a very enjoyable evening was spent in dancing to the irresistible strains of an admirable orchestra under the conductorship of Mr. G. M. Bennett. A very select gathering took advantage of the verbal invitations issued by the committee in charge, and the whole function was of an exclusive nature. The ladies were costumed in aprons and sunbonnets, and their partners in overalls and wide straw hats, consequently the picture presented to the non-participant was of a very attractive and unique rural nature. The hall was prettily decorated with many colored bunting, the work of Mr. Alf. Kingscote, and every arrangement was carried out with a perfection as of detail that reflects considerable credit on the committee in charge of the arrangements.

Mr. Archie Moore made an exceedingly capable master of ceremonies. Refreshments were served at eleven o'clock by the Coleman Bros., the partaking of which allowed of a pleasant intermission.

The committee consisted of Mrs. J. J. Howden, Mrs. R. J. Devey, Miss L. Martin, Miss Birdie Dawson, Messrs. Comstock, R. J. Devey, C. Graham, F. Lenton, and C. Cossey.

The committee are to be congratulated on offering an evening's entertainment acceptable to the most fastidious taste.

Couple Who were in Peterborough Caught in Toronto

In yesterday's Toronto Globe appears an article referring to the arrest of Charles and Saber Manvers, who are charged with stealing household goods. They have been going from house to house staying for a short time as lodgers and then leaving with a large quantity of household goods.

It is thought this is the same pair who were wanted by the local police. About a month ago a young couple came to this city and took up their residence at a boarding house on Charlotte street. The man worked for the C.G.E. works for awhile. After remaining here a little over a week, they left again for Hamilton, the reason given being that the gentleman had received a better job there. On the evening of their departure from Peterborough, one of the other boarders missed sixteen dollars and other articles were also reported gone.

The story of their arrest in Toronto is as follows:

That they have been securing employment at a number of houses with the object of systematically stealing is the complaint of the police against Charles and Saber Manvers, found last night at an Elm street house and taken into custody on the charge of stealing household articles. With the prisoners were taken to the detective office two big trunks and a satchel, all filled with household goods and wearing apparel. Both worked some weeks ago at the home of Mrs. Oag, 142 Bloor street west, and left with a lot of articles which they were accused of stealing. Mrs. Oag says she spoke to the couple, and the man threatened to shoot her if she informed the authorities. Eventually they gave back all they had taken, and the police heard of them again when the woman, it is alleged, sent a threatening letter to the wife of Dr. Howland, Spadina avenue. From Toronto the couple went to the home of Mr. G. Kondy at Grimsby, and returned again soon, taking up their residence at a dwelling on St. Alban's street. Inquiries made by the detectives at the house made them leave again and take up their residence at the house on Elm street. Mrs. Manvers was known as Sadie Jones at the home of Dr. Howland. She once served a term of 60 days for theft. Mr. and Mrs. Manvers are out from England only about a year.

More Japs are Coming

Vancouver, Oct. 25.—It is reported that Mr. W. D. Scott, superintendent of immigration, stated since his return to Ottawa that the immigration of Japanese via Honolulu had been stopped. It is announced since his departure that another steamer has been chartered to bring a thousand or more, and that on an Australian boat will come the first of a regular consignment of forty each.

The Story of a Medicine.

Its name—"Golden Medical Discovery"—was suggested by one of its most important and valuable ingredients—Golden Seal root.

Nearly forty years ago, Dr. Pierce discovered that he could, by the use of pure, triple-refined glycerine, aided by a certain degree of constantly maintained heat and with the aid of apparatus and appliances designed for that purpose, extract from our most valuable native medicinal roots their curative properties much better than by the use of alcohol, so generally employed. So the now world-famed "Golden Medical Discovery," for the cure of weak stomach, indigestion or dyspepsia, torpid liver, or biliousness and kindred derangements was first made, as it ever since has been, without a particle of alcohol in its make-up.

A glance at the full list of its ingredients, printed on every bottle-wrapper, will show that it is made from the most valuable medicinal roots found growing in our American forests. All the ingredients have received the strongest endorsement from the leading medical writers, teachers and writers on Materia Medica who recommend them as the very best remedies for the diseases for which "Golden Medical Discovery" is advised.

A little book of these endorsements has been compiled by Dr. R. V. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y., and will be mailed free to any one asking same by postal card, or letter addressed to the Doctor as above. From these endorsements, copied from standard medical books of all the different schools of practice, it will be found that the ingredients composing "Golden Medical Discovery" are advised not only for the cure of the disease mentioned, but also for the cure of all catarrhal, bronchial and throat affections, accompanied with catarrhal discharges, hoarseness, sore throat, lingering, hang-on coughs, and all those wasting affections which, if not promptly and properly treated are liable to terminate in consumption. Take Dr. Pierce's Discovery in time and persevere in its use until you give it a fair trial and it is not likely to disappoint. Too much must not be expected of it. It will not perform miracles. It will not cure consumption in its advanced stages. No medicine will. It will cure the affections that lead up to consumption, if taken in time.

"They are paying," a murmur of approval was heard. From the outside the crowd increased rapidly. By 10:30 the line inside the corridor of the office building had doubled on itself four times and extended out around the block.

MORGAN STANDS $15,000,000.

Every effort on the part of the clerks at this time by the announcement that there was a line of men carrying bags of gold coin from the coffers of J. Pierpont Morgan & Co., in the basement vaults of the trust company.

Morgan's coming thus $15,000,000 in good cash was the way the announcement went along the line. The crowd, credulous and anxious to believe any good report, received the news with satisfaction.

The apparent readiness of the company to meet its payments created a feeling of confidence to pervade the crowd. One man in the line called to a passing office boy: "Go tell the boss that I'm waiting my time standing here. This bank's all right."

The boy stopped to return in a few moments with a note. After he had read it the man left the line smiling.

CONFIDENCE RESTORED.

Within less than an hour after being paid out without question went abroad many firms who had had notice sine recall from the line. A man started his way to the mezzanine gallery and shouted out the glad tidings.

"Where's Mr. Stone, of Richards & Co.? I want Mr. Stone. Tell Mr. Stone we don't want him to draw out his money." The boss in the line looked up and laughed good-naturally.

Get the Best Always

When the best can be had at the same price as the inferior article, why not have the best? If in addition to your local paper you take you should have one of the bigger weeklies, then have the best, the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal has stood the test. Its growing popularity is admitted by all publishers. It is a clean family paper, magazine and agricultural paper without a rival. It costs as little as the inferior papers—one dollar per year—so why not have the best?

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. BISHOP POTTER AND THE DREAM OF PEACE

Bishop Potter has expressed the opinion that The Hague conference is only a poet's dream and that until "the last days of earth shore will be armies and there will be wars."

As a poet's dream The Hague conference would seem to be an abject failure. The poet whose imagination was not strong enough to conjure up something more inspiring and satisfying on the road to universal peace should resign and seek some meaner calling.

The conference, in fact, might be adduced as an argument to support the bishop's declaration about armies and wars in default of any argument of his own. But neither conference nor bishop can prevent certain very practical considerations from working effectively toward peace between nations. It is, for example, a fact of the highest significance that great masses of workingmen in many lands are making less and less of national distinctions and more and more of the common bond of labor. It is significant also that the feeling that possesses them is constantly spreading. Thousands of people outside their ranks are reasoning that men having no enmity against one another and no real conflict of interest should not engage in a deadly strife with one another, for causes often trivial and illusory. The direct cost of war also has a very practical bearing on the case, and so has the drain that comes from withdrawing large numbers of men from industrial pursuits.

In noting such factors as these it would, of course, be a serious mistake to overlook the various causes of rivalry and offence that provoke war or the warlike element in human blood. But the point is that the considerations that make for peace are not mere poets' dreams or the aspirations of philantheopists. Added to those noble dreams and aspirations are the practical interests of mankind such as we have mentioned, and the interests of trade and commerce, which, however much they may be helped in particular instances of war, must benefit in the long run by peace.

Against the bishop's eternity no specific time can be set within which wars will cease, but the hard common sense back of the peace propaganda cannot be ignored. Naturally, moreover, a bishop should be glad to recognize it, but it will not be seriously affected by high authorities either in church or state. The movement will be from the mass upward, and statesmen will take their orders from below.

A Morgan of Perfect Type.

The Morgan type of horse originated in Vermont, and many descendants of the original Morgan stock are still in existence. They have changed somewhat in appearance from the early specimens, but include in general their beauty, intelligence, good temper and endurance which have made them favorites as a general purpose horse.

Blue Mountain Prince was bred and raised by the late Austin Corbin of New York city at Newport, N. H. This horse has been awarded many prizes at horse shows and exhibitions as a perfect example of the old original Morgan. He is of a rich dark chestnut color, with a white strip in face and diamond on nose. Of perfect Morgan conformation throughout, he has served as a model for sculptors in search of a perfect Morgan type. He is richly endowed with a perfect disposition, style, finish, beauty and speed, says American Cultivator in giving an illustration of this fine animal.

BLUE MOUNTAIN PRINCE.

Blue Mountain Prince partakes of three strains of Morgan blood—viz, Woodbury, Sherman and Bullrush—and has a pedigree as follows: Sired by Ethan Allen 2d, son of Peter's Morgan, by Peter's, Vermont, he by Gifford Morgan, son of Woodbury Morgan, he by Justin Morgan. The dam of Ethan Allen 2d was raised by Stephen Dow of Woburn, Mass., and sired by old Ethan Allen, out of the famous Morgan mare Jennie. She was by Hale's Green Mountain Morgan, and her dam was owned by Dr. J. L. Woods of Boston and was called Phebe. She was by Tom Morgan, he by True Briton, making him a half brother to Old Justin Morgan.—Phebe's dam was sired by a horse called Neadescript.

Calves in Stanchions.

The accompanying cut shows the best and cheapest method of keeping and feeding calves, according to the Southern Cultivator, which says: Any farmer who is handy with tools can make the trough and construct the stanchions. By adopting this method you save room and each calf gets the food allotted to it. The calves cannot be fighting one another off, and you can save the manure better, also keep them cleaner. Every farmer who has a good cattle barn and raises any number of calves should have stanchions arranged as shown here. We want our farmers to grow more food for cattle, then raise more cattle and finally fix up to feed and care for them better. When we begin to take the same pride in raising a fine cow that we now take in growing a bale of cotton per acre then we will be on the right road to true, successful farming.

Care of the Boar.

Many excellent boars are put in a dirty pen and confined the year round without any pasture or yard for them to exercise in, and by the time they are old enough to be in their prime they are ruined by excessive service and lack of exercise, proper nourishmeat, etc. Give him a yard, an acre in extent if possible, with a good strong fence around it and away from the rest of the herd, provide him a warm sleeping place during the cold and damp weather and treat him in a manner that will make him think he is of some importance and not salute him with a kick or a club every time you go around him. His disposition toward you will be to a great extent what you make it, and you can rest assured that he will appreciate and enjoy any kindness and rubbing that you do for him and will not forget all of the injuries and await his chance to get even with you.

Beef Cattle Breeding.

A fair amount of flesh adds to a beef cow's appearance and has a commercial importance when her calves are offered for sale, but the best breeders endeavor to avoid excessive fat, especially after a cow has had several calves, when she may become a "shy" breeder if allowed to become fat.

The International.

The International Live Stock exposition of 1907 is to be held at Chicago Nov. 30 to Dec. 7, and it is announced that the preliminary classification for the show will soon be distributed.

New Fraud Being Practiced in Montreal

Montreal, Oct. 21.—A clever game is being played on a number of the large stores in the city at the present time. Chief Carpenter has received several complaints of late from proprietors of

A woman rings up the firm by telephone, and gives a well known name and who occupies a high position in Montreal society. She orders a large quantity of goods and states that she will send her governess to inspect them and take them away. In the course of the day a well-dressed woman calls at the shop and states that she is the governess in question, and that she has been instructed by her mistress to examine the goods and take them home. She does so and the goods are marked up to the account of the supposed lady customer. On these bills being presented, however, it is discovered that the goods had never really been ordered, that the lady knew nothing about them and had never sent any governess on such an errand.

This game has been worked with much success and up to the present the detectives have been unable to find any trace of the thief or thieves.

Something New in Copper

PITTSBURG - IDAHO

Mining and Milling Company

The mine is located 58 miles above Lewiston, Idaho, on the Clearwater river, and consists of 19 full claims, or 380 acres. It is developed by tunnels, shafts and open cuts for more than 2100 feet, disclosing thousands of tons of copper, gold and silver ores of both high grade and low grade. There are between 1000 and 2000 tons of ore ready for shipment. The entrance to the working tunnel is only 2000 feet from the track of the Northern Pacific railroad, to be reached by gravity tramway. There are seven parallel veins running lengthwise of the claims, one cropping out on the surface for 2000 feet and another for 3000 feet; while two veins cross these running into the mountain. These veins are from 30 to 200 feet wide. One ore chute has been crosscut 90 feet and is solid ore from wall to wall.

We are not asking you to buy in a prospect. That risk was taken by the promoters. We are asking you to buy in a developed, proven mine. Seven years of continuous work and the expenditure of thousands of dollars has proven up one of the greatest mines in Idaho. That mine is now ready to pour out its red and yellow wealth to the world with the installing of an up to date production plant. It is for that purpose that a block of its treasury stock, full paid and non-assessable, is offered for sale. We believe that within six months from the completion of a 100 ton plant the mine can be put on a dividend paying basis, and that those dividends will be substantial and permanent. There is no better investment proposition before the people at this time.

CAPITALIZATION $1,000,000 - PAR VALUE $1.

AIKENSIDE

BY MARY J. HOLMES

Author of "Dora Deane," "The English Orphans," "Lena Rivers," "The Rector of St. Mark's," "Tempest and Sunshine," Etc.

it was backed up by Maddy's eyes, brimful of tears and fixed pleadingly upon her grandfather. The sight of them, more than Guy's arguments, influenced the old man, who decided that, if grandma were willing, Maddy should stay, unless absolutely needed at the cottage. Then the tears burst forth, and winding her arms around her grandfather's neck, Maddy sobbed out her thanks, asking if it were selfish and wicked and naughty in her to prefer learning rather than staying there.

"Not if that's your only reason," grandpa replied. "It's right to want learning, quite right; but if my child is biased by the fine things at Aikenside, and hates to come back to her poor home, because 'tis poor, I should say it was very natural, but not exactly right."

Maddy was very happy after it was settled, and chatted gayly with her grandmother, while Guy went out with grandfather, who wished to speak with him alone.

"Young man," he said, "you have taken a deep interest in me and mine since I first came to know you, and I thank you for it all. I have nothing to give in return except my prayers, and those you have every day; you and that doctor. Somehow you three come in together. You're uncommon good to Maddy. 'Taint everyone like you who would offer and assist on learning her. I don't know what you do it for. You seem honest. You can't, of course, ever dream of making her your wife, and, if I thought—yes, if I supposed"—here grandpa's voice trembled, and his face became a livid hue with the horror of the idea—"if I supposed that in your heart there was the shadow of an intention to deceive my child, to ruin my Maddy, I'd throttle you here on the spot, old as I am and bitterly as I should repent it."

Guy attempted to speak, but grandpa motioned him to be silent, while he went on:

"I do not suspect you, and that's why I trust her with you. My old eyes are dim, but I can see enough now to know that Maddy is beautiful. Her mother was so before her, and the Clydes were a handsome race. My Alice was elevated, folks thought, by marrying Captain Clyde, but I don't think so. She was pure and good as the angels, and Maddy is much like her, only she has the ambition of the Clydes; has the taste for everything a little above her. She wouldn't make nobody blush if she was mistress of Aikenside."

Grandpa felt relieved when he had said all this to Guy who listened politely, smiling at the idea of his deceiving Maddy, and fully concurring with grandpa in all he said of her rare beauty and natural gracefulness. On their return to the house grandpa showed Guy the bedroom intended for Uncle Joseph, and Guy, as he glanced at the furniture, thought within himself how he would send down from Aikenside some of the unused articles piled away in the garret when he refurnished his house. He was becoming greatly interested in the Markhams, caring nothing for the remarks his interest might excite among the neighbors, some of whom watched Maddy half curiously as in the stylish carriage, beside its stylish owner, she rode back to Aikenside in the quiet autumnal afternoon.

CHAPTER XIII.

In the course of time Uncle Joseph came as was arranged, and on the day following Maddy and Guy rode down to see him, finding him a tall, powerfully built man, retaining many vestiges of manly beauty, and fully warranting all Mrs. Markham had said in his praise. He seemed perfectly gentle and harmless, though when Guy was announced as Mr. Remington, Maddy noticed that in his keen black eyes there was for an instant a fiery gleam, but it quickly passed away, as he muttered:

"Much too young; he was older than I and I am over forty. "It's all right."

And the fiery eye grew soft and almost sleepy in its expression, as the poor lunatic turned next to Maddy, telling her how pretty she was, asking her if she were engaged, and bidding her to be careful that her fiance was not more than a dozen years older than herself.

Uncle Joseph seemed to take to her from the very first, following her from room to room, touching her fair soft cheeks, smoothing her silken hair, telling her Sarah's used to curl, asking if she knew where Sarah was, and finally crying for her as a child cries for its mother, when at last she went away. Much of this Maddy had repeated to Jessie, as in the twilight they sat together in the parlor at Aikenside, and Jessie was not the only listener, for with her face resting on her hand, and her head bent eagerly forward, Agnes sat, so as not to lose a word of what Maddy was saying of Uncle Joseph. The intelligence that he was coming to the red cottage had been followed with a series of headaches, so severe and protracted that Dr. Holbrook had pronounced her really sick, and had been unusually attentive. Anxiously she had waited for the result of Maddy's visit to the poor lunatic, and her face was colorless as marble as she heard him described, while a faint sigh escaped her when Maddy told her what he had said of Sarah.

Agnes was changed somewhat of late. She had grown more thoughtful and quiet, while her manner toward Maddy was not as haughty as formerly. Guy thought her improved, and thus was not so delighted as he would otherwise have been, when, one day about two weeks after Uncle Joseph's arrival at Honedale, she startled him by saying she thought it nearly time for her to return to Boston if she meant to spend the winter there, and asked what she should do with Jessie.

Guy was not quite willing for Agnes to leave him there alone, but when he saw that she was determined, he consented to her going, with the understanding that Jessie was to remain—a plan which Agnes did not oppose, as a child so large as Jessie might stand in the way of her being as gay as she meant to be in Boston. Jessie, too, when consulted, said she would far rather stay at Aikenside; and so one November morning, Agnes, wrapped in velvet and furs, kissed her little daughter, and bidding good-bye to Maddy and the servants, left a neighborhood which, since Uncle Joseph was so near, had become so intolerable that not even the hope of winning the doctor could avail to keep her in it.

Guy accompanied her to the city, wondering why, when he used to like it so much, it now seemed dull and tiresome, or why the society he had formerly enjoyed failed to bring back the olden pleasure he had experienced when a resident of Boston. Guy was very popular there, and much esteemed by his friends of both sexes, and great were the efforts made to entertain and keep him as long as possible. But Guy could not be prevailed upon to stay there long, and after seeing Agnes settled in one of the most fashionable boarding houses, he started for Aikenside.

It was dark when he reached home, and as the evening had closed in with a heavy rain, the house presented rather a cheerless appearance, particularly as, in consequence of Mrs. Noah's not expecting him that day, no fires had been kindled in the parlors, or in any room except the library. There a bright coal fire was blazing in the grate, and thither Guy repaired, finding, as he had expected, Jessie and her teacher. Not liking to intrude on Mr. Guy, of whom she still stood somewhat in awe, Maddy soon arose to leave, but Guy bade her stay; he should be lonely without her, he said; and so bringing her work she sat down to sew, while Jessie looked over a book of prints, and Guy upon the lounge studied the face which, it seemed to him, grew each day more and more beautiful. Then he talked with her of books and the lessons which were to be resumed on the morrow, watching Maddy as her bright face sparkled and glowed with excitement. Then he questioned her of her father's family, feeling a strange sense of satisfaction in knowing that the Clydes were not a race of whose blood anyone need be ashamed; and Maddy was more like them, he was sure, than like the Markhams, and Guy shivered a little as he recalled the peculiar dialect of Mr. and Mrs. Markham and remembered that they were Maddy's grandparents. Not that it was anything to him. Oh, no! Only as an inmate of his family he felt interested in her, more so perhaps than young men were apt to be interested in their sister's governess.

Had Guy then been asked the question, he would, in all probability, have acknowledged that in his heart there was a feeling of superiority to Maddy Clyde; that she was not quite the equal of Aikenside's heir, nor yet of Lucy Atherstone. It was natural he had been educated to feel the difference, but any haughty arrogance of which he might have been guilty was kept down by his extreme good sense and generous impulsive nature. He liked Maddy; he liked to look at her as, in the becoming crimson mering which he really and Jessie nominally had given her, she sat before him, with the firelight falling on her hair and making shadows on her sunny face.

Guy was luxurious in his tastes and it seemed to him that Maddy was just the picture to set off that room or in fact all the rooms at Aikenside. She would disgrace none of them, and he found himself wishing that Providence had made her something to him—sister or cousin, or anything that would make her a Remington.

And now, my reader, do not fail to abusing Guy, or accuse him of forgetting Lucy Atherstone, for he did not. He thought of her many times that evening, and in his dreams that night Lucy and Maddy shared pretty equally, but the latter was associated with the lessons of to-morrow while Lucy was the bright daystar for which he lived and hoped.

It did not take long for the people of Somnerville to hear that Guy Remington had actually turned schoolmaster, having in his library for two hours or more each day Jessie's little girl-governess, about whose brilliant beauty there was so much said—people wondering, as people will, where it would end, and if it could be possible that the haughty Guy had forgotten his English Lucy and gone educating a wife.

(To be continued)

Constipation

Baked sweet apples, with some people, bring prompt relief for Constipation. With others, coarse all-wheat bread will have the same effect. Nature undoubtedly has a vegetable remedy to relieve every ailment known to man, if physicians could but find Nature's way to health. And this is strictly true with regard to Constipation.

The bark of a certain tree in California—Cascara Sagrada—offers a most excellent aid to that end. But, combined with Egyptian Senna, Spearmint, Pepsin Bark, Solid Extract of Prunes, etc., as in Cascara Bark is given its greatest possible power to correct constipation. A toothsome Candy Tablet, called Lax-ets, is now made at the Dr. Shoop Laboratories from this ingredient—the most effective prescription, its effect on Liver, Kidneys, Biliousness, Sour Stomach, Bad Breath, Sallow Complexion, etc., is indeed prompt and satisfying.

No griping, no unpleasant after effects are experienced, and Lax-ets are put up in beautiful little gilt-edged metal boxes at 5 cents and 25 cents per box.

If you want something new, nice, economical and effective, try a Box of London, Oct. 26.—The Salvation Army hopes to send 15,000 emigrants to Canada next year and has already made arrangements for ten special sailings.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at an Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

The homesteader is required to perform the homestead duties under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of a homesteader lives permanent residence on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of a homestead, or upon a homestead entered for by him in the vicinity, such homesteader may perform his own residence duties by living with the father (or mother).

(4) The term "vicinity" in the two preceding paragraphs is defined as meaning not more than nine miles in a direct line exclusive of the width of road allowances crossed in the measurement.

(5) A homesteader intending to perform his residence duties in accordance with the above while living with parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

Six months' notice in writing must be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of intention to apply for patent.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

TENDERS FOR SUPPLIES 1908

THE UNDERSIGNED will receive tenders up to noon on Monday, 4th November, 1907, for supplies of Butchers' Meat, Creamery or Dairy Butter, Flour, Oatmeal, Potatoes, Cordwood, etc., etc., for the following institutions during the year 1908, viz:—

At the Asylums for the Insane at Toronto, London, Kingston, Hamilton, Mimico, Brockville, Cobourg, Orillia and Penetanguishene; the Central Prison and Mercer Reformatory, Toronto, and the Hospital for Epileptics at Woodstock.

Exceptions—Tenders are not required for the supply of Meat to the Asylums in Toronto, London, Kingston, Hamilton, and Brockville, nor for the Central Prison or Mercer Reformatory, Toronto.

A marked cheque for five per cent of the estimated amount of the contract, payable to the order of the Provincial Secretary, must be furnished by each tenderer as a guarantee of his bona fides. Two sufficient sureties will be required for the due fulfillment of each contract, and should any tender be withdrawn before the contract is awarded, or should the tenderer fail to furnish security, the amount of the deposit will be forfeited.

Specifications and forms of tender may be had on application to the Department of the Provincial Secretary, Toronto, or to the Bursars of the respective institutions.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

A Bargain.

Mr. Mason rubbed the edges of the umbrella with discriminating fingers while his wife listened to the saleswoman's enumeration of its good points.

"This is $10, isn't it?" he asked.

"Oh, no," replied the saleswoman reproachfully. "It is $9.89."

"She seems to regard the 11 cents as particularly invidious. I wonder why?" whispered Mr. Mason to his wife.

"Not at all," said Mrs. Mason, with mild heat; "nothing 'invidious' about it. Only very naturally it touched the girl not to have you perceive that you were getting a bargain."

Cautious.

A five-year-old girl was very ill, and, noticing the anxiety of her parent, she said, "Mamma, do you think I'm going to die?"

"No, my dear," replied the mother, "we think you will soon be better."

"Well," said the little one, "I'd like to die and go to heaven on a visit if I was sure I could come back if I didn't like the place."

Looked That Way.

"I don't think she'll ever marry him," said Mrs. Henpeck. "She quarrels with him so and is so domineering that"—

"She is?" interrupted Henpeck. "I'll bet they're been secretly married already"

50% in Annual Dividends

This is a straight Business Undertaking.

The Smelting of Ore is the safest and most profitable business in the world.

We have fifteen mining properties, located in Kern County, California, carrying good values in Gold, Silver and Copper.

The smelter nearest to us is at Needles, 250 miles distant.

We propose to install on our properties a smelter to treat the ores from our own mines and to do custom smelting for others.

50 per cent. per annum is a moderate estimate of the profits we can earn. If you want to make a safe and profitable investment send for full information and investigate our proposition.

This company was incorporated February 9th, A.D. 1907, under the laws of Arizona.

Capital stock 1,000,000 shares, full paid, non-assessable, par value $1, treasury stock 400,000 shares. Other stock pooled.

Officers and Directors

President ..... EDWARD T. PATRICK,
Mine Owner and President of the Goldfield Stock and Exchange Board.

Vice-President ..... JUDGE CHAS. L. HAYES,
Mine Owner and Leading Attorney of Goldfield, Nevada.

Secretary and Treasurer ..... ADAMS F. BROWN,
Corporation and Mining Lawyer and Member of Listing Committee Goldfield Stock and Exchange Board.

Depository ..... JOHN S. COOK & CO.
Bank of Goldfield, Nevada.

This company owns 4 claim (80 acres) of some of the best proven mineral land in the Goldfield district, consisting of the Accidental and Accidental No. 2 lode claims, situated two and one-half miles south of the great Goldfield Consolidated Mines (comprising the Mohawk, Goldfield, Combination, Red Top, Jumbo and Laguna) the richest in the world; and the Broadway and Beauty lode claims situated three and one-half miles north of the Consolidated and about one and one-half miles northwest of the Great Bend and Daisy Mines near the Zion group in the Diamondfield section second only in richness to the great Mohawk portion of the camp. Phenomenally rich strikes have recently been made on the Consolidated, the Great Bend and the Daisy Mines.

The company has also succeeded in securing the Sure Thing lode claim (20 acres) in the Cuprite district, which has an immense gold bearing ledge, running the entire length of the claim 1,500 feet, outcropping in places over 50 feet wide, and met by several crosscuts all carrying fine values in gold, and is without doubt rightly named "Sure Thing."

All of these claims are located in the same mineral belt as the other noted mines of Goldfield that have astonished the world by their production of millions in high grade ore, and will with the same development give equally profitable returns.

The money derived from the sale of this stock will be used at once for the active development of the property and the fact that all the directors are residents of Goldfield with years of successful mining experience who will give their personal attention at all times to the progress of the work goes to show that the first issue of 100,000 shares will meet with a quick and ready sale at the initial price of 10 cents per share.

We advise immediate action of any wish to participate in the great profits of this Bonanza Mine.

Stock will be listed as soon as possible on the Goldfield and San Francisco Stock and Exchange Boards. We would therefore advise purchasers to buy in board lots of 1,000 shares when convenient to do so.

Many Doctors Failed

Dr. Hamilton Again Figures in a Case that Puzzled Other Physicians.

Halifax, N.S., Oct. 1.—When the treatment of Mrs. Stanley, of 145 Argyle St., was first given it caused no small comment, and again establishes that a physician who understands his profession none excel Dr. Hamilton.

"For years," says Mrs. Stanley, "I have suffered greatly from a peculiar dragging weakness that resulted from pleurisy and asthma. Doctors prescribed but failed to advise anything of real benefit. A friend urged me to try Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut and I bought five boxes. They gave me renewed strength and energy, toned my stomach, enriched my blood, and supplied just what my system needed. No medicine could have benefited more than Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and I believe every woman would be helped enormously by using these pills regularly. They did me more lasting good than all the prescriptions I took in five years."

No man or woman in poor health ever used Dr. Hamilton's Pills without benefit; the depressed, ailing and weak they uplift and strengthen as a trial always proves.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

DASHES HERE AND THERE BY TIMES' REPORTERS.

Mr. T. H. G. Deane is Home

Mr. T. H. G. Deane, sales manager of the Quaker Oats Company, has returned, after having spent four weeks in the west. He reports that the situation from the standpoint of the farmers of the west, is considerably better than it was thought to have been a few weeks ago, and the office will make up to a large extent for the smaller yield.

Nonagenarian Passes Away

Yesterday morning one of the best known residents of the township of Smith, Bridget McManus passed away at the advanced age of 90 years. The deceased for many years kept a boarding house on the road side near Burleigh Falls and was well known by travellers in that section of the county. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock to Young's Point Roman Catholic cemetery.

Rugby Players for Toronto

The following members of the Peterborough Rugby Club, are requested to be on hand at the C.P.R. station at 9.51 o'clock this morning to go to Toronto for the game against the Vics; Evans, Crough, Dillon, Crowley, Coldrick, Quinlan, McDonald, Lundy, O'Brien, Deannard, Hurtubise, Clarke, Dickson, O'Connor, Canniff, Fitzgerald and Wilkie.

Wolstenholme Case Held Over

Yesterday the monthly meeting of the Division Court was held, his honor Judge Weller presiding. Among other cases that was to have come up was that of Mr. R. J. Wolstenholme against two young local men. It will be remembered that the plaintiff in this case seeks to recover value of a horse which dropped dead after being driven by the defendants. However as Mr. McWilliams counsel for Mr. Wolstenholme had to go to Campbellford on business the case was held over.

Take Them Out

Or Feed Them Food They Can Eat

When a child begins to break down from lack of the right kind of food, there are only two things to do; either take him out of school or feed him properly on food that will rebuild the brain and nerve cells. That food is Grape-Nuts.

A boy writes from Jamestown, N. Y., saying: "A short time ago I got into a bad condition from overstudy, but mother having heard about Grape-Nuts food began to feed me on it. It satisfied my hunger better than any other food, and the results were marvelous. I got fleshy like a good fellow. My usual morning headaches disappeared, and I found I could study for a long period without feeling the effects of it.

"My face was pale and thin, but is now round and has considerable color. After I had been using Grape-Nuts for about two months I felt like a new boy altogether. I have gained greatly in strength as well as flesh, and it is a pleasure to study now that I am no bothered with my head. I passed all of my examinations with a reasonably good percentage, extra good in some of them, and it is Grape-Nuts that has saved me from a year's delay in entering college.

"Father and mother have both been improved by the use of Grape-Nuts. Mother was troubled with sleepless nights, and got very thin, and looked care worn. She has gained her normal strength and looks, and sleeps well nights."

—Mr. Vaughan Mitchell of Edinburgh street, who is in the Collegiate Institute here, has shown by some caricature drawings of the Reynolds walking match, that he has the germs of high ability as a draughtsman. The pictures made by Mr. Mitchell display a keen sense of humor and the ability to express the same by his nimble pencil.

Ald. Elliott's Find Identified

As an instance of the efficacy of advertising in The Times, it might be noted that on Thursday evening Ald. Elliott, at five o'clock picked up a $10 bill on George street, and handed it to P. C. McGinty. In our issue of yesterday morning, we noted that a sum of money was awaiting a claimant at the police station. The owner of the lost bill saw our notice yesterday and calling at the station recovered his $10. No one saw Mr. Elliott find the $10, it was simply the notice in The Times that recovered the money.

Local Traveller's Good Walk

We were informed yesterday that a local wholesale commercial traveller has established a record for walking that would make the professionals sit up and take notice. Whilst not guaranteeing the truth of the story we are told that he started out from his firm's warehouse in the morning, walked to within four miles of Warsaw, took a large order for goods and was back in the city in time for the midday dinner. If this is correct Mr. Kinnear (can near, such) give pointers in pedestrianism to Reynolds, Langford or Hartley.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Pe-ru-na Promptly Relieves Severe Cold and La Grippe.

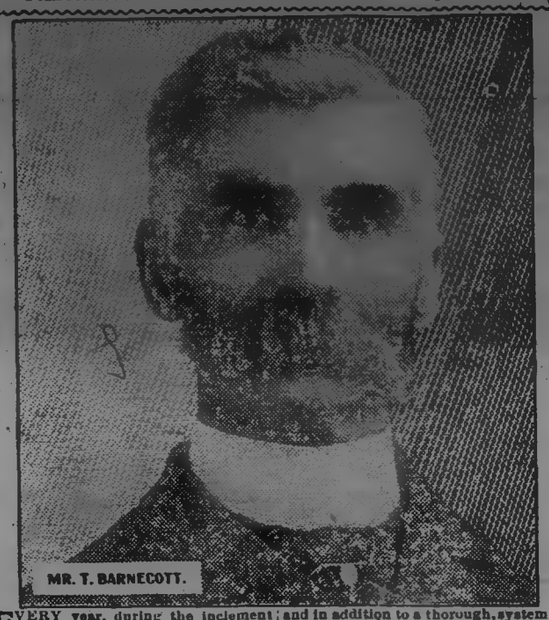
Mr. T. Barnecott, West Aylmer, Ontario, Can., writes:

"Last winter I was ill with pneumonia after having la grippe. I took Peruna for two months, when I became quite well, and I can say that any one can be cured by it in a reasonable time and at little expense. Every time I take a cold, I take some Peruna, which makes me well again.

"I also advised it for my daughter who was so ill with prostration that she could not follow her trade of dressmaking. A bottle of Peruna made such a change in her that she has been able to follow her business ever since.

"I also induced a young lady, who was all rundown and confined to the house, to take Peruna, and after taking Peruna for three months she is able to follow her trade of tailoring.

"I can recommend Peruna for all such who are ill and require a tonic."



MR. T. BARNECOTT.

EVERY year, during the inclement weather of winter, there is an epidemic of catarrh. The disease is really catarrhal in nature, but from the form it assumes, has been commonly termed the 'grip.'

Splendid Remedy For La Grippe.

Mr. Frank H. Fielder, 218 Pleasant Ave., Montgomery, Ala., formerly principal of Haynesville High School, writes:

"I can truthfully say that Peruna is a splendid remedy for la grippe and a good tonic for building up the system."

La grippe is very tenacious when it once gets a firm hold upon the system, and in addition to a thorough, systemic catarrh remedy, a great deal of patience and persistence in the treatment are required to eradicate the disease.

Peruna, an internal catarrh remedy, is one of the best medicines ever devised to meet the exigencies of these cases. The large number of commendatory letters received by Dr. Hartman, the inventor of Peruna, in behalf of his remedy is proof sufficient of its value as a reliable medicine for the 'grip.'

Prompt Relief.

Mr. Frank Bauer, Minneiska, Minn., writes: "I suffered with la grippe; I took Peruna and in four days I was able to go out."

Lincoln's Reason.

One afternoon when Lincoln was president word came to the war department from the provost marshal at Portland, Me., that Henry Jameson, the Confederate secret service agent, was on his way to New York, where he had engaged passage for England. The war department was at once all astir.

Charles A. Dana, then assistant secretary of war, received the message and hastened at once to consult with Secretary of War Stanton, says the Ladies' Home Journal.

"How do you advise me to act in this matter?" queried Dana.

"Arrest the man at once," was Stanton's reply; "but you had better see the president before you proceed further."

Dana went immediately to the White House. As he was a frequent visitor he was readily admitted to Lincoln's private room.

"What is it, Dana?" asked the president as the secretary came in.

Dana told about the incident and asked the president what ought to be done.

"Well," was the quiet reply, "you say Jameson will soon leave the country?"

"Yes, sir; he will escape within a few hours if nothing is done to stop him. My purpose is to arrest him."

"Well," was the president's reply, "when you have a white elephant on your hands and he's doing his level best to get away, why not leave him alone, Dana?"

And Jameson was let alone.

The "Six Hundred Ruffians."

On Feb. 23, 1839, Lord Maidstone called the attention of the house to a speech delivered by O'Connell at a political dinner in London in which he asserted that the Tory election committee of the day—or the committee appointed by the house to try election petitions, a practice which has since been abolished and stooped to "foul perjury" in order that their friends might retain their seats. A vote of censure on O'Connell, which was moved by Lord Maidstone, was carried by a majority of nine.

A few days later a curious scene was witnessed in the house. O'Connell had to stand up in his place in the crowded chamber while the speaker, James Abercromby, solemnly reproved him for "the false and scandalous imputation" he had cast upon "the honor and conduct of members of the house. It now only remains," said the speaker in conclusion, "that in obedience to the commands of this house I should reprimand you, as I now accordingly do."

The reprimand, however, made no impression upon O'Connell. "I have repented of nothing, I have retracted nothing," said he in the course of a speech he delivered when the speaker resumed his seat, and he concluded by moving a committee before which to prove his charges. He subsequently described the house of commons—in a speech delivered outside—as "six hundred ruffians."

Stomach troubles, Heart and Kidney ailments can be quickly corrected with a prescription known to druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. The prompt and surprising relief which this remedy immediately brings is entirely due to its restorative action upon the controlling nerves of the Stomach. Sold by all dealers.

"Copy Reading" Howells.

The London Atheneum says of the following Howells paragraph that it is the best sentence perhaps in any recent English book. Describing a certain ancient edifice, Mr. Howells writes and the Atheneum quotes:

"What, in the heart of all this blossoming, was the great cathedral itself when we came in sight of it but a vast efflorescence of the age of faith, mystically beautiful in form and gray as some pale exhalation from the mold of the ever cloistered, the deeply reforested past."

Very fine, all must admit. But wouldn't that paragraph have been meat and drink to the man who used to mark up Mr. Howells' newspaper copy back at Bucyrus, O. If Howells the reporter had written that for the Bucyrus Blade he would have found it in the paper next day about like this:

"The cathedral, with flowers all around it, looks fine. It is 400 years old and needs paint."

Thought Nine Enough.

The following amusing birth notice appeared in the Dresden Anzeiger: "To our seven hearty boys there came today, in God's early morning, not the wished for little daughter, but, in compensation, a pair of fine boys. We judge by this elementary event that these strenuous times demand more men than blossoms of the gentler sex, and console ourselves with thoughts of our fatherland, to which we call:

"Hurrah! Hurrah! Now there are nine. Firm stand and true the watch on the Rhine!

"To all dear friends and acquaintances and to whom else the joyous tidings may be of interest we give this notice—the last of its kind—Eduard Rost and wife."

ROWS OF MURDERED WOMEN FOUND IN A MONK'S RETREAT

Member of Perm Monastery Lures Victims to Confessional and Destroys Them--No Motive Can be Assigned for Ghastly Crimes

London, Oct. 27.—The Petersburger Zeitung relates a terrible story of crimes which have just been discovered at Werchoturji, in the government of Perm. For some years past a monk, named Fedot, has exercised a powerful attraction over the inhabitants of the neighborhood, particularly the women, on account of his eloquent sermons.

Fedot was a member of a local monastery, but some three years ago one of his admirers, the widow of a rich merchant, had a hermitage built for him in the midst of the forest near the town, and to this secluded spot women of all ages went to hear the monk preach and to confess to him. Fedot was noted as an "original" in more than one way. A peculiar institution, to which he always attached considerable importance, was a bathroom belonging to the hermitage to which he insisted that every woman who came to confess must first retire, in order that she might bathe, and appear before him "clean in body as well as in soul." Then, before confessing, she must lie down in a coffin, so that she might become accustomed to the idea of death.

Recently several young women of the district disappeared, but, despite the alarm caused, no one connected their disappearance with the proceedings at Fedot's hermitage. A few days ago the wife of a young soldier, who had gone to see the monk, failed to return home, and, growing suspicious, the man proceeded to the hermitage, intending to force Fedot to disclose her whereabouts.

Entering the hermitage he searched everywhere, but the monk was nowhere to be found, nor was there at first any sign of his wife. When he passed into the bathroom, however, he saw a coffin lying on the floor and lifting the lid he was horror-stricken to find within it the dead body of his wife. He immediately informed the police, and they made thorough search of the place, in a cellar beneath the hermitage they found a number of other coffins, lying side by side, and in each of them was the dead body of a woman.

Every effort is being made to trace the missing monk, but up to the present nothing has been heard of him, nor can any motive be assigned for the ghastly crimes which have now been brought to light.

The Japanese Riot Claims will Nearly All be Disallowed

Vancouver, B.C., Oct. 27.—There is an excellent chance that not more than one thousand of the fifteen thousand dollars asked by Vancouver Japanese as riot damages will be allowed by the Dominion government.

Commissioner MacKenzie King was startled yesterday to find that the Japanese were merely tenants and not owners of the damaged buildings.

The commissioner declared the land owners and not tenants were the people who should bear the brunt of making repairs. The landlords could not collect from the Dominion government, but their suits, if any, would be against the city.

Japanese rights for damages, he said, are under treaty, and not by any rights they have in the civil courts of the land.

The commissioner added as his ruling; "The government will pay the claims of what Japanese actually suffered, but did damage to buildings owned by other landlords. Tell the landlords they must look to others—those who caused the riots. The owners cannot legally make the Japanese pay, they did not cause the riot."

Jumps the Town Leaving Debts

It was rumored Saturday that an employe of a George street concern has gone to parts unknown in the United States. It is also stated that he is indebted to a local bank to the extent of about two hundred and sixty dollars, and leaves at the mercy of the world a wife and two children. Nobody seems to know where he went, his flight being as swift as unexpected.

More Than Money to Many People Here

A Simple Home Recipe Recommended to Elderly Folks

This is a message that will bring happiness again into many families and sunshine into the lives of hundreds of disheartened and discouraged men and women here. It requires just a little inconvenience, for it can't be bought already prepared. It is a simple home recipe now being made known in all the larger cities through the newspapers. It is intended to check the many cases of rheumatism, kidney and bladder trouble which have made so many cripples and invalids and weaklings of some of our truest and strongest people.

The druggists here have been notified to supply themselves with the ingredients and the sufferer will have no trouble to obtain them. The prescription is as follows: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Karzon, one ounce; and Compound Syrup of Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking well in a bottle. Take a dose on one teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

Recent experiments, even in severe hospital cases, prove this simple mixture the remedy for Rheumatism, because of its positive action upon the eliminative tissues of the kidneys. It speedily puts these vital organs to filter from the blood and system the waste matters of uric acid which are the cause of rheumatism. It relieves all kidney complaints, thereby curing backache, blood disorders, bladder weakness, frequent urination, painful, scalding and discolored urine. It acts as a powerful stimulant to the entire kidney and bladder structure, puts new life into them and rejuvenates the [illegible] so the kidneys clean the blood. The Dandelion will relieve any liver trouble and constipation, and is fine for the stomach.

All the ingredients, safe as well-known local druggists, are of reputable extraction, making a safe and harmless prescription at any time.

Those who suffer and are accustomed to purchase a bottle of patent medicines should not let a little inconvenience interfere with making up this prescription. Wherever this becomes generally known, states a large Eastern publication, it ruins the sale of the patent medicines and so-called rheumatism and kidney cure which is its best endorsement of virtue.

Hunting Papers Already Issued

Fishermen returned from the back country prognosticate that deer will be plentiful this fall. While the rush for shooting licenses has not begun, Col. Miller, issuer of such licenses, reports that the following gentlemen have already procured them. M. C. Tooley, F. Stevenson, W. Snowdon, C. Butcher, A. L. F. Hall, Clarkson, L. Lynn, J. D. Collins, G. Moore, A. Stevenson, Peterborough; W. F. Stevenson, Toronto; R. Tedford, Doure; Frank Pearson, Smith; Jos. Hescott, Lampton County.

Forcible Protest Against Local Option

The county magistrate held court in Omemee on Wednesday, H. Beatty having charged certain persons with disorderly conduct. Beatty has determined to run his hotel in an orderly manner, and a number of known characters who are noisy and disreputable when in drink, he will not give liquor to at any time. A gang of five raised a disturbance recently, and the magistrate fined two of them $5 each and costs, at the same time informing them that if any further trouble was given, no such leniency would be shown.

Hamilton's Grocery Damaged by Fire

In the wee small hours of yesterday the fire brigade was called out to extinguish a fire that had gained good headway in the second floor of Mr. W. B. Hamilton's grocery store on Simcoe street, between George and Waterstreets. Fortunately, after a hard fight the brigade succeeded in overcoming the fire in the upper floor of the shop, the walls not being seriously injured. The smoke and heat however caused much damage to stock, ceiling, which latters will probably amount to between $2,000 and $3,000, the stock was also insured to fully cover it.

The success of the brigade in preventing the flames from getting into the store proper is due, in some measure, to the fact that the establishment is practically uninjured and business will be carried on this morning as usual.

—A gang of Italian laborers arrived Saturday to commence work upon the abutments for the new steel bridge, which is to span the river Quaquanche on the Con. of Asphodel, south of No. 8 school house, and about two miles south-west of Norwood.

Peterbough Lost Saturday's Game with the Vics by 20 to 26 About 200 Accompanied Team

Toronto World: A big crowd turned out at Jesse Ketchum Park on Saturday to see the Victorias struggle with the Peterboroughs in the senior O. R.F.U. series. The visitors brought with them about 125 supporters, who made their presence known by loyal rooting for the team. The Vicks did not lack for encouragement, either. The teams line-up:

Victoria: Baird, back; Nelligan, Scanyar, Ellicott, halves; Marsh, quarter; Thorogood, H. Brown, Jeffries, scrimmage; Ryan, Brown, Pope, Pratt, Hewitson, McWhirter, wings.

Peterborough—Evans, back; Kenneth, Collidge, Quinlan, halves; Lundy, quarter; Deanard, Clark, O'Brien, scrimmage; Dickson, Hurtubise, Macdonald, O'Connor, Crough, Crowley, wings.

Referee: Hutchins. Umpire: Bert Brown.

After two minutes of play Marsh went over for a try, which was not converted. Five minutes later, after a lot of hurry-scurry play around the field, Marsh buck'd over for another try. Score 10 to 0.

Hurtubise, for Peterborough, wishing a few minutes, dribbled the ball over for a try which was converted. Score 10 to 6, but Pratt got another try for Vics, which was converted, making the score at the end of the first quarter 16 to 6.

In the second quarter Peterborough kicked to Quilan and shortly afterward succeeded in putting over another try, but Vics covered up with another touchdown just before half-time was called. In the subsequent play Peterborough scored on a rouge. Half-time score, Vics. 21, Peterborough 13.

In the third quarter Peterborough scored a try, making the total 21—18, but had to rouge twice and score at three-quarter time was 23—18.

In the last quarter Peterborough added two points and the Vics five, total 26—20.

The Hamilton Tigers defeated Montreal, on the latter grounds by 9—7.

Ottawa Rough Riders soused the Argos on Saturday by 34 to 6.

The Celestial in Old London

Has a Wonderful Faculty for Keeping Secrets and Rarely Comes in Contact with the Law--Have a Special Faculty for Settling Disputes Among Themselves and on the Quiet

Nobody was ever so wise as some Chinamen look. No grown-up person, certainly, could possess the simple and entirely unsophisticated temperament implied by the innocently philosophic smile which flitted across the yellow face of the lounging gentleman in blue when I asked him if it were here that I might smoke some some opium. He was affability personified; but was "welly sally" to say he could not assist me. That I gathered (not being a linguist) was the purport of his answer.

In his little show window were a few indeterminate articles which might have been eatables, but which appeared to have no application to anything in particular. Behind the shop was a mysterious chamber with a little window shrouded by a faded curtain. No sounds came from within, and there was nothing to be seen, and, though I beamed persuasively and treated the black-haired Chinaman to my conception of the expression of a poppy-maniac in the delights of anticipation, he seemed so charmed to see me as he gently edged me outside that I felt there was nothing for it but to go. Even when I jingled five pennies and a shilling he merely went on grinning expansively and stood on the narrow doorstep to speed me on my way.

It was disappointing, because I had heard so many lurid stories of weird carousals in those small back parlors, that they seemed clearly one of the sights that the Burning London shouldn't miss. The disappointment was part of a general sham of unfulfilment. Chinatown, some minor litterateurs had told me, was extremely picturesque. To turn down a side street in Limehouse was an adventure to make a dingy twilight was to invite unconsciousness, perhaps robbery or worse. I found it drab and dull and unenlightened.

Occasionally, if you watch one of the gloomy shops, you may see an Oriental pass through the doorway as if embarked on a definite purpose. You may wait a long time before you see him come out again. Why he does emerge there is usually nothing in his dull visage to indicate, but he has passed through a period of dissipation. There are said to be a dozen opium dens open to the public in Limehouse at the present time; but you may wheedle your cunning way without being in a position to prove it personally, unless you have the escort of a devotee who is willing to take you there.

If you want to see London's Chinatown from the outside, you have only to board an electric car at Aldgate and take a penny ride as far as the corner of West Indian Dock road, passing the tenantal public house, "A Good Pull-Up for Bishops," on your way. A few yards from the corner, on the left, is the Strangers' Home for Asiatics, and almost opposite, "beyond chandlers' and other shops which bear names ending usually in "ng," and, in one case, consisting of nothing but these letters, you will find Limehouse Causeway.

Here is the center of the Chinese quarter but if you think to find none but Celestials, you will be vastly mistaken. Like the other streets in these neighborhoods, it is a dismal thoroughfare enough, with bare-looking tenements fronting a roadway, and gutters that ran, when I was there, with filthy water.

But it is a poor heart that never rejoices. I had come to seek Chinamen, of whom there were a few leaning against doorways, smoking ordinary pipes and cheap cigars, with the insouciance of star-at-home cockneys. Yet the aspect of things, even allowing for the queer and poky-ness, was not overpoweringly oriental by any means. There were the usual crowds of little children—happy mites most of them, for all the dirt which mucked their countenances. Now and then you would see a curly-haired baby, with the strongly-marked features of the Jewish child; but generally they were very English-looking, and while they played at seaside on the black puddles, they shrieked and laughed as exuberantly as any group of more aristocratic ragamuffins on fashionable sands. Women glanced curiously from upper windows, and sometimes one saw a pair of furtive eyes above a curtain; but never anything to make one feel sure that any sort here could be named as a sink of iniquity. And I never saw a dagtail all the time.

Those who know Chinatown speak of strange customs, religious and superstitive, with which the secretive Celestials pass away their time. Chinamen who make London their home seem to have no difficulty in marrying Englishwomen. As a rule, so far as can be learned, they make good husbands. They acquire money at any rate, and their children are seldom dressed badly, and are invariably well fed. Among themselves, the Chinese play their own particular games—about which they are hardly less reticent than they are about the indulgence of their own peculiar vices.

Who but a Chinaman, for instance, would has thought of fighting crickets? It is said that battles to the death between these well-trained insects are not infrequent, and that the glorious stain are sent to their hereafter with elaborate obsequies in golden coffins. It is impossible to declare that such practices are common in London—Chinamen have wonderful gifts for keeping secrets.

When they gamble they do not go outside and about about their losses. If there are fights they are not often heard of; the Chinese have a special faculty for settling disputes among themselves. Opium smoking makes a man sleepy, and the law. And offenses which at all it comes gradually and not in paroxysms. Whether the police should be ordered to interfere and subdue the traffic is a question that should be settled quickly, if it is to be settled at all.—London, Eng., Exchange.

Advocates Hanging for Wife Deserters Lash an Alternative

Rev. James T. Marshall of Chicago Declares Frequent Divorce Lowers the Moral Sense--Wants Uniform Divorce Laws

Chicago, Oct. 27.—Hanging for wife deserters was advocated by the Rev. James T. Marshall, pastor of Second Presbyterian church, Oak Park.

"We have been hearing a good deal lately about 'affinities,' he said. "The papers are reporting cases of men who and only discover affinities in the wives of other men, and put their discoveries into practice. Of all the base bloodhounds of hell that have slipped their leashes these are the meanest. Compared with them, the common murderer would make a good Christian Endeavor Society president.

"For the wretch who in hunger steals, for him who in rage strikes a blow, for him who falls under the temptation to drink, let us have charity. But for the low loper who deserts his wife to whom he has sworn eternal love and seeks to cover up his nastiness with sentimentality, let us keep nothing but vitriolic tails of wrath.

HANGING OR LASHING URGED.

"I would hang every one of these chaps. They are the worst menace to decency and order, and should be dashed to the utmost limit of the law. It is to be hoped that our judges will realize their privileges.

"A great enemy of pure life is found in the increasing tendency to remain single and to live in clubs or boarding houses rather than in homes. Our stores and offices are being filled with thousands of bachelors and maidens. The inordinate expense of living, the vexations of the servant problem, keep persons from marrying. Yet there can be no happiness like that described as 'four feet on a fender.' Nor can morals be kept as pure.

WANTS UNIFORM DIVORCE LAWS

"The lowering of our moral sense is evident from the way in which we issue our divorces. We have the worst record of any nation upon earth. In Switzerland, divorces are issued at the rate of forty to 1000 marriages, in France, at the rate of twenty-one to every 1000; in Great Britain, at the rate of one to every 2000. In twenty years we have in the United States divorced 328,000 couples, an average of 16,000 couples yearly. In ten years Chicago has divorced 16,328 couples.

"We need an effort to limit the number of marriage licenses issued. Do we not begin our reformation at the wrong end of the line? Should one who is sure to transmit diseases, or one who is mentally deficient, or one who is sure to remain a pauper, or a habitual drunkard, be allowed to contract such a relationship as marriage implies? Christian people should regulate their practices, not by the latitudinous law of the land, but by the pure precepts of Christ."

Death of Mrs. Jas. D. Flynn

Sad Death of a Well Known Resident of the East Ward

The many friends, both in this city and county, of Mr. J. D. Flynn, recently proprietor of the American House, Hunter street, will extend sincere sympathy in his sad bereavement over the loss of his wife.

Mrs. Flynn passed away at five o'clock Saturday evening, after a short illness in St. Joseph's hospital. The late Mrs. Flynn's maiden name was Elizabeth Doherty, and she was a daughter of the late Mr John Doherty of Otonabee. The deceased who was 26 years of age last June leaves to mourn her loss her husband and one little daughter, Kathleen, as well as four brothers, Messrs. Timothy Patrick and John, of Otonabee, and William of this city; and two sisters, Mrs. Heffernan of Otonabee, and Miss Mary Doherty of this city.

The funeral will leave the family residence, 542 Concession street, at nine o'clock this morning, and proceed to St. Peter's Cathedral, thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery for interment.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

HOW CHILDREN ARE QUICKLY STRENGTHENED

Develop Them with Ferrozone, Which Makes Rich Blood, Hardy Muscle, Steady Nerves.

Children brought up on Ferrozone are known by their strong, rugged frames their chubby cheeks and healthful appearance.

Mothers find it an indispensable tonic and body builder, and in thousands of homes no other remedy is used.

EVERY CHILD IMPROVES ON FERROZONE

Mrs. E. Montgomery, of Pittsburgh writes: "A little niece came to visit me and noticing her pale and haggard looks, I started her on a course of Ferrozone. The change that girl underwent in a few weeks was marvellous. Her appetite chirped up, she had more spirit and strength, and a rosy color came into her cheeks that I never saw there before. I weighed my niece about the time she started to pick up, and in seven weeks she gained almost eight pounds, and just looked the picture of health. I think this should be an example to many mothers, and I hope that others will try Ferrozone for their little boys and girls. I am thoroughly convinced that it's the most strengthening tonic it has my strongest endorsement."

The reason Ferrozone works so beneficially with Ferrozone is that it acts directly on the blood, freeing it of all unhealthy matter, at the same time giving it an additional supply of iron.

This at once results in more strength new spirit and renewed vitality. Just one tablet at meal time works wonders.

Refuse to accept any article the druggist may say is just as good. Get Ferrozone, and the result we guarantee will be satisfactory. Price 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers.

COMMERCIAL EXPANSION

A large expansion of Canada's trade is indicated by the trade figures of the Dominion for September and for the first six months of the current fiscal year. The figures for September are especially gratifying in that they show a very large increase of exports over September of last year, the increase for the month, together with the August increase, counterbalancing by over three millions the decreases of the previous four months.

Last month every line of industry showed a large increase in exports, with the single exception of the fisheries, which showed a decrease of about half a million, as compared with September, 1906. The total trade for the six months was $332,661,155, an increase of $32,156,422 over the corresponding six months of last year. Imports, exclusive of coin and bullion, totalled $191,150,720, an increase of $31,699,608. Exports, exclusive of coin and bullion totalled $132,794,438, an increase o $3,212,938. Imports of coin and bullion totalled $3,320,282, and exports $5,395,715. The imports for September totalled $28,397,400, an increase of $1,176,794 over September of last year.

Exports for the month amounted to $27,322,977 ,an increase of $3,340,564. The total duty collected during the six months was $31,052,801, an increase of $5,655,2440. For the half year the exports of the mine have increased about two and one-quarter millions, exports of agriculture nearly seven millions, and manufactures nearly three millions. Exports of animals and their produce decreased over seven millions, fisheries $110,000, and forest nearly half a million.

EARL GREY'S GOOD ADVICE

As the world measures success every boy who plays fair may not reach the goal. If he does not he gains much in other ways and not least in his own estimation. It is not given to everyone to achieve success in public life, but often enough those who do the greatest good by influence and example are unknown. They have played fair and they have their reward—a reward outsiders cannot measure either in inward peace of in outward good. Obtain it is however, that no one who follows such a rule of conduct can fail to gain much himself and to be a centre of light to those around him.

A 50 Cent Bargain

Following Bigger's Example.

By JAMES REILLY.

Copyrighted, 1907, by Mary McKeon.

Temple slipped off his coat and threw it beside the camera case, with a "Watch it" to the white bulldog that sat gravely at the foot of the tree.

Bigger exhibited his teeth in a smile intended to be pleasant and stretched himself out beside the case on the soft mat of pine needles. The walk to the falls had not tired him, but he was well content to lie on the fragrant carpet and doze and dream of cats on fences that were always low enough to bring the feline prey within his reach and of a succession of canine battles in which he was always the victor. At heart Bigger was a child of peace. It was only in his dreams that his visions were tinged with blood.

Here and there through the woods a locust shrilled and the air was vibrant with the song of birds and the soft hum of insect life. Dick Temple had picked out a clump of pines in which to make his camp, and through the leafy aisles Bigger could command a view of the deeper woods beyond and the little river that wound its way through the forest, marking with a tint of more vivid green the undergrowth along its banks.

Down the wind came the faint roar of falling waters where the stream plunged forty feet over the black stones to dance in very joy at the foot of the falls before taking up its course to the river beyond.

Temple had long ago exhausted the photographic possibilities of the falls and departed in the direction of downstream, but the footfalls that roused Bigger from a dream of conquest came from the other way, and Bigger looked up just as the sunlight glinted upon the golden hair and the scarlet coat of a slender girl who under other circumstances would have excited Bigger's entire approval.

From the crown of the golden head to the tip of the dainty russet shoe she was a patrician, one of Bigger's very own sort. If there were bench shows for humans, surely she must be possessed of as many blue ribbons as there were in his own particular cabinet at home.

This being the case, it seemed strange to Bigger that she should share in common with the trampish characters a desire for his master's property, and he emitted a low growl of polite warning.

The girl came steadily forward until she was almost within reach of those powerful jaws; then she paused.

"You are a very bad dog," she scolded gently. "It is very dear of you to keep guard over those things, but don't you know they are not yours to guard!"

Bigger made vigorous dissent to this sentiment, but the girl went on.

"You see," she explained, "Reggy wants those extra plates before the light gets away. I am afraid you are not going to let me have them."

She moved easily toward the case, talking in the same steady voice, and her hand was already upon the holders when Bigger's teeth set firmly in her skirt.

Had it been a tramp Bigger would have sprung at his throat, but he knew that there was some mistake, and he sought only to hold the girl until his master should have come up to accept her explanations. The girl regarded him hopelessly.

"You're a bad, wicked dog," she scolded, "to make so much trouble. When Reg comes I shall have him whip you, and he will come. He is too anxious to wait long for me. Please let me go."

She made a movement to disengage herself, but Bigger growled again, and this time there was a deeper note that warned her that resistance would be met with greater force. She sank helplessly back upon the springy, odorous carpet of nature and settled herself more comfortably.

"I shall have to wait for Reggie," she said, "and he'll be really angry at you if you spoil his chance of getting that view. He's going back to town tomorrow, and he will not have another opportunity."

Bigger preserved a discreet silence. He was too gallant to argue a point with a woman. As long as she remained quiet he had nothing to say. For half an hour she sat there in silence broken only by the chatter of the squirrels and the hum of the summer noises; then there was a crashing sound in the underbrush, and Bigger pricked up his ears, while the girl roused herself to listen.

"Here I am, Reggie!" she called. "Under the pines by your camera! There's a horrid dog here, and he won't let me go."

A loud, clear whistle sounded, but Bigger only growled a protest against obedience and clung to his captive. A moment later Temple burst through the alders that fringed the stream. The girl's face turned crimson.

"If this is your dog," she said, with dignity, "will you kindly call him off? He has kept me a prisoner here for almost an hour, and my brother is waiting for these plates."

"Possibly the dog appreciates the fact that I should need them myself," he said, with a laugh and a sign to Bigger, who released his prisoner and stalked with dignity across to Temple. "You see," he went on, "they happen to be my plates."

He knelt on the ground to shift the used holders to a compartment of the case and change the new ones to a sling carrier across his shoulders. The girl stared at him in astonishment, and he, guessing her thoughts, looked up.

"Permit me to introduce myself," he said, holding up the case. She read the name "Richard Temple" on the silver plate and blushed in confusion.

"My brother, Mr. Storms, has the same sort of case," she explained. "He sent me for more plates, and I thought that these were his and that the dog had strayed."

"Storms?" he said musingly. "You must be Miss Mildred Storms, who is staying over at the Eggleston farm?"

The girl nodded, and Temple smiled. "I think I can solve the mystery," he said. "You took the wrong road from the falls. Had you turned to the left instead of the right you would have come to a very similar clump of pines, where, no doubt, your brother's case lies. You can't blame Bigger, can you?"

"He is a dear old faithful," she declared, with foregiveness. "And a perfect gentleman," she added. "He would not bite. He just held me until you came to explain the mistake. I should like to know him better."

"With your permission we will call," he suggested. "Your brother and I belong to the same camera club in town. I did not know that you were his sister. I can take you a short cut to the other clump of pines, and we'll take the plates to him."

Storms was kneeling over his case as they came up.

"I came and got the plates," he explained when their own explanation had been offered and proper introductions accomplished. "I knew you couldn't get very far away, and I did want that picture with the light on the wet rocks. Come over this evening, Temple, and I'll show you my negatives. I go back to town in the morning."

Temple took Bigger over to call that evening and many evenings thereafter. Mildred became his assistant in his photographic trips, but now Bigger only smiled amiably when she came after the plates. It was while they were eating lunch the last day of Temple's stay that she patted the dog's white head and looked up.

"Do you know," she said, "I think that dogs take after their masters."

"As you early gave Bigger a certificate of good character, I feel flattered," he said, with a laugh.

"But I do think so," she insisted.

"Sometimes their masters take after the dogs," he insisted. "Now, when I first saw you Bigger had fast hold of you."

"I don't see what you mean," she said, with a puzzled knitting of the brows.

"Like Bigger, I want to hold on to you," he said as he possessed himself of her hand, "only I want to keep you forever. May I, dear?"

The answer must have been "Yes," for an engagement ring in the form of a dog collar adorns the proper finger.

Congress an Ball on Japanese Question

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 18.—In the course of an address to the local Aerie of Eagles last night Congressman Theodore E. Bell, of California, the National head of the order, speaking of real conditions on the Pacific slope, said:

"We on the Pacific Coast, when we look upon the ingress of the Oriental, the Chinese and the Japanese think we discover a war cloud. We will require common decency, the decency that is required by the law. We will not tolerate men who prey upon weaker men, upon the weaker sex, to triumph over us. We have a race in the Great West that is full of American blood. We do not propose to settle down with any Asiatics, Chinese or Japanese. Here you live in peace with Europe. There, we look to the Pacific. We don't know how to interpret what is coming from over the Pacific. You don't know. Do not settle down easy, my brother Eagles, and say that we should not heed. The middle classes will evidently have to fight this battle as they have in the past."

Something New in Copper

PITTSBURG - IDAHO

Mining and Milling Company

The mine is located 58 miles above Lewiston, Idaho, on the Clearwater river, and consists of 19 full claims, or 380 acres. It is developed by tunnels, shafts and open cuts for more than 2100 feet, disclosing thousands of tons of copper, gold and silver ores of both high grade and low grade. There are between 1000 and 2000 tons of ore ready for shipment. The entrance to the working tunnel is only 2000 feet from the track of the Northern Pacific railroad, to be reached by gravity tramway. There are seven parallel veins running lengthwise of the claims, one cropping out on the surface for 2,00 feet and another for 3000 feet; while two veins cross these running into the mountain. These veins are from 30 to 200 feet wide. One ore chute has been crossecut 50 feet and is solid ore from wall to wall.

We are not asking you to buy in a prospect. That risk was taken by the promoters. We are asking you to buy in a developed, proven mine. Seven years of continuous work and the expenditure of thousands of dollars has proven up one of the greatest mines in Idaho. That mine is now ready to pour out its red and yellow wealth to the world with the installing of an up to date production plant. It is for that purpose that a block of its treasury stock, full paid and non-assessable, is offered for sale. We believe that within six months from the completion of a 100 ton plant the mine can be put on a dividend paying basis, and that those dividends will be substantial and permanent. There is no better investment proposition before the people at this time.

AIKENSIDE

BY MARY J. HOLMES

Author of "Dora Deane," "The English Orphans," "Lena Rivers," "The Rector of St. Mark's," "Tempest and Sunshine," Etc.

The doctor, to whom these remarks were sometimes made, silently gnashed his teeth, then said savagely that "if Guy chose to teach Maddy Clyde, he did not see whose business it was," and then rode over to Aikenside to see the teacher and pupil, half hoping that Guy would soon tire of his project and give it up. But Guy grew more and more pleased with his employment, until, at last, from giving Maddy two hours of his time, he came to give her four, esteeming them the pleasantest of the whole twenty-four. Guy was proud of Maddy's improvement, praising her often to the doctor, who also marveled at the rapid development of her mind and the progress she made, grasping a knotty point almost before it was explained, and retaining with wonderful tenacity what she learned.

It mattered nothing to Guy that neighbors gossiped; there were none familiar enough to tell him what was said, except the doctor or Mrs. Noah; and so he heard few of the remarks made so frequently. As in Honedale, so in Sommerville, Maddy was a favorite, and those who interested themselves most in the matter never said anything worse of her and Mr. Guy than that he might perhaps be educating his own wife, and insinuating that it would be a great "come up" for Grandfather Markham's child. But Maddy never dreamed of such a thing, and kept on her pleasant way, reciting every day to Guy and going every Wednesday to the red cottage, whither, after the first visit to Uncle Joseph, Guy never accompanied her. Jessie, on the contrary, went often to Honedale, where one at least always greeted her coming, stealing up closely to her, whispering softly: "Daisy is come again."

From the first Uncle Joseph had taken to Jessie, calling her Sarah for a while, and then changing the name to "Daisy"—"Daisy Mortimer, his little girl," he persisted in calling her, watching from his window for her coming, and crying whenever Maddy appeared without her. At first Agnes, from her city home, forbade Jessie's going so often to see a lunatic; but when Jessie described the poor, crazy man's delight at sight of her, telling how quiet and happy he seemed if he could but lay his hand on her head, or touch her hair, she withdrew her restrictions, and, as if moved to an unwonted burst of tenderness, wrote to her daughter: "Comfort that crazy man all you can; he needs it so much."

A few weeks after there came another letter from Agnes, but this time it was to Guy, and its contents darkened his handsome face with anger and vexation. Incidentally Agnes had heard the gossip, and written it to Guy, adding in conclusion: "Of course I know it is not true, for even if there were no Lucy Atherstone, you, of all men, would not stoop to Maddy Clyde. I do not presume to advise, but I will say this, that now she is growing a young lady, folks will keep on talking so long as you keep her there in the house; and it's hardly fair toward Lucy."

This was what knotted up Guy's forehead and made him, as Jessie said, "real cross for once." Somehow, he fancied, latterly, that the doctor did not like Maddy's being there, while even Mrs. Noah managed to keep her out of his way as soon as the lessons were ended. What did they mean? what were they afraid of, and why did they presume to interfere with him? He'd know, at all events; and summoning Mrs. Noah to his presence, he read that part of Agnes' letter pertaining to Maddy, and then asked what it meant.

"It means this, that folks are in a constant worry for fear you'll fall in love with Maddy."

"I fall in love with that child!" Guy repeated, laughing at the idea, and forgetting that he had long since accused the doctor of that very thing.

"Yes, you," returned Mrs. Noah, "and 'tain't strange they do. Maddy is not a child; she's nearer sixteen than fifteen, is almost a young lady; and if you'll excuse my boldness, I must say I ain't any too well pleased with the goin's-on myself; not that I don't like the girl, for I do, and I don't blame her an atom. She's as innocent as a new-born babe, and I hope she'll always stay so; but you, Mr Guy, you now tell me honest—do you think as much of Lucy Atherstone, as you used to, before you took up school-keepin'?"

Guy did not like to be interfered with, and naturally high-spirited, he at first flew into a passion, declaring that he would not have folks meddling with him, that he thought of Lucy Atherstone all the time, and he did not know what more he could do; that 'twas a pity if a man could not enjoy himself in his own way, provided that way were harmless; that he'd never spent so happy a winte, as the last; that—

Here Mrs Noah interrupted him with "That's it, the very it; you want nothing better than to have that girl sit close to you when she recites, as she does; and once when she was workin' out some of them pluses and minuses, and things, her slate rested on your knee; it did, I saw it with my own eyes; and then, let me ask, when Jessie is drummin' on the piano, why don't you bend over her, and turn the leaves, and count the time, as you do when Maddy plays; and how does it happen that lately Jessie is one too many when you hear Maddy's lessons. She has no suspicions, but I know she ain't sent off for nothin'; I know you'd rather be alone with Maddy Clyde than to have anybody present; isn't it so?"

Guy began to wince. There was much truth in what Mrs. Noah had said. He did devise various methods of getting rid of Jessie, when Maddy was in his library, but it had never looked to him in just the light it did when presented by Mrs. Noah, and he doggedly asked what Mrs Noah would have him do.

"First and foremost, then, I'd have you tell Maddy yourself that you are engaged to Lucy Atherstone; second, I'd have you write to Lucy all about it, and if you honestly can, tell her that you only care for Maddy as a friend; third, I'd have you send the girl—"

"Not away from Aikenaide! I never will!" and Guy sprang to his feet.

The mine had exploded, and for an instant the young man reeled, as he caught a glimpse of where he stood; still he would not believe it, or confess to himself how strong a place in his affections was held by the beautiful girl now no longer a child. It was almost a year since that April afternoon when he first met Maddy Clyde, and from a timid, bashful child, of fourteen and a half, she had grown to be rather tall and rather self-possessed maiden of fifteen and a half, almost sixteen, as Mrs. Noah said, "almost a woman"; and as it to verify the latter fact, she herself appeared at that very moment, asking permission to come in and find a book, which had been mislaid, and which she needed in hearing Jessie's lessons.

"Certainly, come in," Guy said, and folding his arms he leaned against the mantel, watching her as she hunted for the missing book.

There was no pretense about Maddy Clyde, nothing put on for effect, and yet in every movement she showed marks of great improvement, both in manner and style. Of one hundred people who might glance at her, ninety-nine would look a second time, asking who she was. Naturally graceful and utterly self-forgetful, she always appeared to good advantage, and never to better than now, when two pairs of eyes were watching her, as standing on tiptoe, or kneeling upon the floor to look under the secretary, she hunted for the book. Not the remotest suspicion had Maddy of what was occupying the thoughts of her companions, though, as she left the room and glanced brightly up at Guy, it struck her that his face was dark and moody, and a painful sensation flitted through her mind that in some way she had intruded.

A weak stomach, causing dyspepsia, a weak heart with palpitation or intermittent pulse, always means weak stomach nerves or weak heart nerves. Strengthen these inside or controlling nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative and see how quickly these ailments disappear. Dr. Shoop of Racine, Wis., will mail samples free. Write for them. A test will tell. Your health is certainly worth this simple trial. Sold by all dealers.

Sailors and Rheumatism.

Rheumatism is exceptionally common among sailors, owing to the cold and wet to which they are exposed.

Fan Painting.

Mme de Pompadour encouraged fan painting and also collected fine specimens of the work. Greuze, Watteau and other great artists did not disdain to lend their talents to the art. These pictures were done mostly on vellum or chicken skin.

Tattooed Tongues.

The McKinley Medal.

The three and one-half inch medallion badge of McKinley which delegates to the St. Louis convention of 1896 wore so complecuously had this name beneath the portrait of the nominee: MacKinley. The error was never discovered until after the election.

The Vulgate.

The Vulgate is the authorized Latin version of the Bible, made by Jerome between 383 and 405 A. D.

Fruits and Vegetables.

Not until Henry VIII.'s time were either raspberries or strawberries or cherries grown in England, and we do not read of the turnip, cauliflower and quince being cultivated before the sixteenth century or the carrot before the seventeenth century.

Antimonopoly.

The antimonopolistic sentiment in this country is not a modern idea. In 1777 Massachusetts passed an act entitled "To prevent monopoly and oppression."

Captain Kidd.

Captain Kidd was not hanged for piracy, although everybody knew he was a pirate, but for striking a mutinous seaman over the head with a bucket and accidentally killing him, thus making it possible to bring the charge of manslaughter.

Heart Strength

Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. Positively, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is all at fault. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve—simply needs, and must have more power, more stability, more controlling, more governing strength. Without that the Heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have these same controlling nerves.

This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has in the past done so much for weak and ailing Hearts. Dr. Shoop first sought the cause of all this painful, palpitating, suffocating heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this popular prescription—is alone directed to these weak and wasting nerve centers. It builds; it strengthens; it offers real, genuine heart help.

If you would have strong Hearts, strong digestion, strengthen these Nerves—re-establish them as needed, with

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even-numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at an Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

The homesteader is required to perform the homestead duties under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of a homesteader has permanent residence on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of a homestead, or upon a homestead entered for by him in the vicinity, such homesteader may perform his own residence duties by living with the father (or mother).

(4) The term "vicinity" in the two preceding paragraphs is defined as meaning not more than nine miles in a direct line exclusive of the width of road allowances crossed in the measurement.

(5) A homesteader intending to perform his residence duties in accordance with the above while living with parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

Six months' notice in writing must be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of intention to apply for patent.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

1908

THE UNDERSIGNED will receive tenders up to noon on Monday, 4th November, 1907, for supplies of Butchers' Meat, Creamery or Dairy Butter, Flour, Oatmeal, Potatoes, Cordwood, etc., etc., for the following institutions during the year 1908, viz.:—

At the Asylums for the Insane at Toronto, London, Kingston, Hamilton, Mimico, Brockville, Cobourg, Orillia and Penetanguishene; the Central Prison and Mercer Reformatory, Toronto, and the Hospital for Epileptics at Woodstock.

Exceptions—Tenders are not required for the supply of Meat to the Asylums in Toronto, London, Kingston, Hamilton, and Brockville, nor for the Central Prison or Mercer Reformatory, Toronto.

A marked cheque for five per cent of the estimated amount of the contract, payable to the order of the Provincial Secretary, must be furnished by each tenderer as a guarantee of his bona fides. Two sufficient sureties will be required for the due fulfillment of each contract, and should any tender be withdrawn before the contract is awarded, or should the tenderer fail to furnish security, the amount of the deposit will be forfeited.

Specifications and forms of tender may be had on application to the Department of the Provincial Secretary, Toronto, or to the Bursars of the respective institutions.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without written authority from the Department will not be paid for it.

Etiquette in China.

In this country etiquette is largely a matter of custom and tradition; in China the manners of every class are dictated by a special academy under the emperor.

Thirst.

Rinsing the mouth with very hot water stops the thirst. This is safer than drinking when the body is overheated.

Great Britain's Territory.

According to the authority of an English magazine, Great Britain controls 21 out of every 100 square miles of the earth's surface and 24 out of every 100 square miles of territory in North and South America.

Cabbage.

Cabbage is the most nourishing vegetable of all.

The Calmucks.

The Calmucks of the great Tartar family are, although civilized, extremely ugly. They have short, fat noses, small eyes, high cheek bones and a protruding chin.

Actors in Russia.

The manager of a theatrical touring company in Russia has to deposit with the government enough money to bring all his people home again. Actors are never stranded there.

Seaweed.

The longest plants in the world are seaweed. One tropical and subtropical variety is known which, when it reaches its full development, is at least 600 feet in length. Seaweeds do not receive any nourishment from the sediment at the bottom or borders of the sea, but only from air and mineral matters held in solution in the sea water.

This company owns a claim (80 acres) of some of the best proved mines land in the Goldfield district, consisting of the Accidental and Accidental No. 2 lode claims, situated two and one-half miles south of the great Goldfield Consolidated Mines (comprising the Mohawk, Goldfield, Combination, Red Top, Jumbo and Lucky Tom) the richest in the world; and the Broadway and Beauty placer claims situated three and one-half miles south of the consolidated and about one and one-half miles northwest of the Great Bond and Daisy Mines near the Zeon group in the Diamondfield section and only in richness to the great Mohawk portion of the camp. Phenomenally rich strikes have recently been made on the Consolidated, the Great Bond and the Daisy Mines.

The company has also succeeded in securing the Sure Thing lode claim (20 acres) in the Cuprite district, which has an immense gold bearing ledge, running the entire length of the claim 1,500 feet, outcropping in places over 50 feet wide, and met by several cross-dykes all carrying fine values in gold, and is without doubt rightly named "Sure Thing."

All of these claims are located in the same mineral belt as the other noted mines of Goldfield that have astonished the world by their production of millions in high grade ore, and will with the same development give equally profitable returns.

The money derived from the sale of this stock will be used at once for the active development of the property and the feet that all the directors are residents of Goldfield with years of successful mining experience who will give their personal attention at all times to the progress of the work goes to show that the first issue of 100,000 shares will meet with a quick and ready sale at the initial price of 10 cents per share.

We advise immediate action if you wish to participate in the vast profits of this Bonanza Mine.

Stock will be listed as soon as possible on the Goldfield and San Francisco Stock and Exchange Boards. We'd therefore advise purchasers to buy in board lots of 1,000 shares when convenient to do so.

Dr. Hamilton Speaks on Curing Pimples

Gives Common Sense Advice That Every Person can Employ at Home.

"I believe all skin diseases such as pimples and eruptions originate through the failure of the eliminating organs to pass certain poisonous wastes from the body.

"There is at all times a large accumulation of fuel matter in the system, which, if not destroyed, gets into the blood. Germs and disease producing matter are thus circulated through the body. Ultimately they force their way through the pores of the skin, produce pimples, swelling, red blotches and often eruptions horrible to look upon.

"I usually found the primary cause to be with the kidneys and bowels,—these organs are too slow. My Pills of Mandrake and Butternut contain very active vegetable extracts that act on these organs instantly. They give strength, tone and vigor to the eliminating organs that positively ensures a clean healthy body."

A course of Dr. Hamilton's Pills puts the system in perfect order, they cleanse the system inside as soap and water does outside, they remove all taints and poisons that block the avenues of health and life, make the skin smooth, restore roses to the cheeks and that brightness to the eye that denotes sound health Because Mild, Safe, Effective, anyone can use Dr. Hamilton's Pills with perfect results.

Six Sailors

By JANE LUDLUM LEE.

Copyrighted, 1907, by C. H. Sutcliffe.

"I hope you fellows know that I am hiring this launch by the hour, $10 for each hour, and as she has already been here for thirty minutes we have wasted $5. Come along."

"We're coming, Jack, coming. You are a regular old Shylock to ask a man up here as your guest on a little blow out and then throw the coat of it in his teeth. The rest of us have been ready for some time, but Leigh can't tear himself away from the ladies and you would make this a stag."

"Very well, then let Leigh stay with the girls, for I'm not going to have them aboard. They would all be seasick or giggling. Here comes Leigh now.

Just at that moment three big fellows appeared in the doorway of the house carrying another being who seemed to be all legs and arms, which were flying in all directions. At the top of their voices, and each man on a different key, they were shouting "How can I bear to leave thee?" Carrying their burden down to the landing, they deposited Leigh and all joined hands and started an Indian war dance around him while passers-by slowed up to see six strapping fellows, clad only in their bathing suits, doing a wild dance around their victim. Jack broke the spell by yelling.

"That parade won't wait, boys, for any one except Roosevelt, and he does not happen to be one of our party, so all aboard and some one slit on Leigh until we are well under way."

HE BREATHED A HEAVY SIGH, AND LEIGH COULD HEAR IT.

Leigh's tenor voice squawked "Good-by, ladies," but he was immediately jumped on by about 600 pounds of humanity, and be quieted down.

"Now, skipper, for Oyster Bay in the best time you can make it," said Jack.

The Aphrodite puffed and kicked for a moment, then started out, and soon Belleview was only a speck in the distance. It was a rainy, misty morning, but the boys did not mind. Jack and Alice had a dear old house at Belleview and had filled it over Sunday with their best friends. Jack had hired this launch to take the boys for a sail, and Alice had agreed to stay at home and give the girls a dove luncheon.

"Leigh," said Jack, "if you don't watch out the next dance you do will be to the tune of the wedding march. Better go easy."

"Jack, old man, your band on it. You, being a married man, must know the symptoms, and I don't mind saying that ever since last summer at the lake I've had an uneasy feeling in my heart, but up at your house I'm just making myself useful amusing the ladies."

Bryan Macgregor, the basso of the party, saw fit to interrupt the boys here and, taking his old meerschaum pipe out of his mouth, drawled:

"I say, fellows, you two better quit. It's too early in the morning to get twitting on facts, and it's a mean thing to do at any time of day. Jack, you give an imitation of a gentleman and don't talk back, and, Leigh, for love of Mike, shut up that howl. Granting that your bonny lies over the ocean, I do not blame her for staying there if she ever heard that voice of yours."

Finally the six men seated themselves in comfortable positions, and snatches of songs, bits of stories, much laughter and general good fellowship prevailed. Leigh again had the floor in the midst of a story about six sailors who were shipwrecked and had no food.

"No food!" he reiterated. "No food—just the same as we are, fellows—no food."

Jack took the hint, and soon baskets came forth heavily laden with delicious food that the girls had packed for them. They sat down and began to eat like the proverbial hungry sailors, and Leigh was commenting on women in the capacity of cooks when a queer gurgling sound was heard, then another. The Aphrodite was evidently in trouble.

"Maybe she's hungry, skipper. Give her some gasoline or a bit of oil."

The Aphrodite, as if in answer to the suggestion, began spitting oil over the floor of the boat.

"Evidently not hungry—in fact, full to overflowing," commented Leigh.

The Aphrodite suddenly stopped and all efforts on the part of the skipper and the six men were futile. They drifted and drifted until it became a serious problem. What was to be done and who was to do it? By this time the launch had drifted into a cove about a mile from land, and after much discussion Leigh volunteered to swim to the land and get help. The others, knowing he was a famous swimmer, agreed to the plan, and without much delay he was overboard and with long, steady strokes was covering the distance. When he finally reached the shore he rested awhile, and then started to walk towards a handsome residence at the top of the cliff.

Suddenly from the bushes near him came a clear soprano voice. Leigh stopped and listened and looked. Not far from where he stood there was a little rustic summer house, and leaning against the side of it was a young girl dressed all in white. He crept a little nearer to make quite sure that he was not dreaming, so near that, as the girl stopped singing, she breathed a heavy sigh, and Leigh could hear it. He longed for a sight of her face and wondered if it were half as sweet as the voice he had heard, and he made brave to creep a little nearer. The rustle of the bushes made her turn, and seeing him she cried:

"Leigh—Mr. Richards! Is it really you?"

"It is really Leigh Richards, Miss Appleton, and I apologize for startling you so, but I was climbing up the cliff and heard your voice, so stopped to listen. I am on an errand of mercy and perhaps you can help me out."

"An errand of mercy, in a bathing suit! Why, I do not quite understand. Where is the rest of your party?"

Leigh soon explained to her the plight of the boys, and finished by saying, "Your father dislikes me so that I expect if he knows who's in the party he'll never let one of his men to go to our help. Will he?"

"Father has gone over to see the naval parade in Judge Cowan's boat, and our men are on the grounds doing nothing. One of them can take our little launch out and tow yours in."

"That's asking almost too much, but if you could direct me to some other place."

"Don't say that to me after what you did last year. Do you think I have forgotten how you saved my life when I was drowning in that treacherous lake? Why did you go away without ever giving me a chance to thank you?"

"Miss Appleton — Edith — I didn't know you wanted to have me stay, say, anyway, your father had no use for me. He was right enough, too, at the time, but I'm a steady old ship now, dearest, if you will only undertake to guide me."

"I didn't know—I thought you didn't care," she murmured.

"Didn't care—why, darling, that day that I held your listless form in my arms was the happiest moment in my whole life. I looked at your white face and knew just how much you were to me. I couldn't tell you so then, dear, so I went away until I could. Will you have me now, Edith?"

"Leigh, dear, I've been waiting for you a whole long year, twelve whole months, and each month seemed a year. I, too, have been yours ever since that day you held me in your arms. How much longer must we wait?"

"Just long enough for me to get rid of the boys and find some clothes."

"Let's go to the boys together, Leigh, and tell them, for, you see, if the old launch had not broken down, I would have been waiting yet."

The Usual Thing.

"Here, now! What in gigadab is all this rumpus about?" demanded Average Citizen, thrusting his head out of a second story window of his domicile and glaring indignantly down at the disturber below. "Who are you, and why in the name of the bird with the broad and sweeping wing are you trying to break into my house?"

"I am Opportunity, knocking at your door," was the reply. "Kindly descend at once and admit me before it is everlastingly too late. I am in great haste, as, despite my best efforts, I am running far behind my schedule."

"Well, then, glide along, rolling your hoop and disposing of your War Cries," somewhat sarcastically answered Average Citizen. "You will have to get yourself identified before you can do any business with me. I have been led to believe that you must bear a marked resemblance to a page advertisement in a Sunday newspaper and make a noise like an investment which is guaranteed to pay a dividend of 40 per cent in the near future. Possibly you are all that you claim to be, but you look more like hard work to me."—Puck.

Fat Woman's Human Lever.

She was unusually fat, so stout in fact that when she prepared to drop into the better part of two seats in the crosstown car the two women who were on either side of the space she was going to fill to repletion crowded away from her as far as they could. And when a woman will make room for another in a street car it is plain there is something the matter. She puffed and panted for several minutes after she had become seated, and when the car had gone a few blocks it was apparent that she wanted to get up and leave. The struggle was a hard one and, as it proved, an impossible one through her own efforts. There chanced to be a man standing in front of her, and without a word she reached up, caught his arm and deliberately pulled herself out of the seat. The man looked at her with an expression of pain on his face and, apparently unconscious of the amusement on the faces of the other passengers, stood rubbing his arm and staring after the fat woman as long as she was in sight. —New York Press.

DOCTORS MISTAKES

Are said often to be buried six feet under ground. But many times women call on their family physician, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another from nervous prostration, another with pain here and there, and in this way they present white to themselves and their easy-going or over-busy doctor, separate diseases, for which he, assuming them to be such, prescribes his pills and potions. In reality, they are all only symptoms caused by some uterine disease. The physician, ignorant of the cause of suffering, keeps up his treatment until large bills are made. Disappointed, the patient gets no better. Because of the wrong treatment, but probably worse. A proper medicine, like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cure of womb weakness, removes the disease, thereby dispelling all those distressing symptoms, and instituting comfort instead of prolonged misery. It has been well said, that "a disease known is half cured."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system. It is made of native American medicinal roots and is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the female system.

As a powerful invigorating tonic "Favorite Prescription" imparts strength to the whole system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. For over-worked, "worn-out," run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," house-keepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the uterus. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate the stomach, liver and bowels. One to three a dose. Easy to take as candy.

FORMAL OPENIOG OF NEW HALL OF CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Finest Musical Treat in This City for Years Given to a Large and Appreciative Audience Last Night.

Last night a large and appreciative audience to the number of about 500 gathered in the fine new hall of the Peterborough Conservatory of Music, on the occasion of the formal opening of said latest addition to Peterborough's recognized places of high class musical art.

Prof. Gliddon who has been largely instrumental in prospering and enlarging the scope of this most commendable home of musical art is deserving of the greatest praise for the splendid work he has accomplished. The hall last night was filled from the entrance door which leads from Hunter street to the modern stage at the rear. At the back of the stage a huge persian carpet was hung across the rear of the hall. The stage was prettily decorated by palms, screens and pictures. The hall is perfect as to acoustics, which is really a wonder in modern architecture. Every note or semi-tone, whether of piano or cello was heard accurately in the furthest seat from the stage.

The first number was a cello solo, largo, by Miss Winslow, the plaintiff and heart stirring strains of which demanded but, owing to circumstances, denied, encore.

Miss Jessie Alexander in her scenes from Henry V., has clearly lost her vocation by not going on the dramatic stage. Her French of Henry's would-be fiance of France was perfect, not only as to accent but as to the Latin nation's gesticulations. Her macaronic French, or rather English-French of Henry was inimably given.

Mr Henry J. Lautz, who acted most efficiently as accompanist through the evening next gave a vocal solo in splendid and heart touching voice. Mr. Lautz was encored in a way that would not be denied.

The next on the program was a contralto solo rendered by Miss Bessie Bonsall, accompanied by Miss Winslow on the cello. Miss Bonsall's singing, was really worth a day's journey to hear. Her notes ran from those of the deepest contralto to almost mezzo-soprano and showed high culture. She was enthusiastically and demonstratively encored to which she responded.

Miss Jessie Alexander's "Scoten sermon," demanded an encore to which she responded with one of Dr. Drummond's French-Canadian verse told tales.

Later on in the program Miss Bonsall and Miss Alexander appeared again and received an undeniable ovation.

Prof Gliddon has demonstrated, by last night's entertainment alone, irrespective of the splendid work done in the Conservatory, that Peterborough is rapidly becoming a recognized musical center.

Aid. Johnston's Report on Labor Condition in this District

Aid W. J. Johnston has once more put in his report for the month on local labor conditions, and as usual Mr. Johnston has given a very explicit and full as well as correct report of the matters affecting labor through out the city.

In this report, Mr. Johnston notes that;

Labor during September, was well employed, especially towards the latter part of the month. Outside work was being rapidly completed, before cold weather sets in. Some work has been laid over until next spring, on account of the lateness of the season. A $12,000 surgical ward was being added to St. Joseph's hospital. A large bakery was under way and the staff of bakers will be increased. A large force of men was employed repairing the Auburn dam. The Sandstone and Lime Brick Company was very busy. A contract for the large power house and dam at at Campbellford, Ont., to cost about $80,000 was secured by a Peterborough firm. Wholesale and retail trade was good. A contract for section five, of the canal, at Campbellford has been started. The amount of the contract was $600,000 for a three-mile section, and with two years in which to complete it. The nine oldest street railway employes have received an increase of one cent per hour.

The gas company has sold 250 new stoves. Postal delivery started in Peterborough on September 28. The farmers were very busy. The Peterborough cheese board sold 4,612 boxes at 12 3-16 cents per pound.

Lumbering operations have begun in the camps and large numbers of men were employed. The Quaker Oats Co. was very busy. The G. W. Green foundry works have been very busy, as have also the J. J. Turner Co. The Grand Trunk Railway Company, has completed a siding 2,400 feet in length, between Peterborough and Omemee, to facilitate work on the heavy grades at that place.

Building — Bricklayers, masons, rathers, plasters, gas and steamfitters and builders' laborers were active.

Metal—Activity prevailed.

Woodworking and furnishing. — Carbuilders and pattern makers were active; the other branches were busy.

Printing — The different crafts were well employed.

Clothing — Tailors and garment workers were active.

Food and tobacco preparation. — Cigar makers were active; butchers, confectioners, et.c, were busy.

Catholics Fast Thanksgiving

Combination of Thanksgiving and All Saints' Day Prevents Catholics from Having Turkey

Ordinarily Thanksgiving Day is a feast day for Roman Catholics, but this year it will be a fast. The reason is that Thanksgiving Day falls on the eve of All Saints, one of the biggest feasts in the ecclesiastic year, and as a result "before a feast always a fast."

Friday, however, being All Saints, Catholics have the privilege of eating meat, and the Thanksgiving turkey will be consumed on that day. This has been granted by a special dispensation from the Holy See.

In all the Catholic churches Sunday the regulations were explained by the pastors, so the faithful have no excuse for not fasting on Thanksgiving Day.

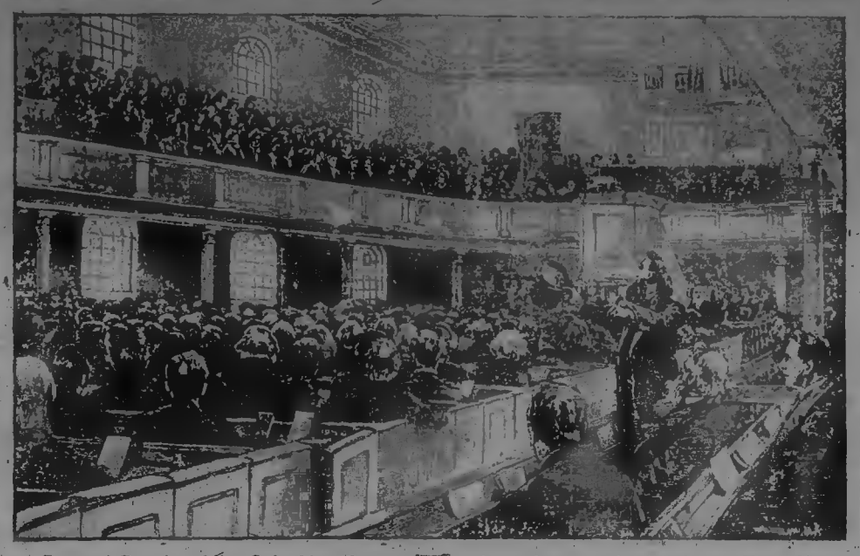
Bank Speculators Blamed for Panic

New York, Oct. 28.—F. Augustus Heinze, Charles W. Morse and A. H. Thomas, who have been compelled to resign high positions in New York banks since the tremendous slump in Wall street stocks, have long been noted speculators. The first to be [illegible] of the Mercantile National Bank, he was called to the presidency [illegible] He was hard hit in the slump. Next was Chas. W. Morse, who got out of the National Bank of America for the same reason, and who also [illegible] director E. R. Thomas, who had [illegible] several banks, was the third victim to fall victim to the slump and retire from the banking business. He was pressed out of the presidency [illegible] ago of the Hamilton Bank, has suspended.



General Booth, of the Salvation Army, addressing a large gathering in an East Side London Church.

Veteran Salvationist and Son Being Brought Together.

Pittsburg, Oct. 27.—Gen. William Booth, commander-in-chief of the Salvation Army, is at the Hotel Henry in this city, greatly fatigued, following a journey from Columbus, Ohio, today.

While it is stated the general's condition is not grave, it is admitted he is very tired.

No person, not even any member of his party, has been called to see him since his arrival here.

The party left Columbus, Ohio, shortly before noon today, and reached this city a few minutes after six o'clock tonight. It was necessary almost to carry Gen. Booth into the hotel. Immediately a report spread like wildfire about the city that the Salvation Army commander was dying, and many persons called at the Hotel Henry making enquiries. According to the members of the party, however, the general is merely wearied.

Did Gen. William Booth, founder and commander-in-chief of the Salvation Army, brave the hardships of an ocean voyage at 78 to effect a reconciliation with his estranged son, Gen. Ballington Booth?

This has been a subject of much speculation. For more than four years, the aged father and his dashing, highly "Americanized" son did not meet or exchange communications. It was one of the most natural things imaginable to assume that the picturesque and venerable leader of the Salvation Army's hosts would not again return to England without "making up" with the energetic and resourceful son who seceded from the Army and founded the Volunteers of America rather than abandon his work in this country at the command of his father—the leader under whom he had worked for more than a decade in the parent organization.

An added touch of pathos was lent to the drama of estrangement in the Booth family by the announcement that the son took the first step forward a reconciliation by sending a telegram conveying expressions of sympathy and sorrow to his father on a bed of sickness in Chicago.

While the son made it clear that he wished to make a tender of filial devotion and reverence to his illustrious father he at the same time made no advance toward any undoing of the organization work with which he had been identified for the Volunteers of America, the so-called rival to the Salvation Army.

Moreover, in an interview following the sending of the message, the son reiterated his oft-repeated statement that amalgamation of the Army and the Volunteers was "fundamentally impossible."

Gen. Booth's plan is to leave New York for Europe early in November. The son is at present in New York.

"If he wants to meet his father he will not be turned away, and doubtless will be forgiven for his disobedience," said a local leader of Salvationists, "but we are leaving it to Gen. Evangeline Booth and other members of the family to bring father and son together before it is too late, and there is every chance that the reconciliation will be effected."

Electrical Energy to be Delivered to London

London, Oct 28.—It is semi-officially stated that the estimate of the power commission for a distribution plant in the City of London is $100,000.

This represents the whole of the debenture issue necessary on the part of the city.

The estimate does not contemplate the laying of wires underground in the business section. This will be highly desirable, however, but the statement is made that the cost of underground construction will be found not greatly in excess of that of overhead construction.

What the engineers have in mind in submitting an estimate of $100,000 is that the city should have an entirely new distribution system. No stations whatever are required. A plant such as that of the power house of the London Electric Company will not be necessary. The estimate covers practically poles, wires and street lamps.

Old Resident Going Away

Mr. Dundas, generally known about town as "Gusty," yesterday, noted that he expects to leave Wednesday for North-west, where he will reside in the future, his wife and family now living there. "Gusty" is one of the old stagers in this part of the county and is at present in failing health. His medical advisers think the change of climate will improve him physically.

Mr. M. Pappas Wins His Appeal Yesterday

Yesterday the long time appeal case of Mr. M. Pappas, the George street tobacconist, against judgment rendered against him in the police court, whereby Pappas was fined $25 on an alleged charge of selling tobacco to a minor, was tried before his honor, Judge Weller.

This case created much interest throughout the city. Some people thought that Magistrate Dumble seemed to be down on "the Greeks." This contention however is absurd as proved by yesterday's trial and Mr. Pappas's subsequent remarks.

At yesterday's trial Mr. O'Connell appeared for Mr. Pappas. Many witnesses were called, both of prosecution and the defence. Among other witnesses for the prosecution was Chief Roszel and others, whilst, for the defence, Mr. Pappas, Mr. James Dolan, and some eight or ten of Mr. Pappas' employes. The whole consensus of evidence clearly showed that no proof existed that Mr. Pappas sold the tobacco. It seems that the prosecution depended upon showing that a young man, whose legs, as in the original evidence, were not straight.

However, after all the evidence was taken his honor quickly discharged the case. About the whole sensational evidence for the prosecution was that of a boy under arrest and afterwards sent to jail for two months.

After the trial was over, Mr. Pappas, said to a Times representative. "The magistrate thought he was right, but he didn't know all the facts when the case was brought in the police court, before I could get all my witnesses there. The magistrate thought he was right, but he was mistaken at the time."

Pastor Appointed for St. Paul's Church

Rev. Robt. Pogue, a Talented and Eloquent Philadelphia Divine, Definitely Chosen

Last night a congregational meeting was held in St. Paul's church for the purpose of calling a pastor for that church. Mr. Pogue comes very highly recommended having been for some years assistant pastor in one of the largest Presbyterian Philadelphia churches.

The Rev. Robt. Pogue, of Philadelphia, Pa., was almost unanimously the choice of those present, only eight of the congregation present. This meeting had to deal with the important matter of appointing a permanent pastor for that church.

His sermons here, three weeks ago, were very impressive and showed that he stood high as a pulpit orator.

Bill Crowley is to Play Pro?

The Toronto Star of last night's issue contains the following in reference to Bill Crowley, the clever overpoint of the local senior hockey seven:

CROWLEY TO PLAY PRO.

Bill Crowley, the Peterborough rugbyist and hockeyist, will go to Edmonton next month to play hockey for Fred Whitcroft's professional team.

MOST VALUABLE HISTORIC FIND MADE IN MANY YEARS

Solid Hardened Copper Spear Head, in Perfect Condition Ploughed Up Near Indian River

Mr. Chas. S. McClland, the Water street jeweller, yesterday came into possession of a positively unique specimen of the art of pre-historic ages and one that will greatly interest archeologists or what ever kind of 'ologists that delight in and understand antiquities and the handwork of races dead, gone and forgotten perhaps centuries ago.

Mr. McClelland's find is an absolutely perfect hardened copper spear head of evident antiquity. The article in question was plowed up by a farmer living near Indian River a few days ago during the course of his ordinary agricultural operations and brought to Mr. McClelland by a lady friend of the discoverer who, naturally had no idea as to its historic interest or value.

The spear head in question represents more than the finding of an every day unearthed old curiosity as will be seen in the description appended.

Mr. McClelland's treasure is a spear head made of one solid piece of copper, in one piece, both blade and handle. A close inspection shews that the by-gone maker of this implement of warfare or of the chase, knew how to melt copper and also how to mould his molten metal. There is no doubt, judging by the appearance of this implement, but what the white hot copper was poured into a mould of rough sand. There are many indentations and holes showing the crude method of moulding then in force. The blade proper of this spear head is 7 1-4 inches from beginning of the shaft receptacle to point of the weapon.

Mrs. W. Blackwell Stricken with Typhoid Fever at Ealing, Eng.

We regret to say that Mrs. William Blackwell is seriously ill at Ealing, England, with typhoid, so bad that two nurses are in constant attention.

It will be remembered that some three weeks ago we noted that Mrs. Blackwell was to sail, after about a year's absence in Southern Europe and Great Britain, for Canada and her home in this city. Her sailing ticket had been taken, at the time of our article and Mr. W. Blackwell, the Water street architect, was confidently looking towards a reunion in the near future. Word was received a few days ago, however, that Mrs. Blackwell, a day or two before her ship left, was seized with a severe attack of typhoid fever and was confined to bed in the home of relations at Ealing, Eng.

Yesterday Mr. Blackwell, who is naturally very anxious, called to England for full particulars as to his wife's present condition, but when last seen, yesterday evening, had not then received a reply. Mrs. and Mr. Blackwell's many friends will hope for the best and trust that good news will shortly arrive.

Bill Crowley Assaulted In Saturday's Game

The Toronto News of Monday, contains the following letter in reference to Saturday's game with the Victorias.

ASSAULTED BILL CROWLEY.

Sporting Editor The News:

Sir,—Knowing your evident desire to be fair-minded and a friend of clean manly sport, I take the liberty of drawing your attention to the ungentlemanly conduct of a Victoria player in Saturday's game between the Victorias and Peterborough, at Jas. Ketchum Park. The game was in most rugby contests, was rough at times, and the players responsible were penalized, and I noticed that the player in question was one of those most frequently sent to the fence. Whether he deserved all he got, I as a spectator, did and could not correctly see, but it matters little. Crowley, on whom the assault was committed, is at times a rough player, but as long as I have known him (about twelve years), I have never known him to commit an unprovoked assault on anyone. It is low, mean, to waylay a man, and hit a blow from behind. That was what happened to him, and all who saw it were of the opinion that it was uncalled for and most cowardly.

We object to this kind of assault being visited by the right authorities, the police. Ottawa and Montreal, and one time in Toronto, did when there are police officials on the grounds to protect one and all, and they stand aside and look on, and allow things of this kind to go on, it makes one's nerves shake, and causes one to wonder what kind of [illegible] When asked if the [illegible] was the kind of thing allowable, the policeman referred to answered: "They're having it their own way."

I trust you will find space in your valuable paper for this, and thanking you for same in advance, I am,

"A Lover of Manly Sport."

Every man deeply respects the individual who is guided and governed by cool judgment and common sense. If one finds his habits of food or drink are producing some hints of disease he should heed nature's warnings and properly adjust his diet to keep the beautiful human machinery in order.

One does not always know where to commence to correct a diet, but one thing to stop is coffee, a most alluring and insidious enemy that "sings one to sleep and knifes him."

The slow, but sure effect of caffine—the active drug in coffee—on the heart, finally produces weak pulse and a deranged nervous system which grow slowly but steadily more pronounced and end in some fixed organic disease unless the cause is removed.

Postum is scientifically made of selected parts of the field grains that yield the natural phosphates which rebuild and give vital energy to body and brain. "There's a Reason."

YOU NEED STRENGTH

Vitality is Lacking and You Must Have a Bracing Tonic at Once.

You're sick and need medicine.

Not an emulsion to sicken the stomach, not a "dope" cure, nor bitters—but a nourishing tonic that will increase weight, strength and spirits.

Try Ferrozone and watch the result.

Because it gives instant effect and steadily builds up new flesh, it is used by thousands in ill-health.

No other medicine contains more nutriment, supplies better building material, makes you feel well and strong as quickly as it did Mrs. Charles Beuny, of Cloyne, Ont.

HER STATEMENT.

"I was sick.

"I was broken down, had no strength, couldn't eat. I was sleepless.

"My nerves were irritable. I was thin-blooded and continually unhappy."

"I tried Ferrozone

"It gave me new energy, force, vim. It brought me comfort, strength—it made me well."

It's by making the appetite good, by instilling iron and ozone in the blood by fortifying the system with reserve strength, that Ferrozone accomplishes so much.

You'll have new life in a week. In a month you'll be like a new being. Try Ferrozone, it always justifies itself 50c per box or six for $2.50 at all dealers.

KINDLY CRITICISM.

Imagine Yourself in Another's Place Before Passing Judgment.

None of us would deliberately injure another, but I am afraid that we all do from time to time by talking when it would be better to keep still. If we cannot say something nice about a friend we should be silent, but instead we go heedlessly on expressing opinions or telling facts that prejudice others, and thus we have done harm when none was intended.

We all need a little more charity in our compositions, I think. With that the temptation to say critical or unkind things would be greatly lessened, and we would make excuses where now we do not even think of them.

To make ourselves learn to do this is one of the important things in life, and a help toward accomplishing it is not only honestly to put ourselves in the other person's place when we are critically inclined, but also frankly to admit that we know nothing of the factors that governed the act.

This last, I think, is even more important than the first. With the best will in the world it is practically impossible to put ourselves in another's place unless one happens to be such a close friend that all the circumstances are known. Only then can we form an opinion that is worth the time of telling. But the fact that we know only the thing that was done and none of the causes therefor does not prevent us from laying down the law, and in our ignorance lies the capacity to do harm. If we could know what influenced the person to act as she did, we might see that under the circumstances we might not even have done so well, and, far from blaming, we would praise.

That is why I think a realization of ignorance will do much to bring toleration and suspend criticism.

It ought to be as easy to say nice things as unkind ones, but with many persons this does not seem to be the case. Yet it is true that the most critical are the most ignorant, for those who know anything of life, its complications, difficulties and trials, are the most lenient and forgiving. A woman who has lived a secluded existence out of the stress of life is far more apt to be quite sure that she knows all about it and what should be done at all times than one who has lived in the thick of it and garnered knowledge. It is a woman who learns as she grows who becomes kindly, and criticism is not as often heard from her as justification.

She it is who is helpful to others and not antagonistic in superiority. If we cannot say kind things about another or cannot justify an act, at least we may keep silent about it. Even more, we may try to apply a kindly motive and not a disagreeable one. In that way certainly we shall not be harming another, and we may be doing good.—Edith Caruth.

Graham Bread.

Set a sponge overnight as for white bread and in the morning work into it three scant tablespoonfuls of molasses and enough graham flour to make a soft dough. Knead thoroughly and after forming into loaves knead each loaf for five minutes. Put into well greased tins, set to rise until very light and bake in a moderate oven.

Save candle ends, for, melted and with an equal quantity of turpentine, they make an excellent polish for floors, oilcloth, etc. This polish costs almost nothing and is often considered superior to beeswax and turpentine.

Woman's World

MISS CAROLYN WELLS.

The Famous Woman Humorist and Author of Fluffy Ruffles.

Seriousness has ever been man's chief accusation against woman. It is in his estimation the gravest charge he can make against her. Insanity, silliness, he may love to distraction, bad temper he can forgive, lapse of virtue condone, but from the seriousness of woman good Lord deliver him. Her characteristic lack of humor, her unwillingness to view life and love in their funny aspects, her obstinate refusal to see that love has a funny aspect, her constitutional inability to let things slide—these, he argues, are the fundamental weaknesses of her sex and are responsible not only for most of her own unhappiness, but unfortunately they make him decidedly miserable into the bargain.

Except at one psychological moment of his courtship of her a woman's seriousness in her relations with man is practically held at a discount. Hail, then, to the rare female creature in whom the sex blemish is conspicuously absent! Hail to the precursor of beyond-woman whom the generation of George Bernard Shaw are privileged to witness in the person of one Miss Carolyn Wells. This writer of light verse, novels and plays is young, attractive and vivacious, interested in a great many things besides authorship and wholesomely fond of society. She lives with her people in Rahway, N. J., which is near enough to New York to enable her to keep in touch with her editors and her personal friends there. She works easily, and she gathers ideas for her jingles and her stories from the most unexpected quarters; consequently she is extremely prolific. The latest creature of her imagination is the famous Miss Fluffy Ruffles, who has become a type along with the Gibson and Christie girls.

Gifts For a Boy's Room.

Every girl who has brothers, cousins or friends in college or school is anxious to know what would be useful and proper for the furnishing of the schoolroom. Girls are becoming somewhat diffident about offering gifts of this nature to their masculine relatives, because so many times the most carefully planned and executed piece of needlework has proved useless and out of place in the boy's room. Fragile and very dainty things, fussy things, objects for the toilet table which are not really necessary, trifles for the desk that are more ornamental than useful, are all apt to be out of place in the boy's room. The most acceptable things are the really useful things, which are solid and substantial as well as attractive in appearance. As regards aesthetics merely, most boys like pictures of certain sorts, but rather dread ornaments, which are sure to be broken in some of the scrambles.

Among sofa pillows the linen ones in the college or school colors, with big monograms in leather stitched on one side, are very popular with boys. Pillows made of soft leather are also very good, and those made of small Navajo blankets are received with the greatest joy. Of course it isn't easy making a Navajo blanket pillow or one of leather either, but for a beloved brother or cousin one will do much. It is a good plan not to attempt to stitch the two sides of the cushion in either case, but to lace them together with leather thongs.

A set of laundry bags may also be made for a boy relative. There should be a large bag for general use and a small one for collars and cuffs, as these frequently go to different laundries. These bags are made of linen, with monograms in white braid or embroidery. Blue linen or brown bags are the best, as they wash very well.

A housewife or comfort bag, such as soldiers carry, is always liked by the college boy. This may be in several shapes, but the best is a long strip of cloth or leather fitted with pockets and with cords at one end, so that it may be rolled up and tied. The pockets contain buttons, black and white cotton, needles, scissors, tape and other useful things for bachelor mending.

As for pictures, of course that is a matter of individual taste with most boys. There are a few pictures, however, which almost all boys like, among which Remington's Indian and cowboy pictures probably take first rank.

Directions For Canning.

Before putting fruit in glass jars wash them in soapsuds containing a little soda. Then rinse well with scalding water and set in the sun to dry.

If you want the flavor of the fruit to come out well, do not use an excess of sugar.

Never use poor fruit in canning. The best is none too good. Let it be as fresh as possible and not overripe.

Handle it as little as possible.

Have everything in readiness before you begin operations. The woman who has to run to pantry or kitchen every time a thing is wanted makes herself double the work that's necessary.

Use the best grade of sugar. It may cost a little more than the ordinary, but it will make your fruit enough better to pay the difference in cost.

Do not stir your fruit when it is cooking. If you want to know how it is coming along, take out a piece of it without disturbing the rest.

Give it a brisk boiling. If allowed to stand and simmer, it will not retain its shape well.

When the cans are ready for sealing, see that the covers fit perfectly. Never use one that does not hug down tightly to the shoulder of the jar.

To Mend Cloth.

A rent in cloth may be mended so that even the closest observation can hardly detect it if court plaster is used instead of thread. The goods should be laid upon a smooth, flat surface, and then a pin should be firmly stuck in perpendicularly so as to bring the edges together, but not to interfere with the rent, say three-quarters of an inch away from each side. Court plaster which has been well moistened and allowed to stand a second or two so as to be sticky rather than wet should be applied. It should be rubbed and pressed, pressed and rubbed, until every particle of the surface has adhered. The spot should then be pressed with a moderately hot iron, a piece of muslin between. Finally the rent should be examined for any frayed threads, which should be clipped carefully away if discovered.

Caring For Invalids.

Allow them to suggest the arrangement of their rooms if they wish.

Leave the windows free that there may be plenty of room to see the outside world.

Always strive to take a cheerful and comforting atmosphere to the sickroom.

Prepare the invalid's tray as daintily and temptingly as possible.

Be cheerful and pleasant, but not loud. Do not crowd the room with visitors or allow too long calls to be made.

Be careful not to criticise, argue or antagonize an invalid in any way. It will make a weak person nervous.

Be careful not to jar the bed or chair or sit so as to keep fresh air from the patient.

To Look Tall.

A woman must learn to hold up her head.

To dress her neck higher.

To wear her hair as high as possible.

To wear her gowns broader on the shoulders.

To take skipping and jumping exercises.

To acquire limberness. The lithe woman is taller in appearance than the little stiff woman who walks as if she were in a vise.

When Sending Flowers.

When sending flowers a distance, if the ends are first dipped in candle grease they will keep perfectly fresh for a week. Each stem of the large flowers, such as roses, carnations and chrysanthemums, should be taken separately, but violets and pansies may be bunched and dipped. When the flowers arrive at their destination the ends should be clipped before they are placed in tepid water.

Lamp Suggestions.

Many clever women find most beautiful lamps for their drawing room or dining room by buying a vase of quaint design with a suitable receptacle for oil and having a burner fitted to the top at some lamp establishment.

In this way one can easily find pottery to harmonize with the furnishings of the room and have a wider range of choice than by making a selection at the lamp shop.

Something New in Copper

PITTSBURG - IDAHO
Mining and Milling Company

The mine is located 58 miles above Lewiston, Idaho, on the Clearwater river, and consists of 19 full claims, or 380 acres. It is developed by tunnels, shafts and open cuts for more than 2100 feet, disclosing thousands of tons of copper, gold and silver ores of both high grade and low grade. There are between 1000 and 2000 tons of ore ready for shipment. The entrance to the working tunnel is only 2000 feet from the track of the Northern Pacific railroad, to be reached by gravity tramway. There are seven parallel veins running lengthwise of the claims, one cropping out on the surface for 2700 feet and another for 3000 feet; while two veins cross these running into the mountain. These veins are from 30 to 200 feet wide. One ore chute has been crosscut 60 feet and is solid ore from wall to wall.

We are not asking you to buy in a prospect. That risk was taken by the promoters. We are asking you to buy in a developed, proven mine. Seven years of continuous work and the expenditure of thousands of dollars has proven up one of the greatest mines in Idaho. That mine is now ready to pour out its red and yellow wealth to the world with the installing of an up to date production plant. It is for that purpose that a block of its treasury stock, full paid and non-assessable, is offered for sale. We believe that within six months from the completion of a 100 ton plant the mine can be put on a dividend paying basis, and that those dividends will be substantial and permanent. There is no better investment proposition before the people at this time.

CAPITALIZATION $1,000,000. - PAR VALUE $1.

AIKENSIDE

BY MARY J. HOLMES

Author of "Dora Deane," "The English Orphans," "Lena Rivers," "The Rector of St. Mark's," "Tempest and Sunshine," Etc.

"Well," was Mrs. Noah's first comment, as the door closed on Maddy, but as Guy made no response to that, she continued: "She is pretty. That you won't deny."

"Yes, more than pretty. She'll make a most beautiful woman."

Guy seemed to talk more to himself than to Mrs. Noah, while his foot kicked the fender, and he mentally compared Lucy and Maddy with each other, and tried to think that it was not the result of that comparison, but rather Mrs. Noah's next remark, which affected him unpleasantly. The remark or remarks were as follows:

"Of course she'll make a splendid woman. Everybody notices her now for her beauty, and that's why you've no business to keep her here where you see her every day. It's a wrong to her, lettin' yourself alone."

Guy looked up, and Mrs. Noah continued:

"I've been a girl myself, and I know that Maddy can't be treated as you treat her without its having an effect. I've no idea that it's entered her head yet, but it will bimeby, and then good-by to her happiness."

"For pity's sake, what do you mean? Do not talk to me in riddles. What have I done to Maddy, or what am I going to do?"

Guy spoke savagely, and his boots were in great danger of being burned as he kicked vigorously against the fender. Coming nearer to him, and lowering her voice, Mrs. Noah replied:

"You are going to teach her to love you, Guy Remington, just as sure as my name is Noah."

"And is that anything so very bad, I'd like to know? Most girls do not find love distasteful," and Guy walked hastily to the window, where he stood for a moment gazing out upon the soft April snow which was falling, and feeling anything but satisfied either with the weather or himself; then walking back, and taking a seat before the fire, he said: "I understand you now. You would save Maddy Clyde from sorrow, and you are right. You know more of girls than I do. She might in time get to—to—think of me as she ought not. I never looked upon it in this light before. I've been so happy with her"—here Guy's voice faltered a little, but he recovered himself and went on: "I will tell her about Lucy to-night, but the sending her away, I can't do that. Neither will she be happy to go back where I took her from, for though the best of people, they are not like Maddy, and you know it."

Yes, Mrs. Noah did know it, and pleased that her boy, as she called Guy, had shown some signs of penitence and amendment, she said she did not think it necessary to send Maddy home; she did not advise it either. She like the girl, and what she advised was this, that Guy should send Maddy and Jessie to boarding school. Agnes, she knew, would be willing, and it was the best thing he could do. Maddy would thus learn what was expected of a teacher, and as soon as she graduated, she could procure some eligible situation, or if Lucy was there, and desired it, she could come and stay forever for all that she cared.

"And during the vacations, where must she go then?" Guy asked.

"Go where she pleases, of course. As Jessie is so fond of her, and they are much like sisters, it will not be improper for her to come here, as I see, provided Agnes is here. Her presence, of course, would make a difference," Mrs. Noah replied, while Guy continued:

"I know you are right; that is, I do not wish to do Maddy a harm by placing temptation in her way, neither will I have everybody meddling with my business. I tell you I won't. I don't mean you, for you have a right to say what no one else has," and he glanced half angrily at Mrs. Noah. "Pity if I can't take an interest in a girl, because I once injured her, without every old woman in Christendom thinking she must needs fall in love with me, and so be ruined for life. Maddy Clyde has too good sense for that, or will have when I tell her about Lucy."

"And you will do so?" Mrs. Noah said.

"Of course I will, and write to Lucy, too, telling her how you talked, and how I care no more for Maddy than I do for Jessie."

"And will that be true?" Mrs. Noah asked.

Guy could not look her fully in the face then, so he kicked the grate until the concussion sent the red-hot coals out upon the carpet as he replied:

"True? Yes, every word of it."

Mrs. Noah noted all this, and thinking:

"I ought to have took him in hand long ago," she came up to him and said kindly, soothingly: "We shall all miss Maddy; I as much as anyone, but I do think it best for her to go to school; and so, after tea, I'll manage to keep Jessie with me, and send Maddy to you, while you tell her about Lucy and the plan."

Guy nodded a little jerking kind of a nod, in token of his assent, and then with that perversity which prompts women particularly to press a subject after enough has been said upon it, Mrs. Noah, as she turned to leave the room, gave vent to the following:

"You know, Guy, as well as I, that pretty and smart as she is, Maddy is really beneath you, and no kind of a match, even if you wasn't as good as married, which you be." And the good lady left the room in time to escape seeing the sparks fly up the chimney, as Guy now made most vigorous use of the poker, and so did not finish the scorching process commenced on the end of his boot.

Mrs. Noah's last remark awakened in Guy a singular train of thought. Yes, Maddy was his inferior as the world saw matters, and settling himself in the chair he tried to fancy what that same world would say if he should make Maddy his wife. Of course he had no such intention, he was just imagining something which never could possibly happen, because in the first place he wouldn't marry Maddy Clyde if he could, and he couldn't if he would! Still, it was not an unpleasant occupation fancying what folks, and especially Agnes, would say if he did, and so he sat dreaming about it until the bell rang for supper, when with a nervous start he woke from the reverie, and wishing the whole was over, started for the supper room.

CHAPTER XIV.

Supper was over, and Guy was back again in his library. He had not stopped as he usually did, to romp with Jessie or talk to Maddy Clyde until it was so dark that he could not see her sparkling face, but had come directly back, dropping the heavy curtains and piling fresh coal upon the fire. Mrs. Noah had lighted the lamps and then gone after Maddy, explaining to Jessie how she must stay with her while Maddy went to Mr. Guy, who wanted to talk with her.

"Is he angry with me, Mrs. Noah?" and remembering his moody looks when she went in quest of the book, Maddy felt her heart misgive her as to what might be the result of an interview with Guy.

Mrs. Noah, however, reassured her, and Maddy stole for a moment to her own room to see how she was looking. The crimson dress, with its soft edge of lace about the slender throat, became her well, and smoothing the folds of her black silk apron, whose jaunty shoulder pieces gave her a very girlish appearance, she went down to where Guy was waiting for her. He heard her coming, and involuntarily drew nearer to him the chair where he intended she should sit. But Maddy took instead a stool, and leaning her elbow on the chair, turned her face fully toward him, waiting for him to speak.

"Maddy," he began, "are you happy here?"

"Oh, yes, very, very happy," and Maddy's soft eyes shone with happiness.

Gypsy Musicians.

Though there are many gypsies in England, the United States and other nations, it is in Roumania, Hungary and Russia that they are chiefly found, their numbers in that part of Europe being placed at 500,000. Many of them are capable musicians. The gypsy players of Hungary are famous. In that country gypsies are called "Tsiganes." The French call them "Bohemians," from which fact comes the use of that word to describe the care free life of idlers.

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific Nerve sickness—nothing else.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Find out that original and highly vital principle—the all-healing accomplishments were started in here.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at an Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

The homesteader is required to perform the homestead duties under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of a homesteader lives permanently on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of a homestead, or upon a homestead entered for by him in the vicinity, such homesteader may perform his own residence duties by living with the father (or mother).

(4) The term "vicinity" in the two preceding paragraphs is defined as meaning not more than nine miles in a direct line exclusive of the width of road allowances crossed in the measurement.

(5) A homesteader intending to perform his residence duties in accordance with the above while living with parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

Six months' notice in writing must be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of intention to apply for patent.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

1908

THE UNDERSIGNED will receive tenders up to noon on Monday, 4th November, 1907, for supplies of Butchers' Meat, Creamery or Dairy Butter, Flour, Oatmeal, Potatoes, Cordwood, etc., etc., for the following institutions during the year 1908, viz.:—

At the Asylums for the Insane at Toronto, London, Kingston, Hamilton, Mimico, Brockville, Cobburg, Orillia and Penetanguishene; the Central Prison and Mercer Reformatory, Toronto, and the Hospital for Epileptics at Woodstock.

Exceptions—Tenders are not required for the supply of Meat to the Asylums in Toronto, London, Kingston, Hamilton and Brockville, nor for the Central Prison or Mercer Reformatory, Toronto.

A marked cheque for five per cent of the estimated amount of the contract, payable to the order of the Provincial Secretary, must be furnished by each tenderer as a guarantee of his bona fides. Two sufficient sureties will be required for the due fulfilment of each contract, and should any tender be withdrawn before the contract is awarded, or should the tenderer fail to furnish security, the amount of the deposit will be forfeited.

Specifications and forms of tender may be had on application to the Department of the Provincial Secretary, Toronto, or to the Bursars of the respective Institutions.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without written authority from the Department will not be paid for it.

Calves in Stanchions.

The accompanying cut shows the best and cheapest method of keeping and feeding calves, according to the Southern Cultivator, which says: Any farmer who is handy with tools can make the trough and construct the stanchions. By adopting this method you save room and each calf gets the food allotted to it. The calves cannot be fighting one another off, and you can save the manure better, also keep them cleaner. Every farmer who has a good cattle barn and raises any number of calves should have stanchions arranged as shown here. We want our farmers to grow more food for cattle, then raise more cattle and finally fix up to feed and care for them better. When we begin to take the same pride in raising a fine cow that we now take in growing a bale of cotton per acre then we will be on the right road to true, successful farming.

Beef Cattle Breeding.

A fair amount of flesh adds to a beef cow's appearance and has a commercial importance when her calves are offered for sale, but the best breeders endeavor to avoid excessive fat, especially after a cow has had several calves, when she may become a "shy" breeder if allowed to become fat.

Bank of Goldfield, Nevada.

This company owns 1 claim (80 acres) of some of the best proven mineral land in the Goldfield district, consisting of the Accidental and Accidental No. 2 lode claims, situated two and one-half miles south of the great Goldfield Consolidated Mines (comprising the Mohawk, Goldfield, Combination, Red Top, Jumbo and Laguna) the richest in the world; and the Broadway and Beauty side claims situated three and one-half miles north of the Consolidated and about one and one-half miles northwest of the Great Bend and Daisy Mines near the Zion group in the Diamondfield section second only in richness to the great Mohawk portion of the camp. Phenomenally rich strikes have recently been made on the Consolidated, the Great Bend and the Daisy Mines.

The company has also succeeded in securing the Sure Thing lode claim (20 acres) in the Cuprite district, which has an immense gold bearing ledge, running the entire length of the claim 1,500 feet, outcropping in places over 50 feet wide, and met by several cross dykes all carrying fine values in gold, and is without doubt rightly named "Sure Thing."

All of these claims are located in the same mineral belt as the other noted mines of Goldfield that have astonished the world by their production of millions in high grade ore, and will with the same development give equally profitable returns.

The money derived from the sale of this stock will be used at once for the active development of the property and the fact that all the directors are residents of Goldfield with years of successful mining experience who will give their personal attention at all times to the progress of the work goes to show that the first issue of 100,000 shares will meet with a quick and ready sale at the initial price of 10 cents per share.

We advise immediate action if you wish to participate in the vast profits of this Bonanza Mine.

Stock will be listed as soon as feasible on the Goldfield and San Francisco Stock and Exchange Boards. Would therefore advise purchasers to buy in board lots of 1,000 shares when convenient to do so.

Systematic Catarrh Has But One Cure

Lotions and Powders Will Never Help Unless the Blood is Given Attention

The way to radically and permanently cure catarrh is to cleanse the blood of the unhealthy secretions that keep the mucous membrane inflamed.

Catarrhal poison usually interferes with the stomach, kidneys and liver. These organs must be properly toned and strengthened, or else you feel sick all over.

To get direct to the source of the trouble—to cleanse, nourish and purify the blood—where can you find anything so potent as Dr. Hamilton's Pills?

This grand medicine regulates the eliminating organs and completely drives the virus of catarrh out of the system. Thousands of cures prove this.

Of course to clear the nose and head of mucous discharges, Dr. Hamilton recommends the use of Catarrhozone Inhaler which, if used with his pills of Mandrake and Butternut, cures the most obstinate case of Catarrh ever known. All dealers sell Dr. Hamilton's Pills in 25c. boxes.

Dave Hartley will Try the Walk

It is now pretty well an established fact that David Hartley, the local crack pedestrian, will attempt his long heralded walk so often described in these columns. Yesterday over $35 was subscribed towards his expenses for the trip. The following literally presented heading to a subscription list was left about the city with good results. This heading read:

"Peterboro, Oct. 28th, 1907.

"I hereby sign Towards the expenses of David Hartley's walk (expense and return. Finish to be Peterboro, Oct. 31.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by druggists. Price 75c per bottle.

Dies in Cell Doorway

Pittsburg, Oct. 28.—"Please don't send me to jail, judge. I've never been in jail in my life, and it will kill me," pleaded Michael Dolan, an old man who had been arrested for drunkenness.

Magistrate Frank Brady had sentenced him to serve ten days in default of a fine.

Half an hour later as Dolan walked through the barred door he staggered and fell dead from heart disease.

Presentation to Former Local Boy

Mr. John Peck, a brother of Mr. R. A. Peck of this city, who was, some years ago well known and intimately connected with local steamboat business, but who has recently been connected with the Vancouver, B.C., Ice and Cold Storage Co., recently quit that company. On his leaving the employes presented him with a handsome gold watch. The watch was a beauty and handsomely engraved with Mr. Peck's monogram on the case.

Vital strength comes from proper food. If you want to be ready for opportunities, food that is quickly absorbed by the blood and stored up in the brain, nerves and muscles as vital energy, must be made a part of your regular routine.

Suppose you try Grape Nuts with cream for breakfast. Eat slowly and note the comfortable feeling of vitality that "stays with you" till noon. "There's a reason." Read "The Road to Wellville" in pkgs.

Historic Find

posa. The blade tapers gradually from the shaft to the point, its widest width being about one inch broad. The blade is convex on one side and flat on the other. The convex side shows plainly the bottom resistance of the mould whilst the flat is easily explained as shown when the top of the molten metal settled. The extreme width from flat to extreme convexity is about 1-2 inch. The receptacle for the shaft, probably made of wood that saw a half century or possibly a century of years in growth is partly the work of an old time moulder and partly that of an artisan of the same period. The shaft receptacle is about 21-2 inches in length and has evidently the returned sides hammered or pressed into shape. At the extreme end of the shaft is a hole bored through, evidently intended for passing a thong or rivet through the wooden shaft to secure it to the wood.

The copper, which is as perfect as when the implement was first made, was yesterday pronounced by a leading local manufacturer, well posted on moulding and iron, brass and copper work, to be harder than iron and to have been fashioned by an artisan during the now obsolete knowledge than prevalent of hardening copper harder than steel.

One idea that this valuable find suggests, taking into consideration where it was found and in whose neighborhood many flint arrow and spear heads are occasionally unearthed, is that there must, in times gone by, have been an incursion or invasion of this district by Indians from the Lake Superior district, as copper, in quantities is unknown here, and that some brave from the head of Canada's greatest body of inland water either lost his spear whilst hunting man or beast or was killed by a local Indian who failed to find the then, valuable weapon. It is now up to those posed on such matters to elucidate this discovery.

Dave Hartley Begins Walk Tomorrow

David Hartley the local walker, instead of starting at Bowmanville as was originally intended, will start his long tramp at Whitby going from there to Toronto, returning to Port Hope, and then north to Peterborough. The distance to be covered is 132 miles, practically the same as that traversed by Reynolds. He will drive from Peterborough to Whitby today and will start his journey early in the morning and expects to be back in Peterborough about six o'clock on Thanksgiving night. He will be accompanied by a man with a rig, and a trainer, but who they will be, has not yet been decided.

Hartley is confident he can make the trip and his progress will be watched with interest. He is undertaking a harder task than that of Jimmy Reynolds, as the home stretch of Hartley's trip from Port Hope to Peterborough is all up hill. Peterborough is 370 feet higher than Lake Ontario, so that the walker will have to make a stiff grade for the last thirty miles.

Police Court

Yesterday morning William O. Harris, of Cavendish, appeared before County Police Magistrate Edmison, charged with stealing some lumber from a man by the name of Bell, and with breaking into the latter's house and taking some small articles. Harris denies both offences.

He heard the constables were after him, and came to the city yesterday morning and was promptly placed under arrest by County Constable Cochrane. He was released on $300 bail, $200 being supplied by himself and a surety of $100 being furnished by a friend. He will come up again before County Police Magistrate Edmison on Nov. 20th.

Special Dairy Meeting to be Held

When the local Cheese Board holds its next meeting, on November 6th, a special dairy meeting will also be held. The Cheese Board will meet in the morning, at 1.30, some prominent Ontario dairymen will speak in the court house. The meeting is being held under the auspices of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association.

There will be much value in the addresses given to milk producers, proprietors and makers, and it is hoped that the fairymen generally will take advantage of the occasion.

Tried Hard to Capture a Deer

A well known Examiner reporter made a good attempt last night to shoot a deer. It transpired that this young man attended a quiet little oyster supper in the south end of the city, and was making rapid strides to capture the loving little creature referred to, when a warning note was sounded in his ear by a local police officer. Needless to say the Knight of the Pencil abandoned all hopes of carrying out his large ideas.

Belleville-Peterboro Service

The Grand Trunk trains are again running right through from Peterborough to Belleville, and Belleville to Peterborough again, sufficient repairs having been made to the bridge near Stirling, which was partially destroyed by fire, to allow the trains to pass over it. The structure has been made safe enough to permit traffic over it.

Nineteen Entries for Road Race

There are nineteen entries in the senior division of the Examiner road race and 13 in the Junior. Both events will commence at ten o'clock on the morning of Thanksgiving Day, the former starting from the ten-mile post at Lakefield, and the latter from the eight mile post on the Lakefield road.

The Knock-out Blow.

The blow which knocked out Corbett was a revelation to the prize fighters. From the earliest days of the ring the knock-out blow was aimed for the jaw, the temple or the jugular vein. Stomach punches were thrown in by way and weary the fighter, but if a wise man had told one of the old fighters that the most vulnerable spot was the region of the stomach, he'd have laughed at him for an ignoramus. Dr. Pierce is bringing home to the public a parallel fact; that the stomach is the most vulnerable organ out of the prize ring as well as in it. We protect our heads, throats, feet and lungs, but the stomach we are utterly indifferent to, until disease finds the solar plexus and knocks us out. Make your stomach sound and strong by [illegible] Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and you protect yourself from the most vulnerable spot. "Golden Medical Discovery" cures "weak stomach," indigestion, dyspepsia, torpid liver, bad, thin and impure blood and other diseases of the organs of digestion and nutrition.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" has a specific curative effect upon all mucous surfaces and hence cures catarrh, no matter where located or what stage it may have reached. In Nasal Catarrh it is well to cleanse the passages with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy fluid while using the "Discovery" as a constitutional remedy. Why the "Golden Medical Discovery" cures catarrhal diseases, as of the stomach, bowels, bladder and other pelvic organs will be plain to you if you will read a booklet of extracts from the writings of eminent medical authorities, endorsing its ingredients and explaining their curative properties. It is mailed free on request. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. This booklet gives all the ingredients entering into Dr. Pierce's medicines from which it will be seen that they contain not a drop of alcohol, pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead.

Dr. Pierce's great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser will be sent free, paper-bound, for 21 one cent stamps, or cloth-bound for 50 stamps. Address Dr. Pierce as above.

TENDERS FOR PULPWOOD CONCESSIONS

Tenders will be received by the undersigned up to and including the 15th of December next for the right to cut pulpwood on certain areas tributary to the Nepigon river, in the district of Thunder Bay, and Rainy Lake, in the district of Rainy River, and make the same into paper. Tenders should state the amount they are prepared to pay as bonus in addition to such dues as may from time to time be fixed for the right to operate a paper making industry on the areas referred to. Separate tenders must be made for each area or territory, and the successful tenderers will be required to erect a mill or mills on each of the territories or in such other localities as may be approved by the Government of Ontario.

Parties tendering for the pulpwood rights shall accompany their tenders with a marked cheque for 25 per cent of the amount tendered, payable to the Treasurer of Ontario, and to be forfeited in the event of their failing to enter into agreements to carry out conditions, etc.

With respect to the Rainy Lake Pulp Concession, tenderers will be required to make a tender for the right to cut the pine, tamarac and cedar on the territory offered. Parties making tender for those numbers to state the amount they are prepared to pay per thousand feet B.M. as bonus in addition to Crown dues of $2.00 per thousand feet B.M. A marked cheque for $5,000.00 payable to the Treasurer of Ontario must accompany the tender for pine timber, and same to be forfeited in the event of their failing to enter into agreements to carry out conditions, etc.

No timber shall be cut on either of the concessions of a less diameter than nine inches, two feet from the ground.

The successful tenderers to enter into agreements with the Government for the erection of the mills, expenditure of money, etc.

For full particulars as to the conditions, etc., application should be made to the undersigned.

FEVERISH PACE KEPT UP ON THE SEVENTH DAY IN NEW YORK--LIFE A GAMBLE TO MANY

New York Sunday Does Not Impress the Average Canadian Favorably

How the Day is Spent

One View of the New York Sunday Life.

New York, Oct. 30.—Somebody has said that life is all a gamble anyway and we have all heard the advice tendered in the phrase, "Let us eat, drink, and be merry, for tomorrow we die." To a very considerable section of the people down here those things seem to be their rule of life To the Wall Street man whose wealth it may be, consists largely in paper securities, whose whole value may disappear in a day there doubtless seems no reason why he should not eat, drink, and be merry while his pile is still intact, and that is no doubt one reason why New York seems to be a city of eating houses, drinking palaces, cigar stores and places of amusement. In the richer sections these places are ornate to the last degree, in the poorer sections they are less ornate, but every whit as numerous

THE NEW YORK SUNDAY.

The New York Sunday probably does not impress the average Canadian favorably. The trains in the subway dash along with their accustomed speed and frequency, and they are filled as on week days with the same throngs of restless, hurrying people pursuing their pleasure with the same feverish energy with which the rest of the week they chase the much desired dollar. The cigar stores, restaurants, theaters, barber shops, news stands, and so on are all open, and you wonder if life is really worth living to the man who works therein and to whom the only difference he must note on Sunday is that his customers have had a clean shave and seem to have a little more money to spend.

THE AUTO CRAZE.

On every road outside the city, and in it rush the automobiles of the wealthiest classes. Your car passes scores of others wherever your host may choose to take you; each one tries to go faster than the other, and if your car happens to be faster than your neighbor's you pass him, and look back to see him scowling, while if his car is the speedier, it is your turn to scowl, that's all. It is small wonder that the New Yorker takes vast pleasure out of his auto, for the roads about the city are as magnificent as the scenery and the valley of the Hudson, and the hills of Pocantico are never more beautiful than now, when every bluff and escapement, every valley, and upland, is clad in the riotously beautiful, though fast fading glories of autumn. On the shores of the lake men fish nonchalantly—from the words you hear the occasional crack of the shot gun, as the disciple of Nimrod spends his Sundays in killing the few wild things that may have thus far survived, while as a matter of course the golf links are better populated on Sunday than on any other day of the week, for golf appears to be to its devotees in New York as elsewhere, Toronto, of course excepted, a religion and a pastime, a profession, and a pastime all in one.

Yes, life is a gamble to many, as it must be in any big city where death lurks everywhere for the unwary, who fails to tread warily and dodge swiftly and skilfully. Coming in to the Grand Central station the other night something went wrong with the current—the train runs by electric power, the third rail system—and we came to a stop a block or two off from the station. Do you think the people by whom these cars were filled could wait? Not they. Out they piled, men, women, and children, to pick their way among live rails and dead rails with which the yards are interlaced to get to their destination. I didn't fancy it myself, even though I am insured. Those at the head of the train men were working, trying to restore the interrupt-

Hon. Frank Oliver on Progress of Settlement and the Crop Yield Throughout the West

Ottawa, Oct. 30.—Hon. Frank Oliver has returned from an extended trip to the prairie west, where he has been looking into the conditions regarding crops.

In an interview with a newspaper correspondent, Mr. Oliver said that, although the crops have not fulfilled the promise held out in the early part of August, neither have they justified the fears expressed in early September. Thrashing and marketing are now well under way throughout the three provinces, and, although an accurate statement of the returns cannot yet be given, it is conceded that the wheat crop will be in the neighborhood of eighty million bushels, as against somewhat over ninety million bushels last year. While the average quality is lower than that of last year, the price is 50 per cent. higher, so that on the whole the returns to the farmer will be very little, if any, less than last year.

OAT AND BARLEY CROP.

Much the same conditions apply to oats and barley as to wheat. The oat crop is estimated at eighty-five million bushels, against eighty-seven millions last year. The remarkable advance in price, owing to crop failures in other parts of the world, more than make up to the farmer the losses in quantity or quality as compared with last year. The excellent weather which has prevailed during the harvesting and threshing seasons has enabled all grain to be saved in excellent condition and at a minimum expense, and as a consequence the feeling of doubt and depression which existed during the early part of September has given place to one of renewed confidence on the part of farmers and business men throughout the west.

CONDITIONS OF GROWTH

Although spring opened very late, says Mr. Oliver, the ground was generally speaking, in excellent condition for seeding, and practically a full crop was sown, but owing to the fact that the season was late a larger proportion of oats and barley were sown than usual. In southern Manitoba the early summer was dry, and at one time fear of failure in that part was expressed. This was translated by outside reports into prospective failure for the whole west. At the same time the conditions of growth in all other parts of the country could not have been improved upon. Later on the crops in southern Manitoba showed marked improvement, and in the latter end of July the indications were that the delayed seeding would be fully met by the later more favorable conditions. In southern Alberta, where the crop is all wheat, all conditions were ideal.

VOLUME OF IMMIGRATION.

Immigration from the United States is not as large as last year, owing to unfavorable reports of last winter, the railway tie-up in the spring, the high prices at which lands are being held, the higher United States railway rates, and the boom in Texas lands. Notwithstanding all these drawbacks, however, the homestead entries for the year ending June 30, 1907, totalled 32,000, the largest number in any year, except the previous one, ending June 30, 1906, when the total was over 41,000, or nearly 10,000 more. Some of the loss on United States immigration was no doubt made up by the increased British immigration, or the homestead entries would not have been so numerous This, however, was not a very large factor, as a considerable proportion of the movement from Britain remains in the eastern provinces for a time at least, attracted by the opportunities for employment there.

Ontario Leads in Grain Producing

Ottawa, Oct 30.—The annual report, the Department of Trade and Commerce contains returns of the grain production of all the provinces of the Dominion with the exception of Quebec, for the season of 1906.

The total production of all kinds of grain is placed at 415,068,651 bushels, of which 125,515,491 bushels consists wheat, and 202,461,864 bushels oats.

Ontario is still the banner province in grain production, with a yield of 191,000,000 bushels of grain of all kinds. 108,341,455 bushels of the Ontario grain crop of 1906 was oats. The total grain crops of the provinces are given as follows,

Ontario, 191,000,000 bushels.
Manitoba, 136,000,000 bushels.
Saskatchewan, 63,000,000 bushels.
Alberta, 19,300,000 bushels.
New Brunswick, 7,381,000 bushels.
British Columbia, 2,682,000 bushels.
Nova Scotia, 2,464,000 bushels.

Conservatives Win Two Out of the Three Bye-elections Held Yesterday--London Con. by 1,000

Bye-election Results

LONDON
Major Beattie, Con., elected by a Maj. of over 1,000.

NORTHUMBERLAND
C. L. Owen, Con, elected by 160.

N. WELLINGTON
A. M. Martin, Lib., elected by maj. of 140

The three bye-elections to fill the vacancies in the Dominion House were held yesterday. It is generally conceded that a bye-election goes in favor of the Government, but not so yesterday, as the Conservatives won two out of the three seats.

The bye-elections in London, East Northumberland, and North Wellington were held yesterday. In London the vacancy was caused by the resignation on account of ill-health of the Hon. C. S. Hyman, who has held the seat since 1900. Major Beattie (Con.) and Mr. Jacobs (Labor) were the candidates, and during the past few days the Conservatives had become somewhat alarmed over the outlook A week ago they were loud in their scorn of the "irregular" candidate. London was anybody's who would fight. It has had but three members in the last thirty years—Sir John Carling, Major Beattie, and Mr. Hyman. In the past four elections the majorities have been:—1896, Beattie, 41; 1900, Hyman, 547; 1904, Hyman, 25; 1905, Hyman, 329. Yesterday's result was over 1000 of a majority for Major Beattie

In East Northumberland Major Mulholland (Lib.) was trying to capture a seat held by Mr. Edward Cochrane (Con.) from 1891 till his death, by majorities that ranged from 397 in 1896 to 208 in 1904. The Conservative candidate, Mr. C. L. Owen, has been very hard at work seeking to nullify Major Mulholland's campaign and he has been successful in being returned by a majority of 160.

In North Wellington the death of the sitting member, Mr. Thos. Martin, opened the seat, and his brother, Mr. A. M. Martin was the Liberal candidate, his opponent being Mr Alex Hamilton This seat is traditionally Liberal. Senator McMullin sat for it from 1882 till 1900. His majorities were:—1882, 20; 1887, 36; 1891, 186; 1896, 162 In 1900 Mr. Tolton (Con.) carried the seat by 31, while in 1904 Mr. Martin had 308 of a majority Mr. A. M. Martin was elected by 130 of a majority.

Burns will not Race Indian

Toronto, Oct. 30.—Art Burns, the Calgary runner, formerly of Peterborough, has declined to race against Longboat on Nov. 9 at Montreal, but he will meet him a couple of weeks later if the Indian is willing. A Calgary despatch says:

"Burns says he will run Longboat on any track anywhere, on any day during the last week of November. His present condition prevents him taking chances against the Indian November 9. He can leave at once for sports.

Gets Two and a Half Years for Shooting

Barrie, Ont., Oct. 30.—John Jeffries of Midland, who shot Rose Latanville, with whom he was infatuated, in a hotel in that town, on September 2, has been sentenced to two years and a half in Kingston penitentiary for manslaughter instead of murder.

Sentence was deferred until the present, awaiting results of the wounds, as it was feared that the girl might die. She has, however, recovered, and Jeffries was convicted of manslaughter instead of murder.

Superintendent Harness, of Grey County, a Man of Many Parts

Owen Sound, Oct. 30.—Referring to the report of the grand jury on the house of refuge affairs, the Sun says:

"The superintendent appears to have been running things with a pretty high hand. An instance in point has come to our notice. Last April one of the inmates broke one of the rules—was insubordinate. For the offence she was condemned to three days' close confinement on bread and water diet But this was not all. She had infringed bylaw No. 141 of the County of Grey by disturbing the peace of the female inmates of the house of refuge So Thos. Harness superintendent of the house of refuge lays an information against her for the breach. Before whom? Before Thos. Harness, Esq., one of his Majesty's justices of the peace in and for the County of Grey! On the 25th day of April, 1907, Thomas Harness, Esq., J.P., hears the case. Thomas Harness, superintendent, prosecuting. Harness, J.P., finds the prisoner guilty, and imposes a fine of one dollar, with six dollars costs, in default of payment, twenty days to the unfortunate prisoner. The sentence was deferred until the present, awaiting results of the wounds, as it was feared that the girl might die. She has, however, recovered, and Jeffries was convicted of manslaughter instead of murder.

Mr. Gus White Enters Benedicts' Ranks

At St. Peter's cathedral at eight o'clock yesterday morning, the wedding of Mr. Augustus White, proprietor of the White House, and Miss Nellie McCabe, daughter of Mr. Jas. McCabe, East ward, was quietly solemnized. Rev. Father McColl officiated Miss Maude Cahill was bridesmaid, and Mr. Joseph Lawrence, Toronto, acted as groomsman. The cathedral choir was in attendance, and Mr. and Mrs. Ball sang a duett. The wedding march was played by the bride's sister, Miss Maggie McCabe.

The bride was becomingly attired in a travelling suit of brown cloth with brown picture hat to match. The bridesmaid was prettily gowned in a dress of mauve and black silk, and wore a black velvet hat.

After the ceremony a recherche wedding breakfast was partaken of at the residence of the bride's father, east ward

The wedding presents were numerous and testified to the popularity of the bride

Mr. and Mrs. White left on the 11.15 G.T.R. for a honeymoon to New York, Buffalo and other points. On their return they will reside at the White House.

Hartley Will Start His Walk This Morning

David Hartley, the local walking champion, left by the Grand Trunk train at noon yesterday for Whitby, from which point he commences his long walk to Toronto and return to Peterborough this morning at six o'clock He will be accompanied on the trip by Geo. Sykes and Jas. son. Charlie Sykes, who left yesterday morning with a team and express wagon for Whitby, in order to be on hand to start with Hartley, the distance to be covered by Hartley is between 120 and 130 miles, and he is to make it in 36 hours. He hopes to be able to finish at the Munro House on Simcoe street on Wednesday evening.

Police Court

[illegible] Dunlop, whose knowledge of criminal history in this city and county is probably as wide spread as that of any man here, was in the prisoner's box at the police station yesterday morning, to the charge of vagrancy.

Chief Hoskin stated that arrangements were being made for the transportation of Dusty to Western Canada, the latter having decided to rejoin his family there. His wife and son are out West, and he has decided to join them, after it appears, considerable persuasion on their part.

"The whiskey is frozen out there," remarked his worship amid audible smiles.

The prisoner was remanded until today, and in the meantime, a ticket will probably be handed Dusty by the County Council. He has been as noted above, a well known inoccuous, but remarkable character, without doing injury to any one but himself, for many years here.

Harry Doyle next was charged with vagrancy. This poor fellow looked as though the surgical ward of an hospital was where the Lord intended him to steer his Ship of Life to, as his countenance evidently displayed aggravated symptoms of disease. Doyle said he lived near St. John, N.B., and had been out west. He got as far as North Bay, en route for home, but stopped off at Peterborough.

"How much have you now?" asked the court.

"About a dollar," was his reply.

"Well that's enough to get you outside the city limits," said his worship.

Robert Cameron was also up on a similar charge. P. C. Adams was instructed to see that he and Doyle both left town on the first train.

Mr. MacPherson Kept Busy

Mr P. R. J. MacPherson the Osgoode street plumber and electrician, has a staff of men busily engaged at the Snowden House, as he has secured the contract for the entire job of heating, including a new furnace, by reason of this popular caravansery. There is no doubt owing to Mr. MacPherson's proverbial record for hustling but what the temperature of the Snowden House will, in a day or two be under such command and control as would put both the ice man and the coal dealer into spasms.

Boys Must Behave

Chief Hoskin says that there would be extra police on duty on Thanksgiving Day night, which will be observed by the small boy as Hallowe'en. No vandalism will be permitted and any acts of rowdyism, destruction of property, shouting, etc., will be promptly punished. Harmless amusements will, of course, be permitted, but the bounds of reason and good judgment must no be overlapped.

Schools Close Until Monday

When the local school children leave school this afternoon, they will not be compelled or expected to return there until Monday morning. Our sympathies are extended to mothers, particularly those who own five or six boys whom the only argument against mischief is that conveyed by a club.

Mix This Up Yourself

Mix the following, by shaking well in a bottle, and take in teaspoonful doses after meals and at bedtime: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. A local druggist is the authority that these simple, harmless ingredients can be obtained at nominal cost from any good prescription pharmacy.

The mixture is said to clean and strengthen the clogged and inactive Kidneys, overcoming Backache, Bladder weakness and Urinary troubles of all kinds, if taken before the last stage of Bright's disease.

Those who have tried this say, it positively overcomes pain in the back, clears the urine of sediment and regulates urination, especially at night, curing even the worst forms of bladder weakness.

Every man or woman here who feels that the kidneys are not strong or acting in a healthy manner should mix this prescription at home and give it a trial, as it is said to do wonders for many a sufferer.

I took a car to Coney Island and I walked me through the grain to watch the trains. Two of them held what looked like long, which gripped what looked like about six feet of garden hose. I suppose they had been switching the current across from another rail, and just as I got to the head of the train it started up again and I saw grass-hopping lightning, or I am told, 20,000 voltage spark for one brief moment out of the end of the tube the men were carrying and fill the air with sparks. I used to like to fool with fire myself when I was a boy, but I don't at present hanker for a job in the New York subway.

DEATH EVERYWHERE.

I find that I was in error in saying that it was Ben Franklyn's statue that stands in front of the sub-treasury building at the head of Broad street. I didn't know who it was, but I took a New Yorker's word for it. It did seem to me that it was no place for a printer in the vicinity of so much wealth, but neither does it seem to me that George Washington can feel any more at home there than Franklyn. There isn't a cherry tree for miles and as for a man who cannot tell a lie, well, what do you suppose they'd be able to use anybody like that in Wall Street for?

One of the advantages of Grape Nuts food is that it is pre-digested in the process of manufacture.

The starch contained in the wheat and barley is transformed into grape-sugar by exactly the same method as this process is carried on in the human body, that is by the use of moisture and long exposure to moderate warmth which grows the diastaze in the grains, then long baking completes the remarkable change from starch to grape-sugar.

Therefore, the most delicate stomach can handle Grape-Nuts and the food is quickly absorbed into the blood and tissue—certain parts of it going directly to build and nourish the brain and nerve centres. "There's a Reason."

EVERY PALE WOMAN

Read This and Learn the Way to Good Color and Better Health.

Pale people have pale blood.

In other words the blood is watery and lacks red corpuscles.

The stomach is wrong.

Assimilation is poor and food is not changed into blood. Naturally the aya system is robbed of vitality, lacks strength and reconstructive power.

Don't slip from vigor into weakness.

Don't allow the appetite to fail, but instead use Ferrosone.

You're bound to feel rejuvenated and strengthened at once.

Appetite is braced up, digestion is stimulated, vigor imparted to the stomach. Everything you eat is transformed into nutriment that supplies what your thin weak system needs.

Vital, life-giving blood that makes rosy cheeks and dancing eyes—that's the kind that Ferrozone makes.

The strength and buoyancy that defies depression and tiredness, that's the sort you get with Ferrozone.

Every pale woman can transform her blanched out appearance with Ferrozone.

Not only will it improve looks and spirits, but by rebuilding all weak, tired organs. Ferrozone establishes a soundness of health that's surprising.

For women and girls who want to feel well, to look well, to be well and stay well, nothing known in the annals of medicine is so certain as Ferrozone.

Won't you try Ferrozone?

Concentrated cure in tablet form, that's Ferrozone, 50c per box or six for $2.50 at all dealers.

JAPAN'S EDUCATIONAL ADVANCEMENT

Japan's advancement educationally is keeping good pace with her phenomenal progress along other lines. This may be gathered from the fact that whereas in 1873 only 28 per cent of the children of school age attended places of instruction in 1904-5, the last year of which there is record, the percentage was 94.43. The report of the minister of education for the latter school year gives evidence of marvellous diffusion of popular education since a system of collecting data was inaugurated some 34 years ago.

The progress made is all the more remarkable in view of the constantly increasing deficiency of qualified teachers. To overcome this difficulty the government has been erecting normal school buildings and providing improved facilities for the examination of persons desiring teachers licenses. Still the supply remains unequal to the demand, nor is it likely that until the teaching profession is made more attractive by increased salaries the situation will be improved.

Japan, however, has already beaten Italy, Austria-Hungary, Russia, Spain and Portugal in the matter of public instruction. No longer is it found necessary to send Japanese students abroad to qualify as to conduct the ordinary courses of instruction. For the most part the hundred students who in 1904-5 went to Great Britain, France, Germany, and the United States were distinguished graduates who desired to carry on the investigation of specialized subjects, and when they return, instead of taking part in the work of secondary education, are more likely to be appointed to university professorships or to important posts in the civil administration.

To higher education Japan is paying equal attention. The imperial universities of Tokio and Kioto have steadily expanded, both as regards the number of students and organization and equipment. The first mentioned seat of learning at the present time consists of the university hall and six colleges respectively devoted to law, medicine, engineering, literature, science and agriculture, and to each are attached laboratories, libraries and museums. In the university hall the number of students was 680, while 2,944 names were on the rolls of the colleges. The teaching staff numbered 270, including 15 foreigners. The university of Kioto, being a younger institution, is smaller, and its equipment less complete than that at Tokio; yet it comprises a university hall and colleges of law, medicine, literature, science and engineering, with 1,265 students and a teaching staff of 127. In addition to these two universities are a number of special institutions, including schools of medicine, foreign languages, music and art. Wherever needed technical schools of varied characters have been established, besides a goodly number of public and private industrial schools, apprentices' schools, schools of marine products, nautical schools and schools of trade, industry and agriculture.

The Japanese are awake to the importance of school hygiene, and the necessary precautions of cleaning and disinfection are being rigorously enforced. Arrangements are also being made for a drastic medical inspection of students, medical officers being specially delegated for the work.

Evidently Japan is on the right track in its efforts to secure and maintain a place among the leading nations of the world.

FAITH IN THE STEERAGE.

Immigrants to This "Land of Hope" Make Merry.

The average steerage passenger is not envious. His position in part of his lot in life, says the author of "On the Trail of the Immigrant." The ship is just like Russia, Austria, Poland or Italy. The cabin passengers are the lords and ladies, the sailors and officers are the police and the army, while the captain is the king or czar. So they are merry when the sun shines and the porpoises roll, when far away a sail shines white in the sunlight or the trailing smoke of a steamer tells of other wanderers over the deep.

"Yes, brothers, we are traveling on to America, the land of hope. Let us be merry," says one.

"Where are you going, Czeska Holka?"—a pet name for Bohemian girl.

"To Chicago, to service and soon, I hope, to matrimony. That's what they say—that you can get married in America without a dowry and without much trouble. Where are you going, signor?"

"Ah, I am going to Mulberry street. Great city. Yes, Mulberry street. Great city!"

"Polak, where are you going?"

"Kellisland."

"Where do you say?"

"Kellisland, where stones are and big sea."

"Yes, yes, I know now; Kelly's Island, in Ohio. Fine place for you, Polak—powder blast and white limestone dust, yet a fine sea and a fine life."

All of them are going somewhere to some one, not quite strangers. Some one has crossed the sea before them. They are drawn by thousands of magnets and will draw others after them.

Most of them believe with a simpler faith than our own. No morning, no matter how tumultuous the waves, but the Russian Jews will put on their phylacteries and, kissing the sacred fringe which they wear upon their breasts, will turn toward the east and the rising sun, to where their holy temple stood.

Rarely will a Slav or an Italian go to bed without committing himself to the special care of some patron saint.

A Franklin Relic.

People of all "persuasions," says the London Chronicle, will regret to hear that the old Sardinian chapel off Lincoln's Inn Fields is, after all, to be demolished. It had remained standing when so many surrounding buildings had been swept away in the making of Kingsway that one had hoped it would be spared the general fate. Little remains of the original chapel of 1648, for in the "no popery" riots of 1780 the fury of the rabble selected it for especial injury, so as to necessitate an almost entire rebuilding. Just opposite, in 1725, when he was a journeyman printer, lodged Benjamin Franklin with a Roman Catholic widow and her daughter—a very uncommon sort of printer, as his fellow workmen in Great Wild street thought, for among the fifty or so employed in Mr. Watt's office, beer drinkers all, Franklin stood out as the one water drinker—teetotaler was a word not known till nearly a century later.

Men as Stakes in Gambling Games.

"I had a peculiar reason for stopping gambling among my waiters," said a large restaurant keeper recently. "It was not because they took up time from business, but because they shifted customers so often. Every man of them was a true sport, and they would bet their heads if they could be transferred from their shoulders, so when they ran out of money in a card game they bet their best customers. One man who comes in every day and who gives liberal tips had a different waiter almost every day, and he complained to me about it. I investigated and found that he was a big asset of the man who waited on him and had been bet back and forth in every game. Other liberal tippers were treated in the same manner, and in order to keep things straight I had to give notice to the waiters to cut out the gambling."—Philadelphia Record.

The Swiss Glaciers.

The heavy snowfall and storms in the Alpine region last winter and late in the spring forcibly illustrate the proverb of its being an ill wind that blows no good. For the last half century there has been observed a steady diminution in the area of the Swiss glaciers, and jeremiads have appeared in print as to the dark prospect should tourists once turn their faces in other directions. The rigors of 1906-07 have changed all this. According to all the authorities, they have left a deposit which will go far to rehabilitate the glaciers.

The South's Cotton.

There is much actual gold still to be discovered in the south, but the cotton grown annually by that section is worth far more than all the gold and silver produced in the world in the same time. Between 1901 and 1906, for instance, the total value of the world's gold and silver output was $2,006,686,400, and the total value of the cotton crop of the south, including seed, in the same period was $3,660,000,000, a difference in favor of cotton in the six years of $1,062,313,600.—Southern Farm Magazine.

—Rev. Dr. Langfeldt will hold the weekly cottage meeting on Wednesday, Nov. 6th, at the residence of Mr. John Michels.

PEN, CHISEL AND BRUSH.

Marion Crawford, the novelist, is in Calabria, engaged upon a historical work.

John T. Trowbridge, the popular author and editor, recently celebrated his eightieth birthday at his beautiful home in Arlington, Mass., which he has occupied for forty years.

Dr. John Watson at the time of his sudden death while on a lecture tour in the west left the manuscript of his six lectures in Vanderbilt university so well prepared that they are to be issued this fall.

The historical hall of the knights in the castle of Kronsburgh, named as the residence of Hamlet, has been further decorated with another statue of Shakespeare, the work of the famous Danish sculptor Hasserly.

When William M. Chase was in Florence, Italy, recently he was invited by Director Ferri of the Royal Uffizi gallery to present his portrait to the famous collection of portraits of ancient and modern painters painted by themselves. He will do the work this season. The first American to be so honored was the late G. P. A. Healy, and the second was John S. Sargent.

GLEANINGS.

There are 1,000 Chinese words that have each ten different meanings.

Turkey pays its public officials less than any other nation in the world.

Human hair to the value of nearly $5,000,000 is annually sold in France.

A woman in England stands a chance, as figures show, of living three years longer than a man.

Edward Carnage, a one legged negro of Macon, Ga., makes his living by street exhibitions of high jumping. Getting some one to hold his crutch breast high, he jumps over it like a kangaroo.

James Wight of Rockland, Me., was surprised the other day to receive a letter plainly postmarked "Hell." Upon opening it he found that it was from a friend who is on one of Uncle Sam's warships and that it had been mailed from a village of that name in Norway.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Dip a piece of cheesecloth in kerosene and let evaporate; then use the cloth as a duster. It will take up dust without scattering it and polish at the same time.

Take an old teakettle and cut the bottom out and place over irons heating on a gas or kerosene stove. The irons will heat much quicker, and it will save gas.

Instead of scouring the bottom of the dishpan when greasy wipe it off with a small rag dipped in kerosene. Burn the rag. Try it and see how easily the grease comes off, and your dishpan will never have a leak.

There is nothing better to keep the furniture bright than common coal oil. Dampen a soft cloth with it and rub all the varnished surfaces with it, including doors, casings, baseboards, etc., and they will always be fresh and bright.

Earl Dunmore a Confederate Captain.

It is not generally known that as Captain Charles Murray the deceased Earl Dunmore served with the Confederacy of America for three years, and in 1862 he was a participant in the adventurous attempts at blockade running of that period. He commanded the steamer Nashville when it ran the Federal blockade on April 24, 1862. Afterward he joined General Robert E. Lee and remained with him for several months.—London Telegraph.

Something New in Copper

PITTSBURG - IDAHO

Mining and Milling Company

The mine is located 58 miles above Lewiston, Idaho, on the Clearwater river, and consists of 19 full claims, or 380 acres. It is developed by tunnels, shafts and open cuts for more than 2100 feet, disclosing thousands of tons of copper, gold and silver ores of both high grade and low grade. There are between 1000 and 2000 tons of ore ready for shipment. The entrance to the working tunnel is only 2000 feet from the track of the Northern Pacific railroad, to be reached by gravity tramway. There are seven parallel veins running lengthwise of the claims, one cropping out on the surface for 2,200 feet and another for 3000 feet; while two veins cross these running into the mountain. These veins are from 30 to 200 feet wide. One ore chute has been crosscut 90 feet and is solid ore from wall to wall.

We are not asking you to buy in a prospect. That risk was taken by the promoters. We are asking you to buy in a developed, proven mine. Seven years of continuous work and the expenditure of thousands of dollars has proven up one of the greatest mines in Idaho. That mine is now ready to pour out its red and yellow wealth to the world with the installing of an up to date production plant. It is for that purpose that a block of its treasury stock, full paid and non-assessable, is offered for sale. We believe that within six months from the completion of a 100 ton plant the mine can be put on a dividend paying basis, and that those dividends will be substantial and permanent. There is no better investment proposition before the people at this time.

AIKENSIDE

BY MARY J. HOLMES

Author of "Dora Deane," "The English Orphans," "Lena Rivers," "The Rector of St. Mark's," "Tempest and Sunshine," Etc.

It was at least a minute before he spoke again, and when he did, it came out how he had concluded it best to send her and Jessie to school for a year or two at least; not that he was tired of teaching her, but it would be better for her, he thought, to mingle with other girls and learn the ways of the world. Aikenside would still be her home, still the place where her vacations would be spent with Jessie if she chose, and then he spoke of New York as the place he had in view, and asked her what she thought of it.

Maddy was too much stunned to think of anything at first. That the good she had coveted most should be placed within her grasp, and by Guy Remington, too, was almost too much to credit. She was happy at Aikenside, but she had never expected her life there to continue very long, and had often wished that when it ended she might devise some means of entering a seminary as other young ladies did. But she had never dreamed of being sent to school by Guy, nor could she conceive of his motive. He hardly knew himself, only he liked her, and wished to do something for her. This was his reply to her tearful question:

"Oh, Mr. Remington, you are so good to me; what makes you?"

He liked her, and all over Maddy's face there spread a beautiful flush as the words rang in her ears. And then she told Guy how much she wished to be a teacher, and so take care of her grandparents and her poor Uncle Joseph. It seemed almost cruel for that young creature to be burdened with the care of those three half-helpless people, and Guy shuddered just as he usually did when he associated Maddy with them, but when he listened while she told him of all the castles she had built, and in every one of which there was a place for "our folks," as she termed them, it was more in the form of a blessing than a caress that his hand rested on her shining hair.

"You are a good girl, Maddy," he said, "and I am glad now that I have concluded to send you where you can be better fitted for the office you mean to fill than you could be here, but I shall miss you sadly. I like little girls, and though you can hardly be classed there now, you seem to me much like Jessie, and I take pleasure in doing for you as I would for her. Maddy——"

Guy stopped, uncertain what to say next, while Maddy's eyes again looked up inquiringly.

He was going now to tell "the little girl much like Jessie" of Lucy Atherstone, and the words would not come at first.

"Maddy," he said, again blushing guiltily, "I have said I liked you, and so I hope will someone else. I have written of you to her."

Up to this point Maddy had a vague idea that he meant the doctor, but the "her" dispelled that thought, and a most inexplicable feeling of numbness crept over her as she asked faintly:

"Written to whom?"

Guy did not look at Maddy. He only knew that her head moved out from beneath his hand as he replied:

"To Miss Atherstone—Miss Lucy Atherstone. Have you never heard of her?"

No, Maddy never had, and with that same numbness she could not understand, she listened while Guy told her who Lucy Atherstone was, and why she was not at that moment the mistress of Aikenside. There was no reason why Guy should be excited, but he was, and he talked very rapidly, never once glancing at Maddy until he had finished speaking. She was looking at him intently, wondering if he could hear as she did the beatings of her heart. Had her life depended upon it, she could not at first have spoken, for the numbness which, like bands of steel, seemed to press all the feeling out of it. She did not know why it was that hearing of Lucy Atherstone should affect her so. Surely she ought to be glad for Guy that he possessed the love of so sweet a creature as he described her to be. He was glad, she knew, he talked so energetically so much as if it were a pleasure to talk, and she was glad, too, only it had taken her so by surprise to know that Mr. Guy, whom she had rather consider as exclusively her own and Jessie's, was engaged, and that some time, before long it might be, Aikenside would really have a mistress. She did not quite understand Guy's last words, although she was looking at him, and he asked her twice if she would like to see Lucy's picture ere she comprehended what he meant.

"Yes," came faintly from the parted lips, about which there was a slight quiver as she put up her hand to take the case Guy drew from his bosom.

Turning it to the light, she gazed silently upon the sweet young face, which seemed to return her gaze with a look as lifelike as her own.

"What do you think of her—of my Lucy? Is she not pretty?" Guy asked, bending down so that his dark hair swept against Maddy's, while his warm breath touched her burning cheeks.

"Yes, she's beautiful, oh! so beautiful, and happy, too. I wish I had been like her. I wish——" And Maddy burst into a most uncontrollable fit of weeping, her tears dropping like rain upon the inanimate features of Lucy Atherstone.

Guy looked at her amazed, his own heart throbbing with a keen pang of something undefinable as he listened to her stormy weeping. What did ail her? he wondered. Could it be that the evil against which he was providing had really come upon her? Was Maddy more interested in him than he supposed? He hoped not, though with a man's vanity he felt a slight thrill of satisfaction in thinking that it might be so. Guy knew this feeling was not worthy of him, and he struggled to cast it off, while he asked Maddy why she cried.

Child as she was, the real cause of her tears never entered her brain, and she answered:

"I can't tell why, unless I was thinking how different Miss Atherstone is from me. She's rich and handsome, I am poor and homely and——"

"No, Maddy, you are not;" and Guy interrupted her.

Gently lifting up her head, he smoothed back her hair, and keeping a hand on each side of her face, said, pleasantly:

"You are not homely: I think you quite as pretty as Lucy; I do, really," he continued, as her eyes kindled at the compliment. "I am going to write to her to-night, and shall tell her more about you. I want you to like each other very much when she comes, so that you may live with her. Aikenside would not be Aikenside without you, Maddy."

In all his wooings of Lucy Atherstone, Guy's voice had never been tenderer in its tone than when he said this to Maddy, whose lip quivered again, and who involuntarily laid her head now upon his knee as she cried a second time, not noisily, but quietly, softly, as if this crying did her good. For several minutes they sat there thus, the nature of their thoughts known only to each other, for neither spoke, until Maddy, half ashamed of her emotions, lifted up her head, and said:

"I do not know what made me cry, only I'd been so happy here that I guess I'd come to think that you only liked Jessie and me. Of course I knew that some time you would see and think all the world of somebody else, but I did not expect it so soon. I am afraid Miss Atherstone will not fancy me, and I know most I shall not feel as free here, after she comes, as I do now. Then your being so good, sending me to school, helped me to cry more, and so I was very foolish. Don't tell Miss Atherstone that I cried. Tell her, though, how beautiful she is, and how glad I am that she loves you, and is going to be your wife."

MIXED IN THE THUNDER.

A Scene in "Macbeth" That Was Not on the Playbill.

It is related of Cooke, the actor, that when a youth, being without the necessary cash to pay for a seat "in front," he got behind the scenes one night and hid himself in a barrel. He had for companions two large cannon balls, but the youth, not being initiated into the mysteries of the place, did not suspect that cannon balls helped to make thunder in a barrel as well as in a twenty-four pounder.

The play was "Macbeth," and in the first scene the thunder was required to give due effect to the situation of the crouching witches. It was not long ere the Jupiter Tonans of the theater, alias the property man, approached and seized the barrel, and the horror of the concealed boy may be imagined as the man proceeded to cover the open end with a piece of old carpet and tie it carefully to prevent the thunder from being split.

Cooke was profoundly and heroically silent. The machine was lifted by the brawny stage servitor and carried carefully to the side scene lest in rolling the thunder should rumble before its cue.

All was made ready, the witches took their places amid flames of resin, the thunder bell rang, the barrel received its impetus with young Cooke and the cannon balls, the stage stricken lad roaring lustily, to the amusement of the thunderer, who neglected to stop the rolling machine, which entered on the stage, and Cooke, bursting off the carpet head of the barrel, appeared before the audience, to the horror of the weird sisters and to the hilarity of the spectators.—London Mail.

MUSHROOMS.

Those That Are Poisonous Always Carry the "Death Cup."

Mushrooms when poisonous are the most dangerous plants in existence, as there is no antidote for the poison. Without going into the intricacies of the edible "meadow" (Agaricus campestris), and the "horse" mushroom (Agaricus arvensis), which are among the most wholesome and valuable vegetables, and of the numerous other harmless and nutritious varieties, as distinguished by their dark spores from the poisonous kind with white spores, one rule of observation will preserve the health and safety of any one collecting wild mushrooms for eating. Without the use of a single technical term, the difference in poisonous and nonpoisonous mushrooms is easily shown, even to a novice. What botanists call the "death cup," the volva around the stipe, or, in plainer terms, the socket around the stem, is never absent from the deadly mushrooms. Sometimes it is distinct, well above ground, up around the lower part of the stem; then again it is below ground, but not attached to the stem so as to lose the cup shape, and sometimes it grows upon or is attached to the stem, giving it a bulbous, swollen base. Severely reject every plant that has a bulbous stem or the cup standing out around the stem. All edible and harmless mushrooms have straight stems, the same size from the root to the cap.—Georgia Torrey Denman in Good Housekeeping.

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Biliousness, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific bodily condition.

It was the fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop to the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—today direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative Wafers that original and highly vital principle of such lasting accomplishments were ever to bring. Your stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, sour breath and pallor completion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. Mystification.

His weakness was prevarication. His wife detested lying and constantly urged him to mend his ways. One morning she said: "Will, see if you can't be perfectly truthful today. Don't tell a lie. Now, promise!" He promised and went away to work. When he came home to dinner, she said:

"Dear, did you keep your promise?"

"I did," he replied soberly.

Then he caught her in his arms.

"Darling," he cried, "I will not lie to you. When I said I had kept my promise to you, I did not tell the truth; but, believe me, that was the only lie I told all day."

For twenty-two seconds she was lost in perplexity. Then she gave it up; the problem was too deep for her.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at an Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

The homesteader is required to perform the homestead duties under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of a homesteader has permanent residence on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of a homestead, or upon a homestead entered for by him in the vicinity, such homesteader may perform his own residence duties by living with the father (or mother).

(4) The term "vicinity" in the two preceding paragraphs is defined as meaning not more than nine miles in a direct line exclusive of the width of road allowances crossed in the measurement.

(5) A homesteader intending to perform his residence duties in accordance with the above while living with parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

Six months' notice in writing must be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of intention to apply for patent.

Vice-President ..... JUDGE CHAS. L. HAYES,
Mine Owner and Leading Attorney of Goldfield, Nevada

Secretary and Treasurer ..... ADAMS F. BROWN,
Corporation and Mining Lawyer and Member of Listing Committee Goldfield Stock and Exchange Board.

Depository ..... JOHN S. COOK & CO.
Bank of Goldfield, Nevada.

This company owns 140 acres (80 claims) of some of the best proven mineral land in the Goldfield district, consisting of the Accidental and Accidental No. 2 code claims, situated two and one-half miles south of the great Goldfield Consolidated Mines (comprising the Mohawk, Goldfield, Combination, Red Top, Jumbo and Laguna), the richest in the world; and the Broadway and Beauty code claims situated three and one-half miles north of the Consolidated and about one and one-half miles northwest of the Great Bend and Daisy Mines near the Zeon group in the Diamondfield section and only in richness to the great Mohawk portion of the camp. Phenomenally rich strikes have recently been made on the Consolidated, the Great Bend and the Daisy Mines.

The company has also succeeded in securing the Sure Thing code claim (20 acres) in the Cuprite district, which has an immense gold bearing ledge, running the entire length of the claim 1,500 feet, outcropping in places over 50 feet wide, and met by several cross dykes all carrying fine values in gold, and is without doubt rightly named "Sure Thing."

All of these claims are located in the same mineral belt as the other noted mines of Goldfield that have astonished the world by their production of millions in high grade ore, and with with the same development give equally profitable returns.

The money derived from the sale of this stock will be used at once for the active development of the property and the fact that all the directors are residents of Goldfield with years of successful mining experience who will give their personal attention at all times to the progress of the work goes to show that the first issue of 100,000 shares will meet with a quick and ready sale at the initial price of 10 cents per share.

We advise immediate action if you wish to participate in the vast profits of this Bonanza Mine.

Stock will be listed on all exchanges feasible on the Goldfield and San Francisco Stock and Exchange Boards. We would therefore advise purchasers to buy in board lots of 1,000 shares when convenient to do so.

Systematic Catarrh Has But One Cure

Lotions and Powders Will Never Help Unless the Blood is Given Attention

The way to radically and permanently cure catarrh is to cleanse the blood of the unhealthy secretions that keep the mucous membrane inflamed.

Catarrhal poison usually interferes with the stomach, kidneys and liver. These organs must be properly toned and strengthened, or else you feel sick all over.

To go direct to the source of the trouble—to cleanse, nourish and purify the blood—where can you find anything so potent as Dr. Hamilton's Pills?

This grand medicine regulates the eliminating organs and completely drives the virus of catarrh out of the system. Thousands of cures prove this.

Of course to clear the nose and head of mucous discharges, Dr. Hamilton recommends the use of Catarrhozone Inhaler which, if used with his pills of Mandrake and Butternut, cures the most obstinate case of Catarrh ever known. All dealers sell Dr. Hamilton's Pills in 25c. boxes.

Dogs Killing Sheep

Mr R. H. Howden, on Monday last had two lambs killed in North Monaghan by dogs. It is now up to Mr. Howden's neighbor, whose dogs killed his sheep to make good and pay for the damage done. Mr. Howden yesterday assured a Times representative, and his news was later on corroborated, that he knows the name of the man whose dogs killed his sheep; it might be further added that while Mr. Howden shows no vindictive spirit, he is determined to make the man owning the dogs pay for his loss.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Mr. Wright is now located at Baltimore and brings with him the highest recommendations. As soon as Mr. Wright arrives, it is expected that the association work will certainly thrive.

MacPherson the Plumber

Mr. F. R. J. MacPherson, the George street plumber, yesterday imported a machine of great utility to electricians. The machine referred to is used to measure wire, whether insulated or not. The wire, as above noted is taken by hand; the end shoved into an apperture in the machine. The wire is pulled through and when the required length, say 25 feet, or possibly 200 yards are drawn through, the machine suspends operations. Before beginning operations an index on the dial is set to measure the length wanted and when such amount is drawn through the machine, whether getting tired or recognising what is wanted, stops the flow of the passing wire which is then cut off at the actual length required. Mr. MacPherson by this importation, as well as by other better known accomplished business transactions here clearly demonstrated his fitness to be classed among the leading electricians of this city.

Indecent Assault Case At Belleville

The Belleville Intelligencer says, John Gordineer was this morning arrested on a rather serious charge, namely, that of alleged indecent assault upon Mrs. James Shadrick, the latter being connected with the theatrical company which gave a performance here last evening.

In the absence of the magistrate, Mayor Sulman was on the bench.

Gordineer pleaded not guilty to the charge preferred against him alleging that it was a case of mistaken identity.

The plaintiff in her evidence, swore positively that the accused, at an early hour in the morning, came into her bed room in the Victoria Hotel, and indecently assaulted her. She alarmed her husband, who was asleep and he also swore that Gordineer was the party he saw making his exit from the room. The time was about two o'clock in the morning. The outcome was that the accused was committed for trial. Mr. Anderson represented the Crown and Gordineer had no lawyer.

The Modesty of Women

Naturally makes them shrink from the indelicate questions, the obnoxious examinations, and unpleasant local treatments, which some physicians consider essential in the treatment of diseases of women. Yet, if help can be had, it is better to submit to this ordeal than let the disease grow and spread. The trouble is that so often the woman undergoes all the annoyance and shame for nothing. Thousands of women who have been cured by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription write in appreciation of the cure which dispenses with the examinations and local treatments. There is no other medicine so sure and safe for delicate women as "Favorite Prescription." It cures debilitating drains, irregularity and female weakness. It always helps. It almost always cures. It is strictly non-alcoholic, non-secret, all its ingredients being printed on its bottle-wrapper; contains no deleterious or habit-forming drugs, and every native medicinal root entering into its composition has the full endorsement of those most eminent in the several schools of medical practice. Some of these numerous and strongest of professional endorsements of its ingredients will be found in a pamphlet wrapped around the bottle, also in a booklet mailed free on request, by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. These professional endorsements should have far more weight than any amount of the ordinary lay, or non-professional testimonials.

The most intelligent women now-a-days insist on knowing what they take as medicine instead of opening their mouths like a lot of young birds and gulping down whatever is offered them. "Favorite Prescription" is of KNOWN COMPOSITION. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 50 stamps for cloth-bound.

If sick consult the Doctor, free of charge by letter. All such communications are held sacredly confidential.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate and regulate stomach, liver and bowels.

TENDERS FOR PULPWOOD CONCESSIONS

Tenders will be received by the undersigned up to and including the 16th of December next for the right to cut pulpwood on certain areas tributary to the Nepigon river, in the district of Thunder Bay, and Rainy Lake, in the district of Rainy River, and make the same into paper. Tenderers should state the amount they are prepared to pay as bonus in addition to such dues as may from time to time be fixed for the right to operate a paper making industry on the areas referred to. Separate tenders must be made for each area or territory, and the successful tenderers will be required to erect a mill or mills on each of the territories or in such other localities as may be approved by the Government of Ontario.

Parties tendering for the pulpwood rights shall accompany their tenders with a marked cheque for 25 per cent of the amount tendered, payable to the Treasurer of Ontario, and to be forfeited in the event of their failing to enter into agreements to carry out conditions, etc.

With respect to the Rainy Lake Pulp Concession, tenderers will be required to make a tender for the right to cut the pine, tamarac and cedar on the territory offered. Parties making tender for these timbers to state the amount they are prepared to pay per thousand feet B.M. as bonus in addition to Crown dues of $2.00 per thousand feet B.M. A marked cheque for $5,000.00 payable to the Treasurer of Ontario must accompany the tender for pine timber, and is to be forfeited in the event of their failing to enter into agreements to carry out conditions, etc.

No timber shall be cut on either of the concessions of a less diameter than nine inches, two feet from the ground.

The successful tenderers to enter into agreements with the Government for the erection of the mills, expenditure of money, etc.

For full particulars as to the conditions, etc., application should be made to the undersigned.

DRANK LIQUOR DISTILLED THROUGH CATTLE CAR FLOOR

Hungry, or Thirsty Local Option Residents Drink a Mixture Calculated to Discust, If not Kill the Most Confirmed Hobo

Talking of the inadvisability of mixing one's drinks, reports received from Chatham, Ont., demonstrate that certain individuals haled before the police court there, had imbibed some of the strangest and, evidently unpalatable and unsavory and ill-smelling decoctions ever tackled by human beings, even though such H.B. had thirsts aboard reaching from Montreal to Vancouver. It seems that in a recent train wreck in a cattle car, that had not been cleaned or relieved of such litter as accumulated during the previous shipment, had been laden with a mixed cargo of alcoholic beverages of all kinds, including whiskey, gin, rum, port, ale, porter, champagne, creme-de-menthe, maraschino, absinthe, plain soda and other beverages, whose names are beyond the cognizance of humble newspaper reporters, and whose use is unknown by the pencil driving fraternity. Well, after the wreck the accumulated leakage from the various destroyed packages naturally trickled through the floor of the car and a number of people with more thirst than good taste or discretion got busy collecting and inwardly absorbing the escaping fluids. Whilst no sympathy is due to those stealing this accidentally spilled decoction, it does seem that either the present or after effects of drinking the escaping alcoholic beverages would have been sufficient punishment for the thieves. Still they were all, including a wealthy farmer, fined.

The offence was committed in a local option town and certainly the drinking of such a mess was optional and the very act of drinking such stuff should have been enough to have sickened if not killed those participating. If the mixture did not kill them their departments of the interior must be made of copper lined, brass rivitted, steel bound and weather proof material.

Mob Used Pitchforks Revolvers and Clubs to Stop Irish Hunt

Dublin, Oct. 30.—Matters have come to a crisis in connection with the dispute between the Ormond Hunt, Kings County, and the local branch of the United Irish League. The latter is opposed to the grazing system and has been agitating for breaking up the grazing lands and for their distribution to enlarge small holdings.

The graziers are the chief obstacle. Certain graziers are members of the Ormond hunt, and the league some time ago informed the hunt committee that if they were not allowed to follow the hounds the hunt would be stopped. Negotiations ensued and it was then announced that the Messrs. Kenny, who are chiefly timed at agreed not to hunt during the season.

This, however, was not considered sufficient, and the United Irish League circulated a notice broadcast on Sunday calling on the people to assemble their hundreds at the opening of the meet this morning at the master's. Mr. Craddock's residence, teach the insolent men a lesson by stopping the hunt.

More than five hundred people, all armed with heavy sticks, assembled, and, headed by a band, marched, to Mr. Craddock's residence.

As the crowd drew near Mr. Craddock's place they created a terrible din, the band playing, horns and tin whistles being blown and others cheering.

At the entrance to the private grounds in front of the mansion, Mr. Corbet Craddock and half a dozen police cleared the way, but were quickly swept aside and an excited throng of several hundreds broke down the ornamental shrubs and swarmed all over the place, all waving sticks, and the ringleaders declared that the hunt would be stopped.

At this juncture, Mr. Michael Hogan, M.P., for North Tipperary, arrived and exerted his influence to prevent the breach of peace which seemed very imminent.

Shortly after Mr. E. F. Saunders, Mrs. Saunders and Grant Saunders rode up and were met with boos and hisses.

The crowd declined to let them pass through, but Mr. Saunders at length got an opening and passed on. Mrs. Saunders, in attempting to follow, was prevented, and a justice of the peace, who was on foot and endeavoring to make way for her was severely hustled. He had his hat knocked off and narrowly escaped violence. Knew from a stick.

A parish priest succeeded, with Mr. Hogan, in keeping the more violently disposed members of the opposition within bounds.

At length the hunt committee appointed three members to confer with a like number from the league, but the conference came to no agreement, the league demanding as a minimum the exclusion of the Messrs. Kenny from the hunt.

The master decided that in view of the threatening attitude of the crowd it was inadvisable to bring out the hounds, and those present rode off amidst rounds of cheering by the crowd.

Police Court

Yesterday's session of the police court was well attend, the Sons of Rest turning out to see James Murray, the prisoner who some days ago pleaded guilty to pulling a revolver on P. C. Newhall at the C.P.R. station at midnight a week ago Monday. Crown Attorney Wood appeared for the prosecution, while the prisoner had no counsel.

Murray with resisting an officer who was trying to arrest him and others, and also attempt to discharge a loaded revolver. The prisoner elected to be tried by a jury. Mr. Wood said as the prisoner had so chosen he would lay a further information against him. He made the two charges as above separately, saying he might fail on one and win on the other. It is well to have two strings to your bow. Evidence was taken in the case of the attempt to discharge a revolver at P. C. Newhall.

The officer went into the box and identified the prisoner as the C.P.R. station that night he was there. Newhall was absent and P. C. Adams at the other. At the west end the prisoner and two other men came towards him. The prisoner said, "Hey, Jack, I'll give you what to owe me," which witness tried to do. The latter Prisoner off rich the ring for $1.50 as he wanted to get away by the train. Witness knew prisoner had sold several other rings.

Prisoner told him two differ or stories as to whence he came. He declared to arrest the men for peddling without a license. He told Murray and another of the trio he was a police officer and caught them by their coat collars. They both struggled hard, kicking him several times. The second man broke away, leaving part of his coat in witness' hand. Prisoner put his hand behind his back, and said, "I've got something that will fix you, you son ——." Witness then saw a revolver, and struck him twice, once on the hand holding the revolver, which fell to the ground and once on the leg. Prisoner said, "I wish I had you in a twenty acre field and I would have plugged you full of lead." I read all about you this summer, you dirty English coward." He then took prisoner to the station. He brought the revolver, produced in court, to the station. It was loaded in six chambers and prisoner had a box of cartridges in his pockets. Prisoner had $1.50 in silver on his person. The revolver is worth about 20 cents a dozen.

Prisoner, before the Way, you tell the truth and not try to [illegible] story.

Jos. Hawthorne, the Original hotel night watchman, said he had seen the prisoner struggling violently with two men. He assisted in helping to overpower the men.

The prisoner was then committed for trial at the spring assizes.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

The reason Postum builds up the human body to a prime condition of health, is that when coffee is left off the drug effects of its poison—caffeine—disappear and the elements in postum unite with the albumen of food to make gray matter and rebuild the delicate nerve centres all over the body and in the brain. This sets up a perfect condition of nerve health, and the result is that the entire body feels the effect of it. "There's a Reason."

Fifteen Thousand Persons Buried Alive in a Landslide in Russian Turkestan--Two Survive

Tashkend, Russian Turkestan, Oct. 30.—The whole of the town of Karatagh, in Bokhara, has been destroyed and the entire population, numbering about 15,000 persons, was buried by a mountain slide following the recent earthquake there. The governor of Karatagh and his mother, were the only persons who survived the disaster.

The town of Karatagh is about 1,300 miles south of Bombay, British India. The Province of Bokhara, lies immediately north of Afghanistan. It is in the eastern part, hilly and fertile. Spurs of the Paropamisan range in the southeast give rise to a number of streams. The western part presents the appearance of a vast desert, similar to those of Arabia, devoid of all animals. The climate is temperate. February and October are the rainy seasons. The winters are open, though sometimes snow covers the ground for a fortnight.

Bokhara, the city, is the capital of the khanate, and has a population of about 70,000.

The inhabitants of the province, roughly estimated at about 2,500,000 in numbers, are of different races Uzbecks, Tajiks, Turkomans, Afghans, Kirghiz, Arabs, Kalmucks, Hindoos and Jews. The Tajiks are supposed to be the most ancient inhabitants and resemble Caucasians. Turkish dialects are spoken. The prevailing religion is Mohammadan.

EARTHQUAKE OCTOBER 21

Karatagh is 100 miles southeast of Samarkand, in Russian Turkestan, where severe earthquake shocks occurred October 21, causing a great deal of damage. At Samarkand only two women were killed by falling houses; though the population in alarm fled from their dwellings and camped out in the streets and other open spaces.

On October 21, the weather bureau at Washington announced that seismic instruments recorded an earthquake beginning at eleven o'clock the previous night and lasting until early in the morning of October 21. Its origin was believed to have been at a point west of Australia, in the Southern Indian Ocean.

SEVERAL SHOCKS.

The same day London announced that prolonged earthquake shocks beginning at five o'clock in the morning of October 21, and lasting for several hours, had been recorded on the instruments on the Isle of Wight and at Lulbach, Austria. The distance of the disturbance were at those points estimated as being over 3,000 miles from the observatory which recorded them.

St. Petersburg reported several earth shocks in Central Asia, at Lutkurgan, Khokand, and other places on the same day, in addition to Samarkand, which caused more or less injury.

Dave Hartley 6 Hours Ahead of Time

Oshawa, Oct. 31.—Hartley reached here at nine minutes past seven, being over six hours ahead of schedule time. He arrived here in good shape and looks to have a cinch to win. He finished the first half of his journey in 15 hours and seven minutes, and has 21 hours in wich to finish the remaining half.

It now looks as though Dave Hartley, the local pedestrian, who yesterday started on his great effort to annihilate distance by a straight heel and toe walk, from one mile west of Oshawa to Toronto and back to Peterborough, via Port Hope to Peterborough, will win out. Hartley left Whitby yesterday morning at six a.m., and arrived at the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, at 12,26 o'clock noon, and left on the return trip, after a short rest during which he took a small quantity of food. The following telegram was received at the Munro House from Toronto;

"Hartley registered at the King Edward Hotel at 12.26."

The local champion-to-be is reported as, as noted, one mile west of Oshawa, thirty-two miles west of Port Hope. He made the distance to Toronto, about 34 miles in 6 hours and 26 minutes of about a mile every 12 minutes. If Hartley can keep it up he will make the 130 miles in 36 hours. He is due to arrive at the Munro House, Hunter street tonight at six o'clock. He was, as noted in yesterday's issue of The Times accompanied by Messrs. Geo. Stevens and his son Charles of this city. The fact that two Peterborough citizens were to accompany him had to quite a number of people, (wise-acres who are apt to cavil at even the story of Jonah and the whale or any other historic incident) to think that Hartley would receive illegal assistance. This problem is however solved beyond dispute when it is announced that Reynolds, already known to fame as a long distance walker and Mr. Bennett of Port Hope, will accompany him through the walk. In fact, on the return trip, Reynolds will walk with or pace Hartley from Oshawa to Port Hope; this demonstrates beyond contradiction that whether Hartley wins or not, his walk will be on the dead square.

Hartley made the first nine miles in one hour and 57 minutes, arriving at Pickering in this time. At Dunbarton he was twelve miles on his journey and had cover d the distance in two hours and 27 minutes, or at a rate of a mile in 12 1-4 minutes. At 9.11 he was at Agincourt, about 15 miles from the King Edward Hotel, Toronto. The distance from Agincourt to Toronto, was made in three hours and nine minutes.

Hartley was being cheered along the road by farmers and the people of the towns and villages through which he passed.

It might be stated that Hartley wants to cover the same distance as Jimmie Reynolds, and as Peterborough is 32 miles from Port Hope the latter started 32 miles nearer Toronto than at present.

In a letter received at the Munro House, Mr. Stevens gives great praise to Mr. L. Bennett, proprietor of the Queen's Hotel, Port Hope. Mr. Bennett would accept nothing for meals furnished Mr. Stevens and his son at Port Hope, and made preparations to furnish Hartley with a batch, etc., when he reaches Port Hope on the return trip.

On the return trip Hartley after leaving the King Edward Hotel, did the distance between the place and the Halfway House, eight miles in one hour and forty-nine minutes, which looks like an eventual win.

Two Killed; One Crushed at Port Arthur

Port Arthur, Oct. 30.—Two foreigners were killed and four men injured by the collapse of a building owned by Mayor Clavet this evening. The building was being completed by Contractor Hamer. At five o'clock a large gang of men had left work, and when the accident took place, half an hour later, only six men were in it. Messrs. Hargit and Holberg, blacksmiths, were busy putting on cornices. They saw the roof of the block cave in, when there was a trembling of the structure and they were thrown out for safety. Fortunately they were hurled far enough to escape being buried by tons of brick and debris that was piled up on the street, and escaped with but slight injury.

At the time of the accident there were working in the building several foreigners, engaged in plastering. Two men named Waltz and Young were electricians. When the accident occurred, Waltz was on the first floor and Young in the basement. Waltz was knocked down and pinned there by heavy timbers. Young was also knocked down, but before the main structure piled on him he was able to crawl to the latter, and by assisting up close to this, was enabled to escape further injury. The foreigners received such injuries that they died. One of the men in attempting to gain freedom was pinned under the heavy material. Every attempt was made to get him out alive, but the heavy stuff settled about him, and he was soon dead. On investigation it was found that there were others under the ruins of the building.

Mr. Robt. Hay is Convalescent

Yesterday a friend of Mr. Robt. Hay, called on him at the Nicholls Hospital. Mr. Hay has been in the hospital for about six weeks, and while naturally somewhat thinner was cheerful and expects soon to once more attend to his business. Mr. Hay is suffering with paralysis of the throat, which has given him great difficulty in swallowing even liquid nourishment. Still under the skilful treatment given by his medical adviser, in his private room at the hospital, Mr. Hay is now able to take solid food. His many friends in the battery will be pleased to learn of his convalescence. Mr. Hay yesterday expressed his pleasure that Sergt.-Maj. Fee, who sustained injuries at the Peace Camp, that resulted in loss of sight in one eye, and who has recently been discharged from the Toronto General Hospital, has escaped with so little disfigurement. Even in the midst of his own troubles, Mr. Hay's thoughts ran along the line of his friend's recovery.

Many Will Take in the Lindsay Trip

A special train will be run by the G.T.R. to Lindsay this afternoon on account of the election. It will be impossible to accommodate on the regular morning train all those who will attend the game between the Vics and Peterborough Owls, so a heavy holiday traffic the G.T.R. could only spare one coaches for the special, and this will provide accommodation for 240 people. Intending visitors to Lindsay should get their tickets at the up-town C.P.R. ticket office as early as possible. Lindsay may also be reached by the 11.35 a.m. G.T.R. train which runs by way of Millbrook and reaches Lindsay at two o'clock in the afternoon.

Morning Times

This paper is the only Morning Daily published between Toronto and Ottawa, and is largely read throughout Eastern Ontario.

Strangers visiting Peterborough are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the office of the Morning and Weekly Times, where they will be furnished with writing material, if needed.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press, and receives telegraphic news each morning up to four o'clock.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the district at 25 cents per month, and to outside points at $3 per year, strictly in advance.

TRAIN AND TRACK.

New York city's subways are now carrying 80,000 more passengers daily than they did one year ago.

The street car companies of Chicago, St. Louis, Cleveland and Buffalo have ordered cars of the Montreal "pay-as-you-enter" type.

There are now at work on the new Western Pacific railroad, under construction from Salt Lake City to San Francisco, 7,000 men. About 400 miles of the line will be finished by the end of this year.

A writer in the Frankfurter Zeitung protests indignantly against the idea that the American Pullman cars are more comfortable and elegant than first class cars in Europe, and he adds that the American railway companies are now beginning to get rid of the Pullman cars and build their parlor and sleeping cars after European models.

ODD ACCIDENTS.

In an effort to help a wounded sparrow William Longberry of Philadelphia fell off the roof of a house and was killed.

Mrs. Mary Carman was killed near Osage, N. J., by a freak of the wind which tore up a chicken house, whirled it around and threw it on the woman, crushing her skull.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pool, aged fifty-six and fifty-two respectively, were killed at the same minute, the husband by an explosion in a coal mine and the wife in the railroad yards at Centralia, Ill.

A fighting water bird, known as the stake driver, was captured near Portland, Mich., by Byron Aldrich. When he blew smoke at the captive the bird plunged its bill deep into the man's eye, the sight of which will probably be destroyed.

Industrial Items.

Steel piles are now economically cut off by the use of the electric arc.

The mail order houses of Chicago alone do a business of about $100,000,000 per annum.

To check a cold quickly, get from your druggist some little Candy Cold Tablets called Preventics. Druggists everywhere are now dispensing Preventics, for they are not only safe, but decidedly certain and prompt. Preventics contain no Quinine, no laxative, nothing harsh nor sickening. Taken at the "sneeze stage" Preventics will prevent Pneumonia, Bronchitis, La Grippe, etc. Hence the name, Preventics. Good for feverish children. 25 Preventics 25 cents. Trial Boxes 5 cents. Sold by all dealers.

Woman's World

MRS. KATE E. JONES.

The New President of the Woman's National Relief Corps.

Mrs. Kate E. Jones, the new national president of the Woman's Relief corps, who was elected to its highest office by the great woman's auxiliary of the G. A. R. at the annual encampment in Saratoga last summer, is one of the ablest of patriotic workers. In choosing her the Woman's corps has honored one of its best known veterans.

Mrs. Jones is a pioneer in the work of the W. R. C. She has been in the movement ever since it began, and she helped it to begin. It was Mrs. Jones who organized and was made president of the first Woman's Relief corps in New York state. That was in September, 1883. Six months later, through her efforts, the department of New York state was formed.

She was elected national chaplain in 1888; has served two years as department president and four years as department counselor. For the past four years Mrs. Jones has been devoting her efforts to the new work of patriotic instruction, inaugurated by the Woman's Relief corps, in which she has done efficient work, traveling all over the country and introducing new features—the department presentation of flags, the badge pin contests and the flag mission to the white schools of the south.

MRS. KATE E. JONES.

Mrs. Jones gets her patriotic impulse directly, being a lineal descendant of the Herkimer-Schuylers of Revolutionary fame. A strong effort was put forth for her election last year. She won out this year in a lively contest for the leadership.

Why We Do These Things.

Many customs are so common that we have lost sight of their origin. Times and habits have changed. Relics of olden days have been handed on and carried down from generation to generation to our present day.

Shaking hands is an example and began in this way: When adversaries were making a truce with one another each found it wiser to grasp the other's weapon hand to insure himself against treachery. The truce concluded, they became friends, and so the custom grew as a salutation between friends. Even nowadays enemies do not shake hands till peace—a truce—is made.

Perhaps the modern woman discovered the origin of the courtesy, and that is why it has dropped out of use. At one time it was the custom for women to go on the knee to men of rank to beg for mercy, and later it became an acknowledgment of superiority. That is why it is still retained where royalty is concerned, but the example of the old country woman who still "bobs" to the squire's lady is not followed by the younger generation, and the pretty courtesy that was the fashion when our grandmothers held sway is now forsaken and almost obsolete.

In the days when armor was more fashionable than silk hats or panamas the helmet was only raised when no danger was near, so to lift the hat was a sign that the wearer dared to stand in the presence of the person so greeted unarmed.

What of the oldest of old customs, the kiss?

To kiss is to adore, and the word adore signifies simply to carry the hand to the mouth. Kissing the hand to the statue of a god was a Roman form of adoration and as a mode of salutation expressed reverence and worship. To kiss the book when taking an oath is a public acknowledgment that you adore the deity whose book you kiss. To kiss the lips is to adore the living breath of the person saluted. In Scripture allusion is made to kissing the hem of garments, which signifies an adoration of anything belonging to or touching the wearer, while kissing the feet or ground was to humble oneself in adoration.

He Got Even.

A sculptor was praising the personality of the late Augustus St. Gaudens.

"He was a strangely generous and upright man," the sculptor said. "He could stoop to nothing mean or ignoble even in the case of his worst enemy.

"A few years ago there had been a squabble in certain art circles, and some rather ignoble things had been done. These things depressed St. Gaudens. He told me that in their nastiness they reminded him of a young Frenchman he had known at the Ecole des Beaux Arts in Paris.

"This Frenchman was riding with St. Gaudens on a tram one summer day when the wife of an instructor at the school entered.

"'How do you do, madame?' said the French student politely. 'Did you enjoy your stay at Ostend last week?'

"'Thank you,' said the lady, 'but I have not been at Ostend.'

"The other looked amazed.

"'But surely,' he said, 'I saw your husband there and on the hotel register'—

"'Hush!' whispered St. Gaudens sharply. 'Hush, you idiot!'

"And just then, very pale, trembling slightly, the lady rose and got off the tram.

"St. Gaudens after she was gone said:

"'Did you really see old'—

"'No, of course not,' the French student interrupted, with an impatient, snarling laugh. 'But the beast flunked me last term, and I have been waiting to get even ever since.'"

The Genuine Rug.

The imitations are so clever that it is well to know when one is purchasing a genuine oriental rug. If real and not an imitation, each stitch will be found knotted, whether of cotton or wool. But if one can pull out a stitch then the rug is not genuine, no difference how much it may resemble one or what the dealer says. If a rug is accidentally burned and the charred part is brushed off, leaving the color the same, the rug is undeniably good, though this is no method for finding out when one is making a purchase. Even damaged rugs are brought here and sold, for the older some of the rugs are the more value is attached to them.

Don't Find Fault.

It doesn't pay to be continually finding fault. It is a very easy matter to pick flaws, for no one's work is perfect, but fault finding is apt to become chronic and grow on one just as an evil habit does, increasing day by day.

There is nothing so disagreeable as to visit a house where fault finding is continually going on, where, even at the breakfast, dinner and tea table, some one or other is constantly being found fault with for some trifling error.

Sometimes, of course, it is necessary, but not nearly so often, I fancy, as some of us are apt to imagine.

For Cleaning Silver.

Take two ounces of best yellow soap, four ounces of common soda, six ounces of whiting and one pint of boiling water. Shred the soap finely and dissolve in the water with the soda; then stir in the whiting and let it simmer on the stove till all comes to a cream, stirring often. To clean plate rub the paste all over the silver with a hot, wet flannel; then wash each piece in water and dry at once. No leather is required if a dry cloth is used.

Newest of Cooking Wrinkles.

This is the way a woman who has lived in Normandy serves her cabbage, after the Norman fashion: She takes out the center and saves it for cold slaw. Into the hollow left she fills a dressing made of cold cooked meat cut fine, a minced onion, boiled rice and seasoning of kitchen herbs, salt and pepper. She ties the stuffed cabbage into a cloth and boils it for an hour. A sauce made of the liquor in which it was cooked is served with it.

New stockings should always be washed before being worn, for the washing causes slight shrinkage and makes them wear better.

A new range should be very gradually heated to prevent the possibility of cracking.

WHY STAY RHEUMATIC?

Nothing Short of Folly When Cure is Guaranteed with Ferrozone.

Rheumatism can't be cured so long as your system is weak and run down. You must first build up and get strength to fight off the disease.

Ferrozone cures because it builds up, because it renews the blood and dissolves the uric acid and the poisons that cause rheumatism.

It is proved right here that Ferrozone does cure.

Col. H. M. Ruse, of Edwards, St. Lawrence Co., one of the fine old heroes of the Civil War, was completely restored by Ferrozone. Read his statement:

"I couldn't get around without a cane, and then only with difficulty. Rheumatism took complete control of my limbs.

"The suffering was more intense than hardships on the battle field.

"When my doctor had done his best I got Ferrozone.

"Then came a quick change.

"Ferrozone gave me comfort at once, eased the pain and took the stiffness out of my muscles.

"I am well today. Ferrozone cured me completely. I can jump and run like I did forty years ago."

Be sensible about your case. Ferrozone is known on all sides to be a cure that does cure. Why not get a supply today. The sooner you begin Ferrozone the quicker you'll get well. Price 50c per box or 6 for $2.50, at all dealers.

Something New in Copper

PITTSBURG - IDAHO
Mining and Milling Company

The mine is located 58 miles above Lewiston, Idaho, on the Clearwater river, and consists of 19 full claims, or 380 acres. It is developed by tunnels, shafts and open cuts for more than 2100 feet, disclosing thousands of tons of copper, gold and silver ores of both high grade and low grade. Ore bins are between 1000 and 2000 tons of ore ready for shipment. The mine is to the working tunnel is only 2000 feet from the track of the Northern Pacific railroad, to be reached by gravity tramway. There are seven parallel veins running lengthwise of the claims, one cropping out on the surface for 2400 feet and another for 3000 feet; while two veins cross these running into the mountain. These veins are from 30 to 200 feet wide. One ore chute has been crosscut 00 feet and is solid ore from wall to wall.

We are not asking you to buy in a prospect. That risk was taken by the promoters. We are asking you to buy in a developed, proven mine. Seven years of continuous work and the expenditure of thousands of dollars has proven up one of the greatest mines in Idaho. That mine is now ready to pour out its red and yellow wealth to the world with the installing of an up to date production plant. It is for that purpose that a block of its treasury stock, full paid and non-assessable, is offered for sale. We believe that within six months from the completion of a 100 ton plant the mine can be put on a dividend paying basis, and that those dividends will be substantial and permanent. There is no better investment proposition before the people at this time.

AIKENSIDE

BY MARY J. HOLMES

Author of "Dora Deane," "The English Orphans," "Lena Rivers," "The Pastor of St. Mark's," "Tempest and Sunshine," Etc.

Maddy's voice was very steady in its tone. She evidently meant what she said, but Guy, the bad man, did not feel as graciously as he ought to have felt in knowing that Maddy Clyde was glad "Lucy loved him, and was to be his wife."

Guy was rather uncomfortable, and as Maddy was in some way associated with his discomfort, he did not oppose her when she arose to leave.

Had Maddy been more a woman, or less a child, she would have seen that it was well for her to know of Lucy Atherstone before her feelings for Guy Remington had assumed a definite form. As it was, she never dreamed of how near she was to loving Aikenside's young heir; and while talking with Jessie of the grand times they should have at school, she marveled at that little round spot of pain which was burning at her heart, or why she should wish that Guy would not speak of her in his letter to Lucy Atherstone.

But Guy did speak of her, frankly confessing the interest he felt in her, telling just how people were beginning to talk, and asking Lucy if she cared, declaring that if she did, he would not see Maddy Clyde any more than was necessary. In a little less than four weeks there came an answer from Lucy, who, with health somewhat improved, had returned to England, and wrote to Guy from Brighton, where she expected to spend the summer, half hoping that Guy might join her there, though she could not urge it, as mamma still insisted that she was not able to take upon herself the duties of a wife. Then she spoke of Maddy Clyde, saying "She was not one bit jealous of her dear Guy. Of course, ignorant, meddling people, of whom she feared there were a great number in America, would gossip, but he was not to mind them." Then she said that if Maddy were willing, she would like so much her picture, as she had a curiosity to know just how she looked, and if Maddy pleased, "would she write a few lines, so as not to seem so much a stranger?"

Lucy Atherstone had been educated to think a great deal of birth, and blood, and family, and Guy never did a wiser thing than when he told her that, according to English views, Maddy was a lady. Lucy asked for a line from Maddy, partly to mortify that pride, and partly to prove to Guy how free she was from jealousy.

"Darling little Lucy, I do love her very dearly," was Guy's comment, as he finished reading her letter, feeling somewhat as if her mother were a kind of cruel ogress, bent on preventing him from being happy. Then, as he remembered Lucy's hope that he might join her, and thought how much easier of access New York was than Brighton, he said, half petulantly:

"I've been to England for nothing times enough. When that mother of hers says I may have Lucy, I'll go again, but not before. It don't pay."

And crushing the letter into his pocket he went out upon the piazza, where were assembled Maddy, Jessie, and Mrs. Agnes; the latter of whom had come to Aikenside the day before.

At first she had objected to the boarding-school arrangement, saying Jessie was too young, but Guy as usual had overruled her objections, as he had those of Grandpa Markham, and it was now a settled thing that Maddy and Jessie both should go to New York, Mrs. Agnes to accompany them if she chose, and having a general supervision of her child. This was Guy's plan, the one which had prevailed with the fashionable woman, who, tired of Boston, was well pleased with the prospect of a life in New York; Guy's interest in Maddy was wholly inexplicable to her, unless she explained it on the principle that in the Remington nature there was a fondness for governesses, as had been exemplified in her own history. That Guy would ever marry Maddy she doubted, but the mere possibility of it made her set her teeth firmly together as she thought how embarrassing it would be to acknowledge as the mistress of Aikenside the little girl whom she had sought to banish from her table. Since her return she had had no opportunity of judging for herself how matters stood, and was consequently much relieved when, as Guy joined them, he began at once to speak of Lucy, telling of the letter, and her request for Maddy's picture.

"Me? Mine? You cannot mean that?" Maddy exclaimed, her eyes opening wide with wonder, but Guy did mean it, and began to plan a drive on the morrow to Devonshire, where there was at that time a tolerably fair artist.

Accordingly, the next day the four went down to Devonshire, calling first upon the doctor, whose face brightened when he heard why they had come. During the weeks that had passed the doctor had not been blind to all that was passing at Aikenside, and the fear that Guy was more interested in Maddy than he ought to be had grown almost to a certainty. Now, however, he was not so sure. Indeed, the fact that Guy had told her of Lucy Atherstone would indicate that his suspicions were groundless, and he entered heartily into the picture plan, saying laughingly that if he supposed Miss Lucy would like his face he'd sit himself, and bidding Guy to be sure to ask her. The doctor's gay spirits helped raise those of Maddy, and as that little burning spot in her heart was fast wearing away, she was in just the mood for a most admirable likeness. Indeed, the artist's delight at his achievement was unbounded, as he declared it the very best picture he had ever taken. It was beautiful, even Agnes acknowledged to herself, while Jessie went into raptures, and Maddy blushed to hear her own praises. Guy said nothing, except to ask that Maddy should sit again, this was good, but a second might be better. So Maddy sat again, succeeding quite as well as at first, but as the artist's preference was for the former, it was left to be finished up, with the understanding that Guy would call for it as the ladies passed down the stairs. Guy lingered behind, and when sure they were out of hearing, said in a low voice:

"You may as well finish both; they are too good to be lost."

The artist bowed, and Guy, with a half-guilty blush, hurried down into the street, where Agnes was waiting for him. Two hours later, Guy, in Mrs. Conner's parlor, was exhibiting the finished picture, which in its handsome casing was more beautiful than ever, and more natural, if possible.

"I think I might have one of Maddy's," Jessie said, half pouting; then, as she remembered the second sitting, she begged of Guy to get it for her, "that was a dear brother."

But the "dear brother" did not seem inclined to comply with her request, putting her off, until, despairing of success, Jessie, when alone with the doctor, tried her powers of persuasion on him, coaxing until in self-defense he crossed the street, and entering the daguerrean gallery asked for the remaining picture of Miss Clyde, saying that he wished it for little Miss Remington.

"Mr. Remington took them both," the artist replied, commencing a dissertation on the style and beauty of the young girl, all of which was lost upon the doctor, who, in a kind of maze, quitted the room, and returning to Jessie, said to her carelessly: "He hasn't it. You know they rub out those they do not use. So you'll have to do without; and, Jessie, I wouldn't tell Guy I tried to get it for you."

Jessie wondered why she must not tell Guy, but the fact that the doctor requested her not was sufficient. Consequently, Guy little guessed that the doctor knew what it was he carried so carefully in his coat pocket, looking at it earnestly when at home and alone in his own room, admiring its soft, girlish beauty, half shrinking from the lifelike expression of the large, bright eyes, and trying to convince himself that his sole object in getting it was to give it to the doctor after Maddy was gone! It would be Outclassed.

Mrs. Upjohn—I felt really sorry for poor Mrs. Hopperdyke afterward, but she has been so stuck up lately that I had to take her down a peg.

Mrs. Highmore—How did you do it?

Mrs. Upjohn—I happened to know the exact size of the legs of her new dining table, and when she was here yesterday I showed her our dining table with legs nearly half as large again. You never saw anybody so mortified in your life.—Chicago Tribune.

All in the Family.

"I suppose you feel the necessity of a great deal of social activity on the part of your family?"

"Yes," answered Mr. Cumrox, as he laid aside the daily paper, "mother and the girls have to be right industrious to get complimentary notices in the society pages that'll offset the roastings we billionaires get in the news columns."—Washington Star.

Inhuman Fellow.

"Upon what grounds do you seek a divorce?" asked the lawyer whom she had just retained. "Nonsupport, cruelty or"

"Both," she cried tearfully. "He would not support my passionate longing for a diamond necklace, and if that isn't cruelty, I'd like to know." Philadelphia Press.

Beyond Computation.

"Are there many mosquitoes around here?"

"Young man," answered Farmer Cornstossel, "that's a mighty hard question to answer. They're so big an' spry that you can't tell whether there's a whole lot or only a few. There ain't no time to count 'em."—Washington Star.

A Hint.

"Medical skill," sneered my patient, "cannot save a man from dying."

"No," I replied. "Sometimes in very desperate cases it can't even save a man from dying rich."

In this it was my purpose to allude cuttingly to the extreme difficulty I had had in collecting my bill against him.

Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys surely point to weak kidney Nerves. The Kidneys, like the Heart, and the Stomach, find their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide and strengthen them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the Kidneys alone, is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well.

If your back aches or is weak, if the urine scalds, or is dark and strong, if you have symptoms of Bright's or other distressing or dangerous kidney disease, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative a month—Tablets or Liquid—and see what it can and will do for you. Druggist recommend and sell

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homestead by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-agency for the district in which the land to be taken is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at an Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

The homesteader is required to perform the homestead duties under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of a homesteader has permanent residence on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of a homestead, or upon a homestead entered for by him in the vicinity, such homesteader may perform his own residence duties by living with the father (or mother).

(4) The term "vicinity" in the two preceding paragraphs is defined as meaning not more than nine miles in a direct line exclusive of the width of road allowances crossed in the measurement.

(5) A homesteader intending to perform his residence duties in accordance with the above while living with parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

Six months' notice in writing must be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of intention to apply for patent.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

1908

THE UNDERSIGNED will receive tenders up to noon on Monday, 4th November, 1907, for supplies of Butchers' Meat, Creamery or Dairy Butter, Flour, Oatmeal, Potatoes, Cordwood, etc., etc., for the following institutions during the year 1908, viz.:—

At the Asylums for the Insane at Toronto, London, Kingston, Hamilton, Mimico, Brockville, Cobourg, Orillia and Penetanguishene; the Central Prison and Mercer Reformatory, Toronto, and the Hospital for Epileptics at Woodstock.

Exceptions—Tenders are not required for the supply of Meat to the Asylums in Toronto, London, Kingston, Hamilton, and Brockville, nor for the Central Prison or Mercer Reformatory, Toronto.

A marked cheque for five per cent of the estimated amount of the contract, payable to the order of the Provincial Secretary, must be furnished by each tenderer as a guarantee of his bona fides. Two sufficient sureties will be required for the due fulfilment of each contract, and should any tender be withdrawn before the contract is awarded, or should the tenderer fail to furnish security, the amount of the deposit will be forfeited.

Specifications and forms of tender may be had on application to the Department of the Provincial Secretary, Toronto, or to the Bursars of the respective institutions.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without written authority from the Department will not be paid for it.

Depository ..... JOHN S. COOK & CO.
Bank of Goldfield, Nevada.

This company owns 4 claims (80 acres) of some of the best proven mineral land in the Goldfield district, consisting of the Accidental and Accidental No. 2 lode claims, situated two and one-half miles south of the great Goldfield Consolidated Mines (comprising the Mohawk, Goldfield, Combination, Red Top, Jumbo and Laguna) the richest in the world; and the Broadway and Beauty lode claims situated three and one-half miles north of the Consolidated and about one and one-half miles northwest of the Great Bend and Daisy Mines near the Zion group in the Diamondfield section second only in richness to the great Mohawk portion of the camp. Phenomenally rich strikes have recently been made out here Consolidated, the Great Bend and the Daisy Mines.

The company has also succeeded in securing the Sure Thing lode claim (20 acres) in the Cuprite district, which has an immense gold bearing ledge, running the entire length of the claim 1,500 feet, outcropping in places over 50 feet wide, and met by several cross dykes all carrying fine values in gold, and is without doubt rightly named "Sure Thing."

All of these claims are located in the same mineral belt as the other noted mines of Goldfield that have astonished the world by their production of millions in high grade ore, and will with the same development give equally profitable returns.

The money derived from the sale of this stock will be used at once for the active development of the property and the fact that all the directors are residents of Goldfield with years of successful mining experience who will give their personal attention at all times to the progress of the work goes to show that the first issue of 100,000 shares will meet with a quick and ready sale at the initial price of 10 cents per share.

We advise immediate action if you wish to participate in the vast profits of this booming Mine.

Stock will be listed as soon as feasible on the Goldfield and San Francisco Stock and Exchange Boards. Would therefore advise purchasers to buy in board lots of 1,000 shares when convenient to do so.

Why Women Have Coarse Rough, Sallow Skin

Because Poor Digestion and Improper Elimination Have Clogged the Stomach.

Womanly beauty is largely the outward expression of health.

Every woman with pale cheeks and poor complexion needs medicine—needs a potent tonic to regulate her system.

To tone up the stomach—to insure good digestion—to give new life and vitality to the whole system—where is there a remedy like Dr Hamilton's Pills?"

Dr Hamilton's Pills enable you to eat what you like—they correct constipation—make nourishing blood—instil force and vim into a run-down system

If nervous and can't sleep your remedy is Dr Hamilton's Pills—they search out the cause of your condition and you rise in the morning refreshed, strong, vigorous, ready for the day's work.

Dr Hamilton asks every weak and debilitated person to use his Mandrake and Butternut Pills. They make old folks feel young, and weak folks feel strong. Their effects upon insomnia and languor is marvellous. Hundreds declare they soothe and quiet the nerves so that a good night's rest always follows their use.

To look well, to feel well, to keep well, use Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They are mild, cleansing, strengthening—good for the young or old. Sold by all dealers in 25c boxes.

The Badge of Honesty

Is on every wrapper of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery because a full list of the ingredients composing it is printed there in plain English. Forty years of experience has proven its superior worth as a blood purifier and invigorating tonic for the cure of stomach disorders and all liver ills. It builds up the run-down system as no other tonic can in which alcohol is used. The active medicinal principles of native roots such as Golden Seal and Queen's root, Stone and Mandrake root, Bloodroot and Black Cherrybark are extracted and preserved by the use of chemically pure, triple refined glycerine. Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce at Buffalo, N. Y., for free booklet which quotes extracts from well-recognized medical authorities such as Drs. Bartholow, King, Scudder, Coe, Ellingwood and a host of others, showing that these roots can be depended upon for their curative action in all weak states of the stomach, accompanied by indigestion or dyspepsia as well as in all bilious or liver complaints and in all "wasting diseases" where there is loss of flesh and gradual running down of the strength and system.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" makes rich, pure blood and so invigorates and regulates the stomach, liver and bowels, and through them, the whole system. Thus all skin affections, blotches, pimples and eruptions as well as scrofulous swellings and old open running sores or ulcers are cured and healed. In treating old running sores, or ulcers, it is well to insure their healing to apply to them Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve. If your druggist don't happen to have this Salve in stock, send fifty-four cents in postage stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., and a large box of the "All-Healing Salve" will reach you by return post.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic medicine of known composition, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Sugar-coated, tiny granules, easy to take as candy.

TENDERS FOR PULPWOOD CONCESSIONS

Tenders will be received by the undersigned up to and including the 16th of December next for the right to cut pulpwood on certain areas tributary to the Nepigon river, in the district of Thunder Bay, and Rainy Lake, in the district of Rainy River, and make the same into paper. Tenderers should state the amount they are prepared to pay as bonus in addition to such dues as may from time to time be fixed for the right to operate a paper making industry on the areas referred to. Separate tenders must be made for each area or territory, and the successful tenderers will be required to erect a mill or mills on each of the territories or in such other localities as may be approved by the Government of Ontario.

Parties tendering for the pulpwood rights shall accompany their tenders with a marked cheque for 25 per cent of the amount tendered, payable to the Treasurer of Ontario, and to be forfeited in the event of their failing to enter into agreements to carry out conditions, etc.

With respect to the Rainy Lake Pulp Concession, tenderers will be required to make a tender for the right to cut the pine, tamarac and cedar on the territory offered. Parties making tender for these timbers to state the amount they are prepared to pay per thousand feet B.M. as bonus in addition to Crown dues, or $2.00 per thousand feet B.M. A marked cheque for $5,000.00 payable to the Treasurer of Ontario must accompany the tender for pine timber, and to be forfeited in the event of their failing to enter into agreements to carry out conditions, etc.

No timber shall be cut on either of the concessions of a less diameter than nine inches, two feet from the ground.

The successful tenderers to enter into agreements with the Government for the erection of the mills, expenditure of money, etc.

For full particulars as to the conditions, etc., application should be made to the undersigned.

CHINESE BECOMING ALARMED BY THE JAP'S AGGRESSIONS

Japan Is the Chief Menace to China--Independent Post Office Forbidden by China--Court Returns to Pekin

Pekin, Nov. 1.—Japan today began entrusting the transportation of the Japan-Pekin mails to the care of the Chinese posts, which is an outcome of China's coercive action in refusing Japan the use of the Imperial Railways for her mail couriers. China's action was induced by Japan's postal aggressions, her independent post-office service in China having been trebled in two years, and also to France's attempted re-establishment of couriers from Yunnan, where the Indo-China post has been operated since 1904.

It is yet uncertain if France will withdraw her Indo-China post couriers, who have been operating since a fortnight ago.

The Chinese are sincerely alarmed at the undeviating correlated aggressions of Japan and her allies, and many Chinese are forming a distinct idea that Japan is China's prime menace.

Seventy stations north of Kuan Cheng Tsu have been added to the China telegraph system as a result of the Russo-Chinese telegraph convention.

Although the Dowager Empress was reported on October 13 to be ill the entire court returned from the summer palace to the forbidden city last night for the winter. Grand Councillors Yuan Shin Kai and Chang Chih-Lung are following the court. About eleven thousand troops recently brought from Paoting-Fu garrisoned the twelve miles intervening between the summer palace and Pekin.

EMPRESS' SISTER DEAD.

Considerable mystery surrounds the death three weeks ago of the Princess Shun, the Empress' sister, on account of the reserve maintained regarding women. As the Princess was a favorite of the ladies here many of the latter desired to condole with the court, but the officials were unable to enlighten the legations in regard to the passing away of the Princess.

The suspension of the court's reception to foreigners for the past year and a half is accepted as evidence of the accuracy of the reports regarding the dowager's ill-health.

Two Syracuse Men Drifted Helpless on Lake Ontario

Syracuse, N.Y., Nov. 1.—H. E. Foster, a Syracuse medical student, and H. W. Remmer reached Syracuse last night from Kingston, Ont., after being storm-tossed in a motor boat on regarding the dowager's ill-health.

They had planned to come to Syracuse from the Thousand Islands with their boat, and Saturday anchored off Oswego. They were awakened in the night by the rocking of the craft, and found themselves out in the lake beyond sight of land. For hours they tried in vain to make the engine work, and finally gave up the effort. The curtains of the boat served as a sail, carrying them swiftly in a direction they could not determine. The waves began to fill their boat, and they rigged up a pump. At this Remmer became exhausted, and Foster continued pumping for twenty hours. The men say they were seasick, hungry, chilled to the bone and thoroughly exhausted, keeping up their fight only in desperation.

Early Tuesday morning they saw lights ahead, and, with poles as paddles, managed to reach the shore about 4.30 o'clock. They found a farm house, and later got their boat to Kingston, where it was put in drydock for the winter.

Police Court

The police court yesterday was three-quarters of an hour late in opening as the county crown attorney, chief of police and the magistrate held a long conversation in the city clerk's office, deciding how certain information against three prisoners, Edward Donohue was charged with assaulting Walter Mercer as was Francis LaPlante. The assaults were alleged to have been made in the township of Smith. Edward Pilling was charged with unlawfully causing a disturbance in a railway car in the township of Smith. Mr. Gordon appeared for the latter defendant, and Mr. Kerr for the other two. Mr. Wood for the prosecution, noted that the railway authorities were not ready to proceed with the cases. The magistrate fixed bail in the sum of $300 each, enlarging the case until Monday morning. It seems that the row occurred, was filled with women and children who were terrorized over the affray.

A local barber was charged with having kept his barber shop open between the hours of eight p.m. and eight a.m., contrary to a city bylaw. The defendant pleaded not guilty.

A young man testified that he got shaved in defendant's shop on Tuesday night at about eight o'clock. He left his home on Roswell avenue, but could not swear whether before or after eight o'clock when he entered defendant's place he called first at another barber shop, situated near that of defendant and found it closed.

The barber at whose shop the witness first called, said when said witness called at his shop it was ten minutes after eight. He saw last witness enter defendant's shop afterwards. It was a good deal after eight.

The defendant was fined $5 and $4.10 costs, or $9.10 altogether, said fine to be paid in ten days.

Entertainment at Stewart's Hall

A splendid Thanksgiving Day concert and supper was held at Stewart's Hall, Otonabee, Thursday evening. A fowl supper was served from six to eight o'clock. The tables were filled many times and ample justice done to the spread. Mr. Johnston very ably filled the chair, and a splendid program was rendered.

Local Man Visits Orillia

Mr. Wm. Staunton is up from Peterborough, on his annual visit to his daughter, Mrs. (Capt.) T. W. Wood. It is fifteen years since Mr. Staunton removed from Orillia, and he notes many changes for the better here, but speaks in most optimistic terms of Peterborough, where many acres of land within the city limits, in nature about seven or eight years ago, are now thickly built upon.—Orillia News-Letter.

A Lively Time Thanksgiving Day

Those in this city who did not or could not get their money's worth of excitement had better tackle the business end of a buck-saw and saw against time of the particular knotty chunk they saw. Things were lively from the start of the Examiner road race to the end of Mark Sproule's speech after Dave Hartley arrived from his long walk. In the evening several kinds of excitement, hitherto hidden behind the south ends of many corks were on tap. Still the city and outlooms were good.

Hallowe'en Goes off Quietly

Peterborough boys did fairly well on Hallowe'en. Although several hundred women of the city thought a hail storm had arisen, developing into disgrace that the hail stones were only split peas hurled through tin tubes by the concentrated breaths of a few score lads who evidently had their imagination cans on and thought they were "Plugging the haughty redskins after the latter had lifted the scalps of scores of settlers. This kind of safety valve to youthful exuberance hurts neither the boys nor the windows and still keeps pace with old traditions. Still some boys put for mischief more than for fun exposed a few gates and broke in a few windows. Taking the fat with the lean however, the lads behaved very creditably.

Boys Enter Into Walking Contest

Thursday's Excitement Inspired Youths to Emmulate Hartley's Example

The news of the great walk done by Dave Hartley caused not only excitement among the public in general but emulation of such work among some boys of the city incidentally causing certain parents much mental anxiety.

It will be remembered that Mr. Geo. Stevens of the east ward, and his son Charles, accompanied Hartley on his long and eminently successful walk Well, yesterday morning two mothers, between breakfast and dinner time got uneasy over the prolonged absence of their respective sons or each.

The explanation of the boys' absence is thus made clear. At ten o'clock a.m. Geo. Stevens, jr., aged six, and Bert and Harold Cook, next door neighbors of Mr. Geo. Stevens, left the city for parts then unknown to their respective parents. The Cook boys were about eight years old. In due time the absence of the youths was noticed and Mrs. Cook with Mrs. Stevens drove to Lakefield searching for the missing lads. The trio were located at Lakefield, where they had walked to, arriving in that village shortly after eleven o'clock. The boys went to the Cook boys' grandmother's for dinner, and were there corralled and brought back to the city in Mrs. Cook's rig. The boys seemed as proud over their walk to Lakefield as was Hartley over his splendid record between Whitby to Toronto and back to Peterborough. Mr. George Stevens, sr., to tell the truth, while having to administer parental reprimand to his son over the latter's unexcused and unauthorized outing, was as proud as a peacock over the latter's juvenile but good time between here and Lakefield.

Reynolds Challenges Peterboro Walker

It seems that Reynolds the Port Hope walker, is out in the Toronto papers, with a $1000 challenge to walk Peterborough's successful pedestrian, Dave Hartley, from Cobourg to Toronto and return. Now it is not up to us to throw either mud at or cold water on the plucky Port Hope harbor. Still, if he, or his backers mean business. The Times has it on good authority that Reynolds can get all the money and all the walking he or his backers want, and that Dave Hartley can get several times $1000 that will say he can beat the Port Hoper on this ramble as suggested in yesterday's Toronto papers. Peterborough does not and will not take a bluff from such source. Reynolds did well and may do better but he would be well advised not to let irresponsible dwellers on the lake side lead him into biting off more than he can chew. There is no doubt whatever but what Hartley can walk faster, stay better and last longer than can the admittedly plucky and capable Port Hope professional artist. Reynold's record is practically beaten and he might as well, after his good efforts as present, admit the same. The Peterborough walker can outwalk him or any other man over said route.

Torpedo Boat Destroyer Was Battered to Pieces by Fortress and Gunboats, and All on Board Killed

St Petersburg, Nov. 1.—According to the official report of the recent mutinous outbreak of sailors at Vladivostock, the crews of three torpedo boat destroyers, the Skori, Strodity, and Trevolshny, mutinied, hoisted the red flag, and shelled the port, doing considerable damage to various buildings and killing some soldiers and civilians.

The Skori, on board of which were three revolutionary agitators, including one woman, took the lead in the mutiny, the crew rising at the instance of the agitators, killing the commander of the boat, and wounding the other officers, who were overpowered and confined below decks.

SURROUNDED THE SKORI.

The fire of the rebellious torpedo boat destroyers was answered by the batteries ashore, and from the gunboat Manjour and the torpedo boat destroyers, Grosovoy, Smely, and Zhera. They surrounded the Skori, and poured a raking fire into her, which battered her to pieces, exploded her two boilers, and caused fire to break out on board. Nearly all the mutineers of the Skori were killed on the vessel. The three or four survivors threw themselves into the sea.

QUELLED MUTINY ON ONE.

The mutiny on board the Trevolshny was quelled by her own crew, after six of the mutineers had been killed and six wounded. General Unterberger, commanding the military district of the Amur has arrived at Vladivostock, and assumed charge of the situation.

AN AMERICAN HURT.

The United States embassy here today received a dispatch from the consul at Vladivostock, saying that the American who was wounded during the bombardment of Vladivostock by the mutinous torpedo boat destroyers is Harry Nisbett, an employe of the Pacific Commercial Company, whose building was struck by a

U. S. Troops Fought with Red Indians in Southern Utah

Washington, Nov. 1.—In a battle between United States troops and Indians, which occurred in Southern Utah several days ago, three persons were killed and another wounded, all believed to have been Indians. The news of the occurrence was conveyed to the Indian Bureau in a telegram from Superintendent Shelton of the San Juan agency, which, though dated yesterday, was not received until today. The army command consisted of four officers, seventy-four men, and three Indian scouts.

Local Shriners at Semi-Annual Meet

Messrs. A. A. Fowler, A. P. MacLean, F. W. Doan, W. Stocker, Charles Anderson, W. J. Francis, Samuel Taylor and W. H. Bradburn, attended the semi-annual ceremonial session of Ramesis Temple of Mystic Shriners, at the Temple Building, Toronto, with about 400 nobles from Ontario and many visitors from the United States. There was a class of 74 candidates to ride the goat and the ceremonies were carried out with great zeal.

A GREAT DAY FOR LOCAL RUNNERS AND PEDESTRIANS

Dave Hartley, the Hero of the Hour--Fred Simpson Sprang a Surprise at Hamilton--The Examiner Road Race

HAMILTON RACE.

Fred Simpson, the Hiawatha boy, who sprang a big surprise in athletic circles when he got second place in the Hamilton Herald Road race on Thursday, arrived in the city yesterday morning, accompanied by his trainer, Dick Baker. He doesn't feel fatigued to any great extent by his long run.

Simpson ran a magnificent race. He was handicapped, however by the fact that he had no pacemaker for the event. The majority of the other starters had one and the pacemakers materially assisted their men. The Hiawatha speed machine thinks if he had been paced, he would have had a much better chance against the fleet footed Coley, who managed to win out by over a third of a mile. Lawson who finished third, was 37 seconds behind Simpson. The latter says the course was swarmed with automobiles for the first ten miles, when the starters were pretty well bunched, and several of the runners, including Simpson, were crowded off the best part of the road. However, the speedier runners broke away from the rest of the starters after the first ten miles had been covered, and the going on the sandy road was pretty open, the course not being blocked to any great extent. There were 37 starters in the race, including some of the fastest men in America, and considering what he was up against Simpson's showing was a marvellous one.

The race started at 9.05 in the morning, and a mammoth crowd gathered to see the runners off. The twenty-seven men got away amid great excitement and thousands of people were on hand to see them finish.

Owing to the great and universal interest taken in Dave Hartley's long walk, and its successful termination the matter is now too generally known to require more than a few words of congratulation to this eminent pedestrian. Hartley, who is 34 years old, started from Oshawa, walked to Toronto, back to Peterborough, via Port Hope. He smashed Jimmy Reynolds record cold, and is today the fastest and pluckiest pedestrian Peterborough has raised. Great credit is due to the Munro House for the substantial aid that popular house of entertainment gave the local walker. Mr. Munro's excitement was visible in Peterborough over this contest against time and space than has been visible here for many a month. Hundreds of people between two p.m. and the time of Hartley's arrival flocked to Charlotte street and the gravel road, including a bus load of the fifth Regt. bandsmen to meet, greet and welcome the successful sprinter.

Left starting point, one mile west of Oshawa, at 8a o'clock Wednesday morning.

Reach Whitby, in 37 minutes, and Pickering, 12 miles from starting point in 1 hour 11 minutes and Dunbarton, three miles further, in 56 minutes. Highland Creek, fifteen miles from Toronto was reached at 9.47 and Toronto at 12.20 noon, by the timekeeper's watch, or 12.23, according to the clock at the King Edward hotel.

At the King Edward, Hartley ate a good dinner, had a bath and rubdown and left on the return trip at 1.20. Highland Creek was reached at 1.42, Pickering at 6.45, Whitby at 3.03, and Oshawa at 9.07 p.m.

At Oshawa Hartley rested an hour, leaving there at 10.07. Bowmanville was passed through at 12.22. There were no more stops of importance until Port Hope loomed up shortly before six o'clock. Hartley arrived at the Queen's Hotel at six o'clock, had a rub down and a good breakfast, and left on the home stretch at seven o'clock. Over the hills Hartley walked along briskly, and reached Cobourg, 11 miles from Port Hope at 9.53. An hour later, at 10.53, Baillieboro was reached, and there a stop of nearly an hour was made. At this point Hartley changed his underwear, and it was noticed that there was a small water blister on the sole of his right foot. The doctor at Baillieboro dressed the foot. Hartley struck off for Peterborough at a lively clip.

There were over 200 entries and 161 runners finished, so that the showing made by the local runner is highly creditable. D. A. C. Wood, who was, distanced all the other competitors and completed the course in 49 minutes 44 seconds, or nine seconds faster than the time made by Shipman in the first race last year.

Meeting Postponed

The annual meeting of the Young Conservative Club, which was to have been held Thursday afternoon was postponed until Thursday night next, Nov. 7th, at eight o'clock. Mr J. G. M. Wilson presided and considering the counter attractions and the attendant excitement outside, there was a large attendance. The club has had a very good year. Several substantial Thanksgiving decorations were made to the organization by prominent members.

Of Interest To Women.

To such women as are not seriously out of health, but who have exacting duties to perform, either in the way of household cares or in social duties and functions, which seriously tax their strength, as well as to nursing mothers, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has proved a most valuable supporting tonic and invigorating nervine. By its timely use many serious sickness and suffering may be averted. The nursing table and the expectant mother would do well to keep a bottle of it on hand. It allays vomiting, relieves nausea, and tends to a speedy recovery. The "Favorite Prescription" has proven a great boon to expectant mothers by preparing the system for the coming of baby, thereby rendering childbirth safe, easy, and almost painless.

Bear in mind, please that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is not a secret or patent medicine, against which the most intelligent people are quite naturally averse, because of the uncertainty as to their composition and harmless character, but is a MEDICINE OF KNOWN COMPOSITION, a full list of all its ingredients being printed, in plain English, on every bottle-wrapper. An examination of this list of ingredients will disclose the fact that it is non-alcoholic in its composition, chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine taking the place of the commonly used alcohol, in the make-up. In this connection it may not be out of place to state that the "Favorite Prescription" of Dr. Pierce is the only medicine put up for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments, and sold through druggists, all the ingredients of which have the unanimous endorsement of all the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice, and that too as remedies for the ailments for which "Favorite Prescription" is recommended.

A little book of these endorsements will be sent to any address, post-paid, and absolutely free if you request same by postal card, or letter, of Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Constipation is the cause of many diseases. Cure the cause and you cure the disease. Easy to take as candy.

FRANZ-JOSEF

Present indications are that the Emperor of Austria is drawing near the close of his long and strenuous life. In the order of things this could not be much longer deferred, for the Emperor is past 77 years of age, but it is an event, the result of which the diplomats of Europe have not been able to diagnose. He ascended the throne in 1848 as Emperor of Austria, and in 1867 was crowned King of Hungary. The dual monarchy has presented a difficult position, and to compromise I further Austria Host is inhabited by a medley of races, having little in common with each other except their allegiance with Franz Josef. The House of Hapsburg, of which he is descendant, has worn a crown since 1282. The political constitution of Austria-Hungary is unique. There is a ministry for the combined monarchy another for Austria alone and another for Hungary alone. Then there are local governments for the several provinces or local counties. The dual monarchy extends over 240,942 square miles, or within a little more than half are contained in Hungary. The population is upwards of 51,390,000, of which some 24,000,000 live in Austria. The various races represented are Germans, Bohemians, Poles, Ruthenians, Slovenes, Servians, Croatians, Italians, Roumans, Magyars, Gipsies, Turks, Russians and others. In no other part of the world is there so mixed a permanent population in so small an area. There is a strong impression in many quarters that only the personality of the Emperor has kept the combination together, for there is no doubt that he possesses to an unusual degree the confidence of his people of all races. His life has been far from a happy one. Of political vexation he has had his full share, and his family life has been full of calamities. Indeed one may say of the Hapsburgs, that if they were born to rule, they were also born to sorrow. All the governments of Europe are on the qui vive as to what will occur, when the aged monarch passes away. It will take a stronger man than his heir has ever shown himself to be to keep the nation from disintegration. The Emperor of Germany may see his opportunity to add to his domains and his imperial prestige. He has always held his army in readiness to intervene in Austria, if there were any signs of a breaking up of the monarchy.

LOOKS GOOD

The State of Texas has begun a postal card publicity campaign. It is said that 7,250,000 people will have Texas literally put into their hands within twelve months, according to plans projected by the Texas Five Million Club. As a first instalment there has been issued a set of postal cards consisting of twelve subjects. Eleven of the set make up a series of Texas scenes. The views fill the back of the cards, except a narrow margin and room at the bottom for brief inscriptions. The pictures are handsomely colored. Everybody is mailing cards to friends in distant States and in other countries. The idea is all right, and will no doubt place Texas in the limelight all over the continent. Perhaps our 180,000 population scheme could be boosted by just such a post-card campaign.

The movement looks good. Publicity in any and every form is now the acknowledged highway to commercial and industrial success. The most of places, and Peterborough is among the number, have too long allowed their light to be obscured by not vigorously and systematically advertising their advantages. Few places possess the natural and other attractions of this town, and few have displayed a greater paucity of enterprise in the way of advertising. The larger part by far of the public advertising done for Brockville has been the result of enterprising newspapers and its private citizens.

DO YOU FRECKLE?

If So, These Remedies May Be of Service.

Freckle remedies are always in order. Here are several:

Morning and night rub over the skin a combination made of a half dram of boracic acid and a quarter of an ounce of ointment of rosewater. Do not think that this is going to cause the freckles to disappear like magic. It will not. It will simply prevent them from increasing and if they are very light in color will cause them to fade after a time.

Stronger, but quite usable, if one does not unnecessarily expose the face at the time, are sixteen grains of oleate of copper mixed with half an ounce of oxide of zinc ointment. This should be rubbed on night and morning after washing.

Still another lotion that can be applied several times during the day is a mixture of two ounces of lactic acid, one ounce of glycerin and half an ounce of rosewater. It should be mopped on with a bit of muslin.

An ointment that is sometimes more convenient to pack than a liquid is made of ten grains of levigated sulphate of zinc and a half ounce of older flower ointment. These are mixed and rubbed on night and morning.

HOUSEHOLD HELPS.

To wash white silk veil use lukewarm water and nothing but pure white soap and iron with just a warm iron. It is the yellow soap, too hot water and too hot irons that make the silk turn yellow.

Mattress that is crushed and bedraggled, showing that it has suffered from the effects of dampness or even a rain shower, may be revived and freshened by passing it through the steam from a teakettle or a pan of boiling water. After it has been thoroughly moistened the tulle should then be hung in a current of air until it is crisp and dry. Chiffon and mousseline de sole readily respond to a similar treatment.

One woman who does her own ironing has a high chair made for the purpose, in which she sits before the board while she is working.

In dampening clothes use a clean whisk broom. This will dampen the clothes evenly all over and make the weekly ironing a much easier task.

Not Her Forte.

The story goes that a pretty young lady once played in class a ballade by Chopin in a very amateurish way. Liszt walked up and down the room excitedly murmuring: "Heiliger Bimbam! Heiliger Bimbam!" the equivalent apparently of "Great Scott!" But when she had finished he went up to her in a most friendly manner, laid his hand upon her head as if in benediction and said gently: "My dear child, marry soon! Goodby!"

Fearless Women Travelers.

Miss Lavinia Radberg was chosen by Yale university to travel far up into the wilds of the Quinault Indian reservation to take the physical measurements of the braves and squaws there. She has just returned from a journey of a wild and dangerous character through forests, over mountains and over lakes in a frail canoe. Miss Radberg and Miss Zoe Kincaid hold the record for fearlessness among women adventurers.

Keeping Grateful.

"I never eat rich or greasy foods; I never sleep in a closed room; I walk every day—that is all," a prominent actress is said to have answered when asked how she managed to keep her youthful grace and beauty of figure when actually a grandmother. Indolence and indulgence in eating what tastes good regardless of consequences have much to answer for as beauty killers.

If a person is seized with violent convulsions and loss of consciousness, you may know that he has a fit of some kind. The head should be raised a little and no stimulant given; the limbs should be allowed plenty of freedom, and a little hot tea or milk should be given on recovery.

To clean cut glass wash thoroughly with warm suds and cover with sawdust for an hour or two or until perfectly dry, then brush off with a soft brush and it will be clear and sparkling.

A parlor cook stove in first class condition will be sold at a bargain a party has no need for it. Apply at this office for address.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

A ripe tomato cut and rubbed on the face tones and freshens the skin and in some cases will remove yellow spots, including freckles.

Cucumber juice is the best of all bleaches for the skin. When cucumber cannot be obtained fresh ripe grape fruit will be found a good substitute. Cut open and rubbed on the face, it is a tonic as well as a bleach.

Copperas is a perfect disinfectant and should be dissolved in boiling water and poured down any of the drain-pipes about the house. Be careful in pouring this where there is white enamel, as it will turn the enamel yellow.

Complete relaxation after eating—a suspension of mental and physical activity—will favor the processes of natural digestion not only because of its tranquilizing effect upon the nerves, but because the stomach may use the surplus unused energies of the body in the processes of digestion. Happy the man or woman who can take an after dinner nap. It means health, happiness and long life.

Something New in Copper

PITTSBURG - IDAHO
Mining and Milling Company

The mine is located 56 miles above Lewiston, Idaho, on the Clearwater river, and consists of 19 full claims, or 380 acres. It is developed by tunnels, shafts and open cuts for more than 2100 feet, disclosing thousands of tons of copper, gold and silver ores of both high grade and low grade. There are between 1000 and 2000 tons of ore ready for shipment. The entrance to the working tunnel is only 2000 feet from the track of the Northern Pacific railroad, to be reached by gravity tramway. There are seven parallel veins running lengthwise of the claims, one cropping out on the surface for 2000 feet and another for 3000 feet; while two veins cross these running into the mountain. These veins are from 30 to 200 feet wide. One ore chute has been crosscut 30 feet and is solid ore from wall to wall.

We are not asking you to buy in a prospect. That risk was taken by the promoters. We are asking you to buy in a developed, proven mine. Seven years of continuous work and the expenditure of thousands of dollars has proven up one of the greatest mines in Idaho. That mine is now ready to pour out its red and yellow wealth to the world with the installing of an up to date production plant. It is for that purpose that a block of its treasury stock, full paid and non-assessable, is offered for sale. We believe that within six months from the completion of a 100 ton plant the mine can be put on a dividend paying basis, and that these dividends will be substantial and permanent. There is no better investment proposition before the people at this time.

AIKENSIDE

BY MARY J. HOLMES

Author of "Dora Deane," "The English Orphans," "Lena Rivers," "The Rector of St. Mark's," "Tempest and Sunshine," Etc.

such a surprise, and the doctor would be so glad, that Guy finally made himself believe that he had done a most generous thing!

"I am going to send Lucy your picture to-day, and as she asked that you should write her a few lines, suppose you do it now," Guy said to Maddy next morning, as they left the breakfast table.

It was a sore trial to Maddy to write to Lucy Atherstone, but she offered no remonstrance, and so accompanying the picture was a little note filled mostly with praises of Mr. Guy, and which would be very gratifying to the unsuspecting Lucy.

Now that it was fully decided for Jessie to go with Maddy, her lessons were suspended, and Aikenside for the time being was turned into a vast dressmaking and millinery establishment. With his usual generosity, Guy had given Agnes permission to draw upon his purse for whatever was needed, either for herself or Jessie with the definite understanding that Maddy should have an equal share of dress and attention.

"It will not be necessary," he said, "for you to enlighten the citizens of New York with regard to Maddy's position. She goes there as Jessie's equal, and her wardrobe must be suitable."

No one could live long with Maddy Clyde without becoming interested in her, and in spite of herself Agnes' dislike was wearing away, particularly as of late she had seen no signs of special attention on the doctor's part. He had gotten over his weakness, she thought, and so was very gracious toward Maddy, who, naturally forgiving, began to like her better than she had ever dreamed it possible for her to like so proud and haughty a woman. Down at the cottage in Honedale there were many consultations held and many fears expressed by the aged couple as to what would be the result of all Guy was doing for their child. Womanlike, Grandma Markham felt a flutter of pride in thinking that Maddy was going to school in a big city like New York. It gave her something to talk about with her less fortunate neighbors, who wondered, and gossiped, and envied, but could not bring themselves to feel unkindly towards the girl Maddy, who had grown up in their midst, and who, as yet, was wholly unchanged by prosperity. Grandpa Markham, on the contrary, though pleased that Maddy should have every opportunity for acquiring the education she so much desired, was fearful of the result—fearful lest there might come a time when his darling would shrink from the relations to whom she was as sunshine to the flowers. He knew that the difference between Aikenside and the cottage must strike her unpleasantly every time she came home, and he did not blame her for her always apparent readiness to go back. That was natural, he thought, but a life in New York, that great city which to the simple-hearted old man seemed a very Babylon of iniquity, was different, and for a time he demurred to sending her there. But Guy persuaded him, and when he heard that Agnes was going, too, he consented, for he had faith in Agnes as a protector. Maddy had never told him of the scene which followed that lady's return from Saratoga. Indeed, Maddy never told anything but good of Aikenside or its inmates, and so Mrs. Agnes came in for a share of the old people's gratitude, while even Uncle Joseph, hearing daily a prayer for the "young madam," as grandpa termed her, learned to pray for her himself, coupling her name with that of Sarah, and asking in his crazy way that God would "forgive Sarah" first, and then "bless the madam—the madam—the madam."

A few days before Maddy's departure, grandpa went up to see "the madam"; anxious to know something more than hearsay about a person to whose care his child was to be partially intrusted. Agnes was in her room when told who wanted to see her. Starting quickly, she turned so deadly white that Maddy, who brought the message, flew to her side, asking in much alarm, what was the matter.

"Only a little faint. It will soon pass off," Agnes said, and then, dismissing Maddy, she tried to compose herself sufficiently to pass the ordeal she so much dreaded, and from which there was no possible escape.

Thirteen years! Had they changed her past recognition? She hoped, she believed so, and yet, never in her life had Agnes Remington's heart beaten with so much terror and apprehension as when she entered the reception room where Guy sat talking with the infirm old man she remembered so well. He had grown older, thinner, poorer looking, than when she saw him last, but in his wrinkled face there was the same benignant, heavenly expression which, when she was better than she was now, used to remind her of the angels. His snowy hair was parted just the same as ever, but the mild blue eye was dimmer, and it rested on her with no suspicious glance, as, partially reassured, she glided across the threshold, and bowed civilly when Guy presented her.

A little anxious as to how her grandfather would acquit himself, Maddy sat by, wondering why Agnes appeared so ill at ease, and why her grandaire started sometimes at the sound of her voice, and looked earnestly at her.

"We've never met before to my knowledge, young woman," he said once to Agnes, "but you are mighty like somebody, and your voice, when you talk low, keeps makin' me jump as if I'd heard it sum'ers or other."

After that Agnes spoke in elevated tones, as if she thought him deaf, and the mystified look of wonder did not return to his face. Numerous were the charges he gave to Alice concerning Maddy, bidding her be watchful of his child, and see that she did not "get too much drinked in with the wicked things on Broadway!" then, as he arose to go, he laid his trembling hand on her head and said solemnly: "You are young yet, lady, and there may be a long life before you. God bless you, then, and prosper you in proportion as you are kind to Maddy. I've nothing to give you nor Mr. Guy for your goodness only my prayers, and them you have every day. We all pray for you, lady, Joseph and all, though I doubt me he knows much the meaning of what he says."

"Who, sir? What did you say?" and Agnes' face was scarlet, as grandpa replied: "Joseph, our unfortunate boy; Maddy must have told you, the one who's taken such a shine to Jessie. He's crazy-like, and from the corner where he sits so much, I can hear him whispering by the hour, sometimes of folks he used to know, and then of you, who we call madam. He says for ten minutes on the stretch: 'God bless the madam—the madam—the madam!' You're sick, lady; talkin' about crazy folks makes you faint," grandpa added, hastily, as Agnes turned white as the dress she wore.

"No—oh, no, I'm better now," Agnes gasped, bowing him to the door with a feeling that she could breathe no longer in his presence.

He did not hear the faint cry of bitter, bitter remorse, as he walked through the hall, nor know she watched him as he went slowly down the walk, stopping often to admire the fair blossoms which Maddy did not feel at liberty to pick.

"He loved flowers," Agnes whispered, as her better nature prevailed over every other feeling, and, starting eagerly forward, she ran after the old man, who, surprised at her evident haste, waited a little anxiously for her to speak.

It was rather difficult to do so with Maddy's inquiring eyes upon her, but Agnes managed at last to say:

"Does that crazy man like flowers—the one who prays for the madam?"

"Yes, he used to years ago," grandpa replied; and, bending down, Agnes began to pick and arrange into a most tasteful bouquet the blossoms and buds of May, growing so profusely within the borders.

"Take them to him, will you?" and her hand shook as she passed to Grandpa Markham the gift which would thrill poor crazy Joseph with a strange delight, making him hold converse a while with the unseen presence which he called "she," and then whisper blessings on the madam's head.

To Clean a White Plume.

A white plume that has become soiled may be cleaned by dipping in a paste made of flour and gasoline. Rub it lightly through the fingers after each dipping. It should be hung out of doors until the gasoline has evaporated, when the flour can be easily shaken off, and it will be found that the plume retains its curl. If it should not be perfectly clean, repeat the operation.

Catarrh

To prove unconditionally, and beyond any doubt, that Catarrh of the nose and throat can be cured, I am furnishing without charge, to readers of this paper, small free Trial Bottles of Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure. I do this because I am convinced, that Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure will bring actual and positive relief. Nothing certainly, is so convincing as a physical test of any article of real, genuine merit. But that article must possess true merit, else the test will condemn, rather than advance it. Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure is no mere relief, healing antiseptic lotion, put up in beautiful nickel capped glass jars at 50c. Such soothing agents as Oil Eucalyptus, Thymol, Menthol, etc., are incorporated into a salvelv, cream like form, improved by Dr. Shoop from Europe. If Catarrh of the nose and throat has extended to the stomach, then by all means also use Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure Tablets. Positively digest, a bolt of general strength, tonicking, building influence, and make, constantly call for Dr. Shoop's Restorative.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at an Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

The homesteader is required to perform the homestead duties under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of a homesteader lives permanently upon farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of a homestead, or upon a homestead entered for by him in the vicinity, such homesteader may perform his own residence duties by living with the father (or mother).

(4) The term "vicinity" in the two preceding paragraphs is defined as meaning not more than nine miles in a direct line exclusive of the width of road allowances crossed in the measurement.

(5) A homesteader intending to perform his residence duties in accordance with the above while living with parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

Six months' notice in writing must be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of intention to apply for patent.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

1908

THE UNDERSIGNED will receive tenders up to noon on Monday, 9th November, 1907, for supplies of Butchers' Meat, Creamery or Dairy Butter, Flour, Oatmeal, Potatoes, Cordwood, etc., etc., for the following institutions during the year 1908, viz:—

At the Asylums for the Insane at Toronto, London, Kingston, Hamilton, Mimico, Brockville, Cobourg, Orillia and Penetanguishene; the Central Prison and Mercer Reformatory, Toronto, and the Hospital for Epileptics at Woodstock.

Exceptions—Tenders are not required for the supply of Meat to the Asylums in Toronto, London, Kingston, Hamilton, and Brockville, nor for the Central Prison or Mercer Reformatory, Toronto.

A marked cheque for five per cent of the estimated amount of the contract, payable to the order of the Provincial Secretary, must be furnished by each tenderer as a guarantee of his bona fides. Two sufficient sureties will be required for the due fulfilment of each contract, and should any tender be withdrawn before the contract is awarded, or should the tenderer fail to furnish security, the amount of the deposit will be forfeited.

Specifications and forms of tender may be had on application to the Department of the Provincial Secretary, Toronto, or to the Bursars of the respective institutions.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without written authority from the Department will not be paid for it.

W. J. HANNA,
Provincial Secretary.

Bank of Goldfield, Nevada.

This company owns 4 claims (320 acres) of some of the best proven mineral land in the Goldfield district, consisting of the Accidental and Accidental No. 2 lode claims, situated two and one-half miles south of the great Goldfield Consolidated Mines comprising the Mohawk, Goldfield, Combination, Red Top, Jumbo and Laguna) the richest in the world; and the Brandway and Beauty lode claims situated three and one-half miles north of the Consolidated and about two and one-half miles northwest of the Great Bend and Daisy Mines near the Zion group in the Diamondfield section named only to richness to the great Mohawk portion of the camp. Phenomenally rich strikes have recently been made out by Consolidated, the Great Bend and the Daisy Mines.

The company has also suspended in quarring the Sure Thing lode claim (20 acres) in the Cuprite district, which has an immense gold bearing ledge, running the entire length of the claim 1,500 feet, outcropping in places over 20 feet wide, and met by several cross dykes all carrying fine values in gold, and is without doubt rightly named "Sure Thing."

All of these claims are located in the same mineral belt as the other named mines of Goldfield that have astonished the world by their production of millions in high grade ore, and will with the same development give equally profitable returns.

The money secured from the sale of this stock will be used at once for the active development of the property and the fact that all the directors are residents of Goldfield with years of successful mining experience who will give their personal attention at all times to the progress of the work goes to show that the first issue of 400,000 shares will meet with a quick and ready sale at the initial price of 10 cents per share.

We advise immediate action if you wish to participate in the vast profits of this Nevada Mine.

Stock will be listed as soon as possible on the Goldfield and San Francisco Stock and Exchange Boards. Would therefore advise purchasers to buy in board lots of 1,000 shares when convenient to do so.

SAVED HER LIFE!

Wife and Mother Restored to Her Anxious Family

St. John, N.B., Sept. 14.—At one time it was feared that Mrs. J. Grant, of 23 White street, would succumb to the deadly ravages of advanced kidney trouble. "My first attacks of backache and kidney trouble began years ago. For six years that dull gnawing pain has been present. When I exerted myself it was terribly intensified. If I caught cold the pain was unendurable. I used most everything, but nothing gave that certain grateful relief that came from Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. Instead of rising bowed down with pain, today I am strong, enjoy splendid appetite, sleep soundly. Local prescriptions have been instilled into my blood—cheeks are red with color, and I thank the day that I heard of so grand a medicine as Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Every woman should use these pills regularly because good health pays, and it's good, vigorous health that comes to all who use Dr. Hamilton's Mandrake and Butternut Pills.

Perfumes and Germs.

Lavender and rose perfumes are credited with the virtue of being microbe killers.

Cotton In Mexico.

Mexico has been manufacturing cotton goods for centuries, the first cotton mill on a considerable scale having been established in Puebla by an enterprising Spaniard in the sixteenth century not long after the founding of that city.

Mary Stuart.

Mary Stuart was not cross eyed, but one eye had a peculiar movement, moving farther in one direction than the other, giving her the appearance at a casual glance of being cross eyed.

Garlic.

Four-fifths of all the garlic eaten in Europe is raised on the two African islands Zanzibar and Pemba.

Snakes as Mouse Traps.

About the beginning of Queen Victoria's reign an old man, who was nicknamed the Duke of York, used to sit on the steps of King's college chapel, Cambridge, with a basketful of common snakes, which he had caught and trained to catch mice, for which purpose these curious mouse traps found a ready sale among the undergraduates.

Tides at Panama and Colon.

The mean level of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans is the same, but the tidal variation at the two ends of the canal is considerable. The tide rise above mean level at Colon is one foot, while at Panama it is ten feet.

In Iceland men and women are in all respects political equals.

Driving Off Insomnia.

A novel remedy for insomnia is to try to picture to yourself another person asleep. The more clearly the sleepless sufferer can do this the stronger becomes the subjective feeling of drowsiness.

Australia.

By the term Australia is meant "the south" and by Australasia "southern Asia," agreeably to the Latin australis, southern. Previous to its settlement by the British Australia was known as New Holland owing to its discovery by the Dutch in 1600.

Galveston's Sea Wall.

The sea wall at Galveston, said to be the most stupendous work of the kind on earth, is 17,593 feet long, 17 feet above the mean low tide, 16 feet wide at the base, 5 feet wide at the top and cost $1,200,000.

A Russian School Prize.

In a certain class of Russian schools the highest reward given is the initial letter of the emperor' name. It consists of the initial in solid gold an inch and a quarter in height on a blue bow. Should its possessor ever become a government it will entitle her to a higher salary than she could otherwise obtain.

Dear Coffee.

Louis XIV. of France drank the first cup of coffee made in western Europe. Coffee was then worth $5 lb. a pound.

Ancient Wines.

The wines of the ancients would not be thought palatable today, for they were mixed with sea water, resin, salt, pitch and aromatic herbs, exposed in smoky garrets till reduced to a syrup and then strained and mixed with water.

Herring.

If a pair of herrings could be left to breed and multiply undisturbed for a period of twenty years, they would yield an amount of fish equal in bulk to the globe on which we live.

Odd but Legal Will.

The following will successfully stood the test in the supreme court of California: "Creelidapedro February 3 1888. This is to certify that is leave my wife real and personal and she to dispose for them as she wis Patrick Donahue."

Beautiful City of India.

Jaipur is called "the Beautiful City of India" and is noted among travelers for the exquisite rose color which all of the houses sport. It gives the impression of a pink coral city rising from the sea.

Spanish Hands.

Russians have long but beautifully shaped hands, while those of Spaniards are often spoiled by the thickness of the fingers, which are apt to expand at the tips.

Netherlands Fisheries.

About 150,000 nets are in use during the herring season by the 600 fishing vessels of the Netherlands. A net lasts about three seasons, but owing to losses from storms and other causes between 40,000 and 50,000 new nets are bought yearly.

Clogged Waste Pipes.

When the waste pipe is clogged with grease pour down a gallon of boiling water in which has been dissolved a cupful of soda. Repeat this until all of the impurities are removed.

Guns.

We have to thank Gun, in Palestine, the gates of which Samson carried away, for guns or guns. Gun means "thunder," and produces to the fair in the theme which occurs without exciting their alarms. Voltaire, wishing to describe some intellectual but perhaps dreamy woman, said, "She is an eagle in a cage of guns."

—Lockmaster Collins was able to keep his pipe going and take things easy on the holiday, there being only three lockages. The "Mermaid" went down in the morning, and also the Rainbow with an empty scow. The Monarch went up during the evening with a cargo of potatoes for Lakefield from Rice Lake.

Lady Captures Runaway Horse

"Black Cloud," Mr. Jas. Kelly's race horse, gave an exhibition of its speed Thursday afternoon. Mr. Kelly left the horse in charge of Mr Frank Moore, in front of his home on Hunter street, for a few minutes. The horse suddenly took fright and took to its heels, turning on to Aylmer street, and went down as far as Charlotte at a fast gait. Mr. Moore was unable to hold him. He ran east on Charlotte to George St., and down as far as Lake St., where the fast pacer was brought to a standstill. The animal collided with a mast and Mrs. Butler, a lady residing near by rushed out and held "Black Cloud" by the head.

"Like Magic"

New Food Made Wonderful Changes

When a man has suffered from dyspepsia so many years that he can't remember when he had a natural appetite, and then hits on a cure, he may be excused for saying "it acts like magic."

When it is a simple wholesome food instead of any one of a large number of so called remedies in the form of drugs, how much more than ever likely to read as though a sort of miracle has been performed.

A Chicago man, in the delight of restored digestion, puts it in this way:

"Like magic, untiringly describe the manner in which Grape-Nuts cured me of poor digestion, coated tongue and loss of appetite, of many years standing.

"I tried about every medicine that was recommended to me, without relief. Then I tried Grape-Nuts on the suggestion of a friend. By the time I had finished the fourth package my stomach was all right, and for the past two months, I have been eating with a relish anything set before me. That is something I had been unable to do previously for years.

"I am stronger than ever and I consider the effects of Grape-Nuts on a weak stomach is something really wonderful. It builds up the entire body as well as the brain and nerves." Name given by the Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. There's a Reason."

Cold Settles in Kidneys Pe-ru-na Restores Health

Catarrh of the Kidneys An Insidious Disease.

Many Peopie Have it in Slight Form and Do Not Know It.

Mr. Isaac Rosenzveig, 9 Demarais street, Montreal, Can., writes:

"About three years ago, I suffered with a bad cold. It settled in the bladder and kidneys, causing serious trouble.

"I tried several advertised remedies, but it was Peruna which finally cured me, and I had taken only a few bottles.

"I feel that it saved me, and it certainly restored me to such perfect health as I had not known in years.

"I have good reason to give your remedy my highest endorsement. It cleaned out the system, leaving me well and strong and feeling better than I have in years."

MR. ISAAC ROSENZVEIG.

CATARRH of the kidneys is a very much neglected disease.

It is not until the disease has a firm hold upon the kidneys that the patient begins to realize that there is some derangement of these organs.

The slight backaches, the feelings of lassitude, and other warning symptoms of kidney disease are overlooked.

They are not serious enough to detain the patient from his regular work.

MUCOSAL CATARRH REACHES THE KIDNEYS.

Even when he discovers that the kidneys are affected, he does not recognize the difficulty as being caused by catarrh.

Catarrh is sometimes so very gradual in its approach and its earlier symptoms cause such slight discomfort that it is not noticed.

However, when it is once firmly seated in the kidneys it becomes a difficult disease to exterminate.

Indeed, catarrh of the kidneys is more serious than catarrh affecting some of the other organs of the body.

In the kidneys it is liable to terminate in Bright's Disease or diabetes, both of which are recognised as very serious ailments, if not fatal.

The thing to be done, when catarrh of the kidneys is discovered, is to take some internal, systemic catarrh remedy, one that reaches the very source of the catarrh and removes the cause of the difficulty.

Such a remedy has been found in Peruna. It reaches catarrh, no matter where it may be located in the body—whether in the more exposed membrance of the nose and throat, or whether in the remotest part of the kidneys.

PE-RU-NA AN INTERNAL CATARRH REMEDY.

That Peruna is at once the safest and most reliable remedy for catarrh of the kidneys is proven by the many testimonials written by those who have experienced its benefits.

The testimonials given here are only specimens of the many testimonials on our records, pertaining to the relief afforded by Peruna in severe cases of kidney trouble.

Kidney Disease of Long Standing.

Mr. Samuel A. Paxton, 1118 Troost Ave., Kansas City, Mo., member I. O. O. F., and National Annuity Association, writes: "I am a well man today, thanks to Peruna. I was troubled with catarrh and kidney disease of long standing when I first began using Peruna."

The Town of Blind River Terror-Stricken--Big Fire Bug's Pranks

Toronto, Nov. 4.—With a reward of $1000 as an inducement for the bringing forward of necessary information, the inhabitants of Blind River, in the Algoma district, are given some hope of relief from the reign of terror of incendiarism. Just now it is said every man in the town carries a revolver to protect his home from a fire bug.

Not long ago the chief of the town fire brigade was arrested after two private detectives had secured evidence which tended to implicate him as one of the incendiaries, but the magistrate acquitted him.

On Friday a deputation consisting of Mayor McArthur and Messrs. Hempstead, Braithwaite, Reid and Macdonald, arrived from Blind River, for the purpose of interviewing Attorney-General Foy, relative to the eight fires, all of which have occurred during the past two months.

The attorney general was very much impressed with the seriousness of the matter, while the deputation was present, a telegram arrived telling of still another fire on Tuesday night, and arranged an interview with Premier Whitney.

As a result the government have decided to offer a reward of $500 to supplement the reward of $500 offered by the municipality, for evidence which will result in the arrest and conviction of the culprit or culprits.

The visitors are delighted with the treatment accorded them here, and expressed their deep appreciation of the action taken by the government and the promptness with which it was done.

All the fires have been within a short distance of the sawmill, the engines of which provide water pressure for the fire brigade. The fires have been started by boring a hole through the wall of the shed, pouring oil in and then igniting it.

Lindsay Post on the Peterboro-Vic. Game

The Lindsay Post has the following lucid account of Thursday's rugby game

The Lindsay public doesn't know very much about the fine points of football, and the experiences of rugby were, as a sealed book to them, when they read about yesterday's battle between Peterboroughs of the Ontonabee and the Victorias of Toronto Bay. Their interest was aroused, however, and they flocked to the Central Fair Park along with many Peterborough and Toronto rooters, the huge grand stand being fairly well filled at 2.45, when play began.

From the outset the game went Peterborough's way, the score at the end of the first quarter standing 7—0. In the next quarter both teams put up a strenuous struggle—the Westerners to even up the score, and the Easterners to hold their ground. That they were successful is attested by the score remaining the same when the half ended. Several fierce scrimmages took place, and in one of the scrushes a Toronto player had his collar-bone broken.

In the third and fourth quarters the Westerners continued their good work and rolled up a score of seven, Peterborough playing in the main a defence game.

Three Steamers in Port

Three steamers— The Water Lily, Mocarsh and Rainbow—came up to the city from Rice Lake on Saturday morning. All carried a number of passengers for this market, but the usual number was lessened on account of the rainy weather. The steamers also brought about 350 bags of potatoes.

Few People Know This

Recent insurance reports show a tremendous increase in the number of deaths resulting from some form of Kidney disease. While there are many cases here, yet few have resulted seriously thus far, states a well-known local authority. Kidney troubles are the most dangerous, because the disease is generally far advanced before anything wrong is suspected by the sufferer.

Pain in the back, sides and above the groins; foul, discolored urine, which shows brickdust sediment after settling; frequent desire to pass it, irritation and weakness of bladder, are but symptoms, the cause of which can generally be traced to feeble, inactive kidneys, which fail to filter the poisonous waste matter and uric acid from the blood, causing such symptoms as rheumatism, blood disorders and general debility and weakness.

Such persons should drink plenty of good pure water and refrain from the use of all stimulating or spirituous liquors.

Patent medicines containing large portions of alcohol should be avoided.

A good, safe and almost certain regulator and healing influence tonic to the entire kidney and urinary tract is made up of the following:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Mix by shaking in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and again at bedtime. Any druggist here can supply the ingredients which are entirely harmless and inexpensive.

It would be well to save this prescription, and at the first sign of these dangerous troubles mix some and give it a trial, as there is no better remedy known, nor anything more simple and easily prepared.

Reynolds After Hartley's Record

The Port Hope Guide says;

Through the Toronto press, Hartley has challenged Jimmy Reynolds to walk from Port Hope to Peterborough and return twice for $1,000. Jimmy will not accept the challenge this autumn, but will wager $500 that he can make the same trip as that accomplished by Hartley and smash Hartley's record. We think Jimmy would be better off to accept Hartley's challenge, but he is anxious to break Hartley's record; so if some Peterborough sport has $500 to squander, will he kindly speak up. Reynolds will make the trip on November 19, weather permitting.

Cavan Farmers Down in Autos

It seems that the once time united and comparitively powerful Cavan Blazers are contemplating a reorganisation with a view towards controlling the reckless drivers of automobiles. It seems from what a prominent Cavan farmer said whilst in the city on Saturday that there is great indignation expressed among the residents of Cavan over the reckless driving of automobiles along the country roads, and, they should warmly welcome any means by which the nuisance could be abolished. It has become, this gentleman remarked, almost unsafe for a lady or for children to take a horse out on the road without a male attendant, since it is impossible to tell at what moment an auto may fly past, and the great majority of drivers pay little regard to the rights of those with horse vehicles. A number of narrow escapes have been recorded in Cavan, and it is probable that some steps will be taken.

Duck Shooters

Messrs. C. D. Ten Eyck, T. D. McGaw and T. Pingel, all of Toronto, were at the Oriental on Saturday on their way to Rice Lake for a few days' chase after the ducks. They intend remaining at Oak Lodge on the Serpent Mound until next Wednesday.

Bessie Butler Trial Trip

The new government steamer, Bessie Butler, in charge of Capt. Morin, took her maiden trial trip shortly after the dinner hour on Saturday, on a run to the lift lock and up the canal as far as Nassau. Among those on board were Superintendent McClellan and Mr. John J. Main, chief engineer of the Polson Iron Works, Toronto.

New Assistant Preached Yesterday

Mr. A. L. Reed, of the University of Durham, England, who is in Canada taking a post graduate course in Philosophy at Toronto University, has been appointed assistant to Rev. Mr. Reed created a good impression, and it is expected he will make many friends in his work here for the winter.

National Hotel Will Change Hands

Mr. Kinleyside Has Secured New Manager from Belleville

It now seems that the contemplated improvements and enlargement of the National Hotel building, concerning which was referred to a few days ago will be proceeded with.

Mr. W. Young Kinleyside, manager of the North America Investment Company was in the city on Saturday concluding arrangements. He was in Bellville last week, and for manager of the new hotel has secured the services of Captain Lumb, of the Anglo-American of that place.

He also informed the press that in addition to the $25,000 subscribed some days ago, $20,000 more has been secured. In ten days from Saturday the company takes over the building from Mr Lawless, paying the purchase price, and the manager will be here in a few days.

When the ten-day limit expires improvements will be begun on the erection of the new building.

Editor Hutchinson Highly Honored

Popular Scribe Remembered by Fellow Employees

Shortly after five o'clock Saturday evening a pleasing function though tinged with regret over the approaching departure of a popular editor was held in the examiner job room, when Mr. M. J. Hutchinson, for the past four and a half years the capable city editor of that paper was waited on by the entire staff and employees and presented by Hon J. Robertson on their behalf with a handsome fur to Persian lamb gauntlets. In addition to the kindly references made to pleasant associations in the past, and regret over the departure of Mr. Hutchinson to take the editorial chair of the Dry Goods Review, Toronto, by Mr. Stratton, Mr. F. R. Yokome followed in similar terms. Mr. Hutchinson responded in fitting terms.

In the evening Mr. Hutchinson was tendered a banquet by the members of the Press Club in Hoop's Palm Parlors.

HON. DR. PUGSLEY MAY MAKE A MOVE

Likely to Succeed Hon. Mr. Aylesworth as Minister of Justice--Hon. J. M. Gibson May Enter Cabinet

Ottawa, Nov. 2.—Those politicians who are closely watching the situation in the Dominion cabinet, which is again acute, owing to the action taken by Sir Frederick Borden, minister of militia, against a British publication for alleged libel, and the dismission of the physical infirmity of Hon A. B. Aylesworth, minister of justice, feel themselves ready to make predictions.

They are busy finding succ[illegible] and have already decided that one of the first changes will be the exchange of Hon. Dr. Pugsley, at present minister of public works, to the vacancy to be created by the retirement of Hon. Mr. Aylesworth. "As minister of justice, Hon. Dr. Pugsley would feel himself far more at home."

Just who will succeed to the works department is still to be guessed at. As for a successor to Sir Frederick Borden, one name "mentioned" is that of Hon. J. M. Gibson, ex-attorney-general of the Province of Ontario, formerly commandant of the 43d Regiment of Hamilton, and who was in command of one of the forces engaged in the Thanksgiving Day manoeuvres.

Prices of Redcaps to go Up

All the hackkeepers of the city have signed an agreement to sell bar goods at the following prices on and after Nov. 15th.

Beer, soft drinks, and native wine, 5 cents straight.

Liquor, draught, 10 cents, or 3 for 25c.

Case goods, 15 cents or 2 for 25c.

These prices are the same as those prevailing in Toronto.

ONE HUNDRED VILLAGES ARE IN RUINS SWEPT OUT OF BED

A Number of Houses Have Been Carried Away Bodily at Palaida--Factories, Gardens and Vineyards Have Been Ruined

Paris, Nov. 2.—The storms in the south of France are raging with even more fury than those of a few weeks ago. Rain has been falling in torrents for forty-eight hours past. Brooks have become rivers, rivers have become torrents, and rivers have become storm-swept lakes or raging torrents.

A number of houses have been carried away bodily at Palaida near Perpignan, and in other places people have been swept out of their beds and out of their houses by the rising waters. In one house eleven people in rooms on the first floor were washed, in their night attire, right out of the house and into the river.

Factories, gardens and vineyards have been ruined, and the plain of Salamque is a vast lake.

The sliding mountain near Aubenmoved at an increased pace yesterday, carrying aqueducts, bridges, railway lines and trees with it down into the valley. It is a most impressive sight to see it moves slowly on its resistless path, with every now and then a thunderous avalanche of rocks and stones.

Fully one hundred villages are in ruins, and the distress is incredible.

General Reduction in the Retail Price of Meat is Prophesied

Chicago, Nov. 2—A general reduction in the retail prices of meats was prophesied for Chicago and the middle west last night. It has grown out of the present financial situation, according to some of the big packers, and will be of substantial benefit to consumers.

The first cut in packers' prices was announced in Omaha, where it was reported that Edward A. Cudahy of the Cudahy Packing Co., had reduced the prices of all meats 10 per cent, and that a still further reduction is expected.

In explanation Mr. Cudahy said he believed the time had come for a general and substantial reduction in the cost of living if the average citizen is to share in the country's prosperity.

"I believe," he said, "there will be an immediate decline all along the line of produce and staple supplies necessary to human life. For some time we have been buying cheaper and we think we are justified in selling cheaper. The consumer will get the benefit, as the packers have promised to pass the reduction along. It will mean a saving to every man, woman and child in the country."

SIOUX CITY FOLLOWS SUIT

Following the Omaha announcement Sioux City dropped into line with the same cut, though the order has not been received officially at the packing plants there. St. Joseph [illegible] general manager of one of the plants there said if there was a decline it would come without any radical cut.

Representative retail dealers in the city said the cut had not been felt in Chicago yet, but the consumers would feel it in various ways soon. The situation at present appears to be that much of the money saved by the consumers is taken from the "scalpers" and is not subject to the fluctuating daily market prices, it is said. When that stock is gone the benefits of the low grade will be felt. Substantial cuts have been made in the price of pork and ham.

Local packers said that the low record of the price of live stock probably would continue for some time and necessarily would cause a reduction in retail prices.

"The price of live stock has been going down for some time," said Max J. Sulzberger, vice-president of Schwarzchild and Sulzberger, "and the price to the retailer has been low. Beef within the last few days. In hogs there was a cut of 75 cents a hundred last week.

H. GOULD'S AGENTS AFTER SISTER-IN-LAW WIFE OF CHINAMAN

Mrs. Wong Sun Yue Appeals to Chief of Police for Protection--Not Friendly to Sister but will not do Anything to Make Her Path Less Peaceful

San Francisco, Nov. 2—Frightened and annoyed at the actions of detectives employed by Millionaire Howard Gould to entangle her in his divorce case, Mrs. Wong Sun Yue has appealed to Chief of Police Biggy for protection, and the chief has assured her that he will assist her.

Mrs. Wong was Ella May Clemens previous to taking a Chinese affinity for a husband and swearing allegiance to the dragon. Howard Gould, therefore, has a Mongolian brother-in-law, his wife Katherine, now suing him for divorce in New York, being Mrs Wong's sister.

Mrs. Wong, who occupies a picturesque suite of rooms on Duront st., in a big Chinese family apartment house, was accompanied to police headquarters by a woman friend from Oakland, who shared her indignation at the insulting conduct of Gould's gumshod employees. This friend had made two previous visits to the chief to consult him about the matter. Mrs. Wong said yesterday:

"The detectives hired by Howard Gould have dogged my footsteps for months. So tiresome and so daring have they become that at the suggestion of a friend I visited Chief Biggy and asked him for protection. He was most courteous and promised his assistance.

NOT THE FIRST TIME

"This is by no means the first time I have been bothered. For years, at intervals, I have been annoyed by detectives plainly instigated by Howard Gould to learn from me something derogatory about my sister. This latest lot of sleuths seem to have an idea that I am in possession of some important secret concerning my sister's life. They are mistaken, since as no secret, and if there was, it is hardly likely that I would reveal it to a stranger or a chance acquaintance.

"I understand that Mr. Gould has offered to liberally reward anyone who can wrest this mighty secret from me. This is why all sorts of persons have pitted their wit and ingenuity against mine. So far, honors are even. One woman, after two hours of very resourceful activity, flounced angrily out of my home, exclaiming 'Oh, yes, you're what they all say of you—you're entirely too foxy.' It would be laughable, but the whole thing is too insulting.

"Many a time I have had these things said to me; 'Tell what you know, and for the rest of your life you'll have more money than you know what to do with.' My husband is constantly on the lookout for men who haunt the neighborhood to get a chance to speak to me, and he is so nervous for my safety that he does not want me to go on the streets alone. The other day I was accosted on Clay street by a young, well-dressed man, who said;

BETTER TELL SAYS MAN.

"'You might as well give in and tell. You know what we want and by —— if we can't handle you in a quare way we'll have to do it the other way. You've got to give in and you might just as well do it quietly. We don't ask much. Just tell about that marriage and what became of the money. That's all.'

"'Think of it,' continued Mrs. Wong, her indignation rising as she spoke. 'These miserable creatures attempting to beguile me into a base betrayal of my own sister. It is shameful. My sister and I have not been on very friendly terms for years, but I would not be guilty of doing anything that would in any way count on her and make her path less peaceful.

"The detectives have even tried to get some of the white women married to Chinese husbands and living in this quarter to spy on me and report to them. But the women have refused, and I thank them for their loyalty."

Asked about Mrs. Wong's custody for protection, Chief Biggy said;

"Yes, Mrs. Wong called at my office and told me of the repeated annoyances she had been subjected to. I assured her that in future I would see that she was not molested."

Will Peterboro be on G. T. R. Short Line?

The Toronto World of Saturday discusses the probability of the construction of a new short line by the G.T.R. to Ottawa from Toronto by way of Peterborough and Lakefield, and it is given as the best means of solving the problem of connecting these two cities by a line which will cut considerable off the present shortest line.

The distances by the suggested route are as follows;

Toronto to Oshawa	34 miles
Oshawa to Millbrook	20 miles
Millbrook to Lakefield	22 miles
Lakefield to Ottawa	120 miles
	196 miles

The line would traverse the old mining district of Ontario and be fertile agriculture district beyond. It would prove to be the shortest line to the capital from Toronto, the G.T.R. line being 236 miles.

In addition to placing Peterborough on the main line of two railways running between the two capitals it would shorten the present distance by G.T.R. from Peterborough to Toronto, cutting west from Millbrook to Oshawa, where it would join the present main line. The existing line between Peterborough and Millbrook to Ottawa, by cutting off that town to Ottawa on outlook, a line would be built.

DEATH FROM HEART DISEASE

A Case of Neglecting a Weak Heart and Tired Nerves.

If your heart flutters, be careful. An attack is liable to come on at any time. Excitement, over-exertion or emotion may cause it.

If blood rushes to the head, if palpitation and short breath are noticeable, there's cause for alarm.

If you want a good honest remedy try Ferrozone. We recommend Ferrozone because we know it's just right for heart trouble. It cured A. F. Beattie, who lives at Allen Hotel, Bay City, Mich., also if your symptoms resemble these:

SYMPTOMS OF WEAK HEART.

Nervousness	Palpitation.
Trembling.	Dizziness.
Sinking Feeling.	Heart Pains.
Short Breath.	Weakness.

Mr. Beattie says:

"I was weak and miserable.

"I was subject to heart palpitation and dizziness.

"As I grew worse I began to have trembling and sinking sensations.

"Ferrozone strengthened my heart, gave vigor to my nerves, soon made me well. It's a great rebuilder."

By strengthening the muscles of the heart, giving proper circulation and causing a general rebuilding of the whole system, Ferrozone is bound to do grand work in heart trouble; try it. 50c per box, or six for $2.50, at all dealers.

THE BUSINESS GIRL.

Don't Be Afraid of Undertaking New Ventures.

If you want to succeed you must dress the part. Don't be wasteful or extravagant in your dress, but keep yourself neat looking and well groomed. Don't go about with a slipshod, hanging air, as though you and success were as far apart as the poles. If you look helpless and incompetent no one will trust you with work of any kind.

When you apply for a post do so in a modest yet confident manner.

Business men are not looking for helpless, dependent femininity in their employees.

What they want is a well behaved, capable business woman.

Dress as well as you can afford to, but don't make the mistake of wearing beads and laces and elbow sleeves while on duty.

Many an applicant has failed to win a position because she was untidy or overdressed.

If you look capable, alert and interested, opportunities are sure to come your way.

When there is something important to be done your employer will say: "I will put it in the hands of Miss K. She looks trustworthy."

The first steps in the ladder of success are the most difficult ones to climb.

But nothing succeeds like success, you know, and when you have once made yourself known as a capable, successful worker half the battle is won.

Don't be afraid of undertaking new ventures or of doing more than your share of the work.

Failure once or twice or half a dozen times does not mean failure for good and all.

These rules hold good with men as well as women.

CHILDREN'S TROUBLES.

Treat Them Seriously and Try to Gain Their Confidence.

When your child first comes to you in tears and complains bitterly of this or that petty wrong or injury, he forces you to one of the most important decisions in your parental career. Your [illegible] upon whether you—to whom he comes for help—are going to treat his trouble seriously, to speak to him "man to man" or to laugh at it as of no consequence.

Before [illegible] you too hastily make your choice. You are choosing between your little one's future confidence, even his self respect and his final alienation from you.

To the child all his woes are real and important. His little fears and ailments are as great factors in his mental development as your large ones are in yours.

Many a timid child has been frightened into convulsions and death by something which would not cause an adult even to start, and many a passionate one has lived to regret that all his infantile naughtiness were treated as jokes and made simply the cause for laughter.

There is no occasion to overestimate their importance. It will not be necessary. Simply accord to the child the same consideration, help and criticism that you would give a grown person suffering from proportionately heavy troubles, and do not let him feel that always he is to be the butt for the mirth of his audience, "just because," as one small boy plaintively remarked, "they woke up a few years before I did?" His philosophy was inadequate, but his sense of justice was in the right place.

AUTOMATIC JUMPER.

An Amusing Experiment With a Card and Glass of Water.

Take an ordinary tumbler and pour water into it until it is three-quarters full. Then carefully wipe the edge of the glass so that it may be perfectly dry before you begin your little experiment. Place upon the top of the glass, as if you intended to protect the contents from dust, a playing card made of good, firm paper with the printed figure turned down toward the water. The card must be large enough to extend just over the edge of the glass all around.

Let the card remain on the glass for half an hour or so, and you will then see that the moist vapor rising from the liquid has caused the card to swell or arch in the center. Then take the card carefully by one of its corners and replace it on the glass with the arched side reversed.

Having cut out of paper the figure of a little man and inserted it in a slit in the top of a small vial cork, place the cork carefully upon the center of the card and wait. Presently the moist vapor will make the card swell in the opposite direction, and with a little clap up will fly your manikin and your cork in the air.

BEATEN BY A BELLOWS.

How a Horn Blowing Duke Was Silenced by a Blacksmith.

Once upon a time there was a French duke who was anxious to excel every other member of the nobility living in his neighborhood.

The duke really was the best huntsman, he could tell the best story and sing the best song, and he could blow his hunting horn louder and longer than any one else.

He so enjoyed winding his horn that every morning he betook himself to the highest turret of his castle and there made himself blue in the face by his tooting.

For the people who lived near by it was torture to hear this fearful din each day. Finally a count, who lived near, left upon a plan. He fastened a huge horn on the parapet about his castle and stationed behind it a giant blacksmith with a monster bellows.

When the duke blew his horn the next morning he was greeted by a louder blast from the count's castle. Try as he would, he couldn't make nearly so loud a sound as the horn blown by the bellows.

Imagining himself beaten by some great rival, the duke would not be comforted. His spirit was crushed. He pined away and at last died.—Philadelphia North American.

The Bird on the Wire.

Most boys and girls have all seen birds sitting not only unharmed, but positively at ease, on electric wires through which a current was running strong enough to kill a man instantly. The reason is quite simple. A current of electricity is fatal only when it runs through a living thing from one conducting body or medium to another. A man might sit on the wire or hang from it by the hands with safety if his body were not in contact with something else, as, for example, a pole or the earth. The bird is safe because its body is not in contact with anything but the wire.

A Matter of Taste.

Marjorie is very fond of raisins and at the tea table one night was picking them out of her cake and eating them, leaving the crumbled cake. Her sister, thinking she would try the force of a good example, said, "I like my plums in my cake."

"I don't," replied Marjorie. "I like 'em best in my mouf."

Taking Care of Kitty.

They brushed the clothes, they beat the clothes,
One sunny April day—
Their winter clothes, I mean—and then
They packed them all away
In paper boxes tied around
With very strongest strings.
First freely sprinkling them with some
Tobacco dust and camphor gum.

And when their labor done, they took
Their tea and toasted bread.
"Why, where is kitty?" some one asked.
And "I know," Lena said.
"She's in my dollies' biggest trunk;
I brushed and tested her;
There can't not any moths, I dess,
Dot gets her nice fur.

"She scratched my fingers when I put
The camphor stuff about;
Dive me some toast that's buttered free."
They left it all to her and flew
To get poor kitty out.

EMBROIDERY HOOPS.

The Best Covering Is Tape an Inch Wide.

If rings or embroidery hoops are used, they should be frequently rewrapped. It is not unusual to see hoops in the hands of apparently dainty women so dirty they are a disgrace to her cleanliness, not to speak of the ridiculously black lines they leave on the work.

The best covering for hoops is a very thin tape about an inch wide, wound so that one edge just barely laps over the other. As a whole bolt of tape may be bought for a few cents, there is absolutely no excuse for dingy coverings.

The silver rings in vogue several years ago are really not very practical. If wrapped they had much better be wood, and if unwrapped the inevitable tarnishing, unless the greatest care is exercised, will leave ugly stains on delicate materials.

The two parts of the embroidery hoops should fit so tightly that a certain amount of pressure must be exerted to fit them together after the work is spread on them. Fit the work smoothly over the lower ring before putting on the top. If there is the slightest wrinkle or the work sags the effect is much worse than if no hoops were used.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

A teaspoonful of pulverized alum mixed with the common stove polish will give a wonderful polish.

Scalding the milk for custard pie adds greatly to its flavor. An addition of a teaspoonful of brown sugar or molasses is also helpful.

When one is compelled to hang a skirt against the closet wall instead of on hangers extended from the ceiling let the back of the skirt rest against the wall. Then if there is any wrinkling it comes at the back, where it is not noticeable.

If windows move hard, melt a tablespoonful of lard and pour a little between window frame and casing and also a little on the roller and rope. It works like magic. This is a good thing to know when the frames are swollen from being closed during rainy weather.

Novel Effects in Lamps.

As a contrast to the favored styles in brie-a-brac and lamps of the "art nouveau" type is another style, of which ornateness is the chief characteristic. These are small lamps in white china, with all sorts of fancy trimming in gold leaf or crystals. One of the new lamps looks like a small flowerpot, with its gold branched and many leafed plant growing out from it. The light is in the center of this foliage of gold.

Other small lamps in this style have white china bases ornamented in gold leaf and shades made of small crystals. Some for the boudoir resemble candlesticks and have a curtain at one side, which is made of innumerable small stones, the tiny white translucent pebbles which are found in the sand at the seashore. These pebbles are made into shades for the lamps as well as into curtains.

A third group shows peculiar ornamentation of sprays of leaves made of gold leaf, which stand out from the lamp, each leaf and each stem. They are said not to be perishable and are easily cleaned.

Something New in Copper

PITTSBURG - IDAHO
Mining and Milling Company

The mine is located 58 miles above Lewiston, Idaho, on the Clearwater river, and consists of 19 full claims, or 380 acres. It is developed by tunnels, shafts and open cuts for more than 2100 feet, disclosing thousands of tons of copper, gold and silver ores of both high grade and low grade. There are between 1000 and 2000 tons of ore ready for shipment. The entrance to the working tunnel is only 2000 feet from the track of the Northern Pacific railroad, to be reached by gravity tramway. There are seven parallel veins running lengthwise of the claims, one cropping out on the surface for 2000 feet and another for 3000 feet; while two veins cross these running into the mountain. These veins are from 20 to 200 feet wide. One ore shute has been crosscut 700 feet and is solid ore from wall to wall.

We are not asking you to buy in a prospect. That risk was taken by the promoters. We are asking you to buy in a developed, proven mine. Seven years of continuous work and the expenditure of thousands of dollars has proven up one of the greatest mines in Idaho. That mine is now ready to pour out its red and yellow wealth to the world with the installing of an up to date production plant. It is for that purpose that a block of its treasury stock, full paid and non-assessable, is offered for sale. We believe that within six months from the completion of a 100 ton plant the mine can be put on a dividend paying basis, and that these dividends will be substantial and permanent. Thee is the better investment proposition before the people at this time.

AIKENSIDE

BY MARY J. HOLMES

Author of "Dora Deane," "The English Orphans," "Lena Rivers," "The Rector of St. Mark's," "Tempest and Sunshine," Etc.

Three days after this, a party of four left Aikenside, which presented a most forlorn and cheerless appearance to the passers-by, who were glad almost as the servants when, at the expiration of a week, Guy came back and took up his olden life of solitude and loneliness, with nothing in particular to interest him, except his books and the letters he wrote to Lucy; unless, indeed, it were those he was going to write to Maddy, who, with Jessie, had promised to become his correspondent. Nothing but these and the picture—the doctor's picture—the one designed expressly for him, and which troubled him greatly. Believing that he had fully intended it for the doctor, Guy felt as if it were, in a measure, stolen property, and this made him prize it all the more.

Now that Maddy was away Guy missed her terribly, wondering how he had ever lived without her, and sometimes working himself into a violent passion against the meddlesome neighbors who would not let her remain with him in peace, and who, now that she was gone, did not stop their talking one whit. Of this last, however, he was ignorant, as there was no one to tell him how people marveled more than ever, feeling confident now that he was educating his own wife, and making sundry hateful remarks as to what he intended doing with her relations. Guy only knew that he was very lonely, that Lucy's letters seemed insipid, that even the doctor failed to interest him as of old, and that his greatest comfort was in looking at the bright young face which seemed to smile so trustfully upon him from the tiny casing just as Maddy had smiled upon him when, in Madam ——'s parlor, he bade her good-by. The doctor could not have that picture, he finally decided. Hal ought to be satisfied with getting Maddy, as of course he would, for wasn't he educating her for that very purpose? Certainly he was, and as a kind of atonement for what he deemed treachery to his friend, he talked with him often of her, always taking it for granted that when she was old enough the doctor would woo and win the little girl who had come to him, in his capacity of inspector, as candidate number one. At first the doctor suspected him of acting a part in order to cover up some design of his own with regard to Maddy, and affected an indifference he did not feel; but, as time passed on, Guy, who really believed himself sincere, managed to make the doctor believe so too. Consequently, the latter abandoned his suspicions, and gave himself up to blissful dreams of what might possibly be when Maddy should have become the brilliant woman she was sure one day to be. Alas! for the doctor's dreams.

CHAPTER XV.

The summer vacation had been spent by the Remingtons and Maddy at the seaside, the latter coming to the cottage for a week before returning to her school in New York, and as the doctor was then absent from home, she did not meet him at all. Consequently, he had not seen her since she left Aikenside for New York. But she was at home now for the Christmas holidays—was down at the cottage, too; and unusually nervous for him, the doctor stood before the little square glass in his back office, trying to make himself look as well as possible, for he was going that very afternoon to call upon Miss Clyde. He was glad she was not at Aikenside; he would rather meet her where Guy was not, and he hoped he might be fortunate enough to find her alone.

The doctor was seriously in love. He acknowledged that now to himself, confessing, too, that with his love was mingled a spice of jealousy, lest Guy Remington should be expending more thought on Maddy Clyde than was consistent with the promised husband of Lucy Atherstone. He wished so much to talk with Guy about her, and yet he dreaded it; for if the talk should confirm his suspicions there would be no hope for him. No girl in her right mind would prefer him to Guy Remington, and with a little sigh the doctor was turning away from the glass, when, as if to verify a familiar proverb, Guy himself drove up in a most dashing equipage, the silver-tipped harness of his high-mettled steed flashing in the wintry sunlight, and the bright-hued lining of his fanciful robes presenting a very gay appearance.

Guy was in the best of spirits. For an entire half-day he had tried to devise some means for getting Maddy up to Aikenside. It was quite too bad for her to spend the whole vacation at the cottage, as she seemed likely to do. He knew she was lonely there; that the bare floor, and low, dark walls affected her unpleasantly. He had seen that in her face when he bade her good-by, for he had escorted her down to the cottage himself, and now he was going after her. There was to be a party at Aikenside—the very first since Guy was its master. The neighbors had said he was too proud to invite them, but they should say so no more. The house was to be thrown open in honor of Guy's twenty-sixth birthday, and all who were at all desirable as guests were to be bidden to the festival. First on the list was the doctor, who, remembering how averse Guy was to large parties, wondered at the proceedings. But Guy was all engaged in the matter, and after telling who were to be invited, added half indifferently, "I'm going now down to Honesdale after Maddy. It's better for her to be with us a day or two before. You've seen her, of course."

No, the doctor had not; he was just going there, he said, in a tone so full of sad disappointment that Guy detected it at once, and asked if anything was the matter.

"Guy," the doctor continued, sitting down by his friend, "I remember once your making me your confidant about Lucy. You remember it, too?"

"Yes, why? well?" Guy replied, beginning to feel strangely uncomfortable as he half divined what was coming next.

Latterly Guy had stopped telling the doctor that he was educating Maddy for him. Indeed he did not talk of her at all, and the doctor might have fancied her out of his mind but for the frequent visits to New York which Guy found it absolutely necessary to make. Guy did not himself understand the state of his own feelings with regard to Maddy, but if compelled to explain them they would have been something as follows: He fully expected to marry Lucy Atherstone; the possibility that he should not had never occurred to him, but that was no reason why Maddy Clyde need be married for these many years. She was very young yet; there was time enough for her to think of marrying when she was twenty-five, and in the meanwhile it would be splendid to have her at Aikenside as Lucy's and his friend. Nothing could be nicer, and Guy did not care to have this little arrangement spoiled. But that the doctor had an idea of spoiling it, he had not a doubt, particularly after the doctor's next remark.

"I have not seen Maddy since last spring, you know. Is she very much improved?"

"Yes, very much. There is no more stylish-looking girl to be seen on Broadway than Maddy Clyde," and Guy shook down his pantaloons a little awkwardly.

"Well, is she as handsome as she used to be, and as childish in her manner?" the doctor asked; and Guy replied:

"I took her to the opera once, last month, and the many admiring glances cast at our box proved pretty positively that Maddy's beauty was not of the ordinary kind."

"The opera!" the doctor exclaimed "Maddy Clyde at the opera! What would her grandfather say? He is very puritanical, you know."

"Yes, I know! and so is Maddy too. She wrote and obtained his consent before she'd go with me. He won't let her go to the theatre."

Mulligatawny Soup.

Put into a soup pot a jointed fowl, cut into small pieces a pound of chopped veal, two sliced onions fried in a little butter, two sliced apples and six quarts of cold water. Cover, set at the side of the range and simmer until the fowl is so tender that it falls from the bones, putting in at the end of the first half hour a half dozen whole cloves and peppercorns. When the chicken is tender take it from the liquor and cut the meat from the bones, setting the meat aside and returning the bones to the kettle, adding to the liquid a paste made of a level teaspoonful of curry powder, a teaspoonful each of salt and sugar mixed to a paste with a little water. Cook very slowly until the liquor is about one-half the quantity it was in the beginning, take from the fire, strain, set aside to cool and remove the fat. Return to the fire, cut the chicken into bits and stir these into the soup with a cupful of boiled rice. Boil up once and serve.

SAVED HER LIFE!

Wife and Mother Restored to Her Anxious Family

St. John, N.B., Sept. 14.—At one time it was feared that Mrs. J. Grant, of 23 White street, would succumb to the deadly ravages of advanced kidney trouble. "My first attacks of backache and kidney trouble began years ago. For six years that dull gnawing pain has been present. When I exerted myself it was terribly intensified. If I fought cold the pain was unendurable. I used most everything, but nothing gave that certain grateful relief that came from Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. Instead of being bowed down with pain, today I am strong, enjoy splendid appetite, sleep soundly. Lost properties have been instilled into my blood—cheeks are rosy with color, and I thank the day that I heard of so grand a medicine as Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Every woman should use these pills regularly because good health pays, and it's good, vigorous health that comes to all who use Dr. Hamilton's Mandrake and Butternut Pills.

The tank seems to be about ten or twelve feet deep and the same distance long and wide. It is a curious old relic that recalls the early days when there was no waterworks system.—Lindsay Post.

—Some of the rooters at Thursday's game swarmed aboard John Gunigle's sub and endeavored to take command. They did pretty much as they liked, but when asked for fare refused to pay. John quietly drove them up to Chief Vincent, who after a little excitement, extracted the coin from the sightseers and made them go about their business.—Lindsay Post.

THE IDEAL MISTRESS.

Makes Her Dining Room the Dearest Spot on Earth.

The first requisite for an ideal dining room is a mistress with ideals. She wants to make the room where her family meets together three times a day the dearest spot on earth to them. It is the place of physical growth. It must be as well the room where sweet temper and loving service and joyous hospitality will minister to ethical growth. The best room in the house, the morning sunshine, the open fire, the picture window, are ideal, and every woman would have them for her dining room if she could.

But if we cannot realize our ideals we can, as Kate Wiggin says, "idealize our reals." If we cannot have hothouse roses, we may have a bit of green for our table. We can give of our best to this room devoted to the family growth, and we can keep out of it all that offends. "Cross words," sour looks, family troubles, fault finding, petty gossip and, if possible, all traces of weariness must be religiously excluded.

There is a tiny dining room in a certain town house where the sunshine never comes, and there is no fire in sight, and the only view from the window is of a dead brick wall, but the smiling face and cordial graciousness of the woman at the head of the table remind you of sunshine and open fires and beautiful pictures and rare flowers and everything that helps to make an ideal dining room.

It means hard work for a woman to make her dining room always attractive. It means constant thought and care for the likes and dislikes of her family. It means putting underfoot her own preferences. It means often making the best of poor material. It means a perpetual struggle to make things or the want of things subservient to the highest needs of her family, but it is worth all it costs.

Make the room itself as pretty and as attractive as the purse will permit. Make it interesting with growing plants; bring to it all grace of manner, the brightest stories and the merriest jests, the breeziness of outdoors and outside interests, and permeate it with the thought that "the life is more than meat." And the ideal dining will be-

"REINCARNATION" IN INDIA.

Weird Stories That Babies Have Souls of British Officers.

Within the last few weeks a most extraordinary case of alleged reincarnation—claimed to be the soul of a British officer—has made its appearance in Burmah. It is the second of its kind in recent years, and has accordingly attracted widespread attention.

Reincarnation is a fundamental doctrine of Buddhism, and a reincarnation of a human identity, in human form, though changed in outward aspect, is called a "minza." As a rule, the "minza" is an ordinary looking child, in no way different from his childish companions.

A few years back A. W. Tucker, district superintendent of police in Pegu, was killed by a gang of dacoits whom he rashly attacked at close quarters after discharging his revolver and without waiting to reload it. His call to his orderly to fetch ammunition gave the clew to the dacoits, and they killed him.

Just about the time this tragedy was being enacted in one part of the district a humble Burmese woman gave birth to a baby boy who in time, before the days of his babyhood were well over, claimed to be no less a personage than the murdered police officer. So circumstantial were his accounts of the encounter with the dacoits as to appear the narrative of an eye-witness, and when questioned on various other points in connection with the life of the deceased officer he is asserted to have answered with such exactitude that the Burmese people who flocked to hear him discourse were convinced of the truth of his assertions. Peculiarities of action and speech were faithfully reproduced, and, generally, quite a sensation was created.

Within the last few weeks a still more interesting case of "minza" has made its appearance, and I cannot do better than quote the account of a Rangoon Times correspondent from Meiktilla:

"There is a little blue-eyed, light-haired boy here, between 3 and 4 years old, the son of hard-working and matter of fact Burmese parents belonging to the laboring classes, who until quite recently prattled like any other child of that age. The other day, however, he astonished his mother by gravely claiming that he was the late Major D. J. Welsh, Border Regiment, come to life again, and went on to describe the house where he had previously lived, the number of ponies he had, and other personal matters.

"His mother was frightened, and called in the neighbors, to whom the queer albino repeated his story, describing how he and two others—a lady and a gentleman—were drowned in the Meiktilla lake in a boating accident during a storm at night in March, 1904, when the three and only occupants of the boat perished.

"That is the year in which Mrs. Reade, Lieut. A. W. Quinlan, and Major Welsh, both of the Border Regiment, did lose their lives in this manner (as a consequence of omitting to put down the centreboard of their sailing boat).

"Large crowds assemble daily to hear the little child-man speak. Of course, skeptics will say that it is a 'put up job.' The answer to this is that Burmese coolies are not given to romancing to such an extent. Several methods have been applied to test the genuineness of the child's utterances, and people are satisfied that he has not been tutored.

"The parents would have to be wide-awake sharpers indeed to succeed in foisting such a story on the public through the instrumentality of a mere infant, and there is no suggestion that they are not what they appear to be—viz.: simple-minded folk."

MISERABLE AND UNTRUTHFUL

Countess Says She Never "Squealed" on King Edward.

"A miserable and untruthful story has been running in the American papers about me for 18 years," said the Countess of Warwick to a reporter recently when interviewed at the Hotel Webster, New York.

"Twelve years ago there was a baccarat scandal in England, in which the present King was mixed up. Ever since then, at stated intervals, the American press has connected me with it, referring to me as the 'Babbling Brooke.' Just before my arrival it was printed again.

"I want to say there is not the slightest truth in it. At the time I was in mourning for my stepfather, and knew nothing about it. I never played cards in my life. I don't know one from another, and I have never been inside the house where this game occurred. It is the work of enemies who dare not publish it in the English papers, so get the American papers to injure me."

English Sunday Condemned.

Germans have no more friendly feeling towards the English Sabbath than Britons entertain towards the Continental Sunday. Just recently a conference was held at Frankfort, which had for its object the promotion of the observance of the Sabbath and the introduction of the rigid laws which prevail on that day throughout England.

The very idea seems to have set the Germans' teeth on edge, for in the same town recently a mass meeting was held to protest against the introduction of the English Sunday into Germany. The meeting was characterised by great enthusiasm. Herr Steinbach, the principal speaker, declared that the "English Sunday" would drive the population of Germany, which was now extremely sober, into the public-houses to drown the Sabbatarian dullness in beer.

Herr Hessenberg, another speaker, declared that even one Sunday in London brought on a severe attack of melancholia, necessitating a "cure" in order to restore his balance of mind.

In the opinion of Herr Steinfurth, the observance of Sunday in England was purely external. German people would rise up in thousands to resist any attempt to foist the "English Sunday" upon them.

A strongly-worded resolution to this effect was unanimously adopted.

Tenders for T. V. C. Construction

On Saturday the Department of Railways and Canals, called for tenders for the construction of the works connected with the Roseadale section of the Trent Canal. These works include a new lock and dam, built of concrete. Tenders will be accepted up to November 20th. Plans and specifications for this work, may be seen at any time in the office of the superintending engineer, Mr. A. J. Grant, Peterborough.

A Most Valuable Agent.

The glycerine employed in Dr. Pierce's medicines greatly enhances the medicinal properties which it extracts from native medicinal roots and holds in solution much better than alcohol would. It also possesses medicinal properties of its own, being a valuable demulcent, nutritive, antiseptic and antiferment. It adds greatly to the efficacy of the Black Cherry-bark, Bloodroot, Golden Seal root, Stone root and Queen's root, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery" in subduing chronic, or lingering coughs, bronchial, throat and lung affections, for all of which these agents are recommended by standard medical authorities.

In all cases where there is a wasting away of flesh, loss of appetite, with weak stomach, as in the early stages of consumption, there can be no doubt that glycerine acts as a valuable nutritive and aids the Golden Seal root, Stone root, Queen's root and Black Cherrybark in promoting digestion and building up the flesh and strength, controlling the cough and bringing about a healthy condition of the whole system. Of course, it must not be expected to work miracles. It will not cure consumption except in its earlier stages. It will cure very severe, chronic, hang-on chronic coughs, bronchial and hoarseness, and chronic sore throat with hoarseness. In acute coughs it is not so effective. It is in the lingering hang-on coughs, or those of long standing even when accompanied by bleeding from lungs, that it has performed its most marvelous cures.

Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Med. College, Chicago, says of glycerine:

"In dyspepsia it serves an excellent purpose. Holding a fixed quantity of the peroxide of hydrogen in solution, it is one of the best manufactured products of the present time in its action upon enfeebled, disordered stomachs, especially if there is ulceration or catarrhal gastritis (catarrhal inflammation of stomach). It is a most efficient preparation. Glycerine will relieve many cases of pyrosis (heartburn) and excessive gastric (stomach) acidity."

"Golden Medical Discovery" enriches and purifies the blood curing blotches, pimples, eruptions, scrofulous swellings and old sores, or ulcers.

Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., for free booklet telling all about the native medicinal roots composing this wonderful medicine. There is no alcohol in it.

FIXED ASSESSMENT FOR ALL THE CITY MANUFAGTURERS ON AN AGREED BASIS

Fathered by Ald. Morgan and Endorsed by Ald. Elliott ---A Motion to This Effect was Lost.

The city fathers met in regular session last night, when there were present; Mayor R. F. McWilliams and Aldermen Johnston, Tovey, Elliott, Leary, Bradburn, Morgan, Duncan, Wilson, McIntyre, Morrow and Phelan.

In the absence of the mayor for a short time Ald Morrow presided.

Mr. Davidson asked the council verbally for assewer on Dickson St. On motion of Ald. Wilson, this request will be granted when a petition sufficiently signed is to hand.

The Peter Hamilton Co. Asked for a Fixed Assess. of $10,000 for 20 Years

COMMUNICATIONS.

The Peter Hamilton Co. asked for a fixed assessment of $10,000 for 20 years.—Referred to the Manufacturers' Committee.

A number of other communications were referred to their respective committees.

COMMITTEE OF WHOLE.

The report of the Committee of the Whole, which met earlier in the evening, was read and adopted.

AYLMER STREET DRAIN.

Ald Johnston moved that the Aylmer street drain, the portion of which Mr. Begue has filled in, it running through his property, be constructed alongside the Grand Trunk Railway track, from Edinburgh street to Arlington, providing permission can be got from the railway company for such a course. This would not cost much, urged Ald. Johnston, and considerable trouble would thus be avoided. Ald. Elliott seconded this motion.

This motion was lost.

The Local Committee had reported in this connection that the city engineer be instructed to construct a culvert on Edinburgh street near the Grand Trunk Railway, in the same position as it was previous to the course of the stream being changed, as advised by the city solicitor. This report was adopted.

FIXED ASSESSMENT.

Ald. Morgan here remarked that the manufacturer who comes to the council and puts up an arguments asks a fixed assessment at practically no rate he asks, while the manufacturer who keeps quiet and does not worry the council, although equally deserving of consideration, gets no consideration whatever. He would like to see a committee formed to strike a basis upon which all manufacturers shall be given fixed assessments according to the magnitude of their business. This would be treating all alike.

Ald Elliott heartily concurred in Ald. Morgan's view. He offered that a fair measure to adop, would be to fix a fixed assessment basis of say 20 mills on the dollar, which would provide an equitable assessment on the whole city.

TO GRAVEL WATER STREET.

Ald. Morrow moved, seconded by Ald. Phelan.—That Water street be gravelled and rolled.—Carried.

Ald Morgan moved, that the Manufacturers' Committee be authorized to look into the matter of fixed assessments and advise a measure by which all industries may be allowed on an equitable basis.

BYLAWS.

A bylaw to authorize the City Trust Commissioners to execute a lease with the Children's Aid Society for their new home on the Hilliard property passed its several readings.

A bylaw to prohibit the burning of refuse within a limited area lying between Brock, Aylmer, King and lots No. 2 east of Water street, passed its several readings.

A bylaw to authorize the construction of a sewer on Jackson avenue, from Albert street to southern end of Jackson avenue, passed its several readings.

A bylaw to authorize the construction of a granolithic sidewalk on Townsend street from Stewart to Park streets, was adopted.

To Pretenders

A Wholesome Word for Guidance

Just a word to you, readers of this paper. Nothing to do with Peterborough Examiner, Morning Times or Review Journalism not a particle.

Environment gives you a view point from which it is difficult to understand that some people even nowadays get from meals of coffee and tea.

There are honest makers of foods and healthful beverages and users are honest people who use them.

Perhaps you are trained to believe there is no honesty in the world. There is, although you may not be of a kind to understand it.

Some of you have been trained by a nasty class of advertisers, but your training does not taint. The old fashioned person trained without knowledge of pretense and deceit.

These letters came to us absolutely without solicitation. We have a great many thousand from people who have been helped or entirely healed by following the suggestions to quit the food or drink which may be causing the physical complaints and change to Postum, Cereal or Grape-Nuts food.

You are not intelligent enough to know the technical reasons why the change makes a change in the cells of the body. Your knowledge or lack of knowledge, makes not the slightest difference in the facts.

You can print from old and worn plates all the cheap books your presses will produce and sell them as fast you can, but such acts and your "learned" editorials are but commercial, and seek only "dollars" and much by pretense.

When you branch out into food values you become only ridiculous.

Stick to what you know. The field may be small but it is safe.

New York, Oct. 2, 1907.

Postum Cereal Co., Ltd.,

Dear Sirs:

I am this morning in receip of the enclosed mighty good letter from one of my subscribers, which I forward to you, and which I am sure you will be glad to use. I am personally acquainted with this lady, and know that she has no object in writing, other than to do good.

Cordially,

John W. Pritchard, Pres.

Brooklyn, N.Y., Oct. 1, 1907.

Dear Mr. Pritchard;

Noticing Postum Food Coffee advertised each week in your reliable paper, I concluded to try it, and feeling it a duty towards those who may have suffered as I have from indigestion, desire to state what wonderful benefit I have received from Postum although using only a short time, and not do I alone realize and appreciate its good effects, but friends remark, "How much E. has improved and how well I look," and I tell the facts about Postum every time, for since using it I have not had one attack of indigestion. It is invigorating, healthful; does not affect the nerves as ordinary coffee, and if properly made, a most delicious drink. Although I have not had much faith in general advertising, yet, finding Postum has done so much for me more than I expected, I am more inclined to "Prove all things, hold fast that which is good." I am so thankful for good health that I want to tell what a good blessing Postum has been to me. You may use these few lines as and if you so desire, and my name also.

Very truly yours,

Anna S. Reeves.

275 MacDonough St., Brooklyn.

Coffee hurt her, she quit and used Postum. She didn't attempt to analyze but she enjoyed the results. Underneath it all "There's a Reason."

Sailors Save Lives of Opera Singers

New York, Nov. 3.—Mme. Olive Fremstad, the opera singer, and several officers and members of the crew of the steamer La Provence, which arrived here today from Europe had a narrow escape from death Tuesday night. A great wave which swept over the steamer carried away a portion of the bridge railing, smashed in the steel encased sides of the captain's cabin and swirled clear across the forward deck. Madam Fremstad, who was on the bridge at the time, was almost in the path of the great wave. A sailor who saw her peril grasped her and held her against the rail until the danger was past, or thought I was going to die," said Mme. Fremstad as she was surrounded by a group of officers and crew. "But I was just in time. He saved my life."

CLAIRVOYANT AIDS SLEUTHS.

Scotland Yard Officials Try to Penetrate Murder Mystery.

The so far impenetrable mystery which surrounds the savage murder of a woman named Dimmock, or Shaw, at her home in St. Paul's road, Camden Town, has driven Scotland Yard to the employment of novel expedients.

For about the first time in a big crime sensation the detectives have sought the aid of the press by sending photographed copies of postcards received by the victim the day before her terrible death.

An even stranger development has to be recorded—no less than the calling in of a famous clairvoyant who had volunteered to do his best to discover the murderer.

All arrangements having been made, the clairvoyant called at the police station to meet the detectives who are specially devoting themselves to the unraveling of the mystery, and went with them to the murdered woman's house.

Here a weird scene was enacted.

After a short inspection of the room, the clairvoyant lay down on the bed where the dead body was found, and apparently sank into a trance. Soon he began to speak in a rapt, tense voice. He described several persons, and he mentioned their names.

Then he proceeded to give a startlingly vivid description of the actual commission of the crime; pictured in detail the appearance of a certain man, and concluded by exclaiming, in answer to a question, "The man you want is on his way to Melbourne."

Altogether, it was an astonishing episode, which impressed even the usually impassive detectives with its seeming quality of reality. What actual value it may have remains to be seen.

FARMER'S QUICK STUNT.

Corn Cut and Turned Into Baked Leaves In Four Hours.

The reproach so often leveled against British agriculturists that they are slow and unprogressive can never be raised again after a demonstration of motor harvesting given at Kirton recently, when loaves were handed round baked from corn that had been standing in the fields four hours before.

The demonstration, which was given on the farm of Messrs. Dennis Brothers—one of the largest in the kingdom—showed that in up to date farm work England is well ahead of most countries. Several remarkable feats were accomplished.

A acre of standing corn was marked out in the fields, cut, bound, threshed, and ground by motor implements. An acre of ground was also plowed, drilled, harrowed, and sown with a new crop within seven and a half hours. This constitutes a world's record.

At 11.35 the tractor started its work by taking the thrashing drum into the cornfield. Five minutes later it began to draw two harvesters. These not only cut the corn but bound it. Half a dozen men walking behind stacked it, and in exactly fifteen minutes what had been an acre of growing crop was standing on the field ready to be placed on the cart which the tractor proceeded to draw round the field.

By 1 o'clock the corn was lying at the side of the threshing drum. The tractor then got into position to drive the thresher. At 10 minutes past 1 a halt was called for luncheon. As soon as the threshing began the flour began to come out of the mill, which was being worked off a pulley on the threshing drum.

ORIGIN OF THE "KNOT."

How a Modern Nautical Term Came Into Use.

During the past few days the nautical word "knot" has been much in evidence, but few readers are perhaps aware of its origin as a term of nautical measurement. It was, away back in the 17th century, merely a knot in the vessel's log-line; and later it became what it is to-day, a mark of bunting or whatnot inserted between the strands of the line, as are the marks on a lead-line. This system of measurement began thus: A piece of line, 30 to 40 fathoms long, was knotted at intervals of 5 or 10 fathoms; to the end was attached a canvas bag, which would fill with water and remain stationary in the water, thus drawing out the line over the taffrail, where stood the officer, minute-glass in hand, counting the knots as they ran out. The officer then worked out the rate per mileage per hour.

Unemployed in London.

The following figures are grimly eloquent. There is a standing army, as the phrase goes, of 80,000 unemployed in London; add, still, 30,000 women badly employed indeed, and 33,000 homeless adults, and 35,000 wandering children of the slums, and 15,000 free criminals, and you have before you a statistical summary of the situation in the greatest city in Christendom. Interesting, is it not? And with those who do not walk the streets at night things are only a degree better. It is a fact that 90 per cent. of the producers of the actual wealth of London have no homes they can call their own beyond the week's end, no other possessions than the few sticks of old furniture that will go into a hand car for trundling from lodging to lodging. And 800,000 people live in one-room tenements, in which decency is impossible. Every night 30,000 Londoners sleep in fourpenny lodging houses—the four-penny "doss"—and every night 111,000 sleep in the casual wards. Where should they sleep, these secondary millions? In London there are 1,292,737 workers who get less than $5 a week per family.

To earth the wind has brought 'em;
I hate to see the summer girl
Become the girl of autumn.

THE MODERN BIG GUN

Its Making Involves a Sequence of Mechanical Wonders.

HOW ARTILLERY IS BUILT UP

Boring the Monster Tube, Wrapping on the Hundred Miles of Wire and Fitting the White Hot Steel Jacket on a Twelve Inch Weapon.

It takes a big thought to grasp the immensity of the famous Tyneside hive of industry, Elswick works, says the People's Journal. The area covered by this huge concern is equal to that of many a fair sized town. The employees, 20,000, are a whole population in themselves. For a full mile along the northern bank of the Tyne stretch workshop on workshop.

From the moment you put your foot inside the first department you realise you are in a veritable museum of mechanical wonders.

"Here is a gun being bored," your guide announces, and you accompany him over to the huge lathe to see the process and at the same time gather some vastly interesting information as to how artillery is built up.

One of the first things done to these ponderous weapons is the hollowing out of the bore. This, as may be imagined, is not the work of an hour. With the finest machinery in the world it required an average of eighteen days to pierce a ten yards long steel muzzle with a twelve inch bore, grooved slantwise.

To see the gun tube, weighing anything up to sixty tons, fixed into the lathe is itself most interesting. To manipulate the larger pieces two hydraulic cranes are used. These cranes work overhead and run on rollers bedded in the side supports. Electricity supplies the working power. With the huge load fixed, smoothly, almost silently, it is swung majestically into the air and carried along in whatever direction is required. Before you have done speculating as to what may happen if that mighty load comes crashing down on top of you you hear the order "Lower!" and down comes the sixty tons of steel with the ease and grace of sixty pounds of feathers. But a still greater marvel awaits you in the next department to which you are conducted. Here you learn something of the process of gun wrapping. The wire with which modern artillery is wrapped is of the finest steel, flat, like the mainspring of a clock, and a full hundred miles of it are required to wrap a twelve inch gun. The figures are somewhat surprising—wire enough to stretch in a straight line from Newcastle to Edinburgh used on one single cannon!

Wire seems a weak substance to use in connection with artillery. In point of fact wired guns are the strongest in existence. The rifled steel tube you saw in the department just left is capable of withstanding a pressure of forty-five tons; wired, the tensile resistance will equal 110 tons, and projectiles may be fired from it at the rate of three a minute without the slightest fear of the gun bursting.

The wire is wrapped on to the tube in the same way as thread is wound round a bobbin. The huge coil is fixed overhead, and as the powerful machinery revolves layer after layer is wound round the gun taut as if cast on and smooth and level as veneering. Think of it! One hundred miles of steel wire, springy as quicksilver, guided automatically by machinery, and a strand lapping by the thousandth part of an inch!

Even now, however, that gun is in quite an embryo stage. It has about a dozen further processes to go through before it is ready to hand over to the government that has ordered it or sent to the stock room, where many hundreds of guns of all sizes and patterns are kept ready for immediate sale to anybody wanting them.

You leave the turning shop and presently find yourself in front of what your guide declares to be furnaces, but which you think would be better described as infernos. You are surprised to learn that these furnaces are heated by gas, and on inquiring the reason you are told that it is for the sake of purity and cleanliness. The grit and dirt from any kind of fuel would ruin the work done at these furnaces. And what is that work? Putting on the outer jacket of the gun—just a little matter to busy up those miles of wire and inches of forged steel within that again.

Presently there is a commotion. Something opens somewhere. There is a terrific glare, and the temperature goes suddenly up to—well, something rather warm. Then a crane is set in motion, something you can faintly see gripe something else you don't wish to look at—it is so suggestive of the sun within ten yards of you—and before you well know what it all means the white hot steel jacket is being fitted on the gun barrel reared alongside. When that jacket cools it will fit considerably tighter than the garments of a growing boy, though that is an afterthought which comes to you when you have got into cooler regions. Interesting as it is, the process of investing a gun with its jacket is too sultry for the unprepared visitors to stand much of, and you hasten outside to where goggles and leg pads are not necessary.

A gun complete, with all its fixings, exactly as if it were in a fort or aboard a ship, is awaiting your inspection. If you did not know before that a modern gun is a marvel, you certainly grasp that fact now. When you have finished wondering and admiring you ask for figures and particulars. You learn that the gun is a twelve inch one; its length, with the breech piece, is forty-two feet;

HOW IT FEELS TO DIE.

Man of Marvelous Recoveries Says It Is a Delightful Experience.

How it feels to die is the remarkable story told to The London Daily Mail by Mr. James J. Kane, for 30 years a chaplain in the United States navy.

"I have been no fewer than eight times at the point of death," said Mr. Kane, "and on three occasions I was pronounced dead by physicians. On one of those occasions I rested in my coffin for 24 hours.

"During the third year of the American civil war I was attached as an executive officer to a gunboat of the West Gulf blockading squadron. Yellow fever was virulent, and ultimately I contracted the disease, and began to welcome the approach of death.

"All this time I was perfectly conscious, and as the body grew weaker the mental powers grew stronger. I recognized the peculiar distinction between the soul and the body, and made the startling discovery that I was possessed of wonderful faculties belonging to the soul, which were gradually developing as the separation from the body was taking place.

"Weaker, and yet still weaker, I grew; my breathing became difficult; pulsation almost ceased. Without losing consciousness I at last passed through the final stage. In an instant the spirit was freed, and I stood beside my body, pronounced dead by the doctors and nurses. 'All is over; he is gone,' said they, as they closed my eyes.

"I claim that the act of dying is one of the most delightful and exciting episodes of my life, filled with pleasurable emotions, not only at the thought of meeting long-parted friends, but the increase of knowledge and freedom from earthly elements. When I awoke, a colored preacher, who was very much attached to me, and who was weeping at my bedside, said: 'Thank God, you are once more alive,' and there was rejoicing at my restoration. My vision haunted me. I mourned over my return. I soon fell into a deep sleep, and the next morning felt increased vitalization.

"I once had a cataleptic seizure in London, when Dr. George W. Callender was in attendance upon me. He afterwards stated that I was the only man in his varied experience who had recovered after being so far gone in the throes of death. Two other medical men were also called, and they concurred with Dr. Callender."

TRIED TO STEAL SECRET.

Foreigners Wanted to See Working of New British Airship.

It is becoming more important every day to keep secret the result of the trials of the new aeroplane in the secluded camp among the Grampians.

Each crofter in the district is instructed to guard a certain area, members of the Scottish Horse are stationed at frequent intervals, and the footsteps of tourists and other unknown visitors are dogged relentlessly.

Two agents of a foreign Government actually penetrated the mountain fastnesses. They were observed behind a ridge which commands the aeroplane shed, to which they had crept under cover of a Scotch mist. The Marquis of Tullibardine's scouts saw them, and made rapidly up the slope. The foreigners retreated, and left behind them a telescopic lens, field glasses and cameras.

Two telegrams, in code, addressed to foreign Governments, were handed in at the postoffice, and had to be transmitted in the ordinary course.

The trials are hampered by the parsimony of the Government, which has only allowed the sum of $5,000 for them. But for the generosity of the Marquis of Tullibardine, who has granted the site and paid all the expenses of cartage, the aeroplane would not have gone beyond Lydd, where it was arranged originally for the experiments to take place.

The inventors—there are several of them—of this new flying machine have already produced results that surpass those of any other country. All that ingenuity, experience and mechanical skill can devise has been brought into operation, but another $25,000 or $30,000 is wanted to insure a definite triumph.

Decrease of Crime.

The Commissioners of Prisons, in their annual report just issued, are able to point to a gratifying decrease of serious crime in England and Wales. Only 199,283 persons were received in the local prisons last year, as compared with 217,326 in the year before, a decrease of 18,044. There has been a considerable decline in the convictions for drunkenness and for larceny, but the most satisfactory feature of the report is the evidence it gives of the decrease of criminality among the young. Only 734 children between the ages of 12 and 16 were sent to prison, as compared with 1,029 in the previous year; and there is an astonishing decrease in the number of lads over 16 who fall into evil courses. The success of the Borstal system for the treatment of such offenders is conspicuously proved, and the report contains the suggestion that such treatment should be extended in a special penal reformatory to all wrongdoers under the age of 23. In this way youths may be saved from life-long crime, and the advantages of the plan are so obvious that it is bound to be brought into operation before long.

The Soft Answer.

During a municipal election a lady canvasser secured one vote for her candidate by her ready wit. She had fluently advanced several reasons in favor of the policy of her party to a disagreeable old gentleman, who presently told her that she could talk the hind leg off a donkey.

"Well," she replied, "it would give me a great deal more pleasure to drive you to the polling station than to the hospital."

The retort so amused the voter that he finally promised to support her side.—London Globe.

A New Park for the South End of City

Negotiations will be Instituted with the School Board for Purchase of Surplus Land Connected with King Edward School for Park Purposes

The City Council met in Committee of the Whole last night.

There were present, Mayor R. F. McWilliams and Aldermen Duncan, McIntyre, Elliott, Morgan, Johnston, Wilson, Bradburn, Morrow, Tovey, Leary and Phelan.

CITY'S DEBENTURES.

Aldermen Morrow and Bradburn were appointed a sub-committee to arrange for disposing of debentures for the payment of local improvement work done this year.

CITY'S BANKERS.

Ald Johnston moved, seconded by Ald. Elliott.—That the Finance Committee be authorized to co-operate with the other city bodies with a view to advertising for tenders for carrying the city's bank account from January first next.—Carried.

PLUMBING INSPECTOR'S SALARY.

Plumbing Inspector Thompson's application for an increase of salary from $540 to $600 a year was next taken up.

The mayor said he was opposed to salaries being increased at this time of the year. Such applications should always be on hand by March 1st of each year, when they could all be treated at the same time.

Ald Wilson said that Mr. Thompson must necessarily be handicapped in being short a limb. And he did not think he had been fairly treated by the council; for instance he had asked for a smoke testing apparatus to be furnished him, which had not been done. A man holding this office should be supplied with all necessary appliances.

Ald. Morgan moved, seconded by Ald. Bradburn.—That the Property Committee be authorized to furnish the plumbing inspector with a smoke tester.—Carried.

Ald Elliott offered that all other city officials had received an increase, and Thompson should receive the same consideration.

Ald Leary contended that $500 a year was too small a salary altogether to offer a plumbing inspector.

No motion was made in this connection, and consequently the matter was left in abeyance till the beginning of the year.

LACK OF SYSTEM.

Ald Duncan reported that there is a deplorable lack of system on the part of the engineer and his subordinates in carrying out the instructions of the Board of Works with regard to street work.

Mr J. G. Higgins of Water street, wrote last July that the city's men had in taking away gravel damaged his property and fence, to a considerable extent, for which he expected to be recompensed. The engineer had been instructed to look into this matter but had neglected to do so. Consequently, Mr. Higgins is now again demanding immediate redress. This matter was left in the hands of the chairman of the Board of Works and city engineer for immediate attention. The engineer was also instructed to report who is to blame for past negligence connected with this grievance.

ANOTHER PARK.

Ald Morrow thought the council could purchase from the School Board the surplus portion of the land secured for the King Edward school, which could be converted into a very desirable public park for the south end.

Aldermen Tovey, Morrow, and Duncan were named a committee to interview the School Board with a view to purchasing from them the land in question, which lies between Georgy and Aylmer streets, east of the King Edward school, for park purposes.

Light Fines Imposed for a Serious Offence

The case against E. Pilling, LaPlante and E. Donoghue, charged with assault and creating a disturbance on the excursion train returning from Lindsay, on Thanksgiving night, was concluded yesterday afternoon. After all witnesses had been heard the magistrate summed up the evidence, and delivered his judgment as follows:—LaPlante and Pilling were fined $25 and costs, which amounted to about $10 each. LaPlante was also fined $25 and costs on the charge of doing seriously bodily harm. Donoghue was discharged.

Bourassa Defeated by Turgeon by 800

Montreal, Nov. 5.—The first big attempt of Henri Bourassa, ex-M.P. for Labelle, to break into Quebec Provincial politics was decided on by the electors of the County of Bellechasse yesterday, and while it was generally agreed that the Nationalist leader would be defeated by Hon. A. Turgeon, the ex-minister of agriculture, the defeat would be of the character that lead to an early victory. Although he has only gone through one Provincial campaign, Bourassa is already a big factor in Provincial politics, and he certainly led the members of the Provincial cabinet a merry chase right through the election campaign and forced them to go the limit in order to defeat him.

Bourassa was defeated yesterday by about 800, suiting Turgeon's 1900 majority of 1904 down.

Another Peterborough Mother

It is now rumored that Dave Hartley, P. Petrolia's plucky and successful long distance walker is not to have his title of local champion go unchallenged as Mr. H. T. Everitt, of Stony [illegible] ed on as possible rival for local pedestrian honors;

It is said to have gone on a jaunt to Young's Point and return, a distance of over 20 miles, Other he took a walk out around the country several miles for exercise, and it is probable that he may yet be heard from in walking circles.

MOTHERS MUST HAVE ABUNDANT STRENGTH

No Mother Can Rear a Healthy Child Unless She is Strong Herself.

A woman's anxieties multiply tenfold about the time the new baby is expected.

Ferrozone should be used because it makes the blood nutritious and rich. By instilling new strength into every part of the body, it uplifts your spirits at once.

Childbirth is certainly made easier by Ferrozone. The following statement expresses the earnest gratitude of Mrs. M. E. Duckworth, of Durham. It is a woman's story—of her own case—told that other women may profit by her experience:

"Before baby was born I was in a weak, miserable, nervous state. I had no reserve strength. I tried to build up, but nothing helped me. I looked upon the coming day with dread, knowing I was unequal to the occasion.

"Ferrozone braced me up at once. It gave me strength, and spirits brought back my nerve and cheerfulness. From my experience with Ferrozone I recommend it to all expectant mothers."

There is more concentrated nourishment in Ferrozone than you can get from anything else. It supplies what weak systems need. Simply take one tablet at meals and you'll feel benefited in a thousand ways.

Ferrozone makes healthy, virile, vigorous women; try it. 50c per box of fifty tablets, or six for $2.50, at all dealers.

BLINDING HEAT RAYS.

British Bluejackets Mysteriously Injured by Electrical Experiment.

An extraordinary accident which has just occurred on board one of the home fleet ships at Portsmouth suggests that the heat ray of H. G. Wells' "War of the Worlds" has been stumbled on by accident.

This particular vessel was in dockyard hands, and for five days dockyardmen had been busy trying to bore a hole through an armor plate. Time being short, the torpedo lieutenant brought a dynamo into play, and, equipped with goggles to protect his eyes, melted a hole through the Krupp armor plate much as one can bore a hole through wood with a red-hot poker.

The sight was an extremely interesting one, and a good many officers and men had a look at it.

Next day everyone who had even glanced at the operation was on the sick list, including the captain of the ship, who was very nearly blinded. The torpedo lieutenant has lost all the skin from his face, and the other onlookers are in little better plight. Several men have had to go to hospital, and it is even feared that one or two may lose their sight.

Some chemical reaction is the supposed cause; but the whole business is wrapped in a good deal of mystery. All that is certain is that under the electric ray the armor melted like ice under a burning glass, and that practically a whole ship's company are incapacitated, half-blinded, their faces burned to a deep copper tint, and exuding continual moisture as from enormous boils.

Premier Jameson's Policy.

Dr. Jameson has issued a manifesto at Cape Town, in which he asks for a mandate to amend the constitution to prevent a recurrence of the blocking of supplies by the Legislative Council.

He says that the Progressives, by their consistent moderation and conciliation, have obliterated racial differences, and that a moderate party has emerged, which will be named the South African Unionist party, the name of Progressives disappearing.

Dr. Jameson invites moderate and independent men to support the new party on a platform consisting of four planks, namely: Development of South African products and industries, equal rights for all civilized men, the union of the European races and the union of the South African colonies.

The manifesto adds that at the next customs and railway conferences with the other South African colonies the first step must be taken toward federation, or, failing that, unification, with a prospect of union in the near future.

It declares that a general native policy, redistribution of seats and other questions should remain in abeyance until union is accomplished.

Letters Delayed by the Sun.

Two letters posted at Walton-on-the-Naze on May 27, 1904, only reached their destinations on Sept. 17, 1907. The delay was occasioned by the letters falling between the wood and zinc lining of the letterbox, which had become separated by the heat of the sun.

Death Foretold in a Dream.

A Lewisham mother who found her baby dead in bed beside her told the coroner that she had dreamed two hours before that the child had died. Her husband said the woman told him about the dream, and on taking the child up he saw that it was dead.

STEAM YACHTS.

These Expensive Luxuries Are Numerous in This Country.

Twenty-five dollars an hour seems a big amount to pay for one's pleasure, but with the millionaire expense is of no consideration where his comfort is concerned. He has taken to yachting with a zeal that is increasing every year, and his floating home is a marvel of beauty—his "supreme luxury."

There are registered in the United States over 1,200 seagoing steam yachts, representing approximately $90,000,000. Of these more than 300 fly the flag of the New York Yacht club. Others steam under the colors of the Corinthian Yacht club of Marblehead or the Atlantic Yacht club or smaller clubs. There are more steam yachts registered in this country than in England or France or Germany.

Probably not one of the dozen big steam yachts in the New York Yacht club fleet cost to build and equip less than $500,000. But the cost of maintenance is quite another story. No one knows, of course, just how much it costs Mr. Morgan to keep the Corsair going. But if such a yacht, for example, carrying a crew of sixty men, is kept in commission for six months out of the twelve the payroll will run close to $30,000. To feed the crew, to pay for coal and oil, for docking and other necessary expenses will call for an expenditure of from $30,000 to $50,000 or more. Then there is the expense of entertaining the owner, his family and his guests on cruise, a matter of $20,000, bringing the total cost very near the $100,000 mark. Never in all history was another such costly and luxurious vehicle. Any one of a dozen American yachts now skimming the seven seas is costing its owner from $15,000 to $20,000 a month. This means an outlay running from $500 to $700 a day, or approximately $25 an hour. If the owner is entertaining a party of eight persons on a foreign cruise, exactly $75 a day, or $5,600 per cruise, is spent on each individual guest.—Broadway Magazine

Thread From Wood Fiber.

Xylois is the name given by the manufacturers, a German firm at Plauen, to a kind of paper thread made from wood fiber. According to the descriptions given in various technical publications, this new product can be used in the looms in the same way that cotton and linen yarns are used. The thread is not brittle and has a hard surface. It has great tensile strength and is capable of being woven into all manner of cloth from pocket handkerchiefs to floor carpets. Xylois neither shrinks nor stretches in any appreciable degree, and moisture has no particular effect upon it. It is susceptible to dyes to a considerably greater extent than cotton and linen, while the price is only one-third that of the former and one-tenth that of the latter material.

The Name Lusitania.

The Cunard company, following its long established habit of naming its ships after the classic subdivisions of Europe, lighted upon "Lusitania" and "Mauretania." The first is the ancient name of the country inhabited by the Lusitani, which included the greater part of modern Portugal and ran over into the present Spanish provinces of Estremadura and Toledo. The second, of about the same age, comes from across the strait of Gibraltar, where the Mauri lived, the present Morocco or thereabout.—New York Times.

An Ambitious Prince.

When Prince Edward, son of the Prince of Wales and heir apparent to the British throne, was about nine years old he said to his nurse one night before going to sleep: "You know that some day I shall be king. Well, when I am I shall do three things. First, I shall make a law that no one is to cut off puppy dogs' tails, for that is very cruel. Then I shall make a law that no one is to put bearing reins on horses, for that is another cruel thing. And I shall try to do away with all sin."

Collies as Scouts.

This year's army maneuvers in Italy are signalized by the introduction of the dog as an element in tactics. A small group of scouting and messenger dogs is attached by way of experiment to the First army corps, and if the results are deemed sufficiently good dogs are likely to be largely used by the intelligence department. It is worth noting, too, that the dogs selected as pioneers in this work are Scotch collies.—London Globe.

French Decorations.

There are today at the Palais Bourbon half a dozen ushers who wear the "palmes academiques" on their black coats. We have also a guardian of the peace who is an officer of the academy, only this brave policeman modestly does not exhibit his ribbon. As for the holders of the palmes academiques who scarcely know how to read and write, they are legion.—Paris Intransigeant.

Science and Cancer.

The results of the long and thorough research into the nature of cancer conducted at the Pasteur institute in Paris are all, except as showing that the disease is neither contagious nor hereditary and that it can be combated only by a surgical operation. It seems obvious that nearly everything yet remains to be learned about cancer.—Boston Globe.

FROM LOVE TO HATE.

Spanish Queen Unpopular — British Traits Not Appreciated.

A few months ago, Queen Victoria was one of the most popular of monarchs, idolised by the people, and admired by courtiers and nobles, but today she is one of the least loved.

She has antagonized the members of the Royal Family by her frigid manner, and her evident distaste for their society, and although from time immemorial they have resided in the palace, they are now leaving it for good and all.

Through her husband's kin, Queen Victoria is antagonizing the proud Spanish nobles, whom the Queen Mother conciliated only after years of patient, diplomatic effort. The nobles bitterly resent the Queen's refusal to attend bull-fights except when court etiquette compels her presence. Even then she ostentatiously screens her face with her fan, making it plain that the sport so dear to every Spaniard is disgusting to her.

Queen Dowager Christina, it is known, is deeply troubled; apprehensive over the turn affairs have taken. But she has found it useless to try to reason with the young queen, who does not even attempt to hide her distaste for the antiquated notions, the tedious formalities and the impenetrable reserve of her Spanish subjects.

King Alfonso supports, will applaud everything the queen does and says. Not only is he intensely loyal and loving to his wife, not only does his volatile nature submit to her resolute ons, but he, too, detests to be bored by senseless etiquette and regal restraints.

It is said here that it will be well for King Edward to impress some advice on his headstrong niece when she visits England. Else the unstable Spanish throne may be so shaken that its occupants will be startled from their complacent security.

All kinds of stories are afloat, even among the people, about the queen's fiery temper and the condition of subjection to which she has reduced King Alfonso. All Spanish diplomats who have served in England say her majesty inherits her hot temper; that her mother, Princess Henry of Battenberg, who ruled the English court in Queen Victoria's name and oppressed her husband until he became the merest lay figure, is notorious for her unamiability, to put it mildly.

While such personal traits are of little account in England, they are really dangerous here, among a people so largely swayed by enmities or friendships—so dangerous that they may provoke a tragedy.

To Clean a White Plume.

A white plume that has become soiled may be cleaned by dipping in a paste made of flour and gasoline. Run it lightly through the fingers after each dipping. It should be hung out of doors until the gasoline has evaporated, when the flour can be easily shaken off, and it will be found that the plume retains its curl. If it should not be perfectly clean, repeat the operation.

TENDERS FOR PULPWOOD CONCESSIONS

Tenders will be received by the undersigned up to and including the 15th of December next for the right to cut pulpwood on certain areas tributary to the Nesigon river, in the district of Thunder Bay, and Rainy Lake, in the district of Rainy River, and make the same into paper. Tenderers should state the amount they are prepared to pay as bonus in addition to such dues as may from time to time be fixed for the right to operate a paper making industry on the areas referred to. Separate tenders must be made for each area or territory, and the successful tenderers will be required to erect a mill or mills on each of the territories or in such other localities as may be approved by the Government of Ontario.

Parties tendering for the pulpwood rights shall accompany their tenders with a marked cheque for 25 per cent of the amount tendered, payable to the Treasurer of Ontario, and to be forfeited in the event of their failing to enter into agreements to carry out conditions, etc.

With respect to the Rainy Lake Pulp Concession, tenderers will be required to make a tender for the right to cut the pine, tamarac and cedar on the territory offered. Parties making tender for these timbers to state the amount they are prepared to pay per thousand feet B.M. as bonus in addition to Crown dues of $2.00 per thousand feet B.M. A marked cheque for $5,000.00 payable to the Treasurer of Ontario must accompany the tender for pine timber, and if be forfeited in the event of their failing to enter into agreements to carry out conditions, etc.

No timber shall be cut on either of the concessions of a less diameter than nine inches, two feet from the ground.

The successful tenderers to enter into agreements with the Government for the erection of the mills, expenditure of money, etc.

For full particulars as to the conditions, etc., application should be made to the undersigned.

HON. F. COCHRANE,
Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines.

PITTSBURG - IDAHO

Mining and Milling Company

The mine is located 58 miles above Lewiston, Idaho, on the Clearwater river, and consists of 19 full claims, or 380 acres. It is developed by tunnels, shafts and open cuts for more than 2100 feet, disclosing thousands of tons of copper, gold and silver ores of both high grade and low grade. There are between 1000 and 2000 tons of ore ready for shipment. The entrance to the working tunnel is only 2000 feet from the track of the Northern Pacific railroad, to be reached by gravity tramway. There are seven parallel veins running lengthwise of the claims, one cropping out on the surface for 2000 feet and another for 3000 feet; while two veins cross these running into the mountain. These veins are from 30 to 200 feet wide. One ore chute has been crosscut 80 feet and is solid ore from wall to wall.

We are not asking you to buy in a prospect. That risk was taken by the promoters. We are asking you to buy in a developed, proven mine. Seven years of continuous work and the expenditure of thousands of dollars has proven up one of the greatest mines in Idaho. That mine is now ready to pour out its red and yellow wealth to the world with the installing of an up to date production plant. It is for that purpose that a block of its treasury stock, full paid and non-assessable, is offered for sale. We believe that within six months from the completion of a 100 ton plant the mine can be put on a dividend paying basis, and that those dividends will be substantial and permanent. There is no better investment proposition before the people at this time.

AIKENSIDE

BY MARY J. HOLMES

Author of "Dora Deane," "The English Orphans," "Lena Rivers," "The Rector of St. Mark's," "Tempest and Sunshine," Etc.

Here an interval of silence ensued, and then the doctor began again.

"Guy, you told me once you were educating Maddy Clyde for me, and I tried then to make you think I didn't care; but I did, oh, so much! Guy, laugh at me, if you please. I cannot blame you if you do; but the fact is, I believe I've loved Maddy Clyde ever since that time she was so sick. At all events, I love her now, and I was going down there this very afternoon to tell her so. She's old enough. She was sixteen last October, the—the—"

"Tenth day," Guy responded, thus showing that he, too, was keeping Maddy's age.

"Yes, the tenth day," resumed the doctor. "There's 'most eleven years' difference between us, but if she feels at all as I do, she will not care, Guy," and the doctor began to talk earnestly: "I'll be candid with you, and say that you have sometimes made my heart ache a little."

"Me!" and Guy's face was crimson, while the doctor continued:

"Yes, and I beg your pardon for it; but let me ask you one question, and upon its answer will depend my future course with regard to Maddy: You are true to Lucy?"

Guy felt the blood trickling at the roots of his hair, but he answered truthfully as he believed:

"Yes, true as steel," while the generous thought came over him that he would further the doctor's plans all he possibly could.

"Then I am satisfied," the doctor rejoined; "and as you have rather assumed the position of her guardian or brother, I ask your permission to offer her the love which, whether she accepts it or not, is hers."

Guy had never felt a sharper pang than that which now thrilled through every nerve, but he would not prove false to the friend confiding in him, and he answered calmly:

"You have my consent; but, doc, better put it off till you see her at Aikenside. There's no chance at the cottage, with those three old people. I wonder she don't go wild. I'm sure I should."

Guy was growing rather savage about something, but the doctor did not mind; and grasping his arm as he arose, he said:

"And you'll manage it for me, Guy? You know how. I don't. You'll contrive for me to see her alone, and maybe say a word beforehand in my favor."

"Yes, yes, I'll manage it. I'll fix it right. Don't forget, day after tomorrow night. The Cutlers will be there, and, by the way, Marcia has got to be a splendid girl. She fancied you once, you know. Old Cutler is worth half a million." And Guy tore himself away from the doctor, who, now that the ice was broken, would like to have talked of Maddy forever.

But Guy was not thus inclined, and in a mood not extremely amiable, he threw himself into his sleigh and went dashing down toward Honedale. For some unaccountable reason he was not now one bit interested in the party, and, were it not that a few of the invitations were issued, he would have been tempted to give it up. Guy did not know what ailed him. He only felt as if somebody had been meddling with his plans, and had he been in the habit of swearing, he would probably have sworn; but as he was not, he contented himself with driving like a second John until he reached Honedale, where a pair of soft, brown eyes smiled up into his face, and a little, fat, warm hand was clasped in his, as Maddy came down to the gate to meet him.

She was very glad to see him. The cottage with its humble adornings did seem lonely, almost dreary, after the life and bustle of New York, and Maddy had cried more than once to think how hard and wicked she must be growing when her home had ceased to be the dear old home she once loved so well. She had been there five days now, and notwithstanding the efforts of her grandparents to entertain her, each day had seemed a week in its duration. Neither the doctor nor Guy had been near her, and sometimes little Maddy had made herself believe that the former was sadly remiss in his duty, inasmuch as he had not seen her for so long. He had been in the habit of calling every week, her grandmother said, and this did not tend to increase her amiability. Why didn't he come now when he knew she was at home? Didn't he want to see her? Well, she could be indifferent, too, and when they met, she'd show how little she cared!

Maddy was getting to be a woman, with womanly freaks, as the reader will readily see. At Guy she was not particularly piqued. She did not take his attentions as a matter of course; still she thought more of him, if possible, than of the doctor, during those five days, saying to herself each morning: "He'll surely come to-day," and to herself each night: "He will be here to-morrow." She had something to show him at last—a letter from Lucy Athertons, who had gradually come to be her regular correspondent, and whom Maddy had learned to love with all the intensity of her girlhood. To her ardent imagination Lucy Athertons was but a little lower than the angels, and the pure, sweet thoughts contained in every letter were doing almost as much toward moulding her character as Grandpa Markham's prayers and constant teachings. Maddy did not know it, but it was these letters from Lucy which kept her from loving Guy Remington. She could not for a moment associate him with herself when she so constantly thought of him as the husband of another, and that other Lucy Athertons. Not for worlds would Maddy have wronged the gentle creature who wrote to her so confidingly of Guy, envying her in that she could so often see his face and hear his voice, while his betrothed was separated from him by many thousand miles. Little by little it had come out that Lucy's mother was averse to the match, that she had in her mind the case of an English lord, who would make her daughter "My Lady"; and this was the secret of her deferring so long her daughter's marriage. In her last letter to Maddy, however, Lucy had written with more than her usual spirit that she would come in possession of her property on her twenty-fifth birthday. She should then feel at liberty to act for herself, and she launched out into joyful anticipations of the time when she should come to Aikenside and meet her dear Maddy Clyde. Feeling that Guy, if he did not already know it, would be glad to hear it, Maddy had all the morning been wishing he would come; and when she saw him at the gate she ran out to meet him, her eyes and face sparkling with eager joy as she suffered him to retain her hand while she said: "I am so glad to see you Mr. Remington. I almost thought you had forgotten me at Aikenside, Jessie and all."

Guy began to exclaim against anyone's forgetting her, and also to express his pleasure at finding her so glad to see him, when Maddy interrupted him with, "Oh, it's not that; I've something to show you — something which will make you very happy. I had a letter from Lucy last night. When she is twenty-five she will be her own mistress, you know, and she means to be married in spite of her mother—she says—let me see!"—and drawing from her bosom Lucy's letter, Maddy read, "'I do not intend to fail in filial obedience, but I have tried dear Guy's patience long enough, and as soon as I can, I shall marry him.' Isn't it nice?" and returning the letter to its hiding place, Maddy scooped up in her hand and ate some of the snow beside the path.

"Yes, it was very nice," Guy admitted, but there was a shadow on his brow as he followed Maddy into the cottage, where the lunatic, who had been watching them from the window, shook his head doubtfully and said, "Too young, too young (or you, young man. You can't have our Sunshine, if you want her."

The Man Behind the Cow.

Not long since an unwilling farmer said to me, "I like politics, but confound the cows." His cows and his farm showed that. He was a poor dairy farmer, and as a consequence a flimsy, slack twisted politician. Another sold his farm and moved into town, going into the grocery business. It took him two years to strike bankruptcy with marked success. Had he been a thorough, systematic farmer it would have given him the mental training concerning business which he lacked. There is no better school on earth than the dairy farm, with all its vegetable, animal, mechanical and commercial problems, to fit a man for safe comprehension in other affairs if he would but knew it. How many farmers do you know who look on farming in that light? It is a light that will illumine the entire problem if farmers will only let it shine into their minds and hearts.—Ex-Governor W. D. Hoard, Jefferson County, Wis.

Refrigerator Boxes For Butter.

In the summer months it is a hard matter to transport butter from the dairy to the market and keep the prints in shape unless the dairyman has ice for this purpose. Light refrigerator boxes are manufactured which can be used to great advantage, as their use will keep the butter hard and firm and enable the maker to deliver it in that condition to his customers in the hottest weather. No one likes to buy a parcel of butter that is so soft that it can hardly be handled, and the good dairyman will not attempt to place butter on the market in that condition.—E. H. Webster.

A Japanese View.

Sen Utsunomiya, a graduate of the College of Agriculture of the University of Wisconsin, who owns a dairy farm in Japan and has recently returned to America to buy a carload of pure bred dairy cattle, is credited with the opinion that American dairies need more sunshine in stables, more care regarding cleanliness in milking, more attention to stamping out tuberculosis and a larger number of pure bred sires in the herds.

PAIN

Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause. Pain is congestion, pain in blood pressure—nothing else usually. At least, so says Dr. Shoop, and he proves it by his new special 'three point tablet.' This tablet—called Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablet—causes blood pressure away from pain centers. Its effect is charming, pleasingly delightful. Acting through nature, it merely equalizes the blood circulation.

If you have a headache, it's blood pressure. If it's painful periods with women, same reason. If you are sleepless, restless, nervous, it's blood congestion—blood pressure. That surely is a statement, for Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets start in 20 minutes, and the tablets simply distribute the unnatural blood pressure.

Bring your finger, and thumb it, get red, get swell, and pain pour. Of course it does. It's congestion, blood pressure. You'll find it where pain is—always. It's simply Common Sense.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at any Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

The homesteader is required to perform the homestead duties under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of a homesteader lives permanently on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of a homestead, or upon a homestead entered for by him in the vicinity, such homesteader may perform his own residence duties by living with the father (or mother).

(4) The term "vicinity" in the two preceding paragraphs is defined as meaning not more than nine miles in a direct line exclusive of the width of road allowances crossed in the measurement.

(5) A homesteader intending to perform his residence duties in accordance with the above while living with parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

Six months' notice in writing must be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of intention to apply for patent.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed 'Tender for alterations and additions to Post Office Building, Toronto, Ont.,' will be received at this office until Tuesday, November 5, 1907, inclusively, for alterations and additions to the P.O. Building, Toronto, Ont.

Plans and specifications can be seen and forms of tender obtained at this Department and at the office of Mr. Thos A. Hastings, Clerk of Works, P.W.D., Custom House, Toronto, Ont.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed form supplied and signed with their actual signatures.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank made payable to the order of the Honorable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent. (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or if he fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By Order.
